PREFATORY NOTE.

Genealogical 22.50 (4 vols)

The help afforded by many kind friends has enabled the Editor to carry to its completion another Volume of this Miscellany. He is again able to announce an increased circulation of the work, encouraging him to persevere in the laborious though, indeed, congenial task of preparing for and passing through the press the contributions of his numerous Correspondents.

Two of the minor sources of genealogical information are well illustrated in the present Volume—Memoranda from the fly-leaves of Bibles and other books, and Notes of Monumental Inscriptions from Churches, where, through neglect or the misdirected zeal of Restoration Committees, the original tombstones are no longer to be found. Such Notes and Memoranda being peculiarly liable to destruction, their preservation in print is always a thing to be desired. Further communications of this kind would therefore be most acceptable.

To all his Contributors the Editor must again return his cordial thanks. It seems almost invidious to single out a few names from among the many who, according to their several opportunities, have so cheerfully rendered valuable assistance; on this occasion, however, he cannot avoid expressing the peculiar obligations under which he lies to Mr. R. Stewart Boddington, Colonel Butler Bowden, Mr. Granville Leveson Gower, Mr. H. S. Grazebrook, Mr. J. Paul Rylands, and Mr. W. W. E. Wynne, of Peniarth.

Miscellanea Genealogica et Heraldica.

GRANT OF ARMS TO JOHN ELISHA TUPPER, BY SIR GEORGE NAYLER, GARTER KING OF ARMS, 1826.

To all and singular to whom these Presents shall come, Sir George Nayler, Knight, Garter Principal King of Arms, and Ralph Bigland, Esq., Clarenceux King of Arms, of the South, East, and West parts of England, from the River Trent Southwards, send greeting. Whereas John Elisha Tupper, of the Cotils, in the Island of Guernsey, Esquire, third but now eldest surviving son of Elisha Tupper, of the said Island of Guernsey, Esquire, deceased, by Margaret his wife, sole daughter and heir of John Tupper, of the said Island, Esquire, and grandson of Daniel Tupper, also of the Island of Guernsey, Esquire, deceased, hath by his Memorial represented unto the Most Noble Bernard Edward, Duke of Norfolk, Earl Marshal and Hereditary Marshal of England, that his Ancestor John Tupper settled in the Island of Guernsey in the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, where he intermarried with Mary Pelley, as appears by documentary evidence in the possession of his family. That his great-grandfather John Tupper, of the said Island of Guernsey, Esquire, in his passage from Guernsey to England in the month of May, 1692, fell in with the French Fleet, commanded by Admiral Tourville, and proceeding immediately to Spithead, gave such information thereon to Admiral Russell as led to the memorable battle fought off La Hogue on the 21st of the same month, for which service Their Majesties King William and Queen Mary were pleased to honour him with a Gold Medal struck to commemorate that event, and a Gold Chain, which are now in the possession of the heir male and descendant of the said John Tupper, his the Memorialist's nephew, Elisha Tupper, now of Hauteville in the said Island, Esquire. That the Memorialist and his ancestors have borne for Armorial Ensigns Azure on a Fess between three Boars passant Or as many Escallops Gules and for Crest a Greyhound Sable, which said Armorial Ensigns not appearing upon an examination of the Records of the College of Arms to have ever been duly registered to his Family, he is desirous of having the said Arms and Crest now recorded, together with his Family Pedigree, in the College of Arms, and to preserve in the said Armorial Ensigns an allusion to the services of his said great-grandfather before mentioned, and that the same may be borne by him and his descendants, by the other descendants of his said grandfather, Daniel Tupper, and to be placed on any monument or otherwise to the memory of his said mother (whose father, John Tupper, was a younger brother of the said Daniel Tupper), and to be borne by her descendants. He therefore requested the favour of His Grace's Warrant for our devising, granting, and confirming to him such Arms and Crest as may be proper, to be borne by him and his descendants, by the other descendants of his grandfather, the said Daniel Tupper, and to be placed on any monument or otherwise to the memory of his mother, the said Margaret Tupper, and to be borne by her descendants,—the whole according to the Laws of Arms. And forasmuch as the said Earl Marshal did by Warrant under his hand and seal, bearing date the tenth day of April instant, authorize and direct us to devise, grant, and confirm such Arms and Crest accordingly, Know ye therefore that we the said Garter and Clarenceux, in pursuance of His Grace's Warrant and by virtue of the Letters Patent of our several offices to each of us respectively granted under the Great Seal of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, have devised and by these Preseuts do grant and confirm unto the said John Elisha Tupper the Arms following, that is to say:—Azure, on a Fess ingrailed between three Boars passant Or, as many Escallops Gules, a Canton Ermine, thereon pendent from a Chain a Medal bearing the Profiles of King William and Queen Mary, Gold (the said Medal and Chain being intended to represent that struck to commemorate the Battle fought off La Hogue on the 21st day of May, 1692, and presented by Their said Majesties to the said John Tupper for his services as aforesaid). And for Crest, on a Wreath of the Colours a Mount Vert, thereon a Greyhound passant Ermine, charged on the shoulder with a Slip of Oak fructed proper, the dexter fore-paw resting on an Inescocheon Azure, charged with a Medal pendent from a Chain as in the Arms, as the same are in the margin hereof more plainly depicted. To be borne and used for ever hereafter by him, the said John Elisha Tupper, and his descendants, by the other descendants of his grandfather, the said Daniel Tupper, and to be placed on any monument or otherwise to the memory of his mother, the said Margaret Tupper, and to be borne by her descendants,—the whole according to the Laws of Arms. In witness whereof we the said Garter and Clarenceux Kings of Arms have to these Presents subscribed our names and affixed the seals of our several offices this twenty-fourth day of April, in the Seventh year of the Reign of Our Sovereign Lord George the Fourth, by the Grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland King, Defender of the Faith, etc., and in the year of Our Lord One thousand eight hundred and twenty-six.

GEORGE NAYLER, Garter Principal King of Arms. RALPH BIGLAND, Clarenceux King of Arms.

I do hereby certify that the foregoing is faithfully extracted from the Records of the College of Arms, London.

ALBERT W. WOODS,
Lancaster Herald.

23*rd February*, 1842.

NOTE.—The family of Tupper, or Topfer, brought the original coat, as above described, from Lower Saxony about 1520—this Grant being its English confirmation and augmentation, for services rendered in 1692; as alluded to in Lord Macaulay's History of William and Mary.

TABULAR PEDIGREE

The Mervyn Family.

NOTE.—This pedigree has been compiled principally from the Heralds' Visitations of the County of Wilts in the years 1565, 1623, and 1677 ; of London in the year 1664 ; from original wills, parochial registers, and other documentary evidence ; supplemented by personal facts within their own knowledge, derived from living descendants of this branch of the Mervyn family. It should be mentioned that a pedigree of the Pertwood family will be found printed in Hoare's 'History of Modern Wilts,' (Mere Hundred, p. 180) which, it is believed, was compiled about 1799 by the late G. F. Beltz, Lancaster Herald, and which, so far as it extends, appears to be substantially correct, with however one important error as regards Richard Mervyn, the Chancellor of Exeter Cathedral, and the founder of the Devonshire branch of the family, who has been inserted by Beltz a generation lower than that in which he was born.

William Mervyn (Nephew of Walter Mervyn, of Fontel Giffard), Sheriff of Dorset and Somerset, 5 Hen. VII. Visit. 1565. = Margaret, daughter and coh. of William Fletcher of Pertwood, by Joan, daughter and heir of John Brether. Visit. 1565.

Sir Thomas Gresham Kt. 1630.

In the name of God Amen. I Sir Thomas Gresham of Titsey Co. Surrey Kt. being at the present of good state for bodily health and of perfect memory and good understandinge thanks be given unto Almighty God for the same and knowing that all human thinges are transitory and that the life of man is short and subject to God's eternall summons and that noe worldley thinge is more certaine than that all men must dye and yet nothing more uncertayne than the houre or tyme of mans death, and the not settlinge or establishinge or the doubtfull and sodaine leaveinge of mens estates of mens lands and goods are many tymes occasion of strife. Avoiding whereof and for plain declaracion of my intent and meaninge touching the disposicion of all my goods cattells chattells plate houshold stuffe implements and other moveables whatsoever and alsoe of all those my lands tenements and hereditaments, leases for life or lives yeare or yeares where I stand now seized and possessed I doe nowe make my last Will and Testament in writing in manner and forme following.

Imprimis I give and bequeath my soule into the handes of Almighty God my Creator confidently assuring myself that by faith in the blood of my Lord and only Savior Jesus Christ I shall have free pardon and remission of all my sinnes and be made through his blood and passion a joyfull inheritor of his heavenly kingdome, and my body I doe bequeath to the earth to be decently buried in the Parish Church of Titsey by the direction and discretion of my Executors and Overseers hereafter named.

Item I doe give unto my daughter Dame Elizabeth Gresham now the wife of my sonne Sir John Gresham as a remembrance of my speciall love towards her the sum of ten poundes in money.

Item I doe give unto my daughter Dame Mary Hinton now the wife of Sir Anthony Hinton the sum of ten poundes in money.

Item I doe give unto my daughter Dame Beatrize Holmden now wife of Sir Thomas Holmden ten poundes in money.

Item I doe give to my daughter Dame Elizabeth Cooper now the relict of Sir Richard Cooper deceased ten poundes in money.

Item I doe give and bequeath to Hester Gresham my fowerth daughter for her better maintenance and preferment the sum of eighteen hundred poundes to be paid her at her day of marriage or at two intire payments at six months and six months next and immediately after my decease by even and equall porcions which of them shall first happen in full satisfaction of all summes as shall be otherwise by me due unto her at the tyme of my decease. And further nevertheless my will and mind is that my Executors hereafter named shall paie unto my said daughter Hester within six months and six months next after my decease alsoe fourscore pounds in ready money over and besides the porcion and summe before mentioned, at two entire payments by even and equall porcions for her present maintenance and livelyhood.

Item I doe give and bequeath to the poore of the Parish of Titsey ten poundes and to the poore of the Parish of Lymsfield twenty marks.

Item to Rafe Barnes my servant ten poundes.

And I do further give to all my men and women servants dwellinge with me as my houshold servants at the tyme of my death to every of them one whole years wages over and besides their wages which shall be due unto them at the tyme of my decease.

Item I do give unto Timothie Bucknam daughter of Sir Henry Bucknam Kt. ten pound to be paid within three months after my decease.

MATTHEWS, OF GREAT GOBIONS, CO. ESSEX.—I have before me a blazon of the arms of this family, which is as follows:—Gules, three Catherine wheels argent; on a chief of the second a bull's head, couped, sable. Together with this blazon is a sketch, which gives the arms thus:—argent, a bull's head, couped, sable; on a chief gules three Catherine wheels of the first. It seems obvious that the sketch and the blazon are each of them the converse of the other; and I should be glad to learn which of the two is correct, and where I can find information on the subject. I may add that the line separating the chief from the base is given, in the sketch, in a manner which I fail to understand, and which is not mentioned in the blazon. It is not an uniform horizontal line, but a horizontal line broken in the centre of the shield by (to borrow a word from geology) a vertical "fault." The crest is a bull's head, couped, sable, between two wings endorsed, argent.

GRANT OF ARMS TO CHARLES MAKINS OF CRAVEN HILL, MIDDLESEX, 1872.

To All and Singular to whom these Presents shall come Sir Albert Woods, Knight, Garter Principal King of Arms, and Robert Lawrie, Esquire, Clarenceux King of Arms of the South, East, and West Parts of England, from the River Trent Southwards, send Greeting. Whereas Charles Makins of Craven Hill in the Parish of Christ Church, Paddington, in the County of Middlesex, Gentleman, hath represented unto the Most Noble Henry Duke of Norfolk, Earl Marshal and Hereditary Marshal of England, that it appears upon an examination of the Records of the College of Arms that the Armorial Ensigns hitherto used by his Family have not been duly recorded so as to authorize the use of the same. He therefore requested the favour of His Grace's Warrant for the granting and confirming the same, with such distinctions as may be proper, to be borne by him and his descendants according to the Laws of Arms. And forasmuch as the said Earl Marshal did by Warrant under his hand and seal bearing date the Twenty-third day of January last authorize and direct Us to grant and confirm such Armorial Ensigns accordingly, Know ye therefore that We the said Garter and Clarenceux, in pursuance of His Grace's Warrant and by virtue of the Letters Patent of Our several offices to each of Us respectively granted, do by these Presents grant and assign unto the said Charles Makins the Arms following, that is to say: Argent on a Fesse embattled counter embattled Gules between in chief two Falcons proper belled Or and in base a Lion's face of the second, an Annulet Or between two Bezants, And for the Crest On a Wreath of the Colours A dexter Arm embowed in Armour proper, encircled by an Annulet Or and holding a Flagstaff proper, therefrom flowing a Banner Argent charged with a Lion's face Gules, as the same are in the margin hereof more plainly depicted. To be born and used for ever hereafter by him the said Charles Makins and his descendants with due and proper differences according to the Laws of Arms. In Witness whereof We the said Garter and Clarenceux Kings of Arms have to these Presents subscribed Our names and affixed the Seals of Our several offices this Seventh day of February in the Thirty-fifth year of the Reign of Our Sovereign Lady Victoria, by the Grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland Queen, Defender of the Faith, etc., and in the year of Our Lord One thousand eight hundred and seventy-two.

STEELE.

Can any of your correspondents give me distinct information as to the parentage of Sir Richard Steele, and say whether he had any sister other than Mrs. Trant? Who was Sir R. Steele's first wife, and where is she buried? Where did his two marriages take place? What was Mrs. Trant's Christian name? I shall be glad of the fullest particulars, with as many dates as possible. I append three pedigrees of Steele, to which I shall be most glad to have additions. Sir Richard Steele was born, in 1671, in Dublin. His father is by some said to have been a barrister, and was private secretary to James, first Duke of Ormond, when Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland. His mother was a Miss Gascoigne (?), or a Miss Devereux, of co. Wexford, or a Miss Eleanor Sheyles. He was admitted into the Charterhouse November 17, 1684, on the nomination of the Duke of Ormond, and was stated to be aged thirteen on the 12th of March last. A second entry in the Charterhouse books, November 1, 1689, Richard Steele elected to the University. He matriculated at Christ Church College, and he was Post Master at Merton College in 1691. He took no degree. He entered the ranks of the Horse Guards, and thereby is said to have forfeited the reversion of a wealthy relative's estate in Ireland. Was secretary to Lord Cutts. In May, 1707, he received the appointment of Writer to the Gazette, and became Gentleman Usher to the Prince Consort, George of Denmark, and also Commissioner of the Stamp Office. His first wife, who is said to have been very beautiful, was possessed of property in Barbadoes, and was her brother's heiress, and his executrix. This wife's name has not yet been discovered, but it is suggested that she was a relative of Miss Elizabeth Godfrey, who married, in 1638, William Steele, as some of her family had property in Barbadoes. He married, secondly, September, 1707, Mary, only daughter of Jonathan Scurlock, of Llangunnor, co. Carmarthen. In 1711 it is stated that John Bateman was nearest of blood to Sir Richard Steele's uncle Henry Gascoigne, secretary to the Duke of Ormond. Lord Longford administered Henry Gascoigne's estate. Sir R. Steele was elected M.P. for Stockbridge, co. Hants, in August, 1713, but expelled from the House of Commons for his political writings. It appears that his four children were all born prior to 1714. Was elected M.P. for Boroughbridge, co. York, February, 1714. D.L. for Middlesex. Received the appointment of Surveyor of the Royal Stables, and had a patent for a Commission for Drury Lane Theatre granted him January 19, 1715. Appointed Commissioner of Forfeited Estates in Scotland in 1716. A male cousin is recorded by name ..... Griffith. Lady Steele resided at Blancorse, co. Carmarthen, in 1717. After her death a Mrs. Keck took charge of her two daughters. Sir R. Steele retired into Carmarthenshire in 1725, died at the house of a Mr. Scurlock, his wife's nephew, in Carmarthen, and was buried in the chancel of St. Peter's Church in that town. Extract from Exshaw's Magazine: "19 October, 1867, died Mrs. Sarah Delamain, wife of Mr. Henry Delamain, niece to the Countess of Derby, and first cousin to the ingenious Sir Richard Steele." Mary Scurlock, afterwards Lady Steele, had a first cousin, Alexander Scurlock, who, in 1749, married Martha, widow of John Williams of Corngavan, co. Carmarthen, and daughter of George Harries (See Burke's 'Landed Gentry,' 1852, Harries of Priskilly, co. Pembroke).

COMMUNICATED BY JAMES FRANKLIN FULLER, F.S.A.

NOTE.—In Burke's 'Extinct and Dormant Baronetage,' it is stated that this Baronetcy is extinct. I am of a different opinion. In the 'Gentleman's Magazine' for May, 1867, I published the following inscription from the tomb of Edward Legard, erected in Kilbrogan Churchyard:—

From the rude world's campaigns the much admired
Legard, to this dark garrison retired;
Legard! the darling soldier, whose fond name
Shall ever flourish in the book of fame;
Whose fair example might alone depaint
What 'tis to be a military Saint.
True to his God, his prince, his friend, his word—
Rare ornaments, but fit to adorn a sword.

BENEATH LIETH THE BODY OF EDWARD LEGARD, LIEUTENANT TO CAPTAIN ROBERT HILLIARD, WHO DIED JAN. 6, 1678.

Being interested in the family of Hilliard, which intermarried with mine, I went somewhat more deeply into the pedigree than I should otherwise have done. Subsequently my attention was drawn by my friend Deputy Inspector General Atkins-Davis (an accomplished genealogist) to the fact that the name of Legard was to be found in Burke's 'Pedigrees of the Extinct Baronets.' I believe Robert Hilliard (A[2]) to have been the same man as Robert Hilliard (A[1]), and the father of Robert Hilliard (B[1]), who erected the monument to Edward Legard, and who came to Ireland in 1649. His descendants, after the lapse of two centuries (during which the title became extinct in two elder branches), were very naturally lost sight of—he being entered in the modern pedigree as a "son who died unmarried," B[2]. A sister Jane married John Legard; probably Edward Legard was his brother, or possibly son, serving as Lieutenant to his uncle Robert Hilliard. Observe that this Captain Robert Hilliard (if I am correct as to his parentage) had an uncle Christopher, and that he (the Captain) named his son Christopher—a Christian name which is continued, with Robert, to the present day. The Arms and Motto of the present representatives are the same as those given to the Baronets, with the same Crest also. Azure three mullets or. Crest originally a Reindeer ppr.; but afterwards a Cock sable, beaked, legged and wattled gules—"the latter crest granted to the family for their behaviour at the battle of Towton, where Sir Robert was slain, commanding under the banner of Lancaster."

Sir Robert Hilliard. = Ann Herris.

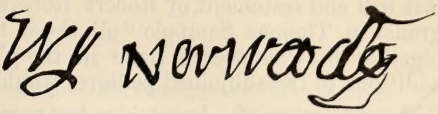
NORWOOD.*



Seal and autograph of William Norwood of Leckhampton, to an Indenture† dated 21 November, 14 James I., between Thomas Fogge of Clerkenwell in the County of Middlesex, Esquire, William Norwood of Leckhampton in the County of Gloucester, Esquire, and Anne his wife, mother of the said Thomas Fogge, John Sackvile of Sedlescombe in the County of Sussex, Esquire, and Andrew Sackvile of Withiham in the said County of Sussex, gentleman, on the one part, and Sir Samuel Peyton of Knolton in the County of Kent, Knight and Baronet, and Sir Robert Darrell of Calehill in the County of Kent, Knight, and Thomas Hales of the City of Canterbury, Esquire, on the other part, relating to the manor of "Sowthcombe" Kent.

Anne (born 1555) dau. of Christopher Sackville, Esq. (2nd son of John Sackville of Buckhurst, and brother to Sir Richard Sackville Kn^{t}), married Richard Fogge of Tilmanston, co. Kent, Esq. He died 1598, æt. 50, leaving besides 3 daughters (viz., Cecilia, born 1580, who married Edmund Powell of Sandford, co. Oxon, Anne, who married Rous Stratford of Guiting, and Alice, who married [—] Rushbury), Thomas Fogge of Dane Court, born 28 August 1585, one of the parties to this indenture.

This Anne Sackville appears from this deed to have remarried William Norwood of Leckampton, co. Gloucester, Esq., although in the pedigree entered by him in the "Visitation of Gloucestershire" in 1623 (at which time she was probably dead), such fact is not mentioned. The only wife ascribed to him there is Elizabeth Lygon (who died as early as the 6th April, 1598, æt. 50)‡ by whom he had many children and grandchildren. He survived till 23 September, 1632.‡

John Sackville of Sedlescombe, Sussex, Esq., was son and heir of the said Christopher, and died 22 Dec., 1619, leaving issue. Fun. Certif. in Coll. of Arms, in the Book marked I. 19.

His next brother was Andrew Sackville, probably the Andrew Sackville of Withyam here mentioned.

Gresham.—Isabella, the second wife of Sir Richard Gresham, Kt., Lord Mayor of London, 1537, was widow of . . . Taverson, and daughter of . . . Worpfall at Sopfall. Can any information be given of her first husband's or her own family? Mary, the first wife of Sir John Gresham, Kt., Lord Mayor of London, 1547, was daughter and coheir of Thomas Ipswell of London, Mercer, living 1530; his arms were, Az. a fesse dancetté ermine between 6 griffins' heads erased or. Information is asked respecting him or his family.

Thomas Gresham, son of Sir Edward Gresham, Kt., married cir. 1639, Margaret, daughter of the Lady Brydges. Query who this Lady Brydges was. His daughter Jane married Charles Lloyd of Dolobran, co. Montgomery. Can any one inform me in what Parish Dolobran is situated, as I wish to consult the Register?

Will of Sir Charles Gresham Bart., 1715.

In the name of God. Amen. The 24th day of June 1715. I Sir Charles Gresham of Titsey Co. Surrey Baronet being of indifferent good health of body and of sound and perfect mind and memory praised be God therefore, but considering the certainty of my death and the uncertainty of the time thereof do therefore make and ordain this to be my last Will and Testament in manner and form following.

Imprimis I recommend my soul to God who gave it and my body I commit to the earth to be decently buried at the discretion of my Executors and as touching my Temporal Estate I dispose thereof as followeth. Item I give to the poor people of the Parish of Titsey the sum of five pounds and to the poor people of the Parish of Limpsfield the like sum of five pounds to be distributed at the discretion of my Executors within three months next after my decease.

Item I give unto Dame Mary my loving wife my best tea table and silver teapot and all furniture thereto belonging to be delivered to her immediately after my decease. Item I do hereby give and devise unto her during the term of her natural life all that my Farm called Tyle House Farm in Limpsfield now in lease to Christopher Lovell and of the yearly rent of fifty seven pounds, and also one moiety of Hall Farm in Oxted which said moiety is now in lease to Richard Jewell at the yearly rent of five and thirty pounds, and I do hereby ratify and confirm the settlements on her by me already made of the said farm and lands for the said term of her life.

Item I give to my brother William Gresham and sister Alicia Gresham the sum of ten pounds apiece to be paid within twelve months after my decease. Item I give unto Mrs. Ann Godfrey the sum of ten pounds to be paid within twelve months after my decease. Item I give unto my eldest son Marmaduke Gresham the ring which was my fathers commonly called the family Ring. And I also give unto him my two best saddle horses which he shall choose to be delivered to him immediately after my decease.

Item I give unto my eldest daughter Mary Gresham my silver tankard of about the quantity of three pints, and I also give and devise unto her and to her heirs and assigns for ever all that my parcel of meadow land commonly called Peacocks Mead with all and singular the appurtenances lying in Titsey.

Item I give to my servant Charles Comfort five pounds, and to Edward Farrant of Tattesfield twenty shillings. To my footboy Peter Nicholls the sum of five pounds for and towards the putting him apprentice and not otherwise.

Item I do hereby give and devise unto my said eldest son Marmaduke Gresham and to his heirs and assigns for ever all that the advowson, donation free disposition and right of patronage of and in the Rectory and Parish Church of Tattesfield Co. Surrey in lieu and recompense of the sum of one hundred and fifty guineas which I received of William Saxby of Lingfield gentleman as a consideration for securing him the said William Saxby and his heirs in the possession of certain lands called Willmotts in Lingfield aforesaid. And I do hereby desire my said son Marmaduke to release and convey unto the said William Saxby his heirs and assigns all his right and title to the said lands called Willmotts upon request to him made by the said William Saxby his heirs or assigns. And if the said Marmaduke my son shall refuse or neglect to release the said lands to the said William Saxby or if he shall disturb the said William Saxby his heirs or assigns in the possession of the said lands that then the legacies and devise hereby made and given and all benefit and advantage of this my Will to my said son Marmaduke shall cease and be utterly void and then I do hereby give and devise the said advowson and all other things to him devised unto and amongst the rest of my said children in such manner as my other real and personal estate is hereinafter devised and given.

Item all the rest residue and remainder of my messuages lands tenements hereditaments goods chattels money debts and estate whatsoever as well real as personal as well in possession as reversion (not before herein otherwise disposed of) together with the sum of two thousand pounds which by an Act of Parliament made in the 12th year of the reign of our late Sovereign Lady Queen Anne of happy memory intituled an Act to enable me to raise the sum of five thousand pounds and interest and maintenance for Elizabeth the daughter of my brother Sir Edward Gresham Baronet deceased and to make provision for my younger children I am empowered to charge on the Manor of Westerham and on certain lands in Westerham and Limpsfield for the portion and portions of all and every my younger children I give and devise unto my seven younger children Edward, Charles, Mary, Alicia, Martha, Anne, and Beatrice or to such of them as shall be living at the time of my decease and to their heirs and assigns for ever equally to be divided between them share and share alike after my debts legacies and funeral expenses shall be thereout first fully satisfied and paid, and if any of my said seven younger children shall happen to die before they attain the age of twenty one years leaving no issue then the part and share of him her or them so dying shall be divided amongst the survivors of them in equal proportions share and share alike.

Item I do hereby make and ordain Thomas Reader Clerk Rector of Tattesfield and John Foster Clerk Executors in trust of this my last Will during the respective minorities of my said children and do hereby empower them to receive and take the rents profits interest and proceed of all my Estate and also the interest of the said Two thousand pounds until my said seven younger children shall attain their respective ages of one and twenty and with the same to bring up maintain and educate them until they attain the said age and then to give a true and just account to each of them respectively of and concerning his or her respective share. And I give to my said Executors in trust two guineas a peice besides their necessary expenses. And lastly I do hereby appoint my said loving wife and Mrs Anne Godfrey to be guardians of my said seven younger children and to have the education tuition and bringing up of them until they attain their said respective ages of one and twenty years for which said education and maintenance I order my said Executors in trust to pay unto them all the said rents profits and interest of my Estate and also the interest of the said Two thousand pounds. In witness whereof I the said Sir Charles Gresham (revoking all former Wills by me heretofore made) have to each sheet of this my last Will containing two sheets of paper set my hand and seal the day and year first above written. Signed sealed published and declared by the said Testator Sir Charles Gresham to be his last Will in the presence of William Andrews, Sarah Allingham, J. Farmer Junr.

Memorandum that I Sir Charles Gresham of Titsey Baronet being of sound mind and perfect memory praised be God for the same do make this Codicil annexed to my last Will and Testament in manner following.

First my intent is that as my servant Charles Comfort is long gone from me he shall have but one shilling in lieu of the five pounds given him in my Will. Item I do also give to my brother William twenty pounds and to Mary his wife the sum of ten pounds to be paid unto them over and above the ten pounds given to my said brother William in my Will. Item I give to my son Marmaduke over and above what I have given him in my Will my gold watch to be delivered to him immediately after my decease. Item I give to my servant William Andrewes twenty pounds. In witness whereof I have to this Codicil set my hand and seal the 17th of March 1717.

Proved in London with the Codicil on the 2nd May 1718 by Thomas Reader and John Foster Clerks Executors.

THE WILL OF SIR GERARD DE BRAYBROKE, OF DANBURY, KNT., A.D. 1429.

[Extracted from ARCHBISHOP CHICHELEY'S Register at Lambeth Palace. Vol. I., ff. 411—413].—With Notes.

By EDWARD W. BRABROOK, F.S.A., Barrister-at-Law.

To Almighty God fader of heuene and erthe, and to the sone and to the holy goste thre persons and oo' God in trinite, I wrecche cleped Gerard Braybroke,* knyght, in ful bileue as holy cherche techeth or oughte to teche, and in ful mynde of all my wittes as ever I was, and in helthe of my wrecched body after myn age the xij day of Marche, the yeer of our Lord a m^{l}cccc and xvij and the sexte yeer of Kyng Henry ye sexte, I betake my sowle for nowe and euer, besechying the with humble herte of mercy of all that I have trespassed in wil or in dede in any wise from my begynnyng in to this tyme, beseeching to the, that I lyue so hennesforward' that I bee acceptable to thy mercy whenne my sowle shall departe from my wrecched body; and also besechyng the of grace that I may here folewyng so ordene of the goodes that of thy goodnesse hast suffred me haue use and proffit of and that I shal leue behynde me whanne thy wil is that I departe out of this worlde that they mowe with thyn helpe & grace so be disposed and by such as may be moost plesyng to the, and with thy mercy to helpe and savacion of my soule. And in entent that to ordene as fer as in me is' In the worship of the, I begynne thus my testament, the day and yeres abouesaide in this manner, ffurst my soule to God, which is not in my power to biquethe, but oonlich biseche hy' to resceyue hit to his gracious goodnesse and mercy; And bequethe my body to be buryed in the cherche of Colmoord,† in Bedfordshire, afore the myddes of the heigh auter under a flat stoon of Marbre with such deuys as thenketh to myn executors. Also I wol that as soon as my body is there as hit shulde be beryed that hit have a dirige, and on the morwe a masse of our Lady, and another masse of Requiem by note, and ij taperis of waxe, eche of xij li oon stondyng at my hede, yat other at my feete, brennyng al the seruice tyme, and xij poure men clothed in Russet fryse yif hit may be had or ellis in other eche of hem holding a torche in hes hand, while ye seruice is adoyng, and foorthwith yat my body be put in ye eerthe, and noon other

* Sir Gerard Braybroke, the testator, was the fourth of the five Gerards de Braybroke in the accompanying pedigree.

† Joan, wife of John de Braibroc, and Isabella, wife of John de Lungevile, in 1258 sued out a writ of mort d'ancestor for Colmworth and other lands in Bedfordshire. In 1276 a fine was levied, under which it was arranged that John and Joan and her heirs should present on the next avoidance of the living of Colmworth, and that Isabella (then a widow) should present alternately. In 1288 John de Braybroke quitclaimed to Gerard, his son, and his heirs, all the right and claim he had or might have in the Manor of Colmworth. In 1293 John de Grey covenanted to cause Gerard (I.) to have full seizin of this manor, and to procure John and Joan de Braybroke to quitclaim in it to Gerard. It is probable that the John who quitclaimed in 1288 was son to this John, who would thus be grandfather to Gerard I.

At Colmworth Church the testator's father (Sir Gerard III.) and his stepmother, Isabella de Wodhull, had been buried. (MSS. Vincent, Off. Armor., Northampt. 113.) "Also it is written upon a marble lying before the high altar these wordes:—'Orate pro G. B. milite et Isabella consorte sua quondam Domina de Wodhull,'" etc. This monument no longer exists. Proc. S. A. iv., 401. Testator's first wife, Eleanor de St. Amand, was also buried at Colmworth.

The Manor of Colmworth was granted by Ric. III. to his solicitor, Thomas Lynom, for his services against the rebels. (MS. Harl. 433 art. 596). Mr. Foss, who is rarely inaccurate, refers to it as Colmworth, in Devonshire. ("Lives of the Judges," iv., 484; see Ninth Report, Pub. Rec., Appx. ii., 58, 84, 100.)

Also I wul that myn executors pay my dettis as fer as thay may knawe that I owe any of newe other or oolde. And for as muche as I may not declare al my wil at the makyng of this testament for divers causes, I charge and praye myn execuo^{r}s that neu^{r}theless suche wil as I deuise beside this testament, be it by writyng other by suffisant witnessyng of hem yat been of my meyne§ abowte me so thay be iiij or iij as thay sayen or witnessen what was my wil I wol and charge myn execuo^{r}s, yat hit be doon as thay sayen alle. Also I wol, that after my deces my meyne meygnall be kepte togederes in houshold in ye maner of Danbury a quarter of a yeer, of tho yat wol be gouerned. And for to fulfille this my last wil of this testament, I praye and ordene and make myn execuo^{r}s, S^{r} John Depeden, person of Southcherch, S^{r} Richard Valdryan, p'son of Colmoord',‖ S^{r} Stephene Coy, person of Fowlyng, S^{r} Walter Holybreed, person of Clifton, and to hem I bequethe and yeue all ye goodes and katell yat I haue other sha^{l} haue at my deyinge. And also I wol that my welbeloued cosyn Maist^{r} Raynold Kentwod,¶ Dene of the chirche of Poules, in London, be sup'uisor of my testament, as my ful trust is in hym right spi'ally.

* Gripes eye, griffin's egg, from the German (Saxon) grief (Latin gryps) and ei,—a standing cup made of an ostrich's egg, a substance highly prized as a material for cups. (J. H. Parker, in "Arch. Journal," ii., 264.) A cup answering to the description in the text is (?) still called the "Gripes Eye" in Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, presented to that Society by Henry de Tangmere, burgess of Cambridge. (Rev. Mr. Drake, in "Archæol.," v., 387, b. year 1779; Master's "Hist. of Corpus Christi Coll.," 21.) Mr. Drake describes this cup as a "vulture's egg;" but upon this my friend Mr. G. Lambert, F.S.A., to whom I am indebted for these references, remarks in a letter to me:—"The vulture's egg is too brittle and too small for a cup or chalice. The habitations of the vulture are all in the most inaccessible clifts of rocks. The ostrich lays its eggs in the sand, where they have only to be picked up. The vulture watches its nest, and will fight to the death for its eggs or young; while the ostrich, on seeing any one approach the hole in the sand in which its egg is laid, runs away, shrieking, and buries its head in the sand. These eggs were doubtless collected and brought to England by Templars returning from the Holy Land."

‖ John Bonhum, previous parson of Colmworth, was party to deeds relating to the Braybroke's estates in Ashby, etc. (Perceval, "Proc. S. A.," iv. 402.)

¶ He was collated by his kinsman (qy. uncle), Bishop Braybroke, to a prebend in St. Paul's, in 1396 (being then probably a very young man), and promoted in 1400 by the same friendly patron to the Archdeaconry of London. In 1421 he was elected by the Chapter Dean of St. Paul's, and died 1441. Some curious constitutions by him for the government of S. Helen's Priory, Bishopsgate, are preserved in Rot. Cott., v. 6. "Tr. L. and M. Arch. Soc.," ii., 199. Windows in Shifford Church, Berks, were caused to be made by him. ("Coll. Top. Britt.," xvi., 53.)

And also I wol yat S^r William Babynton,* knyght, be anoth'r sup'uiso^r of my saide testament, writen and ensealled under ye seel of myn armes at Danbury,† in ye county of Essex, ye day and yeres abouesaide.

* John Babington was husband of Maud, testator's granddaughter. She died 1426 without issue. ("Proc. S. A.," iv., 402.)

Sir Wm. Babington, Kt., was second son of Sir John Babington, of East Bridgeford, Notts, by Benedicta, heiress of Simon Ward, escheator of Northampton. He became King's Attorney 1414, Serjeant-at-Law 1417, Chief Baron of the Exchequer 1419, also Judge of the Common Pleas, holding both offices together 1420, Chief Justice of the Common Pleas 1420-1436, and died in 1455 at a very great age (qy. 99 years). He was buried at Lenton Priory, Notts. (Foss, "Lives of the Judges," iv., 283.)

† Danbury had formerly belonged to the Greys de Wilton ; and Morant concludes hence that it came to the Braybrokes through Parnell, wife of Gerard V.; but as it appears from this will and other documents that it belonged to Gerard IV., that cannot be the case.

‡ In pursuance of this direction he was buried at St. Paul's, and Dugdale states that in 1608 the tomb of this Sir Gerard and his wife Elizabeth were opened there. ("Hist. of St. Paul's," 1st Ed. pp. 45, 46, 2nd Ed. p. 32). The knight was buried in a leaden coffin. There was found in the coffin a remarkable indulgence from Pope Boniface IX., the text of which Dugdale gives, addressed "nobili viro Gerardo Braybrok juniori, militi (who is undoubtedly Gerard IV.), et dilectæ in Christo filiæ, nobili mulieri Elizabethæ ejus uxori, Lincolniencis diœcesis." Eleanor de St. Amand, the first wife of Gerard IV., died on 24th December, 1389. Mr. Perceval, Tr. S.A., has seen the original indulgence, and finds that its date is the nones of June, 1391, i.e., 5th June, 1391, and not July, 1390, as stated by Dugdale. This leaves time for the marriage with Elizabeth. The indulgence was, no doubt, granted for a handsome consideration paid to His Holiness. The silence of this will as to "Elizabeth" is strange. To a deed dated 1392 (Harl. Ch. 47, b. 11) the seal of Sir Gerard IV. is appended, bearing the arms of Braybroke, differenced by a label of three points, impaling crusilly a fess dancetty, which are the arms of Longueville. Gerard III., father of Gerard IV., had married a Margaret de Longueville ; but there is no reason why Gerard IV. may not have married, 2ndly, an Elizabeth de Longueville. Two branches of the family of Longueville, bearing the same arms, were then in existence (and continued to exist up to the last century), one at Little Billing, Northamptonshire (see Baker's Northamptonshire, i., 27), the other at Wolverton, Bucks (see Lipscomb, Bucks, iv., 415).

§ Dirige is the first word of the first anthem at matins :—"Dirige Domine Deus meus in conspectu tuo vitam meam," etc. The mass for the dead is the mass of requiem, because its introit begins, "Requiem æternam dona eis, Domine." The evensong for the dead is termed "Placebo," the anthem before the first psalm being "Placebo Domino in regione virorum." (Rock, "Church of our Fathers," ii., 503.)

 Alb: a linen garment bordered with red braid round the hem and sleeve-cuffs (Rock, i., 351), reaching to the feet, and fastened round the loins by a girdle.

†† Gerard (son of the testator), who died 29th March, 1422, and his first wife, Petronilla, daughter and heiress of Lord Grey de Wilton, who died 8th April, 1414, were buried in this church. (Weever, "Fun. Mon.")

‡‡ The disappearance of all these valuable books, bequeathed to various churches, may be explained by the Statute of 3 and 4 Edw. VI., which threatened with fine and imprisonment all who should have in their possession any "antiphoners, myssales, scrayles, processionales, manuelles, legends, pyes, portuyses, prymars in Lattyn or Inglishe, cowchers, iournales, ordinales, or other bookes or writings whatsoever, heretofore used for service of the churche."

* That a family connection existed between the Braybrokes and the Greys de Ruthyn, is shewn by an indenture (Addl. Ch. B. M., 15431) dated July 12, 1293, between John de Grey and Gerard I., relating to Colmworth, and another ("Baronage," i., 717) between Gerard III. and IV. and Bishop Braybroke and Reginald, the 2nd Grey of Ruthyn, dated 4th Hen. IV. (For the information contained in this and several other notes I am indebted to Mr. C. S. Perceval.)

† A bond in statutory form, entered into before the chief magistrate of a trading town (Stat. 13 Edw. I., De Mercatoribus; 5 Henry IV., cap. 12. Fleta, lib. 2, cap. 64; 2 Inst., 322; 2 Saunders by Wms., 69 c., n. (3). Reeve's "Hist. English Law," ii., 161, 393. West. "Symb.," part i., lib. 2, s. 151.)

‡ By deed dated 10th Dec., 2 Hen. VI. (1423), the testator had assigned to Sir Reginald Grey and others a term in the manor of Ashby David (or Castle Ashby). This property continued in the Grey family till the reign of Henry VIII. This transaction has possibly some connection with that of the statute merchant here referred to.

§ By lease, dated 21st May, 1392, the manor and Castle of Ashby David were demised to Sir Gerard III. (father of testator) and Isabella his wife, for their joint lives, by Robt., Bishop of London, G. B., the younger, and others. ("Proc. S. A.," iv., 393.) Sir Gerard, sen., died (4 Hen. IV.) seized of the manor.

 An Eastern fabric, frequently used for ecclesiastical vestments, probably named from the City of Alexandria. ("Fabric Rolls of York Minster," 338.)

†† The Lenten curtain was commonly of a violet colour. The ground was sometimes white, and richly ornamented with red crosses. It remained hanging between the altar and the people during the whole of the mass until the Gospel was read. (Rock, "Ch. of our Fathers," iii., 521.) One of the curtains hung in the high choir immediately before the altar, the other between the nave and the chancel. ("Hart, Ecc. Mem.," 233.)

William Thernyng was a party with the testator, and Robert, Bishop of London, to the deed (21st May, 1392), by which Ashby David and Chadeston were conveyed to Gerard, father of testator.

‖‖ A favourite ornament. In the inventory of Church Goods of St. Dionis Backchurch, London, are "2 little altar cloths of black bawdekyn with greyhounds of gold, and one curtain of the same suit." (See Mr. Durrant Cooper's paper in "Tr. L. & M. Arch. Soc.")

¶¶ He had died in 1422. His first wife was Petronilla, daughter of a Lord Grey de Wilton; by her he left three daughters—Elianore, Elizabeth, and Maud. The Elianore mentioned in the text must be a second Elianore, daughter of the second marriage with Johane, who was probably the daughter of Thomas Raleigh of Charles, near South Molton. She married, secondly, Sir Thomas Bromflet. Both Elianores died unmarried. Upon being left a widow in 1422, Joan Braybroke gave her manors of Orton Longueville and Clifton to the Rectors of Ashby and Colmworth during her life. ("Proc. S. A.," iv. 402, 403: paper by Mr. C. See the note "halle of arras" in "Promptorium Parvulorum." Mr. Brooke suggests that the word "hallyng, auleum" is plainly a corruption of aulæum.

‡‡ Murrey, "darkly red;" in heraldic language, deep crimson; "a most princely colour," as Leigh saith; derived, according to Mr. Corner, ut supra, 368 n., from Morée or the colour of the Moors; but more probably, as Mr. Brooke suggests, from the Italian "moro," a mulberry tree.

* Green-a-lyer, is explained by Sir John Fenn to mean grenouiller, or frog colour ("Paston Letters," ii., 257), but the expression "blak-of-lyre" shews that this explanation is inadmissible. Both must be of the same substance, though of different colours. My friend Mr. F. C. Brooke suggests, with great probability, that it is a corruption of some such word as alier or alléer. Alléer is a kind of net to catch birds. In "Piers Ploughman," l. 4040, "legs-a-liry" may mean legs across. Hence the a-lyre may possibly refer to the reticulated or crossed texture of the stuff in question.

 An object originally of wood, as implied in the word "pax brede" (or board), but afterwards, as in this case, of precious metal, or some other valuable material. It was merely a piece of wood or metal, with a handle at the back, usually in shape something like a housewife's flat-iron. On the front was represented the Lord's passion. This object was kissed by the priest in the mass at the words Pax Domini sit semper vobiscum, and afterwards passed round to be kissed by the congregation. This practice superseded the ancient kiss of charity in use among the early Christians, and among ourselves to the middle of the thirteenth century. (Du Fresne, s. v. "Osculatorium." Peacock, "Ch. * The Rector of Horsenden at this time was John Wylde, who had been presented by Sir Gerard, the testator, on 21st Nov., 1414, and died 1454. The Bishop (who was testator's uncle) had been Rector for one month only in 1379. In 1428 the testator had released the manor of Horsendon to Reginald Kentwood, Dean of St. Paul's, his cousin; and in 1432, a fine was passed between Kentwood, Robert Darcy, Philip Inglefield (another cousin of the testator's), William Whappelode, Richard Valerian, clk., John Elys, clk., John Gresell, John Billyngdon, and John Wylde, clk., and Sir Wm. Beauchamp, Kt., and Elizabeth, his wife, the right of John Wylde. The estate afterwards became the property of John Moreton, the celebrated Bishop of Ely, afterwards Archbishop of Canterbury, Lord Chancellor, and Cardinal. (Lipscomb's "Bucks," ii., 330.)

† Mr. Brooke possesses, at Ufford, the original of a deed by which Reginald Kentwode, Dean of St. Paul's, Joan, widow of William Thirnyng, Knt., John Hampden, Robert Darcy, John Inglefeld, John Sprott, clericus; and Richard Waldran, clericus, and John Roches, armr., and others, confirm a wood in Colmorth, called le Crowne, which they had lately received ex dono et feoffamento Gerardi Braybrook militis, defuncti. Done at Colmorth, 20 July, 10 Hen. VI. (1432).

Portions of the seals of Joan Thirnyng, John Hampden, John Sprott, and Richard Waldran still remain.

Mr. F. C. Brooke, of Ufford, to whom I am indebted for much valuable information and assistance, has furnished me with the following notes relating to points of interest in the pedigree annexed, viz.:—the six marriages of Isabella Bassett; the first marriage of Gerard Braybroke V.; and a deed dated 1371, mentioning a Thomas and Alice Braibrok, and their daughter Isabella, whose places in the pedigree have not yet been ascertained.

I. Marriages of Isabella Bassett.

1st Husband, John Peverel.

Sir William de-la-Pole, son of Sir Richard. He had Ashby and Milton in right of his wife. Living in 1362. = Margaret, Heir to her brother. Living in 1358.

*John Peverel, Aged 19 at Easter, 1349, d. s. p. Nov., 1349.

* Robinson's "Vitruv. Brit.," "Castle Ashby," by Baker, p. 9.

Sir John De-la-Pole = Joan, Baroness Cobham.

Sir Gerald III. = Isabella (Bassett).

Joan-de-la-Pole, Baroness Cobham = Sir Reginald Braybroke, d. 1403.

Thomas, eldest son and heir of Sir Thos. Brooke, K^t = Joan Braybroke, Baroness Cobham.

(Hence the Braybroke and Peverel Deeds at Cobham in 1574.)

Collect. Topog. and Geneal. VII., 327, 328.

Indentura facta anno 25 Edw. III., inter dnm Willm de-la-Pole et Margaretam uxorem ejus ex una et dnm Robertum de Bradeston et Isabellam uxorem suam ex altera. Testatur quod ubi Robtus et Isabella recuperaverunt judicium coram Justiciariis banci communis per breve de Dower de dotatione Johis Peverell primi mariti dictæ Isabellæ contra prædicto' Will'um et Margaretam.

Arms, on a canton a rose, and a label.

3rd Husband, Robert Rigge.

Spencer Evidences & Hatton MSS. Fin. Mich. 31 Hen. III. (Evidently Edward III.) Quoted by Baker in his "Castle Ashby," p. 9.

In 31 Edw. III., 1357, Robert Rigge, and Isabella his wife, levied fines to Sir William De-la-Pole and Margaret his wife, of one-third of the Manors of Brington (Parva), Ashley, Coton (near Rockingham), and Ashby David, which Isabella held in dower from John Peverel, her former husband.

4th Husband, Sir Thomas Shirley, d. before 1362.

(See Shirley's "Shirleiana," p. 22, and Mr. Perceval s Paper.)

See Perceval. Proc. S.A. iv., 401.

5th Husband, Sir John de Wodhul, or Wahul, who d. 41 Edw. III., 1367-8.

6th, Sir Gerard de Braybroke the III^rd.

II. Marriage of Gerard the V^th.

His reputed father-in-law, Reginald, 5th Lord Grey de Wilton (having been 30 years old when his father died in 1342), was born in 1312. Died 1370.

His only wife, Maud, survived him.

Her son was born in 1342, and we may infer that she was then at least 17, and not born later than 1325.

As the 5^th Lord's wife survived him, and he died in 1370, aged 58, we will assume, as an extreme case, that Petronilla was a posthumous child, and born in 1370, when her mother was at least 45 years old.

Petronilla's 3rd daughter, Matilda, was born in 1411, when, even according to this liberal computation, Petronilla was 41 years old.

My belief is that Petronilla was not the daughter of the 5^th Lord, but of his son Henry, the 6^th Lord, born in 1342, died 10 Ric. II. 1395-6.

Petronilla is not mentioned by Dugdale as being noticed in the Inqq. p.m. either of the 5^th or of the 6^th Lord; in fact he ignores her existence, although she was probably (if a daughter of the 5th) living when he died, and CERTAINLY living in 1395-6, for her eldest daughter, Alionora, was born in 1408.

Weever (p. 640) gives her epitaph as making her the daughter of Reginald, but he is as often wrong as right, and even epitaphs are incorrect.

For instance, Banks, in his account of the Marmyons and Dymokes (p. 125) has an engraving of the brass of Sir Robert Dymoke "Knyght banneret," who died 12 April, 1545.

In the rubbing (which is at Ufford) of the original, he is "Knyght and BARONET," though none then existed. Banks was wrong in his transcript, or unjustifiably altered what he saw, and the blunder was made by some illiterate Tubal Cain, when the modern invention of Baronet was flourishing.

You would hardly suppose it possible that Dugdale, living when it was fought, should give the wrong date (1645 instead of 1644) for Marston Moor ("Baronage," vol. ii., p. 386, col. 1); or that Banks, Nicolas, Courthope, and every other writer of peerages I have seen, down to the present day, including Sir Bernard Burke, had not "ear" enough to detect such a dissonance.

But that is not all; the Lord Ever, or Ewer, who, as they all say, fell there, never was Lord Ewer at all, nor did he survive his nephew, as they state, but died before him: for there exist, 1°, petition of Thomas Danby and Margaret his wife, and Mary Ever, her sister, daughters of Colonel Wm. Ever, in which it is stated that William Ever, the nephew, died about June, 1652 (State Papers, Dom. Ser. Car. 2, A.D. 1660); and 2°, a sign manual of Charles II., dated 2 May, 1673, granting to the same Margaret and Mary the precedence of daughters of a baron, the same as if their father, Colonel William Ever, had survived his nephew and succeeded to the title. In Drake's "Eboracum," p. 161, it is stated that Colonel Eury (the Colonel Ever referred to) was slain at the battle of Marston Moor.

"THE CASE OF BASIL WOODD, DOCTOR OF LAW, AND CHANCELLOR OF ROCHESTER, AND HIS THREE SONS, CAPT. BASIL WOODD, CAPT. THOS. AND CORNET JOHN WOODD.*

"My Father's Chancellorship and practise were taken away to the value of a thousand pounds per annum, and he died in Oxford with the King. He was plundered of all his goods at his house at Greenwich, where he lived, to a considerable value, and afterwards I sold the house for four hundred pounds to buy us bread, for I was forced to leave my employment, and to live in Wales, with my wife and children, till I had spent the greater part of my stock, then I returned home to my mother, she having kept me and my wife and children untill this time. Since I lived at home with my mother, I was had prisoner to Oxford, by Unton Crooke's Commander, who commanded the County troop, and there was forced to keep a soldier, with meat, drink, and money to wait on me, to my great charge. I went into the wars before Reading was taken, and was Lieutenant to Lieutenant-Colonel Bowle.† My brother-in-law and I was Captain afterwards to that worth Colonel Sir William Butler, at Cropedy Bridge, in the Earl of Cleveland's Brigade, where he lost his life, so of course I had the troop till Truro Articles. I have received several shots, one in my head, and one in my arm, which troubles me many times. Several horses were shot under me, one at Runaway Hill, and another at Newbury Fight. I was a prisoner at Launceston seven weeks, being taken at Torrington upon a charge, then commanding the party that first charged.

"My Brother Thomas went into the wars, when his Majesty King Charles the First of blessed

† The Colonel Bowles named in the Memorial married Catherine Woodd, daughter of the said Basil Woodd, LL.D. A monument in Winchester Cathedral bears the following inscription:—

"A MEMORIALL.

"For this renowned Martialist Richard Bowles in Linckhorneshire, Colonel of a Ridgement (sic) of Foot of 1300, who for his gracious King Charles the First did wonders at the Battle of Edgehill. His last action, to omit all others, was at Alton in the county of Southampton; he was surprised by 5 or 6000 of the Rebells, which caused him then quartered to fly to the Church with neare foure score of his men, who there fought them for 6 or 7 hours, and then the Rebells breaking in upon him, he slew with his sword 6 or 7 of them, and then was slayne himself with 60 of his men about him, 1641. His gracious Soveraign hearing of his high commendations, in this patriotic expression said, 'Bring me a Mourning Scarffe, I have lost one of my best Commanders in this kingdom.'

"Alton will tell you of that Famous Fight
Which this man made, and bade the world good-night;
His virtuous Life feared not Mortality—
His body must, his Virtues cannot dye.
Because his Bloud was there so nobly spent, memory came first to Oxford. He was Fellow of Merton College, and had been taken prisoner after he was turned out of his fellowship, then he went into Flanders, and came in again with Sir Marmaduke Langdale. At Preston Towns End, by facing about, he saved his General by the loss of his own life. He was then Captain-Lieutenant to Colonel Loader.
This is his Tomb, that Church his Monument.

"My Brother John was Cornet to Colonel Stuart in the Earl of Cleveland's Brigade, he was taken prisoner at Cropedy Bridge, he afterwards received in the wars seven cuts in the head, which pierced the skull, and continued in the service till Truro Articles. Since the return of our gracious King Charles the Second, he served in His Majesty's Life Guard above seven months, and was afterwards put by, for no other reason but that they were too many, which cost him a great deal, so that we were much in debt. Our plate, horses, and money that we spent upon surgeons and arms, and other necessaries in the wars, come to a considerable sum, besides the loss of my father's chancellorship and practise, and the plundering of us in Oxfordshire, and the loss of our time, so that we were brought to ruin for our Royalty."

HILLIARD.

It is stated in the "note" to the above pedigree, which appeared in No. 39, and which was communicated by Mr. J. F. Fuller, F.S.A., that the Arms, Motto, and Crest of the present representatives of the family are the same as those given to the Baronets.

According to 'Wotton's Baronetage (1741),' and older authorities, the family had the Arms, Motto, and "Reindeer" Crest previous to the battle of COCKSBRIDGE (now Towton), which was fought on 29 March, 1461, just two hundred years before the Baronetcy was created; and it was for the behaviour of the family there, where Sir Robert Hilliard, Knight (grandson of the first Sir Robert, who lived temp. Richard I.), was slain, that the COCK was granted to them as a crest.

The motto is in Greek, a very rare thing in heraldry, ΠΛΕΟΝ ῞ΗΜΙΣΥ ΠΑΝΤΟΣ. The English of it is,—"The half is more than the whole," which requires a further interpretation, and which is given by Macaulay in his essay on 'Moore's Life of Byron.' "The proverb of old Hesiod, 'The half is more than the whole;' it is like the policy of the Dutch, who cut down most of the precious trees in the Spice Islands so as to raise the value of the remainder."

As the date of the battle of Cocksbridge (or Towton) is not generally known, persons might be apt to conclude from the "note" that it was Sir Robert Hilliard, Baronet, that was slain there.

The first Knight of the family was Sir Robert Hilliard, who was living temp. Richard I. (anno 1190); and it appears by 'Baker's Chronicle of Edward IV.'s Reign, anno 1467,' and Collins 'British Peerage,' (under Herbert, Marquis of Powis, vol. i., p. 494) that his great grandson, the third Sir Robert Hilliard, Knight, "was a person of great note in the reign of Henry VI., Edward IV., and Richard III., and was commonly called 'Robin of Riddesdale.' He was one of the Commanders of the Lancastrian Army at the battle of Banbury, 26th July, 1469, and took as prisoners the Earl of Pembroke and Richard Woodville, Earl of Rivers, father of King Edward's Queen, and afterwards beheaded them by command of George, Duke of Clarence, and Nevill, Earl of Warwick."

An account of this circumstance is also to be found in Hollingshed (1567), and is alluded to by Sir Walter Scott in Note xx. to Rokeby. Sir Robert is a very prominent character in the historical novel, 'The Last of the Barons;' and in a note in that work Lord Lytton refers to the family as an ancient and distinguished one.

There were then three Sir Christophers; the first married Jone, daughter of Ralph Constable of Halsham, and died in 1538; the second, his grandson, married Frances, daughter of Sir John Constable of Burton, and died July, 1602; and the third, great grandson of the first, married Elizabeth, daughter and sole heir of Henry Welby, Esq., and left three sons, HENRY, CHRISTOPHER, and ROBERT.

Wotton says that "Robert was a gentleman of the Privy Chamber to Charles I., Colonel of Foot, and Commander of Sir Marmaduke Langdale's Brigade of Horse; and in the time of the Civil War, when the Scotch Army came into England, and the King's Army, under the Duke of Newcastle, lay encamped near them, a gentleman came out of the camp of the Scots as their champion, and sent a challenge to any gentleman in the King's Army that would accept it; which Sir Robert courageously did, and bravely slew his adversary, for which service he was made, in the field, a Knight Banneret. He was also with the King at Oxford when that garrison surrendered; and after the restoration was, for his faithful services, particularly at the battle of Marston Moor, created a Baronet." (25 June, 1660.)

As there were eight knights in the family, in the direct line, and nearly in succession from anno 1200 to 1640, Camden had good grounds for calling them a "Knightly" one, and also "one of the oldest in the realm;" and they are mentioned as such in the 'Heralds' Visitation' of the Northern Counties.

Sir Robert Hilliard, the first Baronet, married Ann Herris, and left two sons, Christopher and Robert. Christopher died before his father, leaving a son Robert, who succeeded to the title of his grandfather, and his line became extinct on the death of Sir Robert D'Arcy Hilliard in 1814.

Robert, the second son of Sir Robert, left a son Robert also, and a daughter Jane. Your correspondent, Mr. Fuller, thinks that the Irish branch is descended from this Robert (grandson of the first Baronet), and there is a good deal to support the opinion. His sister Jane was married to John Legard, and it is more than probable that the Lieut. Edward Legard, to whom the tablet in Kilbrogan Church was erected in 1678, was her son, and consequently nephew to the Captain Robert Hilliard, who settled in Kerry, and whose Lieutenant he is stated to have been; they were evidently connected in some way.

The Irish branch have kept up the old family names of "Robert" and "Christopher," as there appears ten of one, and eight of the other among them since 1649.

HILLIARD PEDIGREE.—In my notes (page 40 'Miscellanea Genealogica et Heraldica,') I state that the name of Hilliard was to be found in Burke's 'Extinct Baronetage.' What I obviously meant was that the name of Legard was to be found in Hilliard pedigree in Burke's 'Extinct Baronetage.' The arms of Hilliard of Kerry, of which I give a book-plate, confirms the theory which I stated as to the descent. I am not certain as to Miss Trant being a daughter of either Sir Patrick or Governor Trant. She may have been a sister.

PUREY or PURY FAMILY.—Can any of the Correspondents of the 'Miscellanea Genealogica' give any information in regard to this Family, and whether there is any connection between the Pureys of Chamber House Castle, Bedfordshire, the Purys of Tainton, Gloucestershire, and the Pureys of Kirton, Lincolnshire? The arms are the same: Ar. on a fesse between three martlets sable three mullets of the field.

STEELE PEDIGREE, page 36, Richard Steele is stated to have married Mary Scurlock, who afterwards became Mrs. Trant, wife of Governor Trant of Dingle. In a 'Journal of an Expedition to the Dingell, A.D. 1580,' by Nicholas White, Master of the Rolls, and composed for the information of Lord Burleigh (see Miss Hickson's 'Old Kerry Records'), the name of Skurlocke is given as one of the Burgesses "taken into protection."—JAMES FRANKLIN FULLER.

Will of Sir Marmaduke Gresham, 1741.

In the Name of God Amen. I Sir Marmaduke Gresham of Titsey Co. Surrey Bart. being of sound and disposing mind memory and understanding praised be Almighty God for the same hereby revoking annulling and making void all former and other Wills by me made do make and declare this to be my last Will and Testament in manner and form following (that is to say):—First and principally I recommend my soul into the hands of Almighty God that gave it and my body I commit to the earth to be interred at the discretion of my Executors hereinafter named and as touching the real and personal estate whereof I or any persons in trust for me am or are seized or possessed of or interested in either in possession revertion remainder or expectancy or which I have power to dispose of I give and devise the same as followeth (that is to say)—

I give unto my loving wife Dame Ann Gresham all that my capital messuage or tenement wherein I now dwell with the dove-house stables out-houses edifices and buildings yards gardens orchards backsides and appurtenances thereunto belonging together with the use of the furniture of my said capital messuage and of my coach and horses with the harness for the same and also one piece or parcell of land called Barn Meadow in my occupation and also all the fish ponds and other ponds now also in my own occupation with the liberty of fishing therein. To have hold and enjoy all the said premises unto my said loving wife untill such of my loving sons Charles Gresham and John Gresham as shall happen to live and first attain the age of twenty-five years shall have attained the said age if my said loving wife shall so long happen to live and from and immediately after the attaining the said age by either of my said sons I give and bequeath all the said premises unto such of my said sons as shall so happen to live and first attain the said age and to his heirs and assigns for ever. But if both my said sons shall happen to die before they attain the said age then I give all the said premises unto my said loving wife for the term of her natural life and after her decease unto such persons and for such uses and purposes as my other real and personal estates hereinafter mentioned are given devised limited or appointed.

Also I give and devise unto Thomas Mompesson Esq. of Sundrish in the County of Kent and unto my Cousin John Godfrey of Newgate Street London Linnen-draper and to their heirs all those the advowsons of the Rectorys of the Churches of Titsey Lympsfield and Tatsfield Co. Surrey upon trust that they the said Thomas Mompesson and John Godfrey do and shall upon every avoidance of any or either of the said Churches as shall at any time happen in the lifetime of my said sons or either of them untill that my said son John shall attain the age of twenty-four years present such person unto each of the said Churches as my said son Charles if living or if dead as my said son John shall appoint so as such person do first become bound unto Thomas Mompesson and John Godfrey in such sum of money as they shall think fit with condition for making void the same bond if the person so to be presented do within six months next after my son John shall attain his age of twenty-four years in due form of law resign such Church or Churches and procure such resignation to be accepted so as such Church or Churches may again be void. And upon this further trust that they the said Thomas Mompesson and John Godfrey shall present my said son John (being in Holy Orders and capable of being presented) unto such two of the said Churches as shall first happen to become void after that he shall have attained the age of twenty-four years and as they and each of them shall first happen to become void and also shall present my said son John unto the other of the said Churches as shall last happen to become void after that my said son shall have attained his age of twenty-four years (if my said son do within three months next after the becoming void thereof in due form of law resign one of the said two other Churches to which he may have been presented). Provided always that if my son John shall not resign such Church as aforesaid then my mind and will is that the said Thomas Mompesson and John Godfrey shall present such other person unto all and every of the said Churches so becoming void as the person or persons being at the time of the becoming void thereof in possession of or intituled unto my real estate hereinafter mentioned by virtue of this my Will shall thereunto nominate and appoint. And upon this further trust that the said Thomas Mompesson and John Godfrey shall immediately after that they shall have presented unto any of the said Churches after that my son John shall have attained his age of twenty-four years stand seized of or otherwise reconvey the said advowsons of the said Churches to the use of such persons and for such and the same uses intents and purposes as my said real estate hereinafter mentioned is given devised limited and appointed. Provided also that if my son John shall happen to die before he attain his said age of twenty-four years or after his attaining such age and before all or any of the Churches shall become void then my mind and will is that the said Thomas Mompesson and John Godfrey shall immediately after the decease of my said son stand seized or otherwise reconvey the said advowsons unto such persons and for the same uses as my said real estate hereinafter mentioned is given and devised.

Also I give unto my said son John one annuity or yearly rent of sixty pounds for and during and untill such of the feasts of the Nativity of our Lord God and Saint John Baptist as shall first happen after that any of the said Churches shall become void after that my son shall have attained his age of twenty-four years to be issuing out of my Mannors and Lands hereinafter mentioned and to be paid to my son John by equal and half-yearly payments.

Also I give unto my loving daughter Anne Gresham one annuity of ninety pounds from the time of the decease of my said loving wife Dame Ann Gresham untill such of the said feasts of the Nativity of our Lord God and St. John Baptist as shall first happen after the day of marriage of my said daughter or of death of my said wife which shall first happen for her support and maintenance to be issuing out of my Mannors and Lands hereinafter mentioned to be paid to her by equal half-yearly payments the first payment to accrue on such of the said feasts as shall first happen after the decease of my said loving wife. Also I give and bequeath unto my said daughter the sum of £3000 to be paid unto her on the day of her marriage so as such marriage be had by and with the consent of my said loving wife and the said Thomas Mompesson and John Godfrey and the survivors of them. But if my said daughter shall happen to marry without such consent then I do give and bequeath unto her the sum of 20^{s} and no more in lieu of the said £3000.

Also I give and bequeath unto my cousin Richard Gresham for the term of his natural life one annuity of four pounds to be paid unto him by equal quarterly payments to be issuing out of my Mannors Lands and Tenements and my mind and will is that the several annuities aforesaid shall be paid unto the several annuitants from time to time as the same shall become due freed and discharged of all manner of Taxes Deductions and Impositions whatsoever.

Also my mind and will is and I do hereby direct and appoint that my said son Charles shall by and out of the said Mannors messuages lands tenements and hereditaments hereinafter mentioned and by and out of the rents and profits thereof have allowed unto him for his maintenance and education the yearly sum of eighty pounds until he attain his age of 18 years or go to the University and the yearly sum of £150 from the time of his attaining his said age or going to the University until he shall attain the age of twenty-five years or be married by or with such consent and approbation as is hereinafter mentioned to be paid unto him by my Executors by half-yearly payments. And my will and mind further is that in case my said son Charles shall happen to dye before he attain the age of twenty-five years or be married as aforesaid then my said son John shall in lieu of the annuity of £60 before given unto him have allowed unto him for his maintenance and education out of the said Manors lands and tenements the yearly sum of £80 until he shall attain his age of 18 years or go to the University and the yearly sum of £150 from the time of his attaining his said age or going to the University until he attain the age of 25 years or be married with the consent and approbation as is hereafter mentioned to be paid unto him by my Executors by equal half-yearly payments.

Also I give and bequeath unto the said Thomas Mompesson and John Godfrey all and singular other my goods chattels and personal estate whatsoever not hereinbefore disposed of upon trust and to the intent and purpose that they and the Survivor of them his Executors and Administrators do and shall after payment of all such debts as shall be owing by me at the time of my decease together with the charges of my funeral and the several pecuniary legacies by me given (if any shall then remain) pay apply and dispose thereof to and for such uses as the overplus of the rents and profits of my said Mannors and lands hereinafter mentioned are given and appointed. And I do make and appoint the said Thomas Mompesson and John Godfrey Joint Executors of this my last Will and Testament. And if it shall happen that my said goods chattels and personal estate shall fall short and not be sufficient for the payment of my debts legacies and funeral expenses then I give and devise unto the said Thomas Mompesson and John Godfrey all and singular my Mannors Messuages Lands and Tenements situate lying and being in the Countys of Surrey and Kent or elsewhere whereof I or any person in trust for me is seized or interested in for and during the term of 500 years to be accounted from the time of my decease upon trust that they do and shall by Mortgage or Sale of all or any part of the said Mannors etc. for all or any part of the said term or by and out of the rents and profits thereof remaining after the payment of the said several yearly and other payments raise and levy such sums of money as shall in aid of my said personal estate before given unto them be sufficient for the payment of my debts legacies and funeral expenses. And as for and concerning all my said Mannors etc. or such of them as shall remain unsold I give and devise the same unto Thomas Mompesson and John Godfrey until my said son Charles shall attain his age of 25 years or be marryed with the consent and approbation of my loving wife Dame Anne Gresham and Thomas Mompesson and John Godfrey which shall first happen if my said son shall so long live but if he shall dye then I give and devise the same unto them until my son John shall attain his age of 25 years or be marryed with consent as aforesaid upon trust and confidence that they shall from time to time by and with the rents and profits of the said Mannors etc. or such of them as shall remain unsold pay the several yearly and other payments wherewith the same by this my Will are charged.

Also my will and mind is that if my son Charles shall have attained the age of 25 years at the time of my decease or if not so soon as he shall have attained the said age or be marryed with consent as aforesaid I give and devise the said Mannors etc. (subject to the said yearly and other payments) unto my said son Charles and to his heirs and assigns for ever and if my son Charles shall happen to dye in my lifetime and my son John shall have attained the age of 25 years at the time of my decease or if my son Charles shall me survive and shall afterwards dye before he attain the said age or be marryed then so soon after the decease of my said son Charles as my son John shall attain the said age or be marryed I do give and devise the said Mannors etc. unto my son John his heirs and assigns for ever. And if it shall happen that both my sons shall die before the age of 25 years or marriage then after the decease of them I give and devise unto my loving brother Edward Gresham for the term of his natural life one annuity of £100 free from all deductions to be issuing out of my said Mannors etc. to be paid by half-yearly payments.

Also my will and mind is that if my Daughter Ann shall at the time of the decease of my said sons be marryed then I give and devise the said Mannors etc. unto my said Daughter for the term of her natural life so as such marriage be had with the consent of her mother and the said Thomas Mompesson and John Godfrey. But if she be sole and unmarryed at the time of the decease of my sons then I give and bequeath the said premisses unto her until the day of her marriage or death which shall first happen and from and after her marriage unto my said daughter for the term of her natural life and after her decease unto the first and every other son of my said daughter and their sons successively in tail male and for default of such issue male of my said daughter then to all and every daughter of the body of my said daughter and their heirs to take as tenants in common and not as joint tenants.

And if my said Daughter dye without issue or sole and unmarried I give and devise the said Mannors etc. unto my brother Edward Gresham for the term of his natural life and to his first and other sons successively in tail male and for default of such issue male then to all and every daughter of my said brother and their heirs to take as tenants in common and not as joint tenants and for default of such issue unto the said John Godfrey his heirs and assigns for ever.

And if there shall be any overplus of my personal estate after payments of my debts etc. and also of the rents and profits of my said Mannors etc. my mind and will is that Thomas Mompesson and John Godfrey shall place out at interest the same upon such security as they shall approve of and continue the same until my son Charles shall attain his age of 25 years or marry and then pay the same to him with the interest and proceed thereof. And if he die then to my son John when he shall attain his age of 25 years or marry and if he shall dye then to such person as shall become intituled to the inheritance of my said Mannors by virtue of this my will. And I will that my said Executors and Trustees shall be allowed to retain to themselves all such costs charges and expenses as they shall be at or put unto in the performance of this my will. In witness whereof I the said Sir Marmaduke Gresham the Testator have to this my last Will and Testament containing eight sheets of paper to the first seven sheets thereof I have set my hand and to the last sheet thereof my hand and seal this fourth day of June 1741.

Signed sealed and declared by the said Marmaduke Gresham as his last Will and Testament in the presence of Edward Dunn, Thomas Pain, Thomas Freebody.

Sir John Gresham, Bart.

This is the last Will and Testament of me Sir John Gresham of Titsey Co. Surrey Baronet. I give and devise all my real estates whatsoever in the County of Surrey and elsewhere in the kingdom of G^{t} Britain to the use of my dear wife Dame Henrietta Maria Gresham and her heirs and assigns for ever upon trust that she or they do and shall as soon as conveniently may be after my death settle and convey the same to the uses and for the purposes and in manner following that is to say. To the use of herself for life and after her death to the use of my daughter Catherine Maria Gresham for her life without impeachment of waste with a proper remainder to a proper Trustee or Trustees in trust for preserving contingent remainders with remainder to the use of the first and all other son and sons of my said daughter severally and successively according to seniority in tail male with remainder to the use of all and every the daughter and daughters of my said daughter in tail general in equal shares as tenants in common with cross remainders amongst them with remainder to the use of the first and all other son and sons of my said daughter severally and successively according to seniority in tail general with remainder to the use of Mrs. Martha Clayton sister of my said wife and her assigns for her life with remainder to such persons or for such uses as my wife shall by any deed or writing or by her last will direct or appoint and for default of such appointment to the use of my own right heirs for ever.

And my will is and I do hereby direct and appoint that in the settlement to be made of any real estates as aforesaid a proper power shall be inserted for my said dear wife Dame Henrietta Maria Gresham and my daughter Catherine Maria Gresham and my sister in law respectively when they shall be in possession of such estate to demise or lease all or any part thereof except my mansion house of Titsey Place and the offices gardens and pleasure grounds thereunto belonging for any term not exceeding 21 years in possession and not in remainder or reversion at the best and most improved yearly rent without any fine or premium.

And I also declare my meaning to be that if my said daughter shall marry while both or either of my wife and her sister Mrs. Martha Clayton be living and if such marriage shall be without the previous consent in writing of my said wife if she be living or if she be dead of the said Mrs. Martha Clayton then the estate for life of my said daughter in my said estates shall not be general as before mentioned but shall be in all respects for the sole and separate use of my said daughter independent of any husband of her so that no part of the income of my estates shall be subject to the disposition or control debts or engagements of any such husband. And if my said daughter shall marry in the life time of my said wife with the previous consent in writing of my wife I in such case give to my daughter £10,000 to be then paid, and I give my said daughter £300 a year clear from the time of my death till her marriage either with or without such consent as aforesaid or till the death of my said wife which shall first happen, to be paid to her quarterly out of the income of my estates.

And I give to the said Mrs. Martha Clayton one hundred guineas for a ring in remembrance of me, and I give to Mrs. Ann Newcombe an annuity of £20 clear of all taxes for her life, and to my servant Thomas Jupp if living with me at the time of my death an annuity of £10 for his life clear of all taxes and I direct that both the said annuities shall be paid out of my farms in Surrey in the occupation of William Dean and William Peters by quarterly payments. And I give to each of my other servants who shall be living with me at my death and shall have lived with me a year £10 besides their wages. And I give £20 to poor persons of the Parish of Titsey and the like sum to the poor of the Parish of Tatsfield and of Lympsfield to be distributed by my said wife at her own discretion and for which she shall not be accountable.

And I direct that all the pecuniary legacies (except the said annuities) shall be paid out of the principal or capital money in any public stocks or funds and also the charges of making such settlement of my real estate as aforesaid, and that all such principal or capital money in any public stocks or funds which shall be remaining after payment of the said legacies shall be laid out in the purchase of freehold lands of inheritance (with liberty to purchase copyhold lands for convenience only) and that such lands shall be settled to the same uses as my real estate. And I direct that until such purchases shall be made the interest of the capital money due on such securities shall be received by the same person as would have been intituled to the rents and profits of the lands to be so purchased. And I give and bequeath all the rest and residue of my personal estate and effects whatsoever and wheresoever which shall remain after payment of my debts and the expenses of my funeral and the probate of this my will unto my said dear wife Dame Henrietta Maria Gresham for her own proper use and benefit absolutely and for ever whom I constitute and appoint sole Executrix of this my last Will. In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this 27th day of May 1796.

Signed sealed declared and published in the presence of Henry Slack Hatter South Audley St—Jas Chavasse Stationer Dorset St Portman Square—Dl Minchin Butler to Mrs. Clayton Tylney St.

This is a Codicil to the Will of me Sir John Gresham of Titsey Bart. Having by my said Will given the residue of my personal estates not specially bequeathed after payment of my debts and funeral expenses unto my dear wife Dame Henrietta Maria Gresham for her own absolute use, and I being indebted unto my sister Ann Osborne widow in a large sum or Bond I hereby declare my meaning to be that the money due in respect of such debt be paid out of my personal estate. And I give to my said sister £1000 over and above such debt.

And I direct that in the settlement by my Will directed to be made of my real estate there shall be inserted the following limitation that is to say a limitation to a Trustee or Trustees for a term of 500 years in trust in the first place by and out of the rents and profits of such estates to raise during the life of my said sister the yearly sum of £600 to be paid to her quarterly clear of all deductions, and on further trust as soon as conveniently may be after the said term shall take effect in possession by and out of the rents and profits of such estate or by sale and mortgage thereof to raise or levy so many sums of £500 each as shall be equal to the number of immediate children of my said sister for their own proper and absolute use and benefit. And having lately agreed for the purchase of the Land Tax payable in respect of some of my real estates I declare my meaning to be that such my real estates shall go according to my Will and this my Codicil free of all land tax.

And I appoint William Ainge of Gloucester S^{t} Queen Square joint Executor with my said dear wife and I give him one hundred guineas for his trouble and he to be paid every article of expense, and in all other respects I confirm my said Will meaning that the annuity to Thomas Jupp shall have effect tho he has left my service. Witness my hand and seal this 17 day of September 1799.

Signed sealed and delivered by the said Sir John Gresham as a Codicil to his Will in the presence of Richard Shearman—William Peters—William Outtrim.

Memorandum Sep. 9th 1801.—It is my wish and request that Miss Gresham have in addition to the £300 a year settled on her by my Will £100 a year on the same terms and conditions. I also mean to settle on Mr. Robert Humphry senior of Hayes House in the Parish of Tatsfield Co. Surrey £20 a year for his life to commence payment as soon as he may be dismissed from attending at Titsey Place. I also give to Mrs. Mary Marson £20 in addition to what I have left her in my Will. Witness my hand this 10th day of September 1801.—John Gresham.—Witnesses Martha Clayton—E. Adams—Susannah Chavasse.

LADY GRESHAM.

In the name of God Amen. This is the Will of me Dame Henrietta Maria Gresham of Titsey Place in the County of Surrey widow relict of Sir John Gresham late of the same place Baronet deceased. Whereas the said Sir John Gresham by his last Will and Testament etc. (here follows the Will of Sir John Gresham at length) and he departed this life on or about the 20th day of September 1801 without having revoked or altered his said Will or any part thereof leaving me the said Dame Henrietta Maria Gresham his widow and our said daughter his only child and heir at law. And soon after his death I and William Ainge duly proved his said will and I have possessed part of his personal estate and he left personal estate to a considerable amount of the kind which he directed to be laid out in the purchase of land all which remains as yet wholly uninvested in the purchase of land and I have not yet made any settlement of his real estates or any part thereof to all or any of the uses directed by his will nor have made any appointment or declaration of or concerning any uses trusts or purposes to for or upon which his real estates or any part thereof shall be settled in remainder after those particularly directed by his Will pursuant to the power given to me.

Now therefore in pursuance of the trust and in exercise of the power reposed in me I do hereby devise and dispose of all the real estates of my late husband vested in me by his last will unto the R^{t} Honb^{le} John Earl of Egmont in the late kingdom of Ireland and Baron Lovell and Holland in the kingdom of G^{t} Britain and to his heirs upon the uses and trusts hereinafter mentioned (that is to say). As concerning the said farms which at the date of my late husband's Will were in the occupation of William Dean and William Peters to the use and intent that Ann Newcombe and her assigns shall during her natural life receive out of the rents and profits thereof for her and their own use and benefit an annuity of £20. And that Thomas Jupp and his assigns shall during his natural life receive thereout an annuity of £10 both such annuities to be paid free from any deduction by quarterly payments as expressed by my late husband's Will.

And as for and concerning the said farms occupied by William Dean and William Peters subject to the said two annuities, and also all and every other the real estates of my late husband from and immediately after my death to the use and behoof of my dear daughter Katherine Maria Gresham and her assigns for her natural life without impeachment of waste and from and after the determination of that estate by forfeiture or otherwise in the lifetime of my said daughter to the use of John Earl of Egmont his heirs and assigns during the remainder of the life of my daughter upon trust to preserve the contingent remainders hereinafter created from being defeated but to permit my daughter and her assigns during her life to receive the rents issues and profits thereof for her and their own use and benefit. And from and after the death of my said daughter to the use of the first son of her body and the heirs male of such son, and for default of such issue to the second third fourth and every other son of my said daughter and their heirs male successively in tail male and for default of such issue to the use of all and every the daughter and daughters of my said daughter equally to be divided between them share and share alike as tenants in common and not as joint tenants and the heirs of the respective bodies of such daughter or daughters and if there shall be only one such daughter of my said daughter then to the use of such only daughter and the heirs of her body.

And after failure of all such issue of my said daughter to the use and behoof of Clement Samuel Strong of Pancras Lane London Esq^{re} his Executors Administrators and Assigns for the term of 500 years upon trust nevertheless (that is to say) to the use and behoof of my sister Martha Clayton and her assigns during her natural life, and after her death to the use of Charles Legh Hoskins Master Esq. only son of the Rev. Legh Hoskins Master Clerk Rector of Lympsfield Co. Surrey (which Legh Hoskins Master is second cousin of my said daughter) and his assigns during his life, and from and after his death to the use of the first son of his body and the heirs male of the body of such son and for default of such issue to the use of the second third and every other son of him the said Charles Legh Hoskins Master and the heirs male of the body of such sons respectively in tail male. And for default of such issue to all and every the daughter and daughters of the said Charles Legh Hoskins Master as tenants in common, and the heirs of the bodies of such daughter or daughters. And from and after the failure of all such issue of the said Charles Legh Hoskins Master to the use and behoof of the Rev. Legh Hoskins Master Rector of Lympsfield for the term of his natural life with remainder to his issue male and their heirs. And for default of such issue to the use of Katherine Master spinster only sister of the Rev. Legh Hoskins Master and her assigns for her natural life with like remainder, and for default of such issue to the use of Mary Ann Master spinster now only daughter of the Rev. Legh Hoskins Master and her assigns for her life with remainder to each and every of her sons successively and their heirs and for default of such issue to each and every of her daughters equally to be divided among them as tenants in common and not as joint tenants.

And after failure of all such issue of Mary Ann Master to the use of all and every the daughters of the Rev. Legh Hoskins Master equally to be divided between them and of their heirs respectively. And after failure of all the issue of the Rev. Legh Hoskins Master to the use of Katherine Master widow mother of the Rev. Legh Hoskins Master and first cousin of my late husband Sir John Gresham and her assigns for her natural life and after the determination of all the estates aforesaid to the use of the right heirs of the said Sir John Gresham for ever. And my will and meaning is that it shall be lawful for any person or persons being in actual possession of the said estates to lease all or any part thereof except the said Mansion House of Titsey Place and the offices gardens and pleasure grounds thereto belonging for any term not exceeding 21 years in possession and not in reversion.

Provided also and it is my will and meaning that if my said daughter shall have married in my lifetime without my consent and after my death without the consent of my sister Martha Clayton that then the said John Earl of Egmont and his heirs shall be seized of the said estates before to her limited in trust to receive the rents and profits for her sole and separate use and benefit exclusive of her husband and so as to be free from his control.

And I declare my will and meaning to be with regard to the limitation hereinbefore made of the said estates in remainder to Clement Samuel Strong for the term of 500 years, that the said Clement Samuel Strong shall stand and be possessed of all the said estates for the said term upon trust that if the beforementioned Ann Osborne widow sister of my said husband shall be living at the time when such estate and term shall come into possession that then the said Clement Samuel Strong shall out of the ordinary rents and profits of the said estate as long as the said Ann Osborne shall live raise an annuity of £600 free from any deduction for land tax or any other abatement and shall pay the same unto the said Ann Osborne or her assigns by four equal quarterly payments over and above any money which may be owing to her in respect of any debt from the said Sir John Gresham at his death or any legacy given to her by the Will or any Codicil of the said Sir John Gresham, and also over and above any sum in any public fund standing in the name of Sir John Gresham in trust for the said Ann Osborne. And to the further intent and purpose that the said Clement Samuel Strong his Executors Administrators and Assigns shall as soon as conveniently may be after the said term of 500 years shall vest in possession, by demise or lease sale or mortgage of the estates or any part thereof for all or any part of the said term (except the two farms subjected to the payment of the two annuities of £20 and £10 to Ann Newcombe and Thomas Jupp and except the said Mansion House and the offices gardens and pleasure grounds thereto belonging), or by felling and selling the timber thereon and by and out of the ordinary rents and profits of the said estates shall raise and levy so many sums of £500 as shall be equal to the number of immediate children of the said Ann Osborne to and for their own proper use and benefit.

And it is my further meaning with regard to the trusts of the said term of 500 years that if the aforesaid Charles Legh Hoskins Master or any issue of him shall become entitled to the aforesaid estates in possession in the lifetime of the Rev. Legh Hoskins Master and also if the said Katherine Master widow the mother of the Rev. Legh Hoskins Master shall be then living that then the said Clement Samuel Strong his Executors Administrators and Assigns shall during all the remainder of the joint lives of the Rev. Legh Hoskins Master and his said mother by and out of the rents and ordinary profits of the said estates raise a further sum of £400 free from all deductions and pay the same unto the said Rev. Legh Hoskins Master by four equal quarterly payments. Provided always nevertheless that after raising and paying all the said sums of £500 each and after the death of the said Ann Osborne and also of either of the said Rev. Legh Hoskins

Master and his said mother and after all arrears of the said annuities or sums of £600 and £400 and all charges and expenses concerning the levying or paying the same shall be fully paid and satisfied the said estate and term of 500 years shall cease determine and become null and void, and in the meantime the said Clement Samuel Strong his Executors Administrators and Assigns shall stand and be possessed of the said estates subject to the performance of such of the aforesaid trusts as shall be unperformed, in trust for the person or persons who shall for the time being be entitled to such estates in remainder next after the determination of the said term and shall suffer them to receive the rents issues and profits for their own use and benefit. And my will further is that it shall be lawful for the said John Earl of Egmont with the consent of the person in actual possession of the estates to convey in exchange for or in lieu of other messuages lands tenements and hereditaments any part of the said estate (except the Mansion House of Titsey Place and the offices gardens and pleasure grounds thereto belonging) to any person or persons whatsoever for any recompence or equivalent in messuages or lands to be of value equal with or better than the said estates so exchanged and to be situate in some part of England and to be wholly freehold or having copyhold of inheritance for convenience only and not exceeding a tenth part in value, such estates so purchased to be settled to the same uses and subject to the same powers and provisoes as are hereinbefore expressed of the said estates hereby devised as aforesaid. And I direct that all and every the manors messuages advowsons farms and real estate whatsoever which shall be hereafter purchased out of any of the personal estate of my late husband which were by his Will directed to be laid out in the purchase of real estates shall as soon as conveniently may be be settled to the uses and upon the trusts hereinbefore limited concerning the real estates of my late husband.

And I having thus performed the trusts and exercised the powers vested in me by the Will and Codicil of my said late husband with regard to his real estates and to the particulars of his personal estate which he directed to be laid out in the purchase of land in such a manner as according to the best of my judgment would be most agreeable to him I now proceed to dispose of my personal property which is my own absolutely. And first I give to my faithful and affectionate servant Mary Marston a clear annuity of £30 free from all deductions for her life if she shall be in my service at my death. And to my ever dear friend Mrs. Hannah Shelley a clear annuity of £20 for her life in addition to a clear annuity of £80 which I have in writing absolutely engaged to pay her for the same time. And I give to Mrs. Anne Turner a clear annuity of £10 for her life, all three annuities to be paid half yearly. And I beg of my much loved sister Martha Clayton and my dear friend Miss Streatfeild to accept of a legacy of £100 each. And I give the like sum of £100 to my maid servant Mary Marston if living with me at my death. And I give £10 each to all my domestic servants who shall be living with me at my death and shall then have lived a year with me. And I request that the said John Earl of Egmont will accept a legacy of £100 to buy a ring or anything else which may be more agreeable to him and that the said Clement Samuel Strong will accept a legacy of £50. And I give £100 to William Ainge; all these legacies to be paid within a month after my decease. And I give £20 to the poor of the Parish of Titsey to be distributed at the discretion of my daughter, and I desire that the small allowance of one shilling a week being £2 12s. a year to James Chitty a poor blind young man at Limpsfield may be continued during his life and that a further allowance of £10 a year may be also paid to him during his life. And I give to the said William Ainge my silver cup and cover which was the property of his friend Edmund Hoskins Esq. And I give all the rest of my personal estate and effects unto my said daughter for her use which makes it unnecessary for me to specify anything but it is my wish that she will preserve the watch which was usually worn by her affectionate and ever to be respected father the said Sir John Gresham.

And I desire my said daughter as soon as can be after my death to place out in the joint names of herself and the said Mary Marston such a sum in 3 per Cent. Consolidated or Reduced Annuities or in Old or New South Sea Annuities as will be sufficient for securing by the dividends thereon the annuity of £30 given to her the said Mary Marston. And I desire that my daughter may use the like mode for securing the said two annuities of £20 and £80 to the said Mrs. Shelley and of the said annuity of £10 to the said Ann Turner respectively. And I appoint my said daughter Katherine Maria Gresham sole Executrix hereof and I revoke all other Wills. In witness whereof I have to this my Will contained in 24 sheets of paper to the first 23 thereof set my hand and to the 24th my hand and seal the 5th day of April 1802.

Signed sealed and delivered by the above named Dame Henrietta Maria Gresham in the presence of Joseph Slack hatter 60 South Audley St. John Hopkins hosier 14 Fleet St. D Minchin Butler to Mrs. Clayton.

This is a Codicil to the will of me Dame Henrietta Maria Gresham of Titsey Place in Surrey widow. It is my will that if my daughter Katherine Maria Gresham shall remain unmarried at my death and shall afterwards marry in the lifetime of my much esteemed friend John Earl of Egmont without the consent of the said Earl in writing such her marriage shall have the same effect as is directed by my will concerning my daughter's marriage after my death without the consent of my sister Martha Clayton who is dead since the making of my will. And I direct that the legacy of £100 by my will given to Miss Sophia Streatfeild shall be £200, and that the legacy of £50 to Clement Samuel Strong Esq. shall be £100 and that the annuity of £10 to Miss Ann Turner shall be £20, and that the annuity of £30 to Mary Marston shall be £40. And I give to the Rt Honble the Dowager Lady Howard of Walden £100 and to Mrs. Strong the wife of the said Clement Samuel Strong and her sister Miss Barbara Streatfeild £100 each and the like sum to Mrs. Louisa Scawen, and to my late husband's cousin the Rev. Legh Hoskins Master, and to Mr. Herbert my apothecary above what may be due to him at my death. And to Mrs. Ann Newcombe £50 and to Mrs. Susan Chavasse £10 and to Mrs. Sander £20. And I direct that the legacy of £100 by my will given to Mr. Wm Ainge shall be £200 and if he shall die in my lifetime I then give the said £200 to his two daughters Juliana Ainge and Charlotte Bessborough Ainge. And I give £20 to poor persons of the Parish of Limpsfield and £10 to poor persons of the Parish of Tatsfield in Surrey and that the said legacies to the poor shall be distributed at the discretion of my Executors.

And I give to my cook Elizabeth Mart if she shall continue in my service at my death £15 a year for her life, and to my pensioner William Hatton £10 a year during his life, and to Ann Dodd £10 a year during her life such annuities to be paid half yearly. And I give my enamelled watch and the chain belonging to it unto my dear friend Mrs. Hannah Shelley, and I give all my wearing apparel (not meaning to include any Jewels or Trinkets or such like) unto my said maid Mary Marston if she shall be in my service at my death. And I direct the legacy tax on all these annuities and legacies be paid out of my personal estate. And I appoint the said Clement Samuel Strong Executor of my will with my daughter. Witness my hand and seal this 15th day of November 1802.

Signed Sealed and delivered in the presence of James Newton. D. Minchin. James Hollaway.

Lady Gresham's last injunctions taken down immediately. Recommending Miss Gresham with great earnestness to be good to all her people. When she took leave of Miss Gresham she begged that Peters might have his lease. She hoped Miss Gresham would be good and kind to Marston who had been unremitting in her attention and duty to her to the last that when Mr. Ainge came it was her intention to do something more for her. Lady Gresham desired that I would take care that all Lord Egmont's letters were destroyed. A short time before her death she desired with great earnestness and repeated it twice that £40 a year might be added to Mrs. Marston's legacy Mr. Herbert was present and I desired him to bear witness.

Hannah Shelly Jan. 26th 1804. Witness Thomas Herbert.—Hannah Shelly.—Esther Mart.

Proved at London with two Codicils 18th Febry 1804 by the oath of Katherine Maria Gresham spinster the daughter and Executrix named in the will.

BRAYNE.—Kent, in his Abridgement of Guillim, gives Azure on a cross or, an oaken slip vert, as the arms of Brayne of Gloucestershire. These arms are not given in Burke's Armory. They are quite different to those borne by the Braynes of Great and Little Deane. Can anyone inform me what Gloucestershire family of the name bore these arms, and in what part of the county they resided?—WILLIAM C. HEANE.

COOPER FAMILY.—I send the following particulars of the family of the late Rev. William Hawies Cooper, for many years Minister of Zion Chapel, Dublin, which I have carefully transcribed from the fly-leaf of an old Bible:—William Cooper married Miss Eliza Gager at St. Andrew's Church, London, on Monday, October 31st, 1796. William Cooper, aged 20 years and 2 months; Eliza Gager, aged 19 years and 5 months. William Hawies Cooper, son of the above, was born at the Vineyard, in the Parish of Walcott, City of Bath, at 9 o'clock on Wednesday morning, November the 8th, 1797. (Was the first child ever) Baptized by his father at Zion Chapel, Whitechapel, London, on Sunday afternoon, February the 11th, 1798. Samuel Gager Cooper, their second child, born at a quarter before 8 o'clock on Friday morning, March the 8th, 1799, in Patriott Square, Parish of St. Matthew's, Bethnall Green, London. Baptized by his father in Zion Chapel, Whitechapel, London, on Sunday afternoon, April 14th, 1799. The number then baptized, infants and adults, amounted to 55. May the Lord baptize them all with the Holy Ghost and with fire! Amen. Henry Cooper, their third child, born at 4 o'clock on Monday morning, October 27th, 1800, in Ross Lane, Parish of St. Bride's, City of Dublin, Kingdom of Ireland. Baptized by his father in Plunket Street Meeting-house, Dublin, on Sunday 23rd November, 1800. Charles Cooper, their fourth child, born at 10 o'clock in the day, Tuesday, 13th April, 1802, in Leeson Street, Parish of St. Peter's, Dublin. Baptized by his father in Plunket Street Meeting-house on Sunday, 25th April, 1802.

FAMILY OF WYAT.

1. WYAT, modern. 2. WYAT, ancient. 3. BAYLIFFE. 4. BAYLIFFE alias CLARKE. 5. HAWTE. 6. SELVING. 7. CRISPE. 8. HALES.

I am endeavouring fully to complete the pedigree of Wyat of South Haig, co. York, Allington Castle and Boxley Abbey, co. Kent, etc., and shall be most glad of any information touching the family, and more particularly as to the branches given above. I desire to enlarge and continue to the present time, if possible, these extracts from the pedigree, to add dates and places of births, baptisms, marriages, deaths, and burials, to record any appointments held by the males of the family, to state their places of residence, and to fill in the many blanks. Can any correspondent tell me where Dean Vincent and Hannah Wyatt were married on 15 August, 1771, and give full particulars as to her immediate ancestry, said to have been located at or near Wychwood, co. Oxon?

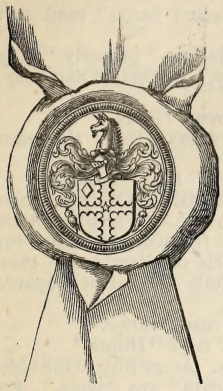
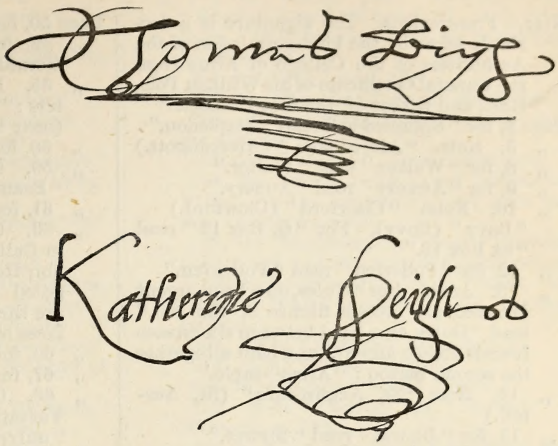
SIR THOMAS LEIGH, KNT.*





AUTOGRAPH AND SEAL OF SIR THOMAS LEIGH OF STONELEIGH, KNT. AND BART., AND AUTOGRAPH OF KATHERINE LEIGH HIS WIFE, TO A DEED DATED 14 JUNE, 40 ELIZABETH, WHEREBY THE MAYOR, BAILIFFS OF COVENTRY, ETC., GRANT TO SIR THOMAS LEIGH AND KATHERINE HIS WIFE A MESSUAGE AT STARTON.

ABSTRACT OF WILL OF SIR THOMAS LEIGH, 1622.

Will dated 26 Oct., 1622. Codicil 18 Jan., 1625, proved 24 May, 1626, by Dame Catherine Leigh, the relict.

To be buried in the Chancel of Stonley, near my mother and my children. To my grandson, Sir Thomas Leigh, Knt., a bowl which was given to my mother, the Lady Leigh, by Sir John Spencer, his great-grandfather. My daughter the Lady Dudley. My grandchild John Leigh, under age. Manor of Flechamsted, which I granted to Sir John Leigh, Knt., now deceased, and to his heirs by his then wife Anne, da. of Sir Anthony Cope of Hanwell, Oxfordshire, Knt. My said grandchildren, Sir Thomas Leigh and his brother, John Leigh. Lands in County of Stafford. My wife sole executrix. Witnesses, Jo. Proctor, Will. Tufton, Thomas Partridge.

VINCENT PEDIGREE.—Amongst the papers of the Rev. William Vincent, D.D., Dean of Westminster from 1802 till 21 December, 1815, I have just found reference to a pedigree of the family of Vincent, supposed to be in possession of a Mr. Rainsford, who married the sister of Dormer Vincent, and the daughter of Richard Vincent by his wife, the widow of a Mr. Adderly of Weddington, co. Warwick. Dormer Vincent and Mrs. Rainsford were the grandchildren of George Vincent, who married Anne Stonard of London. If any descendant of Mr. Rainsford, or any one else, has this pedigree, I should esteem it a great courtesy to be allowed to see it.—REGINALD STEWART BODDINGTON.

* Sir Thomas Leigh was the 2nd son of Sir Thomas Leigh, Lord Mayor of London 1558, by Alice, his wife, da. of John Barker of Wolverton, co. Salop. He married Katherine, da. of Sir John Spenser of Wormleighton, Knt., by whom he had issue 1 son, John Leigh, who died v. p., having married 1st, Ursula, da. of Christopher Hodsdon of Leighton Buzzard; and 2ndly, Anne, da. of Sir Anthony Cope of Hanwell. 2. Sir Thomas; 3. Ferdinand; and two daughters.

Note. Frontispiece. The signature is a facsimile taken by the kind permission of the Authorities of the College of Arms from the Funeral Certificate of Sir William Pole, Knt., and is that of the first Baronet.

„ 5. Note. "Alverdiston" (Alverdiscott.)

„ 8, for "Walker" read "Walter."

„ 9, for "Armery" read "Annery."

„ 10. Note. "Clawford" (Clowford.) "Bavy" (Bovy). For "Q. Box 12" read "ex Box 12."

„ 12, for "Pollerfen" read "Pollexfen."

„ 13. Arms. For "Gules, on a bend argent between six crosses fitchée of the last," read "Gules, on a bend between six crosses formée fitchée argent," and omit altogether the second blazon: "Arms—sable."

„ 14. Note "St. Augustine's" (St. Austell.)

„ 15, for "Blewst" read "Blewet."

„ 16, for "Johannes" read "Johanna."

„ 17. Bamfylde Arms. No. 4, "Ufflete." No. 5, "Faber." Last, "Lovell of Castle Cary."

„ 18. Barby Arms: for "or" read "sable." Note. No Arms are recorded at the Heralds' College.

„ 21. Note. The arms of Beaumont in the older Visitation are "Vairée, two bars gules." Cf. also p. 54.

„ 22. Bellew Arms. The third quartering should be read: "Argent, a lion rampant gules, and on a fesse sable three crosses crosslet fitchée of the field. Also for "Cayby" read "Calley."

„ 25, for "Perse" read "Gifford."

„ 32, for "Merton" read "Ragland;" for "Morton" read "Delamare;" and at the end of quartering, No. 8, add "Tatifer." Note. "Holcomb Regis" (Rogus.)

„ 33, for "Hurstey" read "Hurst, esq.;" for "Belleau" read "Bellew."

„ 34, for "S—ger" read "St. Leger."

„ 36, for "Cordingcoate" read "Cadingcoate;" for "Amies" read "Amias." Note. "Yenstow" (Iustow.)

„ 40, for "Trethurse" read "Trethurfe."

„ 42. Burnby Arms. Read the third quartering thus: "Ermine, on a chevron argent between three leopards' faces azure four pallets."

„ 43, for "Nicks" read "Hicks;" for "Arthure" read "Thomas" (in the signature).

„ 44, for Cawoodley" read "Calwoodleigh" (in the Title).

„ 45, for "eels" read "snakes," and for "Ellis of Trevoar" read "Tegon," according to the older Visitation. "O'Dron" has also been suggested.

„ 48, after "Jane, d. and h. of" add "Arvoys," in italics.

„ 49, for "Deviell" read "Devick."

Page 50, for "Rawe" read "Rowe."

„ 55. Note. "Platters," properly "Playters;" "Satterley," properly "Sotterley" (near Beccles).

„ 58, for "Bues" read "Bwes."

„ 59. Chudleigh Arms. Omit the word "Beaumont."

„ 61, for "Rashhley" read "Rashley."

„ 63. Cockeram Arms. On the monument in Cullompton Church, and also in Hillersdon House, where the arms are found impaled with "Paris of Bampton," there are three cinquefoils instead of leopards' faces on the bend.

„ 66, for "Rewe" read "Rowe."

„ 67, for "Hants." read "Hunts."

„ 68. Cooke Arms. According to the older Visitations the "cats" are "lions." For "universi" read "universis."

„ 70. Coplestone Arms. No. 11, after "St. John" omit the sign of interrogation. The mullets and label ought to be "or," as we find in the older Visitation. No. 16, insert "sable" before "semée," and for "cross crosslets" read "crosses crosslet." Note. The quarterings given in the older Visitations were: "Graas, Hawley, Tresilian, Hiwis, Bonville, Gorges, St. John, Wibbery, Fitzwalter, Fleming, and Berkley." The crest given in some MSS. is "a demi-griffin segreant gules, armed or, without wings;" in others, "a demi-lion rampant gules, armed and langued or." Also in some we find drawn at the side "a coil of rope, or." Query, the crest of Hawley? or a badge? The 2nd, 13th, 15th, and 16th quarterings are not accounted for by the recorded pedigree. There is a great difficulty also about No. 15, which may be "Ferrers" (v. Glover's Roll, No. 139, and 'Visitation of Oxford,' p. 108). In the official copy at Heralds' College only a chief vairée is given, so that it seems impossible to say what it is. Five quarterings at least appear to have been overlooked: 1. Ferrers. 2. Rodney. 3. Daumarle. 4. Bauceyn. 5. Doddiscomb.—V. Sir J. Maclean's 'Trigg Minor,' p. 394, and Sir W. Pole's 'Devon' (Hiwis Ped.)

„ 71, for "Cartelupe" read "Cantelupe."

„ 73. Cory Arms. Before "saltire" insert "a."

„ 78. Crokker Arms. Omit the word "Michell." For "Banfield" read "Bampfield."

„ 79. Crymes Arms. Read as follows: "Or, on three bars gules as many martlets argent, and on a chief of the last two bars nebulée azure."

„ 85, for "Kinne" read "Kenne."

„ 88. Note. "Ferrys" (Ferrers).

The manor, palace, park, rectory, and advowson of the vicarage of North Elmham, which had been taken by King Henry VIII. from the see of Norwich, he granted, by letters patent 14 June, a^{o} reg. 28, "to our beloved and faithful councelor Thomas Crumwell, Esquire, onr first secretary and keeper of the Rolls of our Court of Chancery, and the heirs of his body lawfully begotten." By other letters patent, dated 4 July, a^{o} 30 Hen. VIII., the grant was enlarged—Thomas Crumwell, then described as "Knight, Lord Crumwell, and Keeper of our Privy Seal"—to him and his heirs in fee simple.

The authorities as to Cromwell's origin, and the family of his wife, are contradictory. Mr. Froude considers that he was of good English family, belonging to the Cromwells of Lincolnshire, and says that he married a lady of respectable counections, of whom we know only that she was the sister of a gentleman in Derbyshire, but whose name does not appear. The old Cromwell (he says) dying early, the widow was remarried to a cloth merchant, named Williams, and the child of the first husband, who made himself so great a name in English story, met with the reputed fortune of a stepson, and became a vagabond in the wide world."* Mr. Froude's only reference is to Ellis's Orig. Letters, 2^{d} series, vol. ii., p. 237, where we find a letter, ccvi., addressed by one "Nycollas Glossope" to "Mr. Cromell," in 1531, in which the writer says, "Sur, my maystres, youre mother, was my aunte. Thomas Allcokes' wyffe, of Warkworth in the Peke, was my godmother and my auntte both." In his note of introduction to this letter, Sir Henry Ellis expresses a hope that the information it affords may assist in tracing more particulars than we know of Cromwell's family. The general notion is that he was of mean birth, the son of a blacksmith at Putney, and that his wife was the daughter of one Williams, a Welsh gentleman. Blomefield tells us that he had seen a pedigree of the family in which Thomas Cromwell is said to have married Elizabeth, a daughter and coheir of John Prior, widow of Thomas Williams, by Isabel his wife, daughter of Edward Grey, second son of Reginald, Lord Grey of Ruthyn.† I am not aware that Sir Henry Ellis's suggestion has met with any response, and I take this opportunity of drawing the attention of the readers of the 'Miscellanea' to the want remaining unsupplied. In a deed of feoffment of the Elmham estate, made by Cromwell, he makes limitations in remainder, in failure of his own issue, to Richard Williams alias Crumwell, Walter Williams alias Crumwell, and . . . . Millisent. Richard and Walter, above named, seem to have been sons of Thomas Cromwell's sister, Ann, who married Morgan Williams, and from whom Oliver, the Protector, derived his origin. But there is some confusion between Cromwell's wife and mother which it is desirable to clear up.

The pronunciation of the name at the time is fixed by the spelling not only in the Elmham registers but in the letters patent. Thomas Cromwell, to whom the first of the foregoing extract refers, was a son of Gregory, second Lord Cromwell, and younger brother of Henry, third Lord.

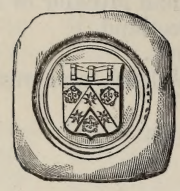
HALES.



Seals of James Hales,* Serjeant-at-law, son and heir of John Hales, Baron of the Exchequer; and of Thomas Hales, gentleman, another son of John Hales, to a deed dated 8 Oct., 31 Henry VIII. (Hales Place Muniments.

King.—William King, aged 40, and Dorothy, his wife, aged 34, with their five children, Mary, Katheryn, William, Hannah, and Samuel, sailed from Weymouth for New England, in March, 1635. It is thought that they may have come from Somersetshire, or possibly Northamptonshire. Any information will be thankfully received by William H. King, Yonkers, New York.

Vavasour.—Was Sir Marmaduke Vavasour, whose daughter Grace married Robert Sotheby of Birdshall Hall, co. York, the Marmaduke mentioned in the pedigree of the Vavasours of Spaldington, as son of John Vavasour and Julian Aske? Any information respecting him I shall be thankful for.—E. C. C.

Vincent—Carrington.—Augustine Vincent, Windsor Herald, who died 11 July, 1625–6, left a son John Vincent, born 13 August, 1618, and who was living at Uffington, near Stamford, Lincolnshire, in 1649. The latter married, in 1646, Frances, daughter and coheiress of Roger Prichard of Uffington, and had John, born 1647, and died s. p.; Francis, born 1650; Augustine, born 1653; and Elizabeth, born September 19th, 1648. Elizabeth Vincent is said to have married, 8th August, 1687, Henry Carrington, gent., of the Views, or Yews, in the parish of Worsborough, Yorkshire, and to have died 11th October, 1710. Sir Harris Nicolas, in his Memoir of Augustine Vincent, 1827, p. 100, says that "no trace has been found either of John Vincent or of any of his descendants after 1653. In all probability he died in obscurity." I shall be obliged if any one can furnish me with information relative to John Vincent (the son of Augustine, above named) or his descendants; and particularly where the marriage of Elizabeth Vincent with Henry Carrington took place.

Compiled by Rev. Francis Haslewood,

From pedigrees made by the late Joseph J. Morris of Shrewsbury (who d. 1860, now in the possession of E. Cresswell Peele, Esq., of that town, who kindly permitted a copy to be taken), and the late Wm. Hardwicke, Registrar of Bridgnorth, 1829, and verified by reference to wills and parish registers.

According to Morris V., f. 2559, the Arms are—Or, a fess dancetté azure ; Crest—A squirrel eating a nut gules. But this branch have for several generations claimed the Arms and Crest granted to Edmund Haselwood, of Northampton, by Christopher Barker, temp. Hen. VIII. betw. 1536 and 1548. Coll. of Arms, Vincent, 79. Brit. Mus., Harl. MS. 5846, 48.

Arms.—On a chev. gu. between 3 owls sa. as many lozenges erm. on a chief az. three hazel branches, or.

Crest.—A squirrel sejant az. collared or, charged with three bezants in pale, holding a hazel branch ppr. fructed or.

Motto.—"Quod me mihi reddit amicum."*

That which makes me on good terms with myself, i.e., a good conscience.

* Taken from Horace, Book I., Epistle xviii., 101.

"Quid minuat curas, quid te tibi reddat amicum?"

The same expression occurs Horace, Book I., Ep. xiv., 1 :—

GRANT OF ARMS TO SILVANUS AND FRANCIS BOYCOTT BY BYSSHE, CLARENCEUX, 1663.*

To all and singular as well Nobles and Gentiles, as others to whome these presents shall come, S^r^ Edward Bysshe, Kn^t^ Clarencevx King of Armes of the South, East, and West parts of this Realme of England, from the River of Trent Southwards, sendith greeting. Amongst the sundry Monuments devised by our prudent ancestours to com'end the memory of deserving men to suceeeding ages, it is observable that the cheifest and most usuall have been the bearing of markes or signes in sheilds, commonly called Armes, both as eminent demonstrations of their virtues, and rewards for the same, and that for this commendable service to their Prince and Countrey, in warre or peace, they may in this life receive due honour and afterwards transmit the same to their successive posterity. In which respect, whereas Silvanus Boycott of Hinton in the County of Salop, and Francis Boycott of Byldwas in the same County, sons to William Boycott late of Byldwas aforesaid deceased, having manifested their loyalty to our now Sovereigne King Charles the second, by sundry services in the times of his great distresses (as the said William Boycott their father had done to his late Ma^tie^ King Charles the first of ever blessed memory, by furnishing his Army and Garrisons with great Shott, Granadoes, and other necessary Habiliments of Warr). Know ye therefore that I the said Clarenceux in consideration thereof and for the better encouragement of others unto good and virtuous endeavours, by power of my office granted unto me, under the great Seale of England, at the instant request of them the said Silvanus and Francis, have assigned given and confirmed; and by these presents do assigne give and confirme unto them these Armes following: vz^t^, Upon a Cheife Argent in a Feild Gules three Granadoes proper: And for the Crest, An armed Arme proper issuing out of a Crowne Murall, casting a Granado, as in the margent hereof is more plainly to be seene: So that he the said Silvanus may at all times and upon all occasions use beare and shew forth the same in shield, Coate-Armour, or otherwise; and he the said Francis with the distinction of a Crescent; and their and each of their descendants, with their due differences, according to the Law of Armes, and laudable custome of this Realme, without the impediment, let, or interruption of any person or persons whatsoever. In witness whereof I the sayde Clarenceiux have hereunto subscribed my name, and affixed the Seale of my Office the twenty-first day of March in the sixteenth yeare of the Reigne of our Sovereigne Lord Charles the second by the Grace of God, of England, Scotland, France, and Ireland King Defender of the Fayth, &c. and in the year of our Lord MDCLXIII.

Edward Bysshe, Clarenceux King of Armes.

Seal appended.—A cross, on a chief a lion passant guardant, impaling a chevron between 3 roses. Legend (in rom. cap.) "S . DNI . EDOARDI . BYSSHE . EQ . AVRAT . CLARENCEVX . REG . ARM."

The above is copied from the original grant in the possession of Miss Boycott of Rudge Hall, Salop, eldest daughter and coheiress of the late Thomas Boycott, Esq., of Rudge, which Thomas Boycott was the great great grandson of Francis Boycott of Buildwas, one of the grantees.

Inscription in Pontesbury Church, Salop, on a Monument at the east end of the South Aisle.

"In memory of William Boycott† of Boycott, Esquire, who died the 2^d^ day of August, 1707, aged 46, this monument was erected by his affectionate and mournful widdow. He was steady to the principles of the Church of England,

* Communicated by H. Sydney Grazebrook, Esq.

† He was the son of Francis, one of the grantees, and father of William Boycott of Rudge Hall, and of the Rev. Richard Boycott, rector of Whittington, near Oswestry, whose son, Thomas Boycott, succeeded to the Rudge, etc., estates on the death of his uncle William, and was grandfather of the present representative, Miss Emma Boycott.

of great probity, justice, and integrity, charitable and liberal to the poor, hospitable and generous to his friends, affable and courteous to all; generally beloved whilst he lived, and much lamented at his death."

BODDINGTON OR BODINGTON GENEALOGY.—Can any of your correspondents give me additions to the pedigree of Bo*d*ington extracted from the Visitation of London, Ao. 1687? I am desirous of obtaining information as to the others of the name given below, and also as to persons whose names are printed in italics.

NOTES TO PEDIGREE.

The Rev. John Bo*d*ington, Rector of Newton Blossomville, co. Bucks, purchased about 1669 the Manor of Brayfield, of Henry Mordaunt, Earl of Peterborough.

TABLETS IN BRAYFIELD CHURCH, CO. BUCKS.

John Bo*d*ington died 5 February, 1676, aged 52.
John Bo*d*ington died 25 November, 1683, aged 31.
Edward, son of Edward Bo*d*ington and Mary his wife, died 22 August, 1687, aged 13 months.
Ann, daughter of Edward Bo*d*ington and Alice his wife, died 24 August, 1696, aged 52.
Mary, wife of Edward Bo*d*ington, died 11 February, 1707, aged 48.

Richard Bo*d*yngton instituted 29 April, 1401, to Rectory of Hascomb, co. Surrey, which he resigned for the Free Chapel of Heggalegh in diocese of Lincoln.

Robert Bo*d*yngton instituted 19 August, 1446, to Vicarage of Fawsley; 18 Feb., 1458, to Rectory of Maidford; and 14 January, 1463, to Vicarage of Scaldwell, all co. Northants.

John Bo*dd*ington, William Bo*dd*ington, Margaret the wife of another John Bo*dd*ington, Edward Bo*dd*ington, and Grace his wife, and their son Robert Bo*dd*ington, another John Bo*d*ington, and Alice his wife, and their son also John Bo*d*ington, and others of the same name appear in deeds of property at Whitnash, co. Warwick, from 1579 to 1701.

In the Visitation of Leicestershire in 1619, George Bodington of Burbage, co. Leicester, appears as marrying Frances, elder daughter of Thomas Allen of Whetstone, co. Leicester.

John Boddington, M.A., inducted 30 March, 1663, to the Rectory of Marston Trussel, co. Northants, and buried there 15 August, 1669.

Robert Bodington of the parish of St. Magnus in the City of London, who, as mentioned at page 428 of the 1st vol., died 1701; married Dorothy, one of the three daughters of Thomas Boone, and sister and coheir of Charles Boone, both of Mount Boone, near Dartmouth, co. Devon. Their settlement made after marriage dated 24 June, 1680. He was a member of the Haberdashers' Company, being Master in 1688. He died without issue. His widow, who remarried, September, 1702, Alexander Pitfield of Hoxton, Treasurer of the Royal Society, by whom she had a son and two daughters, proved her first husband Robert Bodington's will, 20 August, 1701. In his will he names his sister Elizabeth, the wife of James Small, his niece Mary Savage, a widow, his niece Elizabeth Randall, and his cousin Elizabeth Randall, his sister Hannah Wells, residing at Highwood Hill, co. Middlesex, his sister Frances Carter, his nephew William Petty, his cousin Robert Banner, his cousin Elizabeth Brackenbury, Carr Brackenbury, and the three children of his sister Elizabeth Brackenbury.

Mathew, of Great Gobions, co. Essex (not Mathews) vol. ii. p. 30.—The arms blazoned by A. J. M. are not those to which William Mathew, of Great Gobions, was entitled. That gentleman, who was, I believe, the only one of the name who was of Great Gobions, was the only son of William Mathew, for seventeen years Captain-General and Commander-in-Chief of the Leeward Islands, by his first wife Ann, daughter and heir of Lieut.-General Thomas Hill, who was also some time Governor of the Leeward Islands. Mr. Mathew, of Great Gobions, was M.P. for Reading. He married Catherine, daughter of —— Gray, of Antigua, and, dying in 1736, left an only son, of his own name, who was of Baddon, co. Essex. The latter, by his wife Elizabeth, daughter and heir of William Brograve, of Scarning, co. Norfolk, left a daughter and sole heir, named Julia, who became the wife of John Conyers, of Copt Hall, co. Essex, whose daughters, the eldest of whom married the Honourable William Ashley, are now the representatives of William Mathew, of Great Gobions. The family, of which that gentleman was a member, is descended from John Mathew, of St. Kew, co. Cornwall. Their pedigree has been continued from the visitation of 1620 down to the present time, and registered in the College of Arms. It has been printed, with an engraving of the arms (sa. within a bordure ar. a Stork pp'r.) in the History of Trigg Minor, vol. i. pp. 566, 573. The present representative of this family is G. B. Buckley-Mathew, Esq., C.B., H.M. Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary at the Court of Brazil.

J. M.

Wordsworth Family, Penistone.—I am endeavouring to draw out a pedigree of the Wordsworths, but am short of several links. I shall be glad of any information your correspondents are able to give respecting members of the family, at the period circa 1550. Who was the father of William Wordsworth, who resided at Water Hall, and was father of Ralph (an infant in 1553), who is mentioned in a deed of settlement of the ownership of two cottages, situate in Penistone? The said Ralph was living at Water Hall, in 1604, and was the grandfather of Ralph, who died in 1663, aged 72, buried at Penistone. Who was the father of Richard Wordsworth, of Falthwaite, near Stainbro' Castle, who died in 1617, buried at Silkstone? This Richard was a direct ancestor of the Poet, six generations back from himself. One branch of the family was seated at Sevenscore, co. Kent, in the latter part of the seventeenth, and beginning of the eighteenth centuries; a Josias, of Mincing Lane, Director of the East India Company, died 1736, another Josias died 1749, the latter was buried at St. Dunstan's in the East; also a Samuel died 1774. These gentlemen amassed large fortunes by commerce, and one of the Josias mentioned above made considerable purchases of land in this and adjoining parishes. Mention is made in the will, dated February 25th, 1701, of a Samuel, who was a merchant in London, of a Josias, his nephew, son and heir apparent of John Wordsworth of Burton Grange, Esq. I shall be glad to know if either of the Josias, who died 1736 and 1749, are identical with the nephew, and any other information respecting the Sevenscore branch will be received with thanks.

DAVY OF LEICESTER.

In the Bodleian Library (Leicester, Gough's Adds. 8vo, 16) is a little volume entitled "Proper Tables and Easie Rules, &c.," London, 1576, which contains a number of MS. notes by William Davy, who was a schoolmaster in Leicester about a century later. The following extracts from the book relate to his family.

1536–7. August. I was borne on this daye 29.
1563–4. Rich. Davye [Mayor of Leicester].
1606–7. July 22 day I was maried.
1623–4. May 19 day. Wm. Davy filius natus.
1626–7. Tho. Davy filius natus July 2.
1631–2. William Davy filius natus 22 of Septemb.
1652–3. Gullo' Rud. mor. Londini.
1653–4. Tho. West borne 17 Oct.
1655–6. Ann Lucy Podim borne on Tuesday the 17 June.
1659–60. Nubamur: sex decimo die Novembris 1658
Gulielm: Davy: filius natus: quatuor decem die August 1659.
1662–3. Johan: Davy: filli: natus: 23 Aprill S^{t} G: die mercurius: ec^{l}.
1663–4. October 24: Elizab. Davie born die: Saturnus.
1664–5. July 30 day Johanes: Davie morit. aged: 2 ye and 3 moneths:
1669–70. Feb. 1, John and Mary Davy borne: being Tuesday.
1671–2. Octob^{r} 9th Martha Davie borne being Munday.
1675–6. I was elected Scoole Master this yeare by ye maior & 8 of y^{e} Aldermen.
1680–1. Octob^{r} 2^{d} Martha Davie morit^{r}.
1688–9. March ye 25th Justus Davie Born being Munday.

I apprehend that the entries down to about 1640 were written by two different persons, one probably being William Davy's father. The volume contains a complete list of the Mayors, &c., of Leicester from 1203 to 1700, and many notes of remarkable events.

W. G. Dimock Fletcher.

Wakeman.—John and Samuel Wakeman, brothers, emigrated to New England in 1631, and ultimately settled at New Haven and Hartford, Conn., where they became men of note, occupying prominent public positions in the Colony. Do pedigrees of any families of the name in England shew their connection or origin?

64 Madison Av., New York, U.S.A. J. J. L.

Fletcher.—I am anxious to obtain information relative to the parentage and ancestry of Robert Fletcher, who was born about the year 1592, and who emigrated from Yorkshire (it is believed) and settled at Concord, Massachusetts, in 1630. He had five sons, of whom three, viz. Luke, William (born 1622), and Samuel, were born in England. Robert is believed to have had a brother William, who emigrated with him in 1630. Robert's descendants, of whom many are living, number four thousand. W. G. D. F.

Scull.—About the year 1630, John Scull, or Jan Schuyl, as the Dutch called him, is supposed to have emigrated from England to Holland, as between the 3rd Oct., 1650, and 20 March, 1651, his name appears with others, both French and English, appended to a petition to Cromwell for the repeal of his Navigation Act. In this petition they style themselves "resident merchants of the United Netherlands, who have traded for upwards of twenty years with the Caribbean Islands and Virginia." Can any of your readers kindly inform me anything of the time of emigration of the above Jan Schuyl, or if there are any lists of English emigrants to Holland, particularly to the Hague, in the early part of the reign of Charles I.?

Boddington, Townsend, and Skinner, etc., Families.—I repeat my inquiry as to the family of Townsend, made at p. 428 of the 1st volume of this publication. Can any correspondents kindly give me additions as to the ancestry, descendants, and other particulars of the families of Skinner, Boddington, Adams, and others whose names are printed below in italics?

15 Markham Square, S.W. Reginald Stewart Boddington.

George Boddington, born 7 November, 1612; died 29 September, 1671, buried in S. Margaret's, Lothbury; married 7 May, 1638, Hannah, daughter of Thomas Adams of Philpot Lane, London, by Elizabeth his wife. She died 19 April, 1687, aged 69, and was buried in S. Margaret's, Lothbury. This George Boddington was burnt out of his house in Lothbury in the Great Fire in 1666. Is anything known of the descendants of Thomas Adams of London, Draper, 1633, and Lord Mayor of London, 1646, and who had issue two sons and three daughters by his wife Anne, daughter of Humphrey Maxted of Essex? See Add. MS. 5533, at the British Museum.

George Boddington, born 15 October, 1646; died 10 May, 1719; married as his first wife Mary, daughter of William Steele (see page 37 of the 1st volume of this publication), and married secondly, 2 July, 1674, Hannah, relict of Ralph Venning, and daughter of John Cope by Hannah his wife, born 17 July, 1656, and died 8 February, 1699, being buried in Great S. Helen's Church, London.

Elizabeth, eldest daughter of George Boddington by Hannah (Adams) his wife, born 1 October, 1641; married 17 April, 1666, James Vaughan, Governor of Antigua and a Barbadoes merchant. She died 11 April, 1700, leaving issue.

George Boddington, born 8 September, 1675; married 25 January, 1705–6, at S. Benet, Paul's Wharf, Marianna, daughter of William Plowman of Leghorn, Merchant. She died 29 April, 1753, and he 6 September, 1759, and were both buried at Clapham. (I find in Burke's Baronetage, under Palmer of Wanlip, Sarah, daughter of William Plowman of Leghorn, marrying the first given in the lineage.)

Their eldest son, George Boddington, born 28 January, 1706–7, English Consul at Smyrna, married 19 May, 1756, ... daughter of .... Glicofridi; and their youngest child Joseph William Boddington, born 10 October, 1778, at Smyrna, died 12 January, 1838, and was buried in West Hackney Churchyard. An account is given of him in the 'Gentleman's Magazine' for 1838. I want the names, marriages, families, etc., of the brothers and sisters of Joseph William Boddington.

Thomas Boddington, born 13 September, 1678, and died 20 December, 1755; married firstly, 27 November, 1711, at Aske's Hospital, Sarah, daughter of John Brassey by Mary his wife. She died (leaving issue), and was buried in Allhallows' Church, Lombard Street. He married secondly, 7 February, 1715, Mary, daughter of John Deacon by Elizabeth his wife, and niece of John and Mary Brassey. She died (leaving issue) 17 August, 1737, and was buried in S. Catherine Cree Churchyard.

Hannah, daughter of George Boddington by Hannah (Cope) his wife, born 25 November, 1679; married 15 April, 1701, Robert Wakeman, Consul at Cyprus, and had issue.

Sarah, another daughter of George Boddington, born 16 September, 1690; married at Great S. Helen's Church, London, 22 February, 1710–11, Ebenezer Collier, Clerk in Chancery (uncle to a Sir George Collier), and had issue.

Elizabeth, daughter of Thomas Boddington by his wife Maria Catherina (Fremeaux), born 9 February, 1769; died 10 October, 1839, and was buried at Badger, co. Salop; married at S. John's Church, Hackney, 13 Dec., 1805, as his second wife, Isaac Hawkins Browne, D.C.L. and F.R.S., of Badger Hall, co. Salop, M.P. for Bridgenorth for thirty years. He died s. p. 30 May, 1818. Is anything known of the ancestry of his grandfather, the Rev. William Browne, M.A. of Trinity College, Cambridge, Prebendary of Lichfield, Incumbent of Burton-upon-Trent, Lord of the Manor of Fauld, co. Stafford, and owner of property at Burmeston, co. Derby? He married, at Burton-upon-Trent, Anne, daughter and heiress of Isaac Hawkins, Barrister-at-law, by his wife Elizabeth (Watson), and had an only son Isaac Hawkins Browne, born 1706, M.A., F.R.S., M.P. for Wenlock, who married Jane, daughter of the Rev. David Trimnell, D.D., Archdeacon of Leicester and Precentor of Lincoln, younger brother of the Right Rev. Charles Trimnell, Lord Bishop of Winchester. The first mentioned Isaac Hawkins Browne was the only issue of this marriage.

Inscription on a Monument in Stoke Damarel Church.

> Near this place lieth interred the body of Mr. James Blackborne, late of this place, gent., who departed this life the 23rd of February, 1693–4, aged 72. And also the body of Susanna his wife (daughter of Mr. Thomas Dering of Kent, gent.), by whom he had fourteen children. They lived together in perfect peace and amity the space of 40 years. She survived him 26, and departed this life the 6th of May, 1721, in the 83rd year of her age. They both lived beloved and died lamented by all who knew them. This small monument is dedicated to their memorys by their dutyful daughter Ann Edgley. [Susanna, granddaughter of Mr. Blackborne, married Mr. William Furneaux of Swilly October 3rd, 1722. She died March 25, 1775, aged 77. He died at Swilly May 27, 1748, aged 51.] (Added later.)

The monument is surmounted by the arms of Mr. Blackborne and his wife impaled. The former a fess wavy between 3 mullets, the latter a saltire. The colours are not represented, but the arms appear respectively to answer to those of Blackbourne of Lancashire and Yorkshire (Ar. a fess wavy between 3 mullets Sa.) and of Dering of Surrenden-Dering, Kent (Or a saltire Sa.).

It appears thus that a daughter of the above James and Susanna Blackborne married Willcocks and was mother of Mrs. William Furneaux. Another daughter married .... Jackson, and had a daughter Frances, wife of J. Cockerell, Esq., of Bishop's How, Taunton, and mother of the first Sir Charles Cockerell, Bart.

EXTRACTS FROM THE REGISTERS OF THE CHURCH OF PENWORTHAM, IN THE COUNTY OF LANCASTER.

Contributed by Lieut.-Colonel H. Fishwick, F.S.A.

As early as 1291 there was a Church at Penwortham, but no part of the present building is older than the fifteenth century, and the nave and aisle are of quite modern date, having been rebuilt in 1856.

The Registers which existed in 1854 (commencing in 1586) were all destroyed by fire, and on that account the following extracts are the more interesting and valuable. They were originally made by W. A. Hulton, Esq., of Penwortham, and transcribed by the late Rev. G. J. Piccope, M.A., from whose MSS. (which are now in the Chetham Library, Manchester) we have been kindly allowed to copy them.

SMITH OF BALBY, AND ALDAM OF WARMSWORTH, W. R. CO. YORK.—The Editor of this and cognate pedigrees will be thankful for any information relative to the descendants of the undernamed. Francis Smith of Gracechurch Street, London, citizen and woolman, described as only son 1766, living in 1774; sons John of Gracechurch Street, linendraper, and Archibald, living 1803.—H. ECROYD SMITH, Shotley Bridge, co. Durham.

EMERSON.—Thomas Emerson and Elizabeth his wife, with children, John, Joseph, Nathaniel, James, and Thomas, emigated to New England about 1638, and settled at Ipswich, Mass., where Nathaniel died on 29 Dec. 1712, aged 83 years. At his grave in the old burial ground at that place a monument was erected and still exists, bearing a coat of arms identical with that granted to Ralph Emerson, of Foxton, co. Durham, in 26th year of Henry VIII. This leads to the inference that Thomas Emerson, above named, was of the Durham family. Can any correspondent refer me to a pedigree shewing the emigrant's relationship to this family.—J. J. L.

ASHBURNHAM FAMILY.—I should be much obliged by information about the Rev. Edward Ashburnham and his descendants. He was Vicar of Tonbridge in Kent 1632–40, and uncle of Sir Denny Ashburnham cr. Bart. 13 Charles II. His brother Laurence A. mar. Sep. 3, 1609, at Hurstpierpoint co. Sussex, Miss Sibil Goring; and the baptism 1613 at H. of Ann, d. of Edward A., probably refers to him. In 1647 adm'on was granted to George Jones, creditor, of the effects of Edward A. of Guestling, at Doctors' Commons; and in 1649 Alice A. of Dallington, widow, made her will, which was pr. 1655 at D. C. by her d. Joan ex'ix. Therein she names the four children of her son-in-law Vyvian Ticehurst (who mar. her d. Joan), to whom she gives £3 to each at 18; also to two children of her son-in-law Jeremiah Botten £3 each at 18; also names her kinswoman Alice Cressell and her d. Alice Catstrete. No other wills or ad'mons of Ashburnham are met with at D. C. down to 1710. In the Register of Horsmonden occur these entries:—

Bap. Apl. 14, 1674, Catherine d. of Mr. Thomas Ashbenham and Cath ux. Bur. 1681.

Bap. Thomas s. of the same Dec. 25, 1675, evidently the same as is referred to in this entry in the Register of Dallington:—

Naval Service of Mr. James Furneaux of Swilly, abridged from letters and from a Memorial to the Admiralty drawn up by him, and dated Jan. 24th, 1758.

Entered the Navy in 1738; rated Midshipman and received £50 prize money in 1740 in Mediterranean. Made 4th Lieutenant of the "Burford" by Admiral Matthews in Feb. 1743; afterwards 1st Lieut. of that ship. In 1746 in temporary command of the "Antelope," cruising off Toulon. The officer who subsequently assumed command of it promised to provide for him, but was prevented by death. Returned to his ship (the "Burford") and served till Sept. 1747, when he applied for change, and came home 1st Lieut. of the "Princess Caroline," and was paid off after nine years' foreign service. Peace then succeeded, but on next outbreak of war he offered service, and was appointed, at Capt. Hon. J. Byron's desire, to the "Vanguard," March, 1755, and removed with him, Apl. 1757, as 1st Lieut. of the "America." Refers for testimonial to Capt. Byron, having served near three years under him. The memorial expresses hope of promotion, failing which he asks to retire for a time to attend to his private affairs. After this he does not appear to have served.

Naval Service of Captain Tobias Furneaux.

The first information preserved is a letter speaking of £126 due to him for six prizes, merchant brigs, taken 11th June, 1760, by H. M. S. Edinburgh, in company with H. M. S. Hussar and Zephyr.

Writes from H. M. S. Melampe, Yarmouth, 5 Oct. 1761—Sent home from station on French coast. Again from same ship, July 20, 1762—Under orders to go to the coast of Africa and West Indies. Returned to England in H. M. S. Ferret June 29, 1763. Alludes also to prizes won in the "Mars" and "Oxford."

August 19, 1766—May 20, 1768. 2nd Lieut. of the "Dolphin," Capt. Samuel Wallis, in his voyage of discovery round the world. Constantly mentioned in the narrative of that voyage, as given by Hawkesworth.

Promoted to Commander Nov. 1771, and appointed to H. M. S. Adventure in company with Cook's second voyage in the "Resolution." Constantly mentioned in Cook's narrative of that voyage, during part of which the ships were separated. Cook named after him the Furneaux Islands, between New South Wales and Tasmania. He brought home with him Omai, a native of Ulaietea, the first Pacific islander brought to this country. Cook states that he had at first disagreed with Capt. Furneaux's choice of Omai, but afterwards fully approved of it, and considered him a well-chosen specimen of the islanders.

He was promoted to Captain in the "Syren," 28 guns, 10th August, 1775, in which ship he was engaged in Sir Peter Parker's attack on New Orleans, June 28, 1777. He died at Swilly 19th September, 1781, aged 46.

Abraham Furneaux was also Lieut. R.N., but there is no record of his services.

Rev. James Furneaux.—Various letters shew him to have been at Winchester under Dr. Joseph Warton, from about 1765–1770, and to have entered at Univ. Coll., Oxon., as a pupil of Mr. W. Scott, afterwards Lord Stowell.

James Furneaux, Esq., his eldest son, was a commoner (latterly scholar) at Winchester under Dr. Goddard, from about 1798–1803, and matriculated at Oriel Coll., Oxford, but soon left it for the Civil Service of India.

Major-Genl. William Furneaux.—Served in the Peninsular from Oct. 1810, to April, 1813, and was with the covering army at the siege of Badajoz (Hart's Army List). On foreign service in time of peace, twice in Canada, 1821 and 1843, and once at Bermuda, 1852.

Vice-Admiral John Furneaux.—Entered the Navy 16 May, 1805, on board the "Acasta," 40, Capt. R. D. Dunn, and took part in pursuit of Jerome Bonaparte, and action of St. Domingo 6 Feb. 1806. Afterwards Midsh. in the "Royal George," 100, and "San Joseph," 110 (flag of Admiral Sir J. T. Duckworth), and was severely wounded by a splinter in the left jaw at the passage of the Dardanelles, 19 Feb. 1807 (Gazette, 1807, p. 597). Also under Sir J. Duckworth in the "Antelope," 50 (flagship) Newfoundland. Lieut. of the "Pomona," 38, Capts. Fane and Carteret. Commanded the "Cephalus," 18, 19 July, 1814—24 Sept. 1815, in which he co-operated with Royalists on the French coast and up the Gironde, and was otherwise employed during the war of One Hundred Days. Afterwards commanded the "Carron," 20, May 26, 1818, in which he suffered shipwreck in the Bay of Bengal, July 6, 1820, and was honourably acquitted. Commanded the "Hind," 20, from Sept. 15, 1825, on the E. India Station, and as Captain brought home in 1829 the "Andromeda," 46, built in India.

Capt. Richard Creyke.—Entered the Navy 6 May, 1800. Served in the "Cambridge," 80; "Princess Royal," 98; "Galatea," 32; and "Aigle," 36, in which he was engaged in the capture, 12 July, 1804, of "La Charente," 20, and "La Joie," 8, off the coast of France; and at the taking of St. Domingo, 6 Feb. 1806, in the "Acasta," 40. Engaged as Lieut. in the "Alfred," 74, at operations against Copenhagen, 1807; and accompanied home the Russian Fleet, surrendered in the Tagus, 1808; also in the "Valiant," 74, at the destruction of French shipping in the Basque Roads, and siege of Flushing, 1809, and capture of "La Confiance" (late 40-gun frigate "Cannonière"), 3rd Feb. 1810; and in Channel Fleet, and North sea in the "Armada," 74; "Christian VII.," 80; and "Impregnable," 100. Commanded the Zephyr sloop on Portsmouth station 7 June, 1814, the yacht for the service of the Princess Charlotte of Wales.

Major-Genl. William Stuart Furneaux.—Served with his Regiment at the siege of Moultan and battle of Goojerat, and in the suppression of the Indian Mutiny.

Commander James Holmes Furneaux.—Served on the coast of Africa at various times from 1839–1850; in the "Southampton," 50; "Mutine," 12; "President," 50; "Amphitrite," 26. Lieut. and subsequently Commander of the "Vulcan" troopship in the Crimean War. Volunteer on board the "Bellerophon" in the attack on the Forts of Sebastopol. Commander in the "Donegal," 100, June, 1859—May, 1861.

In a vault in the adjoining churchyard lies the body of Sarah, wife of Richard Pruen, of Cheltenham, Solicitor, who died Decr 18th, 1808, aged 31 years.
Exemplary in life for her many virtuous and estimable qualities, and deeply lamented in death for the loss of a Christian, a mother, and a friend, her memory will live in the grateful remembrance of all her surviving relatives, and be cherished with unfeigned regard by a large circle of sorrowing friends.

after a short but severe illness, on the 17th of Decr, 1823, in the 25th year of his age, and lies buried in the Parish Church of St Ann's, Soho.
With a mind improved by considerable literary acquirements, and hallowed by a deep and conscientious sense of religion, which endeared him to heaven as a Christian, and to society as a man, he was instructive at the close of life for the passive virtues of resignation and conformity to the divine will, which beamed forth in the hour of his dissolution.

Within a vault
in front of this monument lie the remains of John Nettleshipp, Esquire, of Basinghall Street, in the City of London.
He died at his brother's house in this parish on the 29th of December, 1809, in the 63rd year of his age.

Rowley.—Daniel Rowley of Kinver, Staffordshire, married secondly about the year 1685 Mary .... I shonld be glad to ascertain exact date and also where the marriage took place. Their eldest son, Daniel, was bapt. at Kinver 19 April, 1686. The first wife of Daniel Rowley was Ann Reignolds, whom he married 1 Sept. 1682, at Oldbury, near Bridgnorth. She died six months after at Kingswinford, viz. March 18, 1682.—D. R.

Newcomen of Lincolnshire.—I am anxious to trace the connection between the Newcomens of Saltfleetby, of whom there is a long pedigree in the Lincolnshire Visitations, and Christopher Newcomen, of Louth. This Christopher owned considerable property in Lincolnshire, and had an only daughter and heiress Mary, who married in 1732 David Field, of Sutton in the Marsh. Can any correspondent kindly assist me in this?—W. G. D. F.

THE FAMILY OF SCULL.*

In the insurrection excited against William Rufus by his uncle Odo in favour of Duke Robert of Normandy, Bernard Newmarch, a famous Norman knight, associated himself with Ralph de Mortimer and other strong barons, and did much injury and mischief in the counties of Hereford and Worcester. After various successful inroads, he possessed himself of that part now denominated Brecknock, and ascending the banks of the river Usk, built a strong castle on the north side. To the knights and gentlemen who accompanied him on his expeditions he portioned out the conquered territories. In the 'History of Brecknockshire,' by Mr. Theophilus Jones, mention is made of the following twelve Norman knights, and the names of the manors they each received. To Sir Reginald Aubrey, the manors of Abercunricke and Slough; to Sir John Scull, Bolgoed and Crai; to Sir Peter Gunter, Gunterstone; to Sir Humphrey Ffrergill, Crickhowell; to Sir Miles Piegard, Ischergrog; to Sir John Waldebieffe, Lanhanffoag; to Sir Humphrey Sollers, Treduston; to Sir Richard de Boyes, Treboyer; to Sir Walter Havard, Pontwillim; to Sir Hugh Surdnan, Aberisker; to Sir Philip Walwin, The Hay; and to Sir Richard Paglin the manor of Peytyns. Sir John Scull is supposed to have been buried in the Battle Aisle of the Abbey or Priory of Brecknock, the rebuilding of which over an old foundation is attributed to Bernard Newmarch. No vestige of Sir John Scull's stronghold now remains, but according to tradition it was where the mansion called Tymawr in Glyntarrell stood, formerly the residence of the Prices, afterwards the property of Davies of Cwrt-y-gollen, and in the year 1800 of Mr. John Powell, attorney. The following inscriptions are still preserved in the church of St. John the Evangelist, in the town of Brecon:—

"Proceeding from East to West, and commencing at the entrance into the chapel, we meet with two of the descendants of one of the Norman knights, viz: 'Here lyeth the body of John William Skwl, paternally descended of Sir John Skwl, Knight. He married Anne, daughter of Howel Morgan of Dwynock. They had issue William, Thomas, Margaret, Elizabeth, Gwenlliam, Jonnet and Joan. Obiit 1680, æt. 78 ann°.' Arms—SKULL, impaling quarterly VAUGHAN and PRITCHARD.

* Communicated by G. D. Scull, Esq.

"Near this stone is another on which viz.: 'Here lyeth the body of William John William Scull (Skwl), paternally descended of Sir John Scull, Knight. He married Jane, daughter of Gwalter John of Parish Trallong, gent. They had issue John, Gwalter, Thomas, and Anne Scull. Obiit 1685, æt. 38 years.' Arms—SKULL, impaling a bend between six dolphins naiant."

From Wales the family spread into the counties of Hereford, Worcester, Wilts, and Buckingham, and to the city of London, and also at an early date into the South of Ireland, probably giving the name to the town and large parish of Scull in the southern part of the county of Cork. In 1685, two brothers, John and Nicholas Scull, emigrated to America from Cork, sailing from the port of Bristol and settling in Wm. Penn's colony, followed in 1706 by Edward Scull (a minor), their near relation. One of the family in England fled to the Hague in Holland about 1630, and his name, Jean Schuyl, appears appended with those of other merchants, both Dutch, French, and English, to a petition addressed in 1651, through the States General, to Cromwell, in reference to the passage of his Navigation Act, which was designed as a blow to their commerce. They represented themselves as merchants who had been trading for upwards of twenty years at the Hague with the Caribbean Islands and Virginia. The act was passed, and their trade being ruined, numbers of them emigrated to America. Pieter Jansen Schuyl or Scholl, as his name was written by the Dutch, and who is supposed to have been the son of Jean Schuyl, emigrated to New Amsterdam in America, and settled at Hempstead on Long Island.

John Scull, or Jan or Jean Schuyl or Scholl.*

Pieter† Jansen Scholl, from the Hague, married Margaret (or Grietie) Provoost, a Huguenot, Nov. 26th, 1661. She was baptized Feb. 24, 1641. A patent for twenty morgens of land (about forty acres) located at Midwout (Flatbush) on Long Island was issued to her May 9th, 1660.

Married 4 August 1864, at Holy Trinity, Islington. 2nd wife.

The pedigrees of Vincent of Swinford and Thingdon, in which Augustine Vincent, Windsor Herald 1624, appears, of Kibworth and of Peckleton, etc., are given in the fourth vol. of Nichols's Leicestershire, as well as that of the Sheepy line. The pedigree of Vincent of Stoke D'Abernon, Surrey, appears in the second vol. of Manning and Bray's History of that county, in Berry's Surrey Genealogies, and in the Baronetage. All the above branches of the family of Vincent had, as a common ancestor, Richard Vincent, slain by Henry Killigrew 12 Henry VI., and his forefathers are recorded for four or five generations. The estate and advowson of the living of Sheepy passed to the Rev. Thomas Gresley, D.D. (for his pedigree see third vol. of Nichols's Leicestershire and the Baronetage) by his marriage with Elizabeth, only surviving child of the Rev. William Vincent (eldest brother of Giles Vincent), of Emmanuel Coll., LL.B. 1709, Rector of Sheepy 1710. The registers of the parish of Sheepy for 1660 to 1710, forming one volume, are lost. There is a pedigree of Vincent of Braithwell and Barnborough Grange in Hunter's South Yorkshire, Deanery of Doncaster, and in Dugdale's Visitation of Co. York, published by the Surtees Society, but I do not connect this family with the Vincents of Leicestershire. There was a family of Vincent of Beach Hill, near Woking, and of Stoke near Guildford, Surrey, in the last century, and there is a monument in the church at Camberwell, Surrey, to Joanna, daughter of Thomas Burges of Horley, Surrey, and wife of Thomas Vincent, J.P. for Co. Surrey, Alderman of the City of London, etc. She died 22 February 1654, having had issue five sons and nine daughters, of whom Elizabeth married 9 March 1653 Richard Blayney (younger son of Henry Lord Blayney by Jane, daughter of Gerald Viscount Drogheda), who on death of his elder brother succeeded as fourth Lord Blayney and had issue. I cannot trace the ancestry of these Vincents of Surrey.

Dean Vincent, in some notes of his family, mentions a pedigree of Vincent which he believed was in the possession of a W. Rainsford, who married a daughter of Francis Vincent of Weddington, co. Warwick. This pedigree may, however, have found its way into the hands of the Messrs. Blackall, who married daughters of the Rev. Richard Vincent (another brother of Giles Vincent), Rector of Donamore and Castle Caulfield in the diocese of Armagh. Another of his daughters married a W. Montgomery, who perhaps may have had this pedigree—a very full one—which I should be extremely glad to see if any correspondent can disclose its present owner. I should be glad to have information of any families of Vincent not referred to in the above pedigree or in these notes.

DOCUMENTS RELATING TO THE FAMILY OF RAWE OR ROWE.

1513. Lease of Lantallack in Landrake (adjoining Cutlinwith), fr. Robert Swymmer, Prior of St. Germans to William Rawe for his own life and those of Alice his wife, and Thomas their son.

1559. 16 Sept. Feoffment of lands in St. Erney (by Upton to Couche). Witnessed by Thomas Rawe.

Swilly and Plymouth Rowes.

N.B.—The only evidence to connect these with the Landrake family is that the Rowes of Plymouth were certainly connected with the Kempes, and the Kempes with St. Erney, as appears from a feoffment of lands in Markwell 1 Dec., 1573, by Henry Kempe of Crede and Elizabeth his wife, and John Kempe their son, to Walter Kempe (of Stoke Damarel) and John Samble.

1566. June 20. Margery, widow of Elise Warwick, John Hele and Mary his wife, John Chubbe and Love his wife, Walter Kympe and Anne his wife, Simon Rowe and Rose his wife [apparently five sisters], join in a lease of tenements in Plymouth to Philip Dingle.

1594. 8 Apl. Symon Rowe the elder, of West Anderdon, Maker, settles his lands in Stoke Damarel, Swilly, etc., on his son Symon Rowe on marriage to Joan Rawlinge.

1611. Sept. 20. Francis Drake, son of Sir F. Drake, Knt., leases tenements in Plymouth to Nicholas Rowe, draper, for his life, that of his wife, and Nicholas their son.

1662. Feb. 6. Abraham Rowe of Plymouth, merchant, sells ⅛ of Swilly to John Furneaux.

Cutlinwith branch (Landrake).

1659. Sept. 3. Agreement of William Raw to settle an annuity (chargeable on Cutlinwith) upon his mother Joan, on her undertaking the maintenance of his brothers Samuel and John (both then apparently minors).

Monument in Landrake church to Samuel, son of Thomas Rowe of Cutlinwith, died June 12, 1713.

It thus appears that Thomas and Joan were father and mother of William and Samuel.

Will of William Rawe of Cutlinwith dated Feb. 25, 1687, Pr. Bp. of Ex. 19 March, 1690, mentions wife Blaunch, sons Thomas (eldest) and Richard, daughters Joan (wife of Thomas Couch of Plymouth), Grace and Christiana [all except Joan apparently then minors]. Son Thomas Executor. Inventory £1023 : 12 : 8 taken by William Rawe and Samuel Rawe.

Grace Rowe married Tobias Furneaux, see Furneaux pedigree.

Richard Stacey of Deptford, shewn by several letters to have been afterwards husband of Christiana Rawe, and to have had a son, not named.

See also will of Anne Rowe 1737 below.

1687. Thomas Rawe married Anne Rawe (see below, Markwell branch).

Markwell (St. Erney) branch.

N.B.—The small parish of St. Erney, adjoining and always held with Landrake, is often not distinguished from it in documents. This branch held also other lands in Landrake.

1604. Oct. 20. Release. Robert Allen of Cuttivet, Landrake, to William Rawe of Landrake. Witness, Peter Rawe.

1610. Release of Rent-charge on Morva, Landrake, from William Aleith to Robert son of William Rawe of Landrake. Witnesses, Peter and John Rawe.

1647. March 27. Will of Robert Rawe of Landrake, executrix his wife Margery, overseer Thomas Rawe, testator's brother. Mentions eldest son William, second son Thomas, and seven daughters, Mary, Rebecca, Margery, Sarah, Agnes, Jane, and Elizabeth.

[The eldest son was not then seventeen, and apparently all the children under age.]

Monument in Landrake church.

Elizabeth, daughter of Robt. Rawe, gent., died 20th July, 1670.

Juxta hic jacent corpora dicti Roberti, Margeriæ uxoris ejus, Roberti et Johannis filiorum, Saræ, aliusq. Elizabethæ, gemm'.

Monument, St. Erney church. Ann the wife of William Rawe of Markwell, gent., daughter of Thomas Allen, gent., dec'd. Born at Ewelme, Oxfordshire, died and was buried here the 21st June, 1691.

Extract from Register of Baptisms, Ewelme, Oxfordshire: Ann, dau. of Thomas Allen and Ann his wife, bapt. April 22, 1635.

[Allen Arms (engraved on an old silver tankard in the possession of the Rev. A. Furneaux) differing from those of Allen, London, in being barry ar. and gu. instead of ar. and az.]

N.B.—The Ewelme Register contains only one other entry of the family, Henry, son of the same parents, bapt. 12 Feb., 1632, and buried 26 Mar., 1663, so that they probably only lived at Ewelme during that time.

Will of William Rawe, Markwell, in parish of Landrake, dated April 24, 1710. Proved Bp. Ex. July 2, 1712. Refers to previous marriage settlement on marriage of his daughter Ann to Thomas Rawe of Cutlinwith in 1687. Mentions grandson Thos. Rawe, brother Thomas Rawe, Cousins Sarah Penrose and Mary Hutchins. Residue etc., to Thomas Rawe, Cutlinwith, and Ann his wife (testator's only child), who are executor and executrix.

Admin. to William Rowe of Landrake, granted by Bp. Ex. 26 June, 1716, to Thomas Rawe his father, and Thomas Rawe the brother of dec'd. Probably the elder Thomas was the brother above-mentioned of the above William Rawe of Markwell.

No. 2. ROWE OR RAWE, COMBINED CUTLINWITH AND MARKWELL FAMILY.

1724. Settlement on marriage of Thomas Rowe the younger to Joan Bond of Holwood, Quethiock, Cornwall. Parties, Thomas Rowe the elder of Cutlinwith, Elizabeth Bond, widow. William Furneaux of Swilly one of the trustees. To this date belongs an old water colour drawing of the Rowe arms (azure, 3 stags' heads, or) impaling those of Bond (ar. on a chevron sa, 3 besants) which appear identical with those of Bond of Peckham, Surrey.

William Bond, Esq., died at Quethiock in 1716.
Thomas Bond, ,, ,, 1723.

1732. Will of Thomas Rowe of Cutlinwith. Exors. his wife Joan, brother Peter Rowe, and William Furneaux. Mentions son James and three danghters, Elizabeth, Ann, and Jenny Rowe. Residuary legatee his eldest son Thomas. Some letters shew that Mrs. Joan Rowe died in 1742.

1736. Will of Anne Rowe, spinster, May 27. Proved Bp. Exeter, May 5, 1737. Mentions four children of brother Thomas, also Mrs. Rowe his widow. Aunt Furneaux, uncle Stacey and his son, cousin William Furneaux, cousin Ann Wallis, brother Peter and his wife, Thomas Rowe her nephew. Brother Peter executor and residuary legatee.

1749. Deed by Thomas Rowe barring the entail of Cutlinwith and other estates.

1798. Abstract of title on sale of Cutlinwith and other estates, in which (besides reciting several of the above deeds) it is stated that Thomas Rowe (who barred the entail as above) died unmarried Feb., 1750; that his brother James had previously died unmarried; that his uncles William, Samuel, and James, and his aunts Ann, Blanch, and Elizabeth had also died, some in infancy, the rest unmarried. That the property had thus vested in his three sisters Elizabeth, still living, wife of James Furneaux (see Furneaux pedigree), Anne, still living, wife of John Wallis (then dec'd), and Jenny wife of Richard Collins (both deceased).

It appears from sundry letters and other papers that John and Anne Wallis had one daughter Anne, who afterwards married Capt. J. T. Duckworth, R.N. (afterwards Adml. Sir J. T. Duckworth, Bart.), and died 21 Aug., 1797 (before her mother).

Jenny Rowe married, about 1762, Richard Collins, Lieut. R.N., son of Admiral Collins R.N. He died in 1765, and she died about June, 1775, leaving an only child Elizabeth, married in 1784 to Rev. John Strode Foot of Tor Grove, near Plymouth.

1748. 1 April. Administration to estate of Peter Rowe of Holwood, in the parish of Quethioc, dec'd, granted to his widow Rachael.

1786. 20 May. Will of Thomas Rowe of Holwood and Liskeard, Cornwall, proved Bp. of Exet., Feb. 13, 1788. Mentions wife Mary, eldest son Peter, sons John and William, daughters Amy Herring, Elizabeth, and Anne. Trustees Rev. W. Hony, vicar of Liskeard, and John Laffer of Alternon, gentleman. A letter from William Rowe R.N., speaks of "sister Lawry's" death June 16, 1775, and of her children. There is a letter of Jany., 1794, from Richard Lawry, R.N., who was probably one of these children, who died in 1795 ; a daughter Elizabeth also is mentioned in letters.

An old memorandum has the following entries :—My brother John died Dec. 17, 1773. My mother died April 21st, 1785. My brother Thomas died Nov. 5, 1786. My sister Ann died April the 12th, 1795. No name of writer given.

Naval services of John and William Rowe, and John Rowe junior, extracted from various letters, and a memorial by Peter Rowe (brother of the last, and nephew of the two former) of 31 Dec., 1803 :—

John Rowe, probably born about 1743 or 1744, had entered the Navy, and was in the West Indies in 1762, also in 1769, but was still only a midshipman when he sailed with Capt. Tobias Furneaux in the "Adventure," in Cook's second voyage. On Dec. 17, 1773, he was in command of a boat's crew the whole of whom were killed and eaten by the natives of Queen Charlotte's Sound, New Zealand. See Furneaux's narrative in Cook's Voyage, Book iv., ch. 8.

William Rowe, in a letter of 1776, speaks of himself as 30 years old and still only a midshipman ; he must therefore have been born in 1746. He was already in the Navy in 1762, when he was blockading the Basque Roads in the "St. Florentin," part of Lord Howe's fleet ; in 1766-8 he sailed in Capt. Wallis' voyage of discovery on board the accompanying ship, the "Swallow," Capt. Carteret, and on Aug. 14, 1767, was wounded by the natives with a poisoned arrow, for which he subsequently received a pension. He appears from letters to have served in the "Garland," "Princess Amelia," and "Portland," on the Jamaica station from 1771 to 1773, and the memorial states that he went a subsequent voyage in the "Swallow," and was lost at sea on the voyage home from the West India station, date not given.

John Rowe, jun., had a short but distinguished career ; he joined the Navy young, and by the age of 15 was master's mate of the "Orion," 74, Capt. J. T. Duckworth, afterwards in the "Queen," in which he took part in the great battle of the 1st of June, 1794. Soon after this, in June, 1795, he was promoted to the rank of Lieutenant, and served in the "Trident" on the East India and China station, and while still there was made Commander July 26, 1799, and appointed to command of the 18-gun sloop "Trincomalee." On the 12th of October, 1799, having his crew much weakened by sickness, and having only seventy fit for service, he engaged in the Persian Gulf with the French privateer "Iphigénie," of far superior force; after two hour's action within musket-shot they grappled and fought muzzle to muzzle for half an hour longer, when the "Trincomalee" blew up, and the explosion sank the "Iphigénie" also, only one seaman and one Lascar being saved from the former, and about thirty of the crew of one hundred and sixty in the latter. These were picked up by a prize ship, the "Pearl," in company with the "Iphigénie." One of her officers, then a prisoner on board the French ship, wrote a full account of the action, which appeared in the 'London Chronicle,' Aug. 5, 1800. Capt. Rowe had been killed before the explosion. See also Allen, Battles of the British Navy, vol. i., p. 496.

FEAKE FAMILY.—Henry, Robert, and Tobias Feake, brothers or near relatives, emigrated to New England about 1630–1. The undersigned will be thankful for any information respecting their parentage or lineage. There were anciently families of the name in Staffordshire and in Norfolk, bearing the same arms, to wit—Sable, a fess dancettée or, in chief three fleurs de lis argent. Where are copies of the pedigrees of these families to be obtained ?

Rogers Family.

Abstract of the Will of Thomas Rodgers of Amblecote, co. Stafford, 1680.

(P. C. C. North, '98) Thomas Rodgers, the elder, of Amblecoate, in the parish of Oldswinford, co. Stafford, yeoman. Dated Aug. 19, 1680, proved June 27, 1681. To my wife Anne Rodgers* my moiety, or half part of all the houses, glass houses, warehouses, outhouses, buildings, lands, tenements, and premises now in possession of me the said Thomas Rodgers, the elder, and my son Thomas Rodgers, the younger. Also my moiety or half part of all the stock, credits, implements, and utensils which I have in copartnership with my said son Thomas Rodgers. My said wife Anne to give my two children James Rodgers and Sarah Rodgers such portions as she thinks fit. Residue to said wife Anne, who is appointed sole executrix, and who proved the will above-named, is in the hamlet of Amblecote, in that part of the parish of Oldwinsford which lies in the county of Stafford, and about half a mile distant from the town of Stourbridge, which is in Worcestershire, and likewise within the parish of Oldswinford. The family of Ty Hery (de Thiétry) came from Lorraine with the Henzeys or Henzells (de Hennezel) and Tyzacks (du Thisac), and were engaged in the manufacture of glass. The marriage of Thomas Rogers and Anne Ty Hery does not appear in the Oldswinford parish registers.

* "It is supposed that a religious persecution, or the inconvenient situation of Lorraine in times of war between France and Germany, occasioned a M^{r} Titery, of Nantz in that duchy, a person of piety and respectability, to take refuge in England, to avoid some calamity which awaited him. His daughter, named Anne, was married to Thomes Rogers, of Wales, afterwards an eminent dealer in glass at Holloway Head, near Stourbridge, Worcestershire Thomas and Anne Rogers had a daughter, Sarah,[1] who was married to Henry Sanders of Stourbridge." * Query if not son of Thomas? Thomas had a son George, who is mentioned in the marriage settlement of Paul Rogers, 1704.

† This was Anne Rogers, née Ty Hery, widow of Thomas.

‡ It appears from their marriage settlement, dated Feb. 14, 1704-5, that Mary Hazelwood was the only daughter of Paul's stepmother, Mary, the second wife of his father, by her first husband . . . . Haselwood. Paul's grandmother, Anne Jackson, was then living, and in receipt of an annuity of £33 from Thomas Rogers her son. It likewise appears that after the death of the said Anne Jackson, Thomas Jackson had to pay "to his brother-in-law Henry Sanders, and to Sarah his wife" the sum of £180. The trustees to this settlement were John Bradley of Oldswinford, glass-maker, and Edward Tyzack of Amblecote, broad-glass-maker. Thomas Rogers was engaged in the trade of "white glass making" and "glass bottle making" at Amblecote. His marriage settlement with Mary Haselwood, widow, his second wife, is dated Oct. 1, 1697.

* This Thomas lived at a mansion called "The Hill" (which he probably built.) He was nominated High Sheriff for Staffordshire in 1750, but did not serve. His wife Martha was a daughter of Richard Knight, Esq., of Downton Castle, Salop.

† This Thomas was the father of Samuel Rogers, the poet. He resided first at "The Hill," but afterwards became a banker in London, and M.P. for Coventry. His will is dated June 4, 1788, and was proved by his celebrated son Samuel, the sole executor, in the P. C. C. June 18, 1793. Thomas Rogers married Mary, d. and h. of Daniel Radford, a grand-niece of the Rev. Matthew Henry, the eminent biblical commentator. ABSTRACTS FROM WILLS AND ADMINISTRATIONS OF THE NAME OF SCULL OR SKULL.

Rudolphus Scull, citizen of London. Wife Margerry. She had a son Robt. Turner. Thomas Hackett was a brother in law of Rs. Scull. Lived in the parish of Christ Church. His will made in year 1601. (At Somerset House.)

John Scull, gentleman, of Much Cowarne, county of Hereford, gave thirteen shillings and four pence for repairs to the church at Much Cowarne. His debts would not allow of any legacy to his wife Elizabeth, but gives her his household goods, etc. etc. Appoints his brother William executor. One of the witnesses to the will Miles Scull. Wishes to be buried in the Churchyard at Much Cowarne. Walter Scull and Eleanor Scull administered to his estate. One of the witnesses to inventory John Scull. Will made the 20th of January, 1616. (At Somerset House.)

William Skull (yeoman), of Brinkworth, Wiltshire. His wife's name Joane. Had sons Francis and William, and daughters Mary and Joane. Had a kinsman named William Beale. Left a legacy to Wm. Skull (his godson), son of William Skull. Had a son in law John Walker and brother in law Anthony Beale. His will made in 1631. (Somerset House.)

Elizabeth Scull (widow), of Slynfold, Sussex, mother of the Rev. John Scull, late Rector of Slynfold. Letters of administration granted in 1641, December.

John Scull,* Rector of Slynfold, co. Sussex. Gives £25 to the poor of the parish of Slynfold; £15 to the poor of Hitchinfield; £15 to the poor of Lymaster; £15 to the poor of Polnige; £10 to the poor of Westfield; and £200 to his sister Elizabeth Montegue, six months after his mother's death. To his servant Walter Fisher the sum of twenty nobles, one month after his death. To Mr. Kinge his curate the sum of £20 and his bookes that he now has in his possession, and his mourning gowne at Chichester and his stuff gowne at Slynfold. To Elizabeth Combes his maid her wages and £3. To his other maid her wages and ten shillings. To Richard Pennicot £5; and gives £25 to the choristers of Chichester, viz. £20 to the vicars and £5 to the church choir—this to be done whether he is buried there or not; and £100 for re-edifying the Cathedral, provided that Parliament will not dissolve the Deane and Chapters, then revokes his bequest if they do. To George Pennell the sum of £20. To John Scull, a schoolboy at Horsham School, £20 to place him out as apprentice to a trade. He names three executors to assist his mother Elizabeth, who is to be sole executrix. Gives to the three advising executors £20 each, and all expenses for trouble, etc. Will made October 23, 1641. (At Somerset House, London.)

* The Rev. John Scull was made a Prebend of Moreton Parva in Hereford Cathedral in 1626, which he retained until his death, at Slynfold in Sussex, in 1641. The living of St. Mary Mounthaw, London, was in the gift of the Bishops of Hereford. One John Scull held it until 24th December, 1630, when he resigned, and Thomas Thrale, A.M., succeeded him. He then, no doubt, removed to Slynfold. He was also Prebend of Waltham in Chichester Cathedral, as "the manor of Barkeleyes and farm of Waltham were by indenture dated June 16, 1641, demised by John Scull late Prebendary of Waltham to Thomas Farrington citizen and alderman of Chichester for 21 years, under the reserved yearly rent of £12 worth over and above said rent and as before is certified £97 : 13 : 1, in all £109 . 13 : 1 per annum."

Alice or Alicia Skull (widow), of Brinckworth, Wiltshire. Had son John Skull (al's Sherer). She gives £12 to the mother church at Sarum. To her son John Skull (al's Sherer) "the lease I have of the grounds in Brinkworth called Oxlayes, but because it is reported that John Skull (al's Sherer) my sonne is gone into another land and I know not whether ever hee mai returne* to lay claime to the aforesaid grounde called Oxlayes; therefore my will and full intent is that Alice Beale my kinswoman shall queathe and peaceable enjoy the same ground called Oxlayes until the said John Skull (al's Sherer) lay claime thereto." Said Alice Beale had a sister Mary. Legacies were left to Margaret Beale, who she calls her daughter; to her kinsmen Richard, Toby, Samuel, Thomas, and Sarah Beale; and to her god-daughter Mary Davies and to her son-in-law William Beale. Executors—Robert Panting and Wm. Edwards (yeomen) of Brinkworth. Will made 28 December, 1649. (At Somerset House, London.)

Solomon Skull, of Syndham, co. Wilts (tailor). He is called the elder. Had daughters Elizabeth, the wife of Christopher Whale; Mary, the wife of John Gibbons; and Joane, who had a daughter Mary. Solomon Scull Junior is named the sole executor. The wife of the testator was living, but is not named in the will, which was made March 1st, 1657. (Somerset House, London.)

John Skull (yeoman), the elder, of Grettenham, parish of Brinkeworth, co. Wilts. To his oldest son, Francis Skull, most of his household goods. The wife of Francis named Mary; they had two daughters, Susannah and Jane, and a son, John Skull. John Skull the elder had also a son named Joeffrey, and a daughter in law named Joice, who was the wife of his son John. Legacies are left to the six oldest children of his son-in-law Thomas Day. He gives six shillings to each of his brothers and sisters, and appoints his son John Skull sole executor to his will, which was proved in 1659. (Somerset House.)

Gulielmus Scull of Buckinghamshire. Letters of administration granted in January, 1661. (Somerset House.)

Miles Scull of Warton, Leominster, co. Hereford, gentleman. To his wife Elizabeth he gives his part of Beggars' Meadow for her natural life, and after her death to his kinsman Wm. Scull, son of his brother Barnaby Scull, gentleman, deceased. Said Wm. Scull to pay unto his kinsman Henry Hill and his wife £20 in six months after the death of his wife. To his wife he gives all his household goods, and to Elizabeth, the wife of his neighbour Thomas Nicholls of Warton, a legacy. To his kinsman John Scull and his wife five shillings each to buy gloves. The same to Henry Hill and wife and Thomas Nicholls and wife. To the poor of the parish of Leominster forty shillings. He names Wm. Scull executor. Witnesses

‡ No doubt into Holland, as Jan or Jean Schuyl was living at the Hague in 1650. His name appears with others, both French, English, and Dutch, appended to a petition to Cromwell. Peter Jansen Schuyl or Peter Schuyl, the son of Jan or John, emigrated to America from the Hague, and settled on Long Island at the Dutch settlement of Hempstead. One of his sons, John, removed in 1694 to Great Egg Harbour in New Jersey, and left numerous descendants. After his removal from Long Island he appears to have resumed his name of Scull, which had been for two generations variously written by the Dutch as Schuyl, Scholl, Schol, Scule, Scol, Scholt, and Sculle.

John Scull, Henry Hill and John Jay. Will made March 24, 1674, and proved April 9, 1675. Inventory £59 : 1 ; 2. (From the Probate Court, Hereford.)

Johannes Scull, of Cowarne Magna, co. Hereford. Letters of administration granted to his relict Elizabeth in year 1677. Amt. of inventory £79 : 11 : 3.

Joane Skull (widdow of Rev. John Scull), of the parish of Presteign, co. Radnor. Desires to be buried beside her dearly beloved husband, the late Rector of Presteign. Gives to her dearly beloved grandchild Ann Bull, wherever she may be, with her blessing, the sum of £20, which sum she has delivered into the hands of her beloved friend Phillipe Lewis, now Rector of Presteign, to be delivered into her own hands. If Ann Bull die, then the £20 to be paid to her child, if she shall have one. If this child die, then to be paid to her dear grandchild Joane, now wife of James Davis, now schoolmaster of Cardigan Town. If Joane Davis shall die before the £20 be paid, then it is to go to her daughter Ann Stones. She gives certain household goods at the house of John Williams of Presteign to her daughter Joane Davis. Will made Feb. 24, 1678, and proved May 1, 1679. Witnesses John and Mary Williams and William Watkins. (Probate Court, Hereford.)

Elizabeth Scull of Butterley, parish of Edvyn Ralph, co. Hereford (widdow). To her cozen Roger Yeomans and his sister Alice Yeomans the sum of £20, that is in Mr. Marshall's hands. To her cozen Margarett Baylis ten shillings; to her cozen Thomas Yeoman's wife ten shillings; and to her seven younger children ten shillings each, that is in my cozen Henry Yeoman's hands, and a cow to the eldest son. To her cozen John Rowbery's eight children five shillings each; to her cozen Roger Bray and his wife five shillings each; to her cozen Henry Yeomans and wife ten shillings each; and to her five children ten shillings each. To her cozens Humphrey Yeomans and John Hollands she leaves legacies, and all the rest of her estate to her cozen Alice Yeomans, who she appoints her sole executrix. Will made September 27, 1676, and proved April 4, 1685. Witnesses Elinor Steward, Jane and Thomas Burwall. (From Probate Court, Hereford.)

Gulielmus Scull of Kington, co. Hereford. Letters of administration granted between 1723 and 1732 to Eliza, his relict. Inventory £7 : 5 : 6.

Miles Scull of Kington, co. Hereford (weaver). Appoints his nephew William Scull his sole executor. To his brother John his wearing apparel and one shilling. He gives one shilling each to his sisters Ann Hill and Elizabeth Webb, and to his nephews William Fenncott and Thomas Hall; but £5 to his three nephews William Whittney, Miles Scull, Alexander Webb, and to his neice Jane Scull one shilling and blankets, etc. etc. Will made December 6, 1736, and proved 26 December 1737. (Probate Court, Hereford.)

THE FAMILY OF WYNYARD.†

The name of Wynyard appears to have existed from an early period, at least in the West of England. In the pedigree of the Drewes of Devonshire, we find that "Robert French of Horneford, Devon, married Matilda, daughter and heir of Rob^t^ Wynyard of Harcomb, in the same county;" and possibly the Wynard Almshouses at Exeter may have been founded by a member of the same family. There is a spot called Wynyard's Gap at Cheddington, in the county of Dorset, and it will be remembered also that Lord Londonderry's seat in the county of Durham bears this name.

The word Win-eard, or Win-geard is the Anglo-Saxon parent of our English Vineyard; and seems to have been not an uncommon patronymic in Holland—many books, for example, having been published at Leyden in the seventeenth century, ex officinâ Adriani Wyngaerden. The name may, therefore, have been of Anglo-Saxon, local, or continental derivation.

In King James's 'Discourse of Powder-Treason,' (Works, 1616,) he says: "And enquiring of Whyneard, Keeper of the Wardrobe, to what use hee had put those lower roumes, & cellars," &c. p. 228; and again, p. 230, "it was thought meet that upon pretence of Whyneard's missing some of the King's stuffe, or hangings," &c.

There seems no reason to doubt that this man was the ancestor of the family of which we treat, viz.: John Wynyard, who was Groom of the Wardrobe to Queen Elizabeth, etc.; and who died soon after the discovery of the plot, Jan. 20, 1606. In all probability, too, he would be the John Wynyard of London, gent., son and heir of Geo. Wynyard, gent., to whom arms were granted 2nd Jan., 1579, viz.: Paly of six argent and sable on a chief gules a lion passant argent. Crest: On a wreath of the colours, a mount vert thereon a tiger sejant ermine. Motto: Eprouvez.

A pedigree is in existence compiled by some professional pedigree-manufacturer, and based in apparent error on a certain almanack and memorandum book, which had been in the possession of some member of the family; but originally seems to have belonged to "Henry Rimborne," to whom and to whose family the entries probably refer. Whoever was its possessor, it appears that he was the Yeoman Usher of the Black Rod, whose fees he records, and also that the Coronation jewels and robes were entrusted to his charge, April 23, 1661. He speaks of "Brother Wenham," thus connecting him with John Wynyard, who mentions "Cousin John Wenham," in 1686, as stated below.

of Llynypandu, Flintshire.
Baptised at S^t^ Ives, May 21^st^ 1757:
Died March 30^th^ 1836:
And was interred in the adjoining church yard.

She was eldest daughter of Charles Worth, Attorney-at-Law of S^t^ Ives Cornwall, and of Prudence his wife, the daughter of the Rev^d^ John Keigwin, Vicar of Landrake and S^t^ Erney in that County.—Through the illustrious families of Giffard, Wyndham, Howard, Nevill, Granville, Courtenay and others, she was descended from three children of King Edward the First.

THOMAS PEARCE, above named, died April 18^th^ 1811 and was interred at Mold, Flintshire.

This tablet was erected by FRANCIS PEARCE, of Wellington, Salop, youngest son of the above named Tho^s^ & Mary Pearce.

NOTE.—Reference to Burke, Cornish Histories, and Harl. Soc. Pub., shews that the above-named lady was likewise descended from the eminent Cornish families of Arundell, Beville, Borlase, Boscawen, Carminowe, Dawnay, Erisey, Hill, St. Aubyn, Trefusis, Vivyan, and others; also from the noble houses of Beauchamp, Clare, Ferrers, Grey, Marshal, Mortimer, Percy, Stafford, De Vere, with various other alliances.

HILLIARD PEDIGREE, page 40. In my notes to this pedigree I state that the name of Legard was to be found in 'Burke's Extinct Baronetage;' what I obviously meant was that the name of Legard was to be found in the Hilliard pediyree in 'Burke's Extinct Baronetage.' The arms of the Hilliards of Kerry, of which I give a book-plate, confirms the theory which I stated as to their descent.

Extract of a Letter from James Brynker of Brynker, Esq., to Wm. Owen of Porkington, Esq., dated March 4, 1718.

Piers Stanley. It was observ'd that wherever the Stanleys were married in those days, that family thrived mightily—a sister of y^{rs} (theirs) was the raising of Lloyd of Llanydens estate—for you may remember how great the Stanleys were in Henry y^{e} 7 & 8 time, & therefor partly by interest to procure wastes & crown lands, they generally made fortunes, and our Lands were esteem'd of little value in those days.

* The family of Elliott of Stobs, co. Roxburgh, Baronets, from which the Lords Heathfield were descended, bear, Gules, on a bend engrailed or, a baton azure; but the arms on the coffin-plate are as described above.

† The arms of Gibraltar (as recorded in the College of Arms) are, Azure, between two pillars in fess argent, a castle with two towers of the second, upon the port a key with the wards downward and to the dexter, or; in base the words PLUS ULTRA, of the last. On the coffin-plate the chief is erroneously represented as the entire upper half of the quarter, the pillars of Hercules are drawn as towers, like those of the castle, and the key is omitted.

‡ Louis de Duras, or Durefort, Marquis de Blanquefort and brother of the Duke de Duras, was created Baron Duras of Holdenby 1673, succeeded his father-in-law, Sir George Sondes, as Earl of Feversham 1677, was elected and installed K.G. 1685, and died between 6 April and 3 May 1709.

SPARKS.—Can any correspondent give information as to Luke Sparks, the Comedian, who acted at Covent Garden Theatre, and who died 28 December, 1768, and was buried 3 January, 1769, at Brentford, Middlesex? He was of an Irish descent, and acted, before coming on to the stage in London, in Dublin. Luke Sparks is mentioned in a 'Tour round England' by Walter Thornbury, published 1870, and also in William Rufus Chetwood's 'General History of the Stage,' published in 1749. I believe Luke Sparks married, but I have not yet learnt who his wife was. Any particulars as to her—the fuller the better as to her parentage on her paternal and maternal side—I much desire to collect. There was an Isaac Sparks, also an actor in Ireland, in the last century.

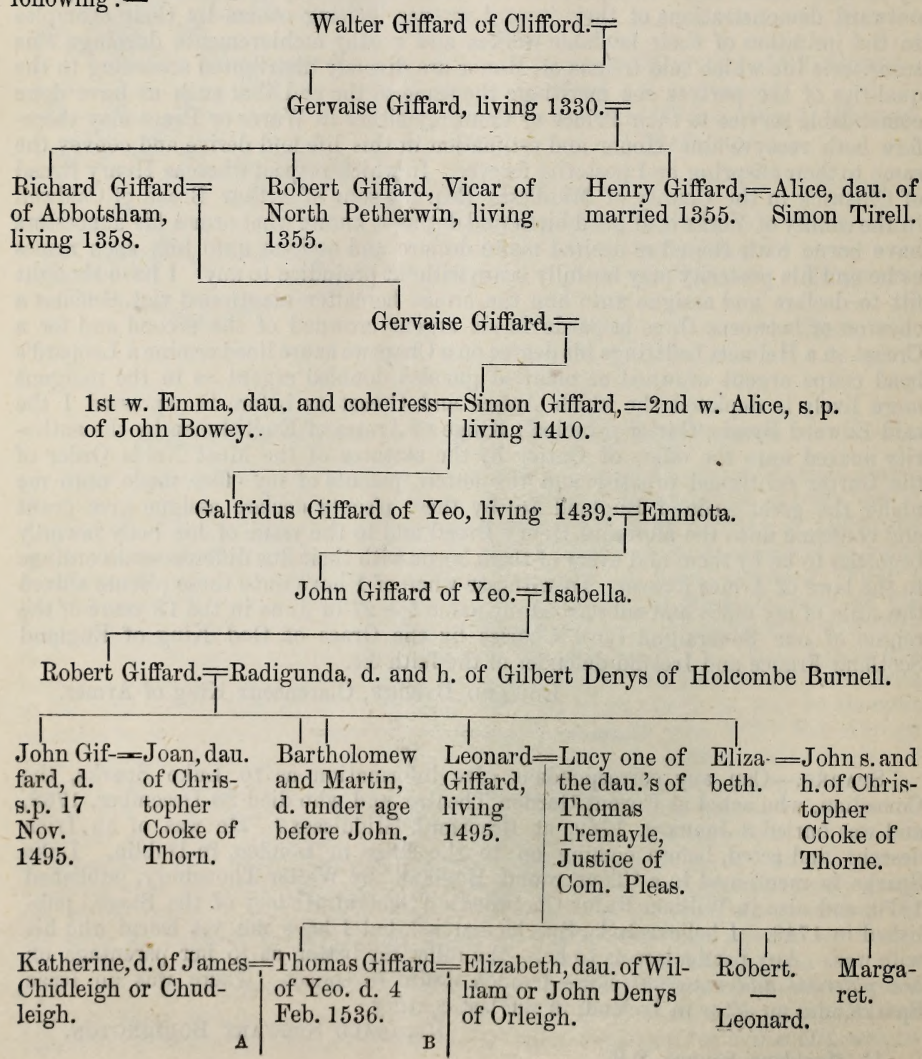
GIFFORD OR GIFFARD, OF YEO, DEVON.

By Robert Dymond, F.S.A., of Exeter.

Three branches of the ancient race of Giffard are noticed by Westcote in his 'View of Devonshire in the Year 1630,' viz. those of Brightlegh, Weare, and Tiverton, and the Heralds' Visitation of 1620 includes the pedigree of Gifforde of Halsbury. Another branch, as yet unrecorded in print, terminated in or about the year 1561 with the marriage of George, afterwards Sir George, Cary with Wilmote, sole child and heiress of John Giffard of Yeo in the parish of Alwington, near Bideford. George Cary of Cockington in Devon was high in favour with his kinswoman Queen Elizabeth, from whom he received the honour of knighthood in 1597, and the appointment of Treasurer of Ireland. To this was afterwards added the office of Lord Justice, and, in the succeeding reign, that of Lord Deputy. George Cary had evidently taken considerable pains in tracing the pedigree of his young wife, and it is to a MS. in his handwriting, preserved amongst the muniments of the Cary family at Torre Abbey, Devon, that we are enabled to supply the following:—



Walter Giffard of Clifford.
Gervaise Giffard, living 1330.
Richard Giffard of Abbotsham, living 1358.
Robert Giffard, Vicar of North Petherwin, living 1355.
Henry Giffard, married 1355.
Alice, dau. of Simon Tirell.
Gervaise Giffard.
1st w. Emma, dau. and coheiress of John Bowey..
Simon Giffard, living 1410.
2nd w. Alice, s. p.
Galfridus Giffard of Yeo, living 1439.

John Giffard, d. s.p. 17 Nov. 1495.
Joan, dau. of Christopher Cooke of Thorn.
Bartholomew and Martin, d. under age before John.
Leonard Giffard, living 1495.
Lucy one of the dau.'s of Thomas Tremayle, Justice of Com. Pleas.
Elizabeth.
John s. and h. of Christopher Cooke of Thorne.
Katherine, d. of James Chidleigh or Chudleigh.
A
Thomas Giffard of Yeo. d. 4 Feb. 1536.

DOCUMENTARY PROOFS.

Undated Grant by Robert Abbot of Tavistock.* To Gervaise Giffard of lands in the manor of Abbotsham, N. Devon, by which it appears that Gervaise was the son of Walter Giffard of Clifford.

Undated deed between Robert Giffard, rector of Clovelly, and Gervaise Giffard, by which it again appears that Gervaise was the son of Walter Giffard.

Deed made 21 Ed. respecting Easterbowode, shewing that Richard was the eldest and Robert a younger son of the aforesaid Gervaise.

Deed of 28 Ed. III. Settlement on the marriage of Henry Giffard with Alice, daughter of Simon Tirell, shewing that Henry was the son of Gervaise.

Deed of 3 Ed. III., between Gervaise and Richard Giffard, respecting lands in Abbotsham, by which it appears that Richard was the son and heir apparent of Gervaise. Witnesses, Bartholomew Grenvile, William Giffard, rector of Bideford, Richard Coffyn, Bartholomew Giffard, and others.

Deed of 28 Ed. III., between Robert Giffard, vicar of Norpiderwyn, and Richard Giffard, as to lands in Abbotsham, proving that the parties were sons of Gervaise Giffard.

Grant of 31 Ed. III. by John de Bowey and Margaret his wife, and Theobald Bowey to Richard Giffard of Bowood, in Abbotsham, of all their lands in Thorne in the parish of Bideford.

Letters of Attorney 10 Henry VI., mentioning that Gervaise Giffard had issue Simon ; Simon had issue Galfridus ; and Galfridus had issue John.

Indenture tripartite 11th Henry IV. partitioning the lands of John Bowey, shewing that Simon Giffard married Emma, daughter and coheiress of the said John Bowey, and had issue by the said Emma, Galfridus his son and heir.

By an Inquisition held 11 January, 10 Henry VII., on the death of John Giffard, it was found that he had died on the 17th November last past, leaving Leonard his brother next heir.

Deed 17 Henry VI., between Galfridus Giffard of Yeo, and John Giffard of the one part, and Thomas Chedley, John Coplestone, and others, of the other part, respecting lands in Yeo, etc., and mentioning John as son and heir apparent of the said Galfridus Giffard.

Deed 18 Henry VIII., between Nicholas Denys of Orleigh and Thomas Giffard of Yeo, shewing that John Giffard had issue Robert, Robert had John and Leonard, and Leonard had issue the said Thomas Giffard.

By an Inquisition held 20 Oct. 25 Henry VIII., after the death of Thomas Giffard, it was found that John was his son and heir, and was aged 21 years and upwards.

By an Inquisition held 20 Oct. 33 Henry VIII., after the death of John Giffard of Yeo, it was found that he had died on the 19 March last past, leaving Wilmote his sole child and heiress—that Margaret, his widow, was the daughter of John Mylyton, Esq.—that he made his will on the 15 March, 1540, and that Thomas Giffard, father of the said John, was seized of the manors of Stoklegh Davernon and Stokelegh Francis, and the advowsons of Meeth and Goodleigh, and therewith, by deed dated 24 Oct. 18 Henry VIII., enfeoffed Hugh Stukely, Anthony Pollard, John Gyfford de Halsbury, Humphrey Prideaux, James Wyse, Robert Chudleigh, Esquires, and others, to the use of the said Thomas Giffard and Elizabeth (whom he took to wife), daughter of William Denys of Orleigh, Esq., and that the said Thomas died 4 Feb. 27 Henry VIII., leaving Elizabeth his widow.

* A Robert was Abbot of Tavistock from 1270 to 1285, when he was succeeded by Robert Champeaux otherwise Campbell. After a long vacancy, Robert Bonus was next inducted Abbot 12 June, 1328. Oliver's 'Monasticon Diœc. Exon.'

Ball Family (Vol. I., Page 315).—I find that Samuel Ball married Mary, daughter of George Papillon of London, merchant, and of Great Bentley, Essex, by his wife Mary, daughter of Thomas Nicholson. Mary Ball (Papillon) was buried 25 June, 1718, at Hackney. Papillon Ball married Eliza, fourth daughter of John Sikes, Lord of one of the Manors of Hackney, by his wife Mary Ashe. Eliza Ball (Sikes) born 24 Feb. 1693, in Well Street, Hackney. George Papillon (father of Mary Ball) was born 1620, died 1684, and buried at St. Katharine Coleman, London. He married, 1653, as above stated, Mary Nicholson, and she died 1725. They had issue inter alios Samuel Papillon of Hackney, merchant, and Great Bentley, who married Fiducia, daughter of John Steere of Jayes, co. Surrey, by his wife Fiducia, daughter of John Lee of Plaistow, and had issue. George Papillon was seventh child of David Papillon of Lubenham, co. Leicester, the son of Thomas Papillon. For family of Papillon, see Burke's 'Landed Gentry.' With these additional facts, can any correspondent give the ancestry, etc., of Samuel Ball?

Residue of estate to his son Thomas Dudley.‖

Thomas Sutton, alias Dudley, 1646.

Thomas Sutton, alias Duddeley, in the county of Worcester, gent. (who seems to have resided at Netherton) made his will Feb. 3, 1646, and it was proved at Worcester in August 1647. He gives all his lands, houses, goods, cattells, chattels, etc. to Anne Sutton, alias Duddeley, his wife, for her life, and after her decease to Thomas Sutton, alias Duddeley, his eldest son, and his heirs for ever, he paying unto Edward Sutton, alias Duddeley, the testator's youngest son, the sum of £100 within one year after the decease of the said Anne his wife, and also another £100 to Thomas Baker, testator's son-in-law. Wife Anne sole executrix. The inventory mentions, inter alia, "ironstone upon the bankes at his cole workes."

* Communicated by H. Sydney Grazebrook, Esq.

† This will is much perished.

‡ He was a younger son of Edward, Lord Dudley, K.G. (by Cecilie his wife, daughter of Sir William Willoughby, Knt.), and married Eleanor, a natural daughter of Sir Gilbert Talbot, of Grafton, co. Worc., in whose will, dated 19 Oct. 1542, she is thus referred to:—"To Eleanor Dudley, wife unto Jeffery Dudley, esquier, oon of my daughters, over & besides those londes and rentes wt in the lordship of Feckenh'm which I have geven unto the said Jefferey & Elyanor, all the stuffe of her chamber which she lyeth in, & a gowne unwatered chamlet and six poundes xiijs iiijd. And to my sonne Dudley a gowne of blacke velvet."

§ Catherine, d. of Geffrey Dudley, "youngest sonne of the Lo. Dudley," m. Simon Dickenson of Bradley, co. Stafford (see Harl. MS. 1439).

‖ Thomas succeeded his father at Russell's Hall. He appears to have had two sons, Geoffrey, who was of "Russell's Hall, Esq." in 1611, 1616, & 1635; and Thomas of Netherton (the testator of 1646). Geoffrey married, at Tipton, in 1611, Elizabeth, the eldest of the natural daughters of Edward Lord Dudley, and sister of Dud or Dodo Dudley, the famous ironmaster. The next Dudley of Russell's was Thomas, circa 1670, father of Thomas the intestate of 1684.

Ann Sutton, alias Dudley, 1653.

Ann Sutton, alias Dudley of Dudley, widow, by will dated 8 Dec. 1653, and proved at Worcester Dec. 1662, directs her body to be buried in Dudley Church near her husband. To Thomas Sutton, alias Dudley, her eldest son, her lands called "Scot's" in Dudley during his life, and after his death to Robert Sutton, alias Dudley, his eldest son, but if the said Robert should die without issue male, the said lands to go to Thomas Sutton, alias Dudley, the second son of the aforesaid Thomas, and if the said Thomas should also die without issue male, then to "Farthinandoe" Sutton, alias Dudley, and his heirs for ever. And when the aforesaid Robert inherited the said land called "Scot's," he was to pay to Thomas, second son of the aforesaid Thomas Dudley, and to Farthinandoe Sutton, alias Dudley, third son of the aforesaid Thomas, £10 "apeice" within four years after their father's death. "I give to my son Edward Sutton, alias Dudley, one bedstead which my sister Elner Smyth lyeth on, and the fether bed which I lyeth (sic) on, and one bleu coverlit and the bigger of the two lesser brasse potts," etc. etc. "To my daughter Ann Baker my best petticoat. To my grandchild Thomas Baker £5, one half of which to set him prentice when that he is able to goe, and the other half when that he doth come to the age of 21. To the other three grand-children (sic) of my daughter, Ann Baker, each of them one dish of peawter after my decease. To my grandchild Robert Sutton, alias Dudley, the bedstead and all the joyne ware in the chamber over the hall, and one of the best dishes of peawter after his father's death. To Margaret Dudley, my grandchild, one of my best peawter dishes. To Ann Sutton, alias Dudley, ditto, and one chest at my bed's feet, and one fine flaxen towel. To my grandchild John Sutton, alias Dudley, one of my best dishes of peawter. To my daughter-in-law Margery Dudley, wife of the aforesaid Edward Dudley, one ruff. I give my gowne between Thomas Dudley and Edward Dudley, my two sons, and make my son Thomas sole executor."

Thomas Dudley, alias Sutton, 1664.

By will dated Jan. 19, 1664, and proved at Worcester in February same year, Thomas Dudley, alias Sutton, gave all his estate, real and personal, to his son Thomas, and appointed him sole executor.

Daniel Sutton, alias Dudley, 1677.

Daniel Sutton, alias Dudley, of Dudley, gent., by will dated May 17, 1677, leaves to his mother £20; to his brother, Thomas Sutton, gent., £20; to his sister Margaret Butcher £9; to his sister Hanna Parks £9; to his sister Elizabeth Marsh £9; to his sister Mary Price £9; to his sister Ellnor Attwood £9; to his sister Priscilla Sutton £9; and the sum of £6 "for my funeral and the decent bringing of me home." The above to be paid "out of the moneys now held by my brother Thomas Sutton gent." Makes his sister Elizabeth Marsh executrix. Witnessed by Robt. Smith and John Smith, and proved at Worcester in April 1683.

Margaret Dudley, 1680.

Margaret Dudley, of the parish of St. Mary, Islington, spinster (who appears to have died at Dudley), by will dated April 13, 1680, left her wearing apparel, etc., to her sister Ann Dudley (whom she makes sole executrix), and all the rest of her property equally between her said sister and her brothers Robert, Thomas, and Ferdinando Dudley. Will proved at Worcester Aug. 1680. Inventory taken by Margery Dudley and Mary Dixon.

Thomas Sutton, alias Dudley, 1682.

Thomas Sutton, alias Dudley, the elder, of Netherton in the parish of Dudley, gent., by will dated Dec. 23, 1682, and proved at Worcester in February following, bequeathed his household goods and the lease of Mr. Jeaven's land, also his personal estate (except the long table in the hall, and the wainscot there, and the back behind the kitchen fire) to Bridget his wife during her life, but if she married again it was to be equally divided between his five daughters. He makes his wife executrix. To his son John Sutton, alias Dudley, the dwelling house and buildings at Netherton, and the land belonging thereto called "Merryhurst," also the long table before mentioned, he paying to his two brothers and five sisters as follows: to my sons Thomas and Ferdinando Sutton, alias Dudley, £5 each; to my daughters Mary, Katherine, Bridget, Susanna, and Elizabeth, £6 each. To his son John the benefit of the lease of Jeaven's land after his mother's death. To his son Robert 2*s.* 6*d.*, he being already otherwise provided for. Appoints his well beloved kinsmen Henry and Richard Dixon overseers, and to have 12*d.* each for their trouble.

THOMAS SUTTON, alias DUDLEY, 1684 (Administration).

Thomas Sutton, alias Dudley, of Russell's Hall in the parish of Dudley, gent., died intestate in 1684, and his widow Mary administered in June 1685.

BRIDGET DUDLEY, alias SUTTON, 1687 (Administration).

Bridget Dudley, alias Sutton, died intestate, and administration was granted in November, 1687, to her daughter, Mary Dudley, spinster. The property was at Netherton, and the parties to the bond were Susanna Dudley, alias Sutton, spinster, and Richard Southall. Witnesses—Henry Dixon and John Dixon.

ROBERT SUTTON, alias DUDLEY, 1689.

Robert Sutton, alias Dudley, gentleman (but in the inventory described as a nailor), by will dated Jan. 1689, and proved at Worcester in March 1689, leaves to Nicholas Gilberts, son of his late sister Ann Gilberts, 5*s.* to make up the money of his which I have in trust for him; 30*s.* to my brother Ferdinando for the use of the said Nicholas, and to the said Nicholas my chest with three locks and two drawers, when he shall come of age or at the death of Mary my wife. To Ann Sutton, alias Dudley, daughter of my brother Ferdinando, two joined chairs which were mine before I was married, to be delivered to her when she is of age, or at the death of my wife. To Mary my wife the third part of all those four closes of land called "Scot's farm," alias "Scot's tenement," in the manor and foreign of Dudley, for her life, and the rest of my estate also to her. She to be sole executrix.

MARY SUTTON, alias DUDLEY, 1694.

Mary Sutton, alias Dudley, of Dudley, widow, by will dated Jan. 7, 1694, and proved at Worcester in April, 1699, bequeaths as follows:—"To my grandson William Fieldhouse, son of my daughter Honor Fieldhouse, the table board and forme now standing and being in my Hall House in Dudley, two screens on each side the fire-place, my pewter frame, and my jack that turns the spit, my furnace in the kitchen, the forme belonging to the bench behind the table, also 40*s.* To Joseph his brother 40*s.* To Elizabeth their sister 40*s.* To my sister Elizabeth Stevens, widow, 20*s.* Which sums are owing to me by Thomas Pitt, Alice Smith, widow, and Elizabeth Hill. To Mary Clifton, my granddaughter, a joyned bedstead and £20 due to me on a bond by George Clement, alias Barnaby, of Dudley. And I appoint William Clifton, uncle to the aforesaid Mary Clifton, to be her tutor and guardian. To my grandsons William and John Clifton, various dishes of pewter, and to my granddaughters Elizabeth and Honor Clifton other pewter etc. To my daughter Lydia an iron pot. To Thomas Sutton, alias Dudley, son of my brother-in-law Thomas Sutton, alias Dudley, certain dishes of pewter, and to Elizabeth, daughter of my brother-in-law Thomas Sutton, the pewter dishes which were the property of my late husband Robert Sutton alias Dudley. I appoint William Fieldhouse of Dudley, nailer, my son-in-law, and my son-in-law Roger Clifton, of Dudley-forren, nailer, to be my executors."

John Sutton, alias Dudley, 1723.

John Sutton, alias Dudley, of Russell's Hall in the parish of Dudley, gent., died intestate, and his effects were administered to by his widow Katherine on the 23rd of April, 1723. The inventory is remarkable for the large quantity of household goods. He had, inter alia, old swords, fowling pieces, books, rings, silver articles, a caudle cup and flagon, mustard pots, candlesticks and snuffers, pictures, maps, and "landskipps," three wooden horses, bridles, whips, etc. and debts due from Richard Chelmish and Abiathar Hawkes. Total value of goods £241 17*s.* 6*d.*

This John Sutton, alias Dudley, was the last of the Russell's Hall branch of this great family. On his death, intestate and without issue, his landed property at Dudley and at Feckenham devolved upon his five aunts, the daughters of Thomas Dudley, or their representatives, as his coheirs at law. His widow Katherine subsequently married William Winter, and was living his widow in 1738. The several shares of these coheirs came by mortgage, purchase, etc. into the hands of Robert Greisbrooke, of Shenstone, co. Stafford, gent.; William Perrott, of Pedmore, Worcestershire, gent.; Thomas Haden of Wolverhampton, gent. and others; and ultimately were acquired by Ferdinando Dudley Lea, Lord Dudley, whose representative, Ferdinando D. Lea-Smith, Esq. of Halesowen Grange, co. Worc., is the present owner.

The title deeds of the estate are before me, but instead of giving abstracts of them, I extract the genealogical information they supply.

The five aunts of John Dudley are the same persons as those mentioned in the will of Daniel Sutton, alias Dudley, 1677, as his (Daniel's) sisters, with the exception of Mary Price (she must therefore have died s. p. before 1724), as follows:—

1. Margaret, wife of Thomas Boucher, alias Butcher, of Newport, co. Salop, apothecary. She was dead in 1724, and her representative was her son and heir, Joseph Boucher, alias Butcher, of Birmingham, spurrier and founder.

2. Anna Parkes, widow, of Bilston, co. Stafford, living "far advanced in years" in 1723, dead in Oct. 1724. She had issue Thomas Parkes, of the borough of Southwark, shoemaker, and Judith, m. to Benjamin Linton, of Bilston, baker, by whom she had a "son and heir," Thos. Linton.

3. Priscilla Hand, of Dudley, widow, alive 1724, dead 1727. Her children were Thomas Hand of Dudley, cooper (whose wife's name was Mary); Ann, m. (after 1724) to William Willis of Dudley, collier; Mary, m. (after 1724) to Richard Kidson of Kinver, co. Stafford, cooper; and Sarah, m. to William Butler of Darlaston, by whom she had issue Sarah, Elizabeth, and James.

4. Eleanor Attwood, of Dudley, widow, alive 1724, dead 1726. Her representatives were her *grand*children, Edward Attwood of Dudley, locksmith, who came of age circa 1726 (his wife's name was Elizabeth); Mary, wife of Samuel Greenway of Dudley, coal-carrier; Hannah, wife of Elisha Westwood* of Broseley, co. Salop, glassmaker; and Elizabeth, m. 1st to . . . . James, and 2ndly to Joseph Jones, "of Dudley Castle, yeoman."

5. Elizabeth, wife of Edward Marsh of Dudley, "lime man." She died before 1724, leaving a "son and heir" Edward Marsh, also of Dudley, lime man, whose wife's name was Margaret.

The Feckenham property, of which John Dudley died seised, is no doubt that given by Sir Gilbert Talbot to his daughter Eleanor on her marriage with Jeffrey Dudley, Esq. It is thus described in one of the deeds (1724):—"All that meece, or plott or parcell of ground or orchard, or parcell of land, meadow or pasture grounds, all lying and being together, or near together, and in the possession or holding of John Dyson, his undertenants and assigns, and situate, lying, and being in the parish of Feckenham, and county of Worcester."

* Elisha Westwood and Hannah Attwood were married at Old Swinford, co. Worc., Jan. 18, 1727-8. They had two children baptized at Broseley in 1733 and 1734, Ann and Sarah, who both died in their infancy.

* Communicated by the Rev. F. J. Poynton, M.A., Oxon., Rector of Kelston.

† In connection with citing Harleian MSS. on such a subject, it is necessary to explain that several books of Institutions, etc., are missing from the Wells Diocesan Court Records; but copies, or at least copious extracts, taken from these vols. when extant, by Matt. Hullon anno d'm 1686, are deposited in the Brit. Mus., and form Harleian MSS. numbered consecutively 6964 to 6968. For searching which, and communicating the interesting result to him, the present Rector of Kelston desires here to express his sincere thanks to J. Fetherston, Esq., F.S.A., of the Committee of the Harleian Society.

‡ As to the ancient Register book of Kelston, it is deserving of special notice for its perfection from the first, and high state of preservation. It commences from 1538; is a record of births, deaths, and marriages, all in one parchment volume; and there is not a single page lost, mutilated, or unreadable. Some of the earliest names are Forde, Brigg, Tibbott, Wilcox, Pincott, Brockinborowe, Lempster, Panting, Deacon, Willis, Sheppearde, Heynes, Baylie, Disgarde, Snell. Some extracts from these registers may hereafter be furnished to 'Misc. Gen. et Heraldica,' but for the present (in this note), it may suffice to observe in connection with the hiatus usually found in register books in temp. Commonwealth, that in the case of Kelston there are six baptisms! entered, but no marriage or burial. This seems very remarkable. The non-existence of marriage entries may readily be accounted for; but not so in reference to burials. If such church ordinances as baptisms could still find a place (and more especially since two of the baptismal entries are those of the Minister's own children, viz., John and Thomas, sons of Owen Williams, minister), why did he not enter the burials of the members of his congregation? He had the book in possession. These children are entered with his own hand! Why this use of the book and not more? Finally, would that all parish registers were in like preservation! How different then would be the task of the genealogist! What a source of history and biography; what a fund of interest should we have in good parochial registers from 1538. But their generally imperfect and sometimes miserable state, both in town and country, is a point too little known or noted by the public at large.

§ This date is supplied because a Commission of Inquiry took place as to Richard's due admission 1325, and his successor was appointed on Richard's resignation.

‖ The name of the parish in the earliest records is spelt Calveston, or Kalveston, or Kelveston, afterwards Kelneston, and finally Kelweston, Kelston, and Kelson.

* In Harleian MS. 6966, Hen. Bowet consecratus fuit in Eccl. Sci. Pauli Lond. in presentia Henric. Regis Angliæ in fasto Sci. Edwardi Regis 20 Nov. 1401.

† This well-known Bishop of Bath and Wells was preceded by Bishop John Stafford, of whom there is an interesting memo. in the document numbered 6966 Harleian MS. now in Brit. Museum, that "He was consecrated at Pentecost 27th, 1425." The Arms of Beckington, carved in stone, side by side with those of Abp. Kempe (3 garbs within a bordure engrailed), are to be seen on the front of the Rectory at Stanton Drew, co. Somerset.

‡ The writing of this book of Institutions is particularly scrawled and indistinct, so as to defy the powers of the compiler of these notes, and of any local aid he could command, to decipher it with certainty. But it would seem that the Rectory at this date was held in sequestration (being in ruinous condition) by Thos. Gilbert, Vicar-General "Alexandri Papæ Sext." A corroborative fact of this condition of things at the period would seem to be the date of the existing tower, which was evidently built about the time afresh, of Perpendicular architecture, the Church itself being Early English.

§ Margery. This lady's family name was Twyneo, and I am informed there are M. I^{s}. to Twyneo in Turnworth Church, near Blandford, co. Dorset.

CASTIGLIONE FAMILY.—Sir,—Can any of your readers help me in tracing out one Pietro Castiglione, styled in Burke's 'Commoners' "Sir Peter Castillion," a member of the great Italian family of Castiglione? He is described in the records of the Heralds' College as "miles de Mantua," and a pedigree we have, and which belonged to his grandson, says he was a "Captayne slayne in the warres between the Emperor Charles V. and the French King," but no date is given. This pedigree makes him out to have been one of the grandsons of the celebrated Count Balthasar Castiglione, author of Il Cortegiano, together with Camillo, John, and two grand-daughters. Peter was not, however, the grandson of Count Balthasar, nor was he his son, although Camillo was. The two ladies called the grand-daughters of the Count were really his daughters. John was neither his son nor grandson, Camillo and his two sisters being the Count's only children. See Elogi historici di alcuni personaggi della Famiglia Castigliona, and Litta's pedigrees.

Who then was Pietro? He is not to be found in the Elogi, nor in Litta, nor in any other record of the family that I have been able to consult.

His son, John Baptist Castillion, served Henry VIII. in the wars, and was afterwards Gentleman of the Privy Chamber to Queen Elizabeth, who presented him with the manors of Benham Valence and Spene, co. Berks, in acknowledgment of services rendered to her when, as Princess Elizabeth, she was imprisoned in the Tower, for supposed complicity in Wyatt's rebellion.

John Baptist Castillion married the daughter of Bartholomew Champaigne, and his eldest son by her, Sir Francis Castillion, succeeded him at Benham, but subsequently sold the property. John Baptist had another son, Douglas, and this Douglas had a son John, who became Dean of Rochester. Dr. John Castillion's daughter and only child, Mary, married Mr. Herbert Randolph, Recorder of Canterbury, my direct ancestor.

If any one can help me in this investigation regarding Pietro Castiglione (otherwise "Sir Peter Castillion"), I shall be much obliged. I am, etc.,

EDMUND RANDOLPH.

* Margaret was the daughter of Thomas Kene, of Sutton Coldfield, co. Warwick, gent., as is proved by a law suit brought by Alverey "Greysbroke," as executor of his father-in-law, against one Robert Foxe, of Middleton, in 3 and 4 Elizabeth. A full report of this cause will be found in Plowden's Reports, pub. in 1578, fo. 275. Alverey is described in the pleadings as "Alueredus Greysbroke, generosus, executor testamenti Thomæ Kene, generosi, alias dicti Thomas Kene, of Sutton in Colfylde in the Counte of Warr. gent. alias dictus Aluerey Greysbroke, my sonne in lawe, which Aluerye I constitute and make my true & lawfull executor of this my last wil & testament," etc.

On a tablet in Sutton Coldfield church is this inscription :—"Hic jacet Agnes filia junior Willielmi Harman, domini de Morehall, nupta Willielmo Gibbons per quem habuit duos filios, Johannem clericum, et Thomam ; et tres filias, seniorem nuptam Thome Keene, et tertiam nuptam Edwardo East, que Agnes, mater, obijt 5 die Februar : An : MDXX."

This Agnes was the sister of John Harman, alias Vesey, Bishop of Exeter.

† It appears from Vincent's MSS. Coll. of Arms (Roper pedigree) that Thomas Roper (of the Heanor, co. Derby, family) married "Anne, dau. of Avery Greisbrooke, of Stoke Hill, co. Warwick." They were the parents of Samuel Roper, barrister-at-law, the early patron of Dugdale, and the friend of Dodsworth. Stoke-end is the name of an ancient house in Middleton.

And the saide Will'm Phippes and Henrie Shewell to use the same accordinge to my will. P'vided allwaies that my wiffe shall make p'bate of this my will wthin thre monethes next after my dissease. And yf she shal refuse to do it, then I will that Will^{m} Phippes & Henrie Shewell shall do it whom then I make my ex'ors to se it p'formed and kept. And finallie my will is that yf anie of my daughters shall refuse to be ordered by the advyse & counsell of there frends, vyz^{t} theire mother, Will'm Phippes, & Henrie Shewell, that then she or them so refusing to be ordered be there said frendes shall have but xx^{l} in full satisfaction of there legacie. And the resydue of her or there portion so contemptuouslie refusynge to be ordered by there frends shalbe geven unto the reste of my daughters that be lyvinge. In witness whereof I have sealed and subscribed hereunto the daie & yeare above uamed.—Alverey Gresbrook.

It has been the custom of the Rectors of Kelston since the Reformation period, each to enter the name of his predecessor, with the date of his death or other cause of the avoidance of the living, on the fly-leaf of the ancient Register Book of the parish. This custom has proved itself not only interesting, but valuable, from an antiquarian point of view,—both as furnishing means of identifying the handwriting of each Rector, and as supplying links in the succession of the Rectors themselves which would otherwise have been missing. Not less than three names are recorded in the Kelston post-Reformation registers (as will appear by consulting the chronicle of Rectors given in former number, pp. 333–5) which are not to be found in the diocesan archives at Wells. This may seem strange at first sight, but can be easily accounted for; first by the troubles and ecclesiastical dislocation of the Commonwealth period, during which the diocesan records would fail to be regularly kept; and secondly, by the prevalent mode of Institution. For so long as "Institution" is given in various places, there is the liability of the documents connected with it not being forwarded duly to the Diocesan Court for official entry there.

The first Rector whose name appears in the Kelston Register Book is

Sir John Weeke, parson. Buried Oct 2^{d} 1545.

The Registers of this name being numerous would point to the local connection of the family with Kelston long after the decease of the Rector, which is not the fate usually of Incumbents' families in the present day.

The Weeke Registers at Kelston are:—

Baptisms.

1561.	June 1st.	Elline d. of Dennis Weeke was Christened.
1563.	Oct^{r} 3^{d}.	Margett. d. Dennis Weeke.
1565.	Nov. 18th.	John s. of Dennys Weekes.
1569.	Feb^{y} ii.	Elizabeth d. of Dennys Weekes.
1571.	Oct. 20.	Edward Weeke was baptized.
1574.	Nov. 18.	Alys Weekes d. of Dennys.
1576.	Ap^{rl} 28.	Margarett the d. of Jo. Weekes was baptized.
1592.	May 18th.	Tho. & Jo. the sonnes of John Weekes were Christened.
1600.	Nov. 9th.	Alys the d. of Jho. Weekes was baptized.

Burials.

1545.	Oct^{r} 2^{d}.	Sir Jo. Weeke p'son of Kelston was buried.
1560.	Aug. 20.	Jo. Weeke and Agnes hyll was buried the same day.
1599.	May 25.	Thomas the sonne of Jo. Weeke.
1616.	Jan^{y} 27.	John the sonne of John Weeke was buried.

Marriages.

1561. Nov^{r} iij. Tho. Weekes & Julian Willis weare married.
1588. Feb^{y} 22. Tho. Davis and Joane Weekes were married.
1622. Nov^{r} 4th. Richard Chester and Alice Weeke married.

Sir Tho. Ley, Parson.

He was Rector of Kelston from 1545–1558, and was doubtless of the family of Ley of Tilfont Ewyas, near Salisbury. He does not appear to have availed himself of the then recent withdrawal of an enforced celibacy upon the Clergy, for Kelston Registers shew no entry of his marriage, nor of the baptism of any children of the name. A daughter—Dionisia—however of this house of Ley subsequently became the wife of John Harington, Esq., of Kelston, son of Sir John, Knt.; and some interesting registers and monuments in connection with this alliance will be found following, as well as some notes on her sister, the Lady Phœbe, wife of Richard Biggs Esq., of Haines Hill, near Twyford, Berks. These ladies were both of them daughters of James,* Earl of Marlborough.

Lady Diones Harington was buried in Kelston church, and on her gravestone are represented the arms of Ley in a lozenge, having on either side the letters D. H.

Diones Harington late wife of John Harington Esq^{r} and daughter of the R^{t} Hon^{ble} James Earle of Marlburgh who died the 8th of August Annoq. Domini 1674.

* According to Banks ('Dormant and Extinct Baronage,' vol. iii. pp. 476-7 and 504)—"In 1626 James Baron Ley of Ley in the County of Devon was created Earl of Marlborough . . . . . upon the extinction of whose male line the honour terminating was next revived in the house of Churchhill."

The succession of this Earldom appears as follows:—

1625. 1st Earl. James, Lord Ley, created Earl of Marlborough 1st Chas. 1., Feb. 5th. Married 3rdly Jane, dau'r of John Lord Butler of Bamfield. "Without issue," as vide note in Col. Chester's 'Westminster Abbey Registers' in extenso, p. 176, on this "beautiful Lady." The Earl died 14th March, 1627-8, and his fair Countess married again Wm. Ashburnham, Esq., Cofferer to Chas. II., etc.
1628. 2nd Earl. Henry Ley, son to the above by his first Countess, Mary, d. of John Petty of Stoke Talmage, Oxon.
1638. 3rd Earl. James Ley, son of the above Henry (vide notes of Col. Chester's 'Westminster Abbey Registers,' page 162), by Mary, d. of Sir Arthur Capel of Hadham, Herts, Knt. Succeeded 1st April, 1638. Was slain in naval conflict with the Dutch off Lowestoft, and buried in Westminster Abbey June 14, 1665.
1665. 4th Earl. William Ley, uncle to the last Earl, and own brother of the second. Died s. p.

Above the inscription is a shield charged with the arms of Harington (Sable, a fret argent) impaling those of Ley (Argent, a chevron sable between three seals' heads couped of the last).

The registers in connection with the alliance between Ley and Harington of Kelston are—Baptisms at Corston, Co. Somerset.

1628. Oct. 14th. Mary the daughter of John Harington Esq.
1631. June 18th. William the sonne of John Harington Esq.
1634. July 24th. Edward the sonne of John Harington Esq. and the Lady Dyonis his wife was baptized.

Baptisms at Kelston.

1637. July 6th. Phœbe* d. of John Harington Esq. and the Honorable Lady Dionesse his wife.
1658. Sept. 7th. Dyonesse the daughter of Robert Rous Esqr and of Phœbe† his wife.

Burial.

1674. The Ladie Dyonesse Harington was buried August 11th.

As to the Lady Phœbe, sister of the Lady Dioness Harington, she married Richard Bigg of Hurst (co. Berks), known as Mr. "Justice" Bigg in the year 1658, at which time certain parties were married before him according to the Hurst Registers.

The tablet to the Lady Phœbe Bigg runs as follows:—

"Near this place lyeth buried the Body of the Lady Phebe, one of the daughters of James Ley Earl of Marlborough, some time Lord High Treasurer of England, late wife of Richard Bigg of Hurst in the Co. of Wilts Esq. who had issue by him four sons viz. James, John Daniel & Richard. She died 13th of Feby 1653."

Her husband, Mr. "Justice" Bigg, was buried at Hurst 1670, but there is no tomb extant to his memory. His son, however, Mr. Richd. Bigg, junior, has a large brick altar tomb, with black marble slab on top, bearing this inscription:—

"Here lies the body of Richard Bigg Fourth Son of Richd. Bigg of Hainshill, Hurst co. Wilts Esq. (his mother being the Lady Phebe Ley d. of James Earl of Marlborough) who in his great charity gave to the poor of this Parish three houses in St. Giles' in the Fields Co. Middlesex wh houses he directed for the buying of bread weekly for the poor. He died the last day of July 1677 in the 27th year of his age."

* This name would come from her maternal aunt, the Lady Phœbe Bigg of Haines Hill (vide before).

† She doubtless before marriage was Phœbe Harington, whose baptism in 1637 precedes, and this infant, bapt. "Dyonesse," 1658, was no doubt her firstborn child by her marriage with Robert Rous; but that marriage did not take place at Kelston. Lady Dionesse Harington, the grandmother, may have witnessed the christening, as she survived to 1674.

George Carew, Rector from 1558–1560.

Instituted to the Rectory of Kelston on the "naturall death" of (Thos. Ley) the last Incumbent, on presentation of John Harington, Esq. Resigned in 1560, shortly after the deprivation of Bp. Bourne, (last R. C. Bishop) of the See of Bath and Wells.

Note.—The only clue to the Family to which this Rector belonged, discovered by the Compiler of these notes, occurs in the 'Nugæ Antiquæ' of Harington. Sir John H.'s letter to Bishop Still, 1603, shews that he had acquaintance with Sir Geo. Carew (afterwards Ambassador to France). Sir John writes in allusion to the Arabella Stewart affair—"I have spoken with Carew [i.e. Sir Geo. Carew] about Raleigh." The Rector was therefore probably a member of that family of Carew.

Henry Symonds, Rector from 1560–1565.

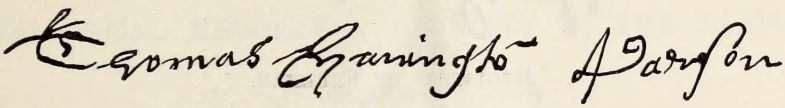
Was instituted to the Rectory of Kelston by Bishop Berkeley, first Protestant Bishop of Bath and Wells (Bp. Bourne having been deprived of the See in 1559). Symonds was instituted on the resignation of George Carew, his predecessor, and died Rector of Kelston in June or July, 1565, when he was succeeded by Thos. Harington.

Note.—No trace has been found to fix the family of this Rector. Not unlikely he was a Symonds of Taunton. (Vide 'Visit. of Devon,' Harleian Society, p. 280.)

Thos. Harington, Rector from 1565–1616.

Was presented to the living by Jno. Harington, Esq., of Stepney. Their precise relationship is not known to the Compiler, but possibly the Registers of Stepney Parish or of some Churches in or about London may decide the point hereafter. Certain it is, that he must have been Rector of Kelston when quite young, as his Rectoriate extended over fifty years. And whilst his relative, who presented him, died in 1582, he himself survived to see that patron's son, Sir John Harington, Kt., laid in the grave in 1612, and may himself have officiated at the funeral. It is fairly certain he was either brother or nephew of his patron, and was at Oxford, aged 18, in 1560.

It is to be noted that the clergyman's family are the first Haringtons in Kelston Registers. [Their baptisms are subjoined.] Although the manor passed to Jno. Harington of Stepney by marriage, about 1548–50, with Awdrey Malte, the King's natural daughter, he does not appear to have resided at Kelston. He is not buried at Kelston, nor are any of his children entered there in the Baptismal Roll. He died in London, in a house near the Bishop's Palace (1582), and was buried at St. Gregory's Church by St. Paul's.



REGISTERS OF THE IMMEDIATE FAMILY OF THOS. HARINGTON, RECTOR OF KELSTON.

Baptisms.

1579. March 8th. Mary,* the dau'r of Thos. Harington. (See note overleaf.) 1580. Decr 3. John, the sonne of Thos. Harington.
1585. Jany 31. Thomas, the sonne of Thos. Harington.

Burials.

1616. Feby 2d. Thomas Harington, late Parson of Kelston.

Device on ledger stone in Kelston Church. A border inscription in brass formerly surrounded it, but this has long since disappeared.

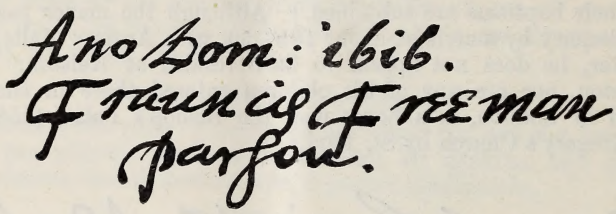
Marriages.

1604. Richard Davis and Marie* Harington were married the 7th day of June.

Note.—It would be valuable and interesting in connection with so important a family as the Haringtons of Kelston, if the Stepney Registers affecting them (Par. Regist. dates from 1568) could be extracted and given to the public through the pages of the 'Miscellanea Genealogica.' Of Alexander Harington, father of John of Stepney, it is only known that he died in 30th Hen. VIII. (1539-40). The names of his family (besides John), and the names and dates of all his descendants at Stepney, be it their Births, Deaths, or Marriages, are still to be desired.

Francis Freeman, Rector from 1616–1632.

Was a B.A. of New College, Oxford, and was instituted to the living of Kelston on the presentation of Jno. Harington, Esq. The only memorial of him or his family is that which the Register Book affords. We are shewn by it (vide below) that both himself and wife died in the early part of 1632, but that they had lived to see their only daughter married seven years before to the clergyman of a neighbouring parish, Seiston, co. Glo'ster, and a son, the issue of that marriage, baptized at Kelston. In short, Mr. Robert Gaylard, the clergyman alluded to, succeeded his father-in-law, Freeman, in the Rectory of Kelston, as will be seen, and under his name will be found entered the baptism of an infant (Robert) son of Robert and Mary Gaylard.



REGISTERS OF FREEMAN.

Married.

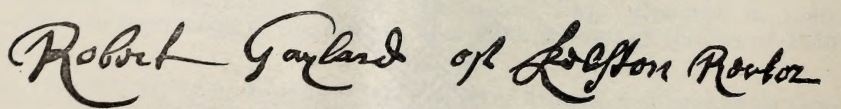
1625. Janʸ 24. Robt. Gaylerd and Mary Freeman.

Buryed.

1632. March 27th. Elizabeth Freeman, the w. of Francis Freeman.
„ Aprill 19th. Francis Freeman, Rector of Kelston.

Robert Gaylard, Rector from 1632–1653.

Was previously parson of Seiston, as appears by the entry of his marriage contained in Kelston Register Book. He married the previous Rector of Kelston's daughter Mary in 1625, and as Seiston is distant only a few miles from Kelston, he was probably often staying at his father-in-law's. He had his son Robert baptized there in 1631. This son Robert matriculated at Oxford, at St. John's College, 27 Feb. 1650–1, but the father's name is not in the Register of that University.



* This lady was married to Richard Davis of Kelston on the 7th June, 1604, and had numerous issue, all baptized at Kelston. Her eldest son was christened Harington. The Registers of this family of Davis of Kelston date from 1543. The history of the sons John and Thomas Harington vanishes after their baptism.

It appears from the Record of Institutions at Wells Registry that Mr. Gaylard was instituted, not on a presentation from the Haringtons, but made for "that turn only" by John Seymor. He was "admissus et receptus" (it is added in the Record at Wells) presentiâ Robert Cruys, Notary Public.

His incumbency appears to have been interrupted for five years, from 1647–52, by Owen Williams, Minister; but he returned at that date, and was buried at Kelston. There is, however, no tomb nor M. I. extant to his memory; his burial is known only by the entry in the Rectors' List.

THE GAYLARD REGISTERS ARE—

Married.

1625. Jan^{y} 24th. Rob^{t} Gaylard and Mary Freeman.

Baptized.

1631. July 21. Rob^{t} the son of Robert Gaylard, Parson of Seiston.

Buried.

1653. Robert Gaylard, Rector, buried. [This entry is not in the body of Kelston Register, but on the fly-leaf.—F. J. P.]

The strictest honour and virtue, elegance of manners, integrity of heart, and delicacy of sentiment, endeared her to a select circle of friends and acquaintance.
She was cherished as an only child by an indulgent father;
beloved from infancy by a tender husband, in whose arms she died an unnatural death, effected by poison administered by the hands of a cruelly wicked livery-servant, whose resentment, at being detected in theft, prompted him to perpetrate this horrid and execrable crime.

Walter Murray, late of Latium Plantation, in the Parish of S^{t} James, in the Island of Jamaica, Esq^{r}, died at Cheltenham Sep^{r} the 26th, 1794, and was interred in a vault in the north porch of this church,
aged 54 years,
leaving a wife and five sons.

* Communicated by the Rev. Beaver H. Blacker, M.A., Cheltenham.

Erected
to the memory of Capt. Ashmead Pruen, of the Hon. East India Company's Marine at Bombay, who died there January XI, MDCCXCVI, aged LIII.

Beneath the south porch of this church are deposited the mortal remains of Diana, the wife of Sir John Hadley D'Oyly, Bart.
She departed this life on the 6th day of September, 1803,
aged 48 years.
Out of the heart are the issues of life.
Her life therefore could not be otherwise than good;
for her heart was excellent.
She was a faithful wife, a tender mother,
a kind sister, a zealous friend.
Virtue in her was instinct, diffusing happiness while she lived, sorrow only when she died.
Cheerful, benevolent, and generous,
she endeared herself by the simplicity of her manners, which, like the playfulness of her mind, enlivened society without ever giving offence, or exciting alarm.
Her husband inscribed this tablet to her memory, hoping to meet her in everlasting bliss.
For we know that our Redeemer liveth.

Sacred to the memory of Lieutenant General
Sir William Myers, Bart, who died in the year 1805,
aged 53,
when commanding the British Forces in the West Indies, beloved, revered, and regretted.
His afflicted family found their only consolation for his loss in the opening virtues of his son, Lieutenant Colonel Sir William Myers, Baronet; but of him also it pleased the Almighty to deprive them on the 16th of May, 1811.
He fell when leading on the British Fusileer Brigade at the battle of Albuera, in the 27th year of his age;
and with him expired the last hope of his family, whose pride and affection were equally gratified by his short but brilliant career.
This monument is erected by a mother, whom his death has bereft of all earthly consolation; and by a sister, who, thus deprived of her guide, protector, & friend, awaits with anxious hope and resignation the moment of their eternal re-union.

Beneath are deposited the remains of Elizabeth Lady Myers, wife of General, and mother of Lieut^{t} Col^{l} Myers, who, through pious resignation to the Divine will, patiently bore up against continued sickness and sorrow,
'till exhausted nature sunk under accumulated afflictions.
She died Dec^{br} 14th, 1814, aged 52 years, in firm hope of enjoying beyond the grave
"that peace which the world could not give."

George Leycester, Esquire, of Toft, in the County of Chester, who died at this place the 16th April, 1809,
in the 74th year of his age,
and whose remains are interred in a vault on the south side of this church.
His loss will be long regretted, and his memory revered, by his Family, to whom his kindness and affection were unremitted and unvariable;
by his Neighbours, who beheld in him
an instructive example of unostentatious piety, beneficence, and candour;
and by his Country,
to whose service,
in the temperate, zealous, and upright discharge of the functions of a magistrate, and of every other publick duty incident to his situation, his whole life was uniformly, peculiarly, and most usefully devoted.

Sacred to the memory of Walter Farquhar, Esq^{r}, who departed this life February 9th, 1813, aged 35 years, and resigned his soul to his blessed Maker and Redeemer, whom he had ever in this life worshipped and adored.

[Here follows a long panegyric inscribed by his widow.]

Thomas Dent, Esq^{r}, late of Petersburg, in the State of Virginia,
who died at Cheltenham
on the 8th day of July, A.D. 1817, aged 58 years, and whose remains are interred in the burial-place of this church.

Brigadier General
John Pennycuick, C.B., K.H., Lieut Colonel of the 24th Regt, entered the Army as Ensign in the 78th Regiment, fought in fifteen general actions, and after a service of forty-three years fell at the head of his brigade in the battle of Chillianwallah, 13th January, 1849.
Alexander, his son,
Ensign in the 24th Regiment, who fell in the same engagement, while defending the body of his father,
aged 17 years.
Sarah Pennycuick, widow, to the memory of her husband and son.

[On a window.]

In memory of James Agg Gardner, Esq.,
Lord of this Manor, who died
March XII, MDCCCLVIII, aged LIII years.

To the memory of George Russell, Esquire, of Clonbrock House, who on several occasions filled the office of Churchwarden of the Parish of Cheltenham, and for nearly forty years took an active part in the public affairs of the Town.
He departed this life the 20th of December, 1860, in the 62nd year of his age.
His remains were deposited in a vault in the Parish Churchyard.

In memory of
the Revd Edward Walker, D.C.L., of Lincoln College, Oxford, who commenced his labours in this parish as Perpetual Curate June 14th, 1857, and by purchase of the chancel February 19th, 1863, became first Rector of Cheltenham.
He departed this life on the 3rd July, 1872,
aged 49 years.
His remains, followed to the grave by thousands of his mourning fellow-townsmen, were laid to rest in the Cheltenham New Cemetery on the 10th of July, 1872.
To commemorate the life and ministry of a Pastor, to whom a sweet and powerful [character, an active and penetrating mind, and many eminent gifts and graces gave a rare and abiding [influence, and whose work, carried on with unsparing self-denial and unwearied zeal in [conscientious adherence to the doctrine and discipline of the Reformed Church of England, was [marked, in a special manner, by the presence of power from on High, this tablet is erected [by attached parishioners and friends, who glorify God for his holy life and peaceful death.

" He was a burning and a shining light."
" Gentle unto all men, apt to teach, patient."
" Holding forth the Word of Life."
" He ceased not to teach and to preach Jesus Christ, and Him Crucified."
" He rests from his labours, and his works do follow him."
" Until the day break, and the shadows flee away."

Tower.

Near this place lie interr'd
the mortal remains of Catharine Cuninghame, daughter to General Alexander Stewart, of Aston, Ayrshire, North Britain, and spouse to William Cuninghame, Esq^{r}, of Enterhine, in the same county.
She was an affectionate daughter,
a good wife, and a tender mother.
She died in the humble hope & trust of salvation with her God through the merits of Jesus Christ her Saviour, 23rd Sept^{r}, 1809.

In a vault in the burying-ground of this church lie interred the remains of
M^{rs} Frances Tucker, widow of the late Henry Tucker, Esq^{r}, of S^{t} George's, in the Island of Bermuda, who died at Cheltenham on the 20th of November, 1813,
in the 65th year of her age.
Her loss, in itself deeply afflicting to her family, was embittered by the circumstance that her death occurred when she was placed at a distance from all those whose presence would have soothed the last moments of existence, and whom duty and affection would have prompted to cherish and protect in the decline of life an estimable and venerated parent.

In a grave beneath the Yew-tree in this churchyard are deposited the remains of Hanah Forty (widow of Will^{m} Forty, of this town, Gardener). She died on the 9th day of Augst, 1816. Was born at Malden, in Essex, on the 24th day of Nov^{r}, 1744. Her maiden name was Knight. She became Pumper at the Old Well in this town on the 12th day of Sep^{r}, 1772, and continued in that situation until the 1st day of Jan^{y}, 1816, discharging for more than forty-three years the duties of her office with credit to herself, and to the satisfaction of the numerous visitors, who during that long period resorted to the Original Spring. A few of those to whom for several seasons she had dispensed the blessings of health, have felt a satisfaction in erecting this memorial to her long and meritorious services.

Alexander Jaffray, Esq^{r}, a man whose eminent virtues exalted his character above all praise.
He departed this life 20th of March, 1818,
in the 84th year of his age.

Sacred to the memory of Benjamin Newbury,
of this town, Gent.,
whose sudden death admonishes all of the uncertainty of life, and the necessity of preparing for Eternity.
However numerous his excellencies, he depended not on them for acceptance with his God, but on the merits of his Redeemer.
He died April 26th, 1821, aged 43 years.
Also of Fanny, wife of the above, who died 29th March, 1847,
aged 69 years.

Near this spot lie the remains of the late John Francis Meyrick, Esq^{r}, of Bush,
in the County of Pembroke, South Wales,
who departed this life
at Cheltenham on the 8th day of June, 1823, in the eighty-eighth year of his age.

In a vault near the south side of this church are deposited
the mortal remains of Thomas Jameson, M.D., (a native of Scotland),
who combined the talents of a philosophical enquirer,
a benevolent Christian, and a studious physician.
His professional knowledge and activity of character rendered him a particular contributor to the Town of Cheltenham, by exploring the nature of its medicinal waters,
and by promulgating the knowledge of their salutary virtues.
His literary productions bear ample testimony to the talents of the author.
He departed this life August 4th, 1824, aged 71 years.
In the same vault are interred the remains of Catherine,
relict of the above, who died Feb^{y} 21st, 1840,
aged 82 years.

Erected
by an only child
to the memory of
an affectionate mother, Elizabeth Chapman,
who died on Sunday evening,
Nov^{r} 20th, 1836.

This tribute of filial and family affection is erected to the beloved and revered memory of Mary,
relict of the late John Chinnery, Esq^{re}, of the Madras Civil Service,
who died at Cheltenham
on the 20th April, 1847, in the 77th year of her age.
Also
of their beloved son, William Charles Chinnery, late Captain in the 4th Regiment, Madras Native Infantry, who died at Cannanore on the 3rd Oct^{r}, 1839,
in the 35th year of his age.

Erected by her surviving children,
John & Anna Maria, to the honored memory of their affectionate mother,
Elizabeth,
relict of Capt^{n} J. Blake, R.N., who died at Cheltenham 24th June, 1852,
aged 86,
in the full assurance of faith.
Her remains are interr'd in the Cemetery of this town.
Also of Elizabeth Sophia,
the beloved daughter of the above
John Blake & Sophia Helen, his wife, died in London 27th Augst, 1857,
aged 22.
Interr'd in Kensal Green Cemetery.

Griffith Smith, Rector 1653–1681.

There is no record of this Clergyman's institution at Wells. But the preservation of his tablet in the church, and his name among the Rectors in the Parish Record prove his Rectoriate beyond doubt. In 1660, on the 24th of March, he made a collection in aid of Watchet, Somersetshire, as entered in the register cover. Now as these parishes of Kelston and Watchet are widely distant, and have no special connection, it seems fair to conclude that this charity was evoked by some notable distress; and from the position of Watchet, we are led to conjecture an inroad of the sea. It would be interesting to know if there is any other trace of this disaster to be found among the parochial annals of the county.

MONUMENT TO GRIFFITH SMITH, RECTOR OF KELSTON FROM 1653–1681.

In the Church.

Infra
Conduntur Exuviæ Griffini Smith
hujus eccliæ non ita olim pastoris vere digni obiit junii 27: 1681.

The entry of burial stands in Kelston Register Book,—

An. Dom. 1681.
Mr. Griffith Smith Rector of this Church was buried June 29.

MONUMENT TO MARIE SMITH, DAUGHTER OF THE ABOVE.

Also in the Church, near her Father's M.I.

Neere to this place lieth the bodye of Marie Smith the deare daughter and onely child of Griffin Smith Minister and of Marie his wife, who dyed
May the fift 1678.

On a shield at the top of the monument is represented an ostrich holding in its beak a horseshoe.

This is evidently the crest and not the arms of Smith, although the wreath to be mounted has been omitted.

The entry of her burial in the register stands,— 1678. Marie Smith buried the 8th May.

Beyond the above, nothing is at present known of this Rector, or the family from which he came.

Mr. Robert Kening, M.A., Rector from Sept. 27, 1681—16th Aug. 1709.

Was instituted on the presentation of Jno. Harringon, Esq. (Wells Diocesan Records). He was an Oxford man; entered at Lincoln Coll. as a Servitor, and Matriculated 8th Dec. 1658. He took his B.A. degree from the same College 22nd March, 1661–2, but had migrated to New College before taking his M.A. on 3rd March, 1644. In after life he appears to have been conspicuous for his charity towards the poor and afflicted. For, as the parish register shews, he made a collection for the Vaudois April 5th, 1699, amounting to £8 18s. 9d., a large sum to be gathered from a small parish in that day. Further, being Vicar of Marshfield, co. Glo'ster, as well as Rector of Kelston, he left bequests to both parishes in favour of religious education, and for the help of poor boys in becoming apprentices to learn some useful trade. The provisions of his will being somewhat peculiar, such portions as pertain to his charitable bequests are given below. His monument extant in Kelston Church is also copied. It remains only to add that his benefactions are still enjoyed by the poor of both parishes, under an adjusted scheme recently settled and confirmed by the Charity Commissioners.

(Signature of Robert Kening on the occasion of his collecting by Brief for the relief of the Vandois, April 5, 1699.)

Extracts from the Will of the Rev. Robt. Kening.

Probate issued and administration granted to his son John 18th Nov., 1709. . . . . I give and bequeath unto John Harington of Kelston, Esq., and to the Rector of the parish of Kelston aforesaid for the time being the sum of one hundred and twenty pounds, in trust for these charitable uses. That the yearly interest of one hundred pounds be employed every year for the placing out a poor boy an apprentice one year, & that the first, for the placing out a poor boy of the parish of Kelston, if any one be first (? fit) for it, and after that for four following years the s^{d} interest be employed each year for the placing out a poor boy of the parish of Marshfield in the county of Gloucester. And the fifth year again to be employed for a poor boy at Kelston. Then again for four years for poor boys at Marshfield, and so to continue in course. And if there be not a poor boy fit at Kelston to be bound at the first year, then it shall be employed the first four years at Marshfield and the fifth at Kelston. And I do hereby give a power to the s^{d} Trustees, that if they find that any one of the sons of my kinswoman Christian Ward, wife of Thomas Ward of Twiverton [now Twerton on Avon, 1876] shall stand in need of assistance for their being placed out an apprentice, they may employ the s^{d} interest any year for the benefit of such son of the s^{d} Christian Ward, and it is my will that the interest of the twenty pounds be employed every year for the buying Bibles & Mr. Baxter's Call to the Unconverted to be disposed of each sort at Kelston, and the rest to be disposed of to the poor at Marshfield at the discretion of the Ch'wardens & Overseers of the poor of the time being. But if at any time hereafter a charity school shall be erected at Marshfield, it is my will that then the interest of the twenty pounds aforesaid shall be wholly employed for the benefit of the s^{d} Charity School so long as the s^{d} school shall continue. . . . . .

Monument [a slab of plain marble] to Mr. Robert Kening in Kelston Church.

Robert Kening, M.A. Sometime Vicar of Marshfield in the County of Glocester and xxvii. yeares Rector of this (Kelston) Church Who, among other Charities, gave one hundred and twenty pounds to the poor of this Parish and of Marshfield aforesaid, and was buried in this Chancel the xvi. Day of August MDCCIX. in the lxv. year of his age.

Kening Registers.

1690. Martha Kening buried May 28th. (This doubtless the Rector's wife.)
1702. John Kening & Ann Springer were married Augst 24, 1702. (Son of the Rector.)
1709. Mr. Robert Kening, Rector of this Church, was buried y^{e} 16th August.

KERR OF ABBOTRULE.

I.—Charles Kerr of Abbotrule in the county of Roxburgh, third son of William, third Earl of Lothian, was a Commissioner of Supply 1667–78, and dead in 1680. He married Cecil, daughter of Patrick Scott of Langshaw, and Cecil his third wife, daughter of Robert Drury of Rougham, co. Suffolk, and had issue,

1. William.
2. Charles, baptized 10 February 1669, died young.
3. Robert, baptized 13 January 1671, died young.
4. Patrick, baptized 10 May 1673, named in his brother's entail.

1. Cecil, baptized 3 March 1670.

II.—William Kerr of Abbotrule, baptized 3 November 1667, was served heir special to his father 1680, January 15, in the Barony of Abbotrule and other lands; was named a Captain of Militia 1689; was a Commissioner of Supply 1690 and 1704. Married first Margaret Nisbet, and had one son, William.

Secondly Mary Henry, and had two daughters,

Mary,
Charles.

Mr. Kerr executed a deed of entail dated 6th May 1736, by the terms of which the heirs therein named are to bear the name, arms, and designation of Kerr of Abbotrule; he granted a Bond of Provision 16th March same year in favour of his daughters for 60,000 merks.

III.—William Kerr of Abbotrule was served heir male and of provision general to his father 1747, April 7th. He died in January 1752, leaving a widow, who died 27 February 1768, and two sons.

IV.—Charles Kerr of Abbotrule, who was served heir male and of line special to him 26th August following, but died without issue in January 1757, and was succeeded by his brother.

IV.—Patrick Kerr of Abbotrule, Writer to the Signet. His service to his brother is dated 6th April 1762, and in April 1766 he married Jean Hay, daughter of Thomas Lord Huntington, a Senator of the College of Justice, and Margaret Murray his wife, by whom, who died 7 June 1793, he had,

1. Charles.
2. Thomas William, born 12th April 1768.

1. Margaret, born 24 May 1769.
2. Beatrix, born in September 1770.
3. Amelia Wilhelmina, born 24 June 1771.

Mr. Kerr died 10 July 1791.

V.—Charles Kerr of Abbotrule, Writer to the Signet, was born 21st January 1767, and in 1792, April 17th, and May 15th was served heir general and heir male of provision general to his father cum beneficio inventarii, from which it would appear that he succeeded to a deeply involved estate; and about 1815 he sold Abbotrule to Mr. Robert Henderson, whose descendant is the present owner. Mr. Kerr, who died at Weymouth 7 Nov. 1821, had issue,

1. Patrick, born 4 July 1796.
2. William, born 18 Dec. 1800, died at Penrith 6 July 1823.

1. Margaret, born 13 Nov. 1790.
2. Mary Anne, born 30 June 1795.

In a vault in the new burial-ground belonging to this church lie the remains of Elizabeth, late wife of Robert Hughes, of this town, Gentleman.
She was the youngest daughter of the Reverend Hugh Price, M.A., Rector of Little Illford and Rettenden, in Essex, representative of the families of Price of Maes-y-ron, and Powell of Castle-Madock, in Breconshire.
Robert Hughes was the youngest son of Thomas Hughes, late of this town, Esquire, one of His Majesty's Justices of the Peace in the County of Devon, representative of the family of Hughes of Moyne's Court, and of Trostrey, in Monmouthshire, by Elizabeth, his wife, daughter and coheir of Harry Bridges, of Keynsham Abbey, in the County of Somerset, Esquire, second branch of the ducal house of Chandos.
Elegance of person, and simplicity of manners, totally void of affectation, rendered her generally esteemed by all classes in life.

Those who more intimately knew the purity of her mind and the amiable qualities of her heart, felt an attachment of the warmest friendship. The delicacy of her constitution required constant attention, and rendered her an object of anxious tenderness to her husband. With consummate patience and resignation she bore the painful feelings of a lingering consumption, which bid defiance to all human exertion, and removed her from this life of suffering on the 6th of November, 1813, aged 29.
Charles Robert Hughes, son of the said Robert and Elizabeth Hughes, died at the age of 10 months, 4th Febry, 1810.

Sacred to the memory of Mrs Elizabeth O'Malley, relict of George O'Malley, Esqr, of Castlebar, in the County of Mayo, Ireland, whose remains are interred in a vault beneath this tablet,
and who, after a long and painful illness, departed this life at Cheltenham on the 7th January, 1815, aged 64 years.

In memory of
Col. the Honble Sir Robt Le Poer Trench, K.C.B. & K.T.S., and Lieut Colonel 74th Regt, this monument has been erected by his brother,
Richard, Earl of Clancarty, G.C.B.
He was born July 28th, 1782, and died March 14th, 1823.
Of the 40 years of life
23 were devoted to the military profession.
He commanded the 74th Regt in the Peninsular War during 5 years, and in eight general engagements.
In 1818 he accompanied his regt to New Brunswick, in North America, where the severity of the climate, acting on a constitution impaired by previous hardship, obliged him to return to England in 1821, where he closed his active and useful life.
His excellence as a father, a husband, & a Christian, is deeply engraven
on the minds of his surviving family & friends;
but it is their wish that the soldier who gives the tribute of a tear to departed worth, should know the principle that made him victorious in death.
"Christ crucified"
was the great object of his dependance.
He trusted in Him alone for salvation.
An encreased attachment to the duties of his profession, and an anxiety for the welfare, both spiritual and temporal,
of all under his command, made it evident during the last 5 years that
"the love of Christ constrained him" to live, not unto himself, but to the glory of God;
and when death approached he was found ready.

Let it be remembered that of all the honors enumerated on this tablet, that of a true believer in Jesus Christ is the only one of importance to him now.
Pyrenees, Fuentes d'Onor, Salamanca, Toulouse, Badajoz, Vittoria, Nivelle, Busaco.

In hallowed contemplation of her worth and singleness of heart, in grateful recollection of years of anxious care and attention, and in the mournful conviction of his own irreparable loss, this tablet is erected by the Rev^{d} J. R. Worthington, of Dublin.
Sacred to the memory of Sarah,
his dear invaluable friend, his kind affectionate companion, and the beloved and lamented wife of his bosom.
She bore a grievous and protracted illness with Christian fortitude and acquiescence in the Divine will; and at length in humble dependance upon the promises of her heavenly Father, through faith in the atoning blood of His blessed Son, she resigned without a murmur her patient spirit into the hands of her gracious and merciful Redeemer on the 6th April, 1823.
A vault in the new ground is the depository of her mortal remains.

In a vault near this place are deposited the mortal remains of Peter Hunt, Esq^{r},
Captain in His Majesty's Royal Navy.
He commenced his naval career as a midshipman on board H.M.S. Barfleur in the year 1782, and was present in the action of the glorious 12th of April;
and ended his valuable life in this town
December 4th, 1824, aged 61 years.
As a man upright and benevolent, as a friend faithful and generous,
he lived respected, and died lamented.
Of his affection as a husband this monument is a humble memorial, erected as a tribute to his worth, and a solace of her own grief,
by his afflicted widow.
To whose memory these few lines are added by her affectionate nephew.
Mary Stuart Hunt, widow of the above Cap^{n} Peter Hunt, R.N., died at Cheltenham on the 4th of June, 1837,
aged 76 years.
Her remains rest in the same vault with those of her husband.

In a vault beneath are deposited the mortal remains of the Rev^{d} Charles Jervis, A.M., late Incumbent of this parish, who died on the 25th of September, 1826,
in the 44th year of his age.

Also of Maria, widow of the above, who died on the 28th of Jany, 1844,
in the 59th year of her age.
This tablet is erected as a small tribute of affection by their children.

Erected by public subscription to the memory of the Revd Charles Jervis, M.A., sometime Scholar of Trinity College, Oxford, Chaplain to His Royal Highness the Duke of Cambridge, Rector of Luddenham, in Kent, and for ten years Minister of this parish, in which he instituted, gratuitously, a Sunday Evening Lecture.
In preaching the Gospel of his Divine Master
he was distinguished by zeal and ability, and manifested in his own conduct an example of faith working by love.
He was ever assiduous in visiting the sick and needy.
He pleaded the cause of charity with great success, and was eminently judicious, skilful, and laborious in devising and establishing benevolent institutions.
It pleased Almighty God to take him from this extensive sphere of usefulness on the 25th Septr, 1826, in the 44th year of his age; and, amid the lamentations of an assembled multitude, his remains were consigned to a vault in the north transept of this church.
Mortuus adhuc loquitur.

Sacred to the memory of three daughters of John and Esther Hayward.
Katherine, died Decr 11th, 1833, aged 73 years.
Ann, died Decr 12th, 1844, aged 77 years.
Esther, died May 8th, 1845, aged 83 years.
Their remains are interred in a vault beneath.

Sacred to the beloved memory of Thomas Griffiths, Esquire, Solicitor, of this town, who exchanged this life for a better on Sunday, the 17th day of July, 1836,
in the 47th year of his age.
He was a man of the strictest integrity and moral excellence of character in all the relations of life.
Bereft of one so dear to them, his surviving family are consoled by the firm and stedfast hope of rejoining him in that blest abode, of which he had a foretaste when he exclaimed,
"O Lord, I feel thy grace and glory bright."
And part of the 104th Psalm was his triumphant song while he was passing from death into life eternal;
thus manifesting that he had built upon the Rock of Ages, to whom be ascribed the praise and the glory for ever. Amen.

Also of Sarah Griffiths, widow of the above,
who departed this life November 30th, 1859,
aged 73 years.
His mortal remains are deposited in a vault beneath this monument.

Erected as a tribute of affection by an only surviving & widowed daughter, to the beloved memory of Letitia, Baroness Clonbrock,
who departed this life
May 28th, 1841, aged 83, meekly trusting in the merits of a crucified Redeemer.

North Aisle.

In a vault near this place
lie interred the remains of Mrs Elizabeth Hughes, wife of Thomas Hughes, Esqr, of this town, & daughter & coheir of Harry Bridges, Esqr, of Keynsham Abbey, in the County of Somerset.
Having filled all the relationships of this life with honor to herself & pleasure to others, she departed it on the 14th of Novr, 1786, aged 58, ever to be regretted whilst virtue, benevolence, and charity are esteemed by mankind.
She bore a long and painful disorder with a patient resignation and fortitude, which nothing could have inspired but the piety of her whole life, and a firm reliance on those rewards hereafter, which are promised to the exercise of so much goodness here.
Also in memory of the above-named Thomas Hughes, whose remains are interred in the same vault.
He departed, after a well-spent life, from this world on the 14th day of August, A.D. 1794, ætat. 61.

Sacred to the memory of John Lucas, Esqr, who was a faithful affectionate husband,
a good son, a kind generous friend,
and an upright and just man, who departed this life on the 16th of May, 1810, in the fifty-second year of his age.

Near this place are deposited the remains of Sir Ralph Woodford, Bart,
who departed this life
on the XXVI of August, MDCCCX, aged LXXVI years.
As Envoy Extraordinary to the Court of Denmark, and subsequently as His Majesty's Commissary for settling the commercial treaty with Spain, he served his country
with fidelity and zeal, and was honoured with the approbation of his sovereign.

Arms of Charles Lloyd
of Dolobran Co. Montgomery, Esq.r (born 1613) Impaled with those of his Wife, Elizabeth daughter of Thomas Stanley of Knockyn Co. Salop, Esq.r
From an oak panel formerly at Dolobran Hall.

In token of filial duty & affection this tablet is inscribed to his memory by the testamentary direction of his son, Sir Ralph James Woodford, Bart, late Governor of Trinidad, who died on his way home from the West Indies, deeply lamented by his family and friends, on the XVII of May, MDCCCXXVIII.

Sacred
to the memory of Abraham Byrch
and Elizabeth, his wife, whose remains lie interred in a vault in the new burial-ground, on the west side of this churchyard.
The former died April 26th, 1813,
aged 78 years.
The latter died Febv 12th, 1818,
aged 81 years.

In memory of John Maisey Byrch, Esqr, late of Charlton Kings, who died 5th January, 1845,
aged 71.
His remains are deposited in a vault on the east side of this churchyard.
Also of Mary Byrch, relict of the above,
died March 29th, 1856,
aged 78 years,
deeply regretted by her daughter and granddaughter.

DOLOBRAN AND THE LLOYD FAMILY.

Previous to the year 1780 there was over the old fireplace at Dolobran an oak panel upon which were emblazoned the arms and quarterings of Charles Lloyd of Dolobran, impaling those of his wife Elizabeth, daughter of Thomas Stanley of Knockin, co. Salop, descended from Sir Rowland Stanley, brother of Lord Strange of Knockin.

Charles Lloyd of Dolobran was buried at Meifod 17 August, 1657.

A detailed account of the family is given in the History of the Parish of Meifod, 'Montgomeryshire Collections,' vol. ix. pp. 333, 344. The accompanying copper plate has been kindly lent by Henry Lloyd, Esq., of Dolobran, and 43 Half Moon Street, Piccadilly, London.—M. C. Jones, F.S.A.

Will of John Greasbrooke, Jun., of Wigginshill, 1658.

In the name of God Amen, the six and twentyeth daye of Maye, in the yeare of our Lorde God one thousand six hundred fiftye and eight, I John Greasbrooke, the yonger, of Wigginshill, in the p'ish of Sutton Colefield and countie of Warwicke, being sicke of bodye butt of good and p'fect memorie (thanks be to God) doe make and ordaine this my last Will and Testament in man'er and forme followinge, that is to say: ffirst I com'end my sole into the hands of Allmightie God, my maker, hoping assuredly through the only merrittes of Jesus Christe, my Saviour and Redeemer, to be made p'taker of life everlasting, and I com'end my bodye to the earth whereof it is made. Item I give and bequeath to my daughter, Mary Greasbrooke, one fether bed and bolster, and a pair of bedstides, and all other furniture for a bed. Also I give and bequeath to my said daughter Mary Greasbrooke the sum of Fortye pounds of lawfull money of England to bee payd her by my son and heire, John Greasbrooke, at the day of her marriage or when she shall come to the full age of one and twenty yeares whether shall happen firste; and for wante of paymente of the said fortie pounds, my will is that my daughter Mary Greasbrooke shall enter upon and injoye all that my cloase or croft called Broome Croft and also all that croft or cloase called ffoxales, formerly purchased of Abraham Jorden and John Jorden, both which said cloases or croftes are situate and being in Minworth in the p'sh of Curdworth and countie of Warwicke, and the same to hold and injoye till the said sum of ffortie pounds be fully satisfied and payed. Item I give and bequeath to Mary, my welbeloved wife, all my goods, cattle, and chattles whatsoever unbequeathed, and also I make, constitute, ordaine, and appoint her my full and lawfull Executrix in truste to p'forme this my last Will and Testamente, and also I desire John Greasbrooke, my loving father, and Humfrey Lingard,* of Curdworth, my loving Unkle to be my Overseeres to see this my last Will and Testament p'formed. In witness whereof I, the said John Greasbrooke, have hereunto sett my hand and seale the daye and yeare firste above written.—John Greasbrooke by his X mark.

Sealed, and delivered, and subscribed in the presence of us, Phillip Beste—Margaret Woolly.

[Proved at Lichfield Sept. 10, 1660. Total of inventory £175 : 15 : 4, including certain goods which testator was to have after his mother's death.]

Will of Robert Greysbrooke, of Middleton, Gent., 1668.†

In the name of God, Amen. Made the first day of September in the year of our Lord God 1668, I Robert Greysbrooke, of Middleton, in the County of Warwick, Gent., the unprofitable servant of God, strong of mind (praised be God) Doe ordaine this my last Will and Testament in manner and form followinge. Imprimis

* The Lingards of Curdworth entered their descent at the Visitation of Warwickshire in 1619. Richard Lingard, second son of Edmond Lingard of Curdworth, then had three sons—Edmond aged 16, Richard aged 13, and Humphry "ætat. 6 menses"—and two daughters, Agnes aged 16, and Dorothy aged 11. The will of Richard Lingard, of Curdworth, yeoman, is dated 7 May, 1647, and was proved at Lichfield 21st January following. He mentions his son Homfrey Lingard, and his daughters Anne L. and Dorothy L., and makes his said son sole executor. Administration of the effects of Humphrey Lingard, of Curdworth, was granted at Lichfield 25 Sept. 1695 to Joseph, his son. An administration of the effects of Richard Lingard, of Curdworth, was also granted 6 Nov. 1647 to Elizabeth, his relict, and the inventory was taken by John Greasbrooke, Thomas Woolley, Humphrey Lingard, Leonard Best, and John Thornton.

I doe willingly, and with free heart, render and give againe into the hand of my Lord God, creator of spirits, which hee, of his ffatherly goodnesse, gave unto me when hee first fashioned [me] in my mother's womb, making a living and reasonable creature; nothing doubting but that for his infinite mercy set forth in the precious bloud of his Dear son, Jesus Christ, our only Saviour and Redeemer, he will receive my soule into his glory, and place it in the company of his Heavenly Angells and blessed Saints. As for my body, with free heart to the earth from whence it came, not doubting but at the great day I shall receive a glorious body, but incorruptible, strong, and perfect body, in all particulars like to the glorious body of my Lord Christ.

As for the outward things of this life, my Will is that they be bestowed in manner and form following.—Now the eldest of my three daughters, which my son Chauntery* did mary, It is my will, if I dye before my wife, that she should have out of my lands, payd her by my executors, 13 pounds by the yeare. It' That my daughter Phœbe Greysbrooke have given her ten pounds by the 'yeare. It' It is my will that Hosea,† if hee stay with me, that he should have given him forty shillings. It' It is my Will that my wife, and my daughter Elizabeth, should have all the rest of my land for her naturall life, and all my goods reall and personall, so that they see my debts payd. And after the decease of my wife my lands to goe to my Three daughters equally divided, so that I make my wife and daughter Elizabeth Greysbrooke my sole executors of this my last Will and Testament. And all former Wills to be voyd.

Sealed and delivered in the presence of us Thomas Spencer.‡

Robert Greysbrooke.

In case there should be any difference I would desire my cozen Hill and my cozen ffoxe, if alive, to get this Will performed, each one a paier of gloves of 5/- a peice.

[Probate granted at Lichfield 15th Septr 1671 to Debora Greysbrooke, the widow, and Elizabeth Greysbrooke, the daughter of the testator, the executrixes.

Will of John Greasbrooke, Sen^r^, of Wigginshill, 1671.*

In the name of God, Amen; the twentyeth day of Maye in the three and twentyeth yeare of the Raigne of our Soveraigne Lord Charles the second, by the Grace of God, of England, Scotland, France, and Ireland, Kinge, Defender of the Faithe, etc., and in the yeare of our Lord God One thousand, six hundred, and seventie, and one, I John Greasbrooke, the Elder, of Wigginshill, in the p'sh of Sutton Colefield, and countie of Warwicke, Yeoman, being at present in bodyly health and of perfect mind and memorie (praised be God for the same) yett knowing that I am mortall and borne to dye, doe therefore make and ordayne this my last Will and Testament in manner and forme following: And ffirst I doe com'end and committ my soule into the hands of Almighty God, my Creator, assuredly believing that all my sins shall be pardoned by and through the onely meritts and passion of Jesus Christe, my blessed Saviour and Redeemer, and that thereby I shall be made pertaker of everlastinge joye and happiness in Heaven amongst the glorious Saintes and Angels. And for my fraile bodye, with a free and willing hearte I doe resigne the same to the earth whereof it is made, in God's appointed time to be decently buried by my Executor hereafter named. And for that worldly estate which it hath pleased God in his mercy to bestow upon mee, I doe dispose thereof as followeth: And ffirst I doe give and bequeath unto the poore of the p'ish of Sutton Colefield aforesaid, Tenn shillings, and unto the poore of the p'ish of Curdworth, in the said countie of Warwicke, Tenn shillings, to be distributed amongst the said poore by my executor, or by his direction. Item I give, devise, and bequeath all those my two cloasses or inclosures of land, as the same is now mounded out and devided, and adjoyning together, and adjoyning to the land of George Pudsey Esq. on the north side, and to the land late Edward Darcye's Esq. estward. And also so much, or such part of, a meaddow lyeing at the lower end of the said cloasses as doth adjoine to the said lower cloase of the said two cloases, according as the same is fenced and sett out, being the just breadth of the said lower cloase with a little lane or fforedrowe at the gate of the said cloases, all which said cloases and part of the said meadow are lying and being in the said p'ish of Sutton Colefield and countie of Warwicke, and are parte of a certaine grounde called the Peddimores which I formerly bought of Henry Cookes, gen. And also three acres or dayes workes of arrable lande, be the same more or lesse, with the hades, meares, balkes, thereunto belonging, lying and being in a com'on field in the p'ish of Sutton Colefield & countie of Warwicke called Wigginshill ffield, lying between the lande of Richard Wrighte and the Highe way going to Wishawe, and which said arrable land I bought of Abraham Jordan and John Jordan. And alsoe two lands or ridges of arrable land with the hades, meares, balkes, and app'tenances thereto belonging lying and being in a com'on field called Greavesfield in the said p'ish of Sutton Colefield and countie of Warwicke, & lying betweene the land of Thomas Kyte Gen. and the land of John Rostell, and which I also bought of the said Abraham Jordan & John Jordan. And alsoe all those two lands or ridges of arrable land, with the hades, meares, balkes, and app'tenances thereto belonging and lying & being in a

* Edward Foxe, John Greasbrooke, and another, attest a Bond, dated 5 Dec. 1612, from Richard Mewe, of Minworth, to Edward Smythe, of Wigginshill. John Greasbrooke also attests (with Thomas Barlowe and William Bennett) a Bond of Edward Smythe and Isabel his wife, late wife of William Mousley, to Ralph Higginbottom and Hugh, his brother, of Erdington, dated Sep. 29, 1616. [Proved at Lichfield June 16, 1671. Total of Inventory £143 : 8 : 6.]

The Will of John Grazebrooke,*

of Coleborne-Brook,† co. Stafford (1702), is dated "this 26th day of December, in the first year of the reign of our most gracious sovereign lady Queen Anne, A.D. 1702," and was proved at Worcester 19 June, 1703, by Keturah Grazebrooke, the relict and sole executrix. Gives "the sum of £20 a peece" to his three daughters, Ann, Dorothy, and Sarah, "when they shall severally attain the age of 21 years, or at the days of their respective marriages with their mother's consent, which shall first happen." Residue to his "dear & loving wife Keturah." Witnessed by Thos. Milward, Wm. Thomas, and Walter Blount. Inventory made by Gray Jevon and Thomas Dancer, June 9, 2nd Anne.

The Will of Elizabeth Grazbrook,‡ of the parish of Oldswinford, widow, is dated June 28, 1727, and was proved at Worcester by Benjamin Hallen, her son and sole executor, on the 31st of July same year. She mentions her sons, Samuel Hallen, Benjamin Hallen, and John Grazbrook, her daughters, Anne Batchelor and Sarah Hallen, and her servant Elizabeth Dimmock. Witnessed by Ann Hallen and Joseph Russell. Inventory made July 27, 1727, by Jeremiah Lowe and Joseph Hart.

Marriage Allegation of John Grasebrook and Elizabeth Holland, 1704.

(From the Bishop's Registry, Worcester.)

1704, May 20. John Grasebrook, of Stourbridge, glass-maker, aged about 56, a widower, and William Hunt of Chaddesley Corbett, aged about 41,§ schoolmaster, alleged on oath that a marriage was intended between the abovenamed John Grasebrook and Elizabeth Holland of Oldswinford, aged about 45, a widow. His parents were both deceased; her father was deceased and her mother was consenting. Whereupon a license issued for the marriage "solemnizand' in ecclesiâ de Swinford p'dict aut Chadsley." [The marriage took place at Chaddesley Corbett in 1704.]

* The testator was born in 1676, the son of John, who died in 1706, and grandson of Michael. See Register extracts hereafter.

† Near Stourbridge, in the hamlet of Amblecote, and parish of Oldswinford.

‡ The testatrix was the widow of John Grazebrook, senior (eldest son of Michael), who died in 1706, and daughter of Thomas and Elizabeth Hunt, of Chaddesley Corbett, co. Worcester, where she was baptized Aug. 31, 1660. The will of her father, Thomas Hunt (who, it incidentally appears, was the son of a John Hunt), is dated Dec. 8, 1663, and was proved at Worcester by the executors, William Penn, of Bradford, in Belbroughton, gent., and Francis Jordan, of Chaddesley. Besides his dau. Elizabeth, he had issue John, Henry, Dorothy, Mary, Giles, Thomas, Katherine, and William. Samuel Hallen, or Holland, the first husband of the testatrix, was buried at Oldswinford Feb. 2, 1702-3. This name occurs pretty frequently in the Oldswinford registers. Thomas Holland and Margery Harrison were married there July 11, 1603; Joan, the wife of John Holland, was buried Aug. 19, 1617; Constance, the wife of Cornelius Holland, was buried Dec. 8, 1654; Samuel, the son of Cornelius Holland, was bapt. March 31, 1656; Cornelius Hallen was buried Oct. 29, 1682; Danett, son of Edward Hallen, was bapt. June 19, 1686; Samuel, the son of Samuel Hallen, was bapt. Nov. 24, 1691; Benjamin, son of the same, Feb. 5, 1693-4; Elizabeth, dau. of the same, May 16, 1696; Cornelius, son of Mr. Edward Hallen, Sept. 27, 1697; Anne, dau. of Samuel and Elizabeth Hallen, in Oct. 1702, etc. etc.

§ William Hunt was the brother of Elizabeth Hallen (afterwards Grazebrook), and father of Elizabeth, the wife of Michael Grazebrook, whose will follows. The following extracts are from the parish registers of Chaddesley Corbett:—

1662-3. Jan. 29. William, son of Thomas Hu't, bapt^{d}.

1687. May 22. William Hunt & Ann Hancox marry'd.

1692. Elizabeth, daughter of William & An Hunt was baptized April the 20th.

Anne (1688), Susannah (1690), William (1695), and Thomas (1700), other children of William and Anne Hunt, were also baptized at Chaddesley.

Will of Michael Grazebrook* of Stourbridge, 1756.

In the name of God, Amen. I Michael Grazebrook, of the Heath, in the parish of Oldswinford, in the county of Worcester, glass-maker, this 17th day of November, in the 30th year of the reign of King George the Second, and in the year of our Lord 1756, being sick & weak in body, but of sound & disposing mind, memory, & understanding, do make & ordain this my last will & testament in manner and form following (that is to say). First, I commit my soul into the hands of Almighty God, and my body to be buryed at the discretion of my executrix herein after named. And as for my worldly estate I give and dispose thereof in manner & form following. First I give and bequeath to my son Michaell Grazebrook, one shilling. Item I give and bequeath to my dearly beloved wife Elizabeth† Grazebrook all my real and personal estate whatsoever, to her sole use, benefit, and disposal. And lastly I do nominate & appoint my said wife Elizabeth Grazebrook to be my sole executrix of this my last will and testament. In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand & seal the day & year above written.—Michael Grazebrook.

Signed, sealed, and declared by the said Michael Grazebrook in the presence of us who subscribed our names in the testator's presence and at his request—Edward Turner—Ann Constable—Stephen Skynner.

25 Oct. 1757. The executrix above named was sworn in common form before me—Thomas Miles, Surrogate (Worcester). [No inventory found.]

Michael Grazebrook, 1766.

Michael Grazebrook, of Audnam, in the parish of Kingswinford, co. Stafford, master glassmaker, by will dated March 7, 1766, and proved in London in May same year, bequeaths sundry legacies amounting in the whole to £850. Gives to his eldest daughter, Mary, a house in Amblecote; mentions his wife, Sarah,‡ and her estates at Wolverley and Belbroughton, Worcestershire; his daughters Susannah, senior, and Sarah, junior; his two sons, Thomas Worrall Grazebrook and Michael Grazebrook, and his servant William Grafton. Children all young. His wife, and his friends Mr. John Hurtle,§ of Wolverley, and Mr. William Hunt, of Stourbridge, to be executrix and executors. (P.C.C.)

NOTES ON THE RECTORS OF KELSTON.

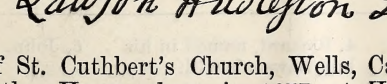
The Venerable The Archdeacon Lawson Hudleston, Rector of Kelston from 1710–1743.



was also Vicar of St. Cuthbert's Church, Wells, Canon of that Cathedral, and Archdeacon of Bath. He was born in 1677, at Hutton John, co. Cumberland.

* The testator was baptized at Oldwinsford Feb. 11, 1687-8, the son of Joseph and grandson of Michael.

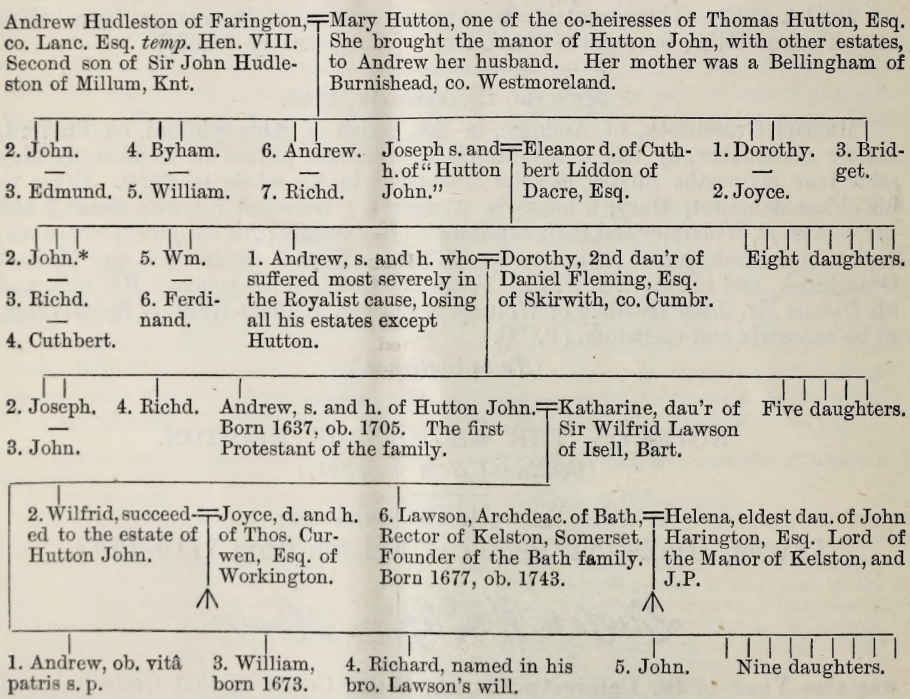
† 1718, May 13. Michael Grazebrook, of the parish of Oldswinford, glass-maker, aged about 29, a bachelor, and William Hunt, of Chaddesley Corbett, schoolmaster, alleged upon oath that a marriage was intended between the aforesaid Michael and Elizabeth Hunt, of Oldswinford, aged about 26, a maiden. Their parents on both sides were living and consenting. Whereupon a licence issued for the marriage to be solemnized in the parish church of Oldswinford. (Bishop's Registry, Worcester.)

‡ She was the only d. and h. of Thomas Worrall of Austcliffe Wolverley, co. Worcester, afterwards of Stourton, co. Stafford, and was baptized at Wolverley Feb. 26, 1722. She also succeeded to the Stourton estate of her uncles, Richard Worrall and the Rev. John Worrall. She died June 7, 1799, aged 78, and was buried at Oldswinford.

§ Of Sion Hill, Wolverley, Esq. He was High Sheriff of Worcestershire in 1774, and died s. p. in 1792.

Previous to his institution to the Rectory of Kelston, he had been a Fellow of Queen's College, Oxford. It is entered by his own hand in Kelston Register Book that he was inducted by Mr. Jno. Chapman, Rector of Weston, on the 31st of July, 1710; this Weston being, of course, Weston-juxta-Bath, and not Weston-super-Mare, though both are in the same diocese. On the 19th February in the following year he married Helena, the eldest daughter of his Patron, John Harington, Esq., and it appears to have been a union fraught with every happiness. The family resulting from it will be shewn both by Registers and the numerous monumental tablets which are set up in Kelston Church to their memory. Some extracts from the will of the pious Archdeacon will also be given hereafter, both as being of genealogical interest, and also because they exhibit so strikingly the truly charitable and kindly nature of the man himself. His last wishes are full of tenderness toward all, but especially toward Helena, his wife. He places in her his last confidence by making her sole executrix of his will. This responsibility she fulfilled, and received probate in 1743.

The particular branch of the old Northern family of Hudleston to which the Archdeacon belonged was seated at Hutton John, near Ulleswater, and its connection with Hudleston of Millum Castle is thus shewn:—



Andrew Hudleston of Farington, co. Lanc. Esq. temp. Hen. VIII. Second son of Sir John Hudleston of Millum, Knt.
Mary Hutton, one of the co-heiresses of Thomas Hutton, Esq. She brought the manor of Hutton John, with other estates, to Andrew her husband. Her mother was a Bellingham of Burnishead, co. Westmoreland.

There had been an alliance in ancient days—temp. Hen. V.—between these Northern families of Harington and Hudleston, for Sir Richard de Hodleston of Millum had married Margaret, the sister of Sir Wm. de Harington, and was knighted by him on the field of Agincourt. And now, on the 19th February, 1711, a son of this ancient house—Lawson Hudleston, Rector of Kelston—brings these Cumberland families into alliance again (but peacefully, and in the West of England), and founds the branch of Hudleston near Bath, where members of the family have continued to reside, down to the present time. Their freehold property is situate at Marshfield, co. Glo'ster.

* This is the famous "Father Hudleston" of the Queen's Chapel, who gave Charles II. the last Sacraments. Macaulay calls him an ignorant fellow. He wrote a clever work entitled 'A Short and Plain Way to the Faith,' in which the Lutherans are sent somewhere for want of Bishops. I hope it was not to look for them there.

The pedigree of the family descended from the Archdeacon Hudleston is as follows:—

MONUMENTAL INSCRIPTIONS IN THE PARISH CHURCH, CHELTENHAM, GLOUCESTERSHIRE.†

Underneath are deposited, in the hope of a blessed resurrection,
the remains of James King, Esquire,
who departed this life
October the 16th, 1816.

In a vault in the new burial-ground lie the remains of John Henry Rose, (many years a resident of this town,) who departed this life 19th of Sepr, 1821, aged 66 years.
He bore a long and painful illness with exemplary submission and pious resignation to the Divine will,

* It is a somewhat remarkable occurrence in the history of landed property that this gentleman, a descendant of the Somerset branch, should return to the Northern estate (Hutton St. John), whilst Wilfrid H. Hudleston, Esq. of Cheyne Walk, Chelsea, descended from Wilfrid, elder brother of the Archdeacon, and therefore of the Northern line, succeeds to the Gloucestershire estate. This cross traversing has been effected by wills of distant relatives at very separate dates.

resurrection to eternal life through our Lord Jesus Christ, his Saviour and Redeemer.
This tablet is erected by his widow, who mourns the loss of an affectionate and tender husband, and awaits with anxious hope the time of their eternal re-union.

The latter died Octr 26th, 1824,
aged 74 years.

In pious memory of Lieut Coll William Rowley Elliot, K.H., son of the late Revd William Elliot, many years Rector of Trim, Ireland, and Elizabeth, his wife.
Upwards of 38 years of his life had been spent in the active service of his country. Entering the Army in early youth, he accompanied H.M. 29th Regt throughout the greater portion of the Peninsular & second American Wars, and afterwards to the Mauritius. He likewise served for some years on the Staff of H.M. Forces in the West Indies; and subsequently was appointed to raise and organize the Royal Canadian Rifle Regt, in command of which he died Decr 17th, 1845.
His earthly remains rest in the churchyard at Niagara, Canada West, where a monument has been erected over them by his brother officers.
This tablet has been placed near the vault where his parents are interred, as a tribute of affectionate remembrance by his widow and children.

On a flat stone, lately removed from the chancel and placed close to the inner door of the north porch, are the effigies in brass of a man in his judicial robes and coif (William Greville, of Arle Court, in this parish, a Justice of the Court of Common Pleas in the reign of Henry VII.), his wife, three sons, and seven daughters, with the following portion of the inscription, likewise in brass, round the margin :—

. . . . and Sloughter, whiche William decessid the ix daye of Marche, in the iiiiᵗʰ yere of the reigne of Kinge Henry VIII.

On the same stone there is another brass, inscribed as follows :—

Heare lieth yᵉ body of Elizabeth,

In memory of Captain Henry Skillicorne, deceased, born at Kirk Lonnon, in the Isle of Man, in 1678. Taught by D^{r} Wilson, Bishop, and justly called the good Bishop, of that island. When young, he went to sea, and was many years in the employ of, and concern'd with, Jacob Elton, Esq^{r}, Merchant in Bristol, whose relation, Sarah Goldsmith, of that city, he married. She dying in childbed with two children, he in 1731 married Elizabeth Mason, then of Bristol, daughter of Will^{m} Mason, of Cheltenham, Gentleman, by Margaret Surman, daughter of John Surman, of Tredington, in this county, Esq^{r}.
He quiting the sea after 40 years service, they resided together some years at Bristol, and in 1738 came to live upon their estate in this town, where he gave his mind to increase the knowledge, & extend the use of Cheltenham Spa, which became his property. He found the Old Spring open and exposed to the weather. He made the Well there as it now is, made the walks, and planted the trees of the Upper & Lower Parades; and by conduct ingenuous, & manners attentive, he, with the aid of many worthy persons of the town & neighbourhood, brought this most salutary water to just estimation & extensive use;
and ever presiding with esteem in the Walks, saw it visited with benefit by the greatest persons of the age, and so established its reputation, that his present Most Gracious Majesty King George the Third, with his most amiable Queen Charlotte & the Princesses Royal Augusta & Elizabeth, their daughters, visited it, drinking the water, & residing from the 12th day of July to the 16th day of August, both inclusive, 1788, in the Lodge House built by Will^{m} Skillicorne, the proprietor thereof, and of the Spa, son of Captain Skillicorne, on his Bay's hill near thereto, for & then & now in lease to the Right Honourable Earl Fauconberg, who, receiving benefit from this water for many years, spread its good name. W^{m} Miller, Esq^{r}, the tenant of the Spa, & others of the town, erected new buildings, paved, cleansed, & lighted the street, encouraged by the gentlemen of the neighbourhood making new roads. The King discovered the New Spring like the Old, which his Majesty steaned & secured, and built 17 rooms at the Lodge House at his own expense, and graciously gave to M^{r} Skillicorne, in whose ground near the House it was, at the instance of Earl Fauconberg.
Captain Skillicorne was buried the 18th of October, 1763, with his son Henry by his last wife, at the west door on the inside of this church, aged 84 years. He was an excellent seaman, of tryed courage.
He visited most of the great trading ports of the Mediterranean, up the Archipelago, Morea & Turkey, Spain, Portugal & Venice, and several of the North American ports, Philadelphia, and Boston, and Holland, and could do business in seven tongues. He was of great regularity & probity, & so temperate as never to have been once intoxicated.
Religious without hypocrisy, grave without austerity, of a chearful conversation without levity, a kind husband & tender father, tall, erect, robust & active. From an ill-treated wound while a prisoner after an engagement at sea, he became a strict valetudenarian.
He lived and dyed an honest man.
M^{rs} Elizabeth Skillicorne, a Quaker, was buried in the Quakers' Graveyard upon the 14th of April, 1779, a virtuous woman, a good wife, & tender mother.
William Skillicorne, Esq^{r}, died April 12th, 1803,
aged 66 years.

HOLWELL FAMILY.

Your correspondent, Mr. Deering, will find in Exeter and its neighbourhood abundant materials for the compilation of a Holwell pedigree, especially in the Parish Registers of Woodbury, Lympstone, Littleham, etc., near Exmouth, and in the Wills at the Exeter District Probate Court. Although unable to devote time to searches, I shall be glad to direct him in his inquiries, or to convey his instructions to a person with whom such investigations are a business as well as a pleasure. There were several families of Holwell of the yeoman class in and about Woodbury. Edward Holwell of the Inner Temple, barrister (bur. at Littleham, Exmouth, 25 Jan. 1723. Will dated 18 April, 1722), married Elizabeth, daughter of Sir Henry Ford, of Nutwell (now the seat of Sir Francis Drake) in Woodbury, Knight, M.P. for Tiverton for twenty years till his death in 1684, and principal Secretary for Ireland under Cha^{s} II. [See his Biography in Prince's 'Worthies of Devon.']

Of the same Holwell race was the Rev. William Holwell-Carr, B.D., who died in Devonshire Place, London, 24 Dec. 1830, but who was buried at Withecombe-Raleigh, Exmouth. His memory deserves respect for his munificent bequest to the National Gallery of his fine collection of works of the old masters. He was the son of Edward Holwell of Exeter, apothecary, by his wife Isabella (Newte), and was baptized at St. Martin's, Exeter, 4 April, 1759, in the name of William, after his uncle the Rev. William Holwell, a learned scholar, who had declined a Welsh Bishopric, and died in 1798, Vicar of Thornbury, Gloucestershire. The youth evinced a taste for the fine arts, and after being made a Fellow of Exeter College, Oxford, and obtaining the degree of S.T.B., he made a tour through France and Italy in 1780, laying the foundation of his collection of pictures, and improving his own skill as an artist. His father died at Exmouth 28 March 1793, æt. 66, and on the 13th January, in the preceding year, he was instituted to the valuable living of Menheniot, Cornwall, void by the death of William Hole, and held it till his death in 1830. He married in London, 18 May, 1797, Lady Charlotte Hay, eldest daughter of James, 14th Earl of Errol. By the will of this lady's maternal grandfather, Sir William Carr of Etal, Baronet, she acquired the fine estate of Etal, and on the 20th November, 1798, she obtained the royal licence for herself, her husband, and the heirs male of her body to assume the additional name and arms of Carr. Gules, on a chevron arg. three mullets of the field. She died in London on the 9th February, 1800, æt. 37, three days after the birth of her only child, William Carr. On the death of this child at Ramsgate, 15th September, 1806, the Etal estate passed to her ladyship's sister, Augusta, Countess of Glasgow. Her husband erected a monument to her memory in the Church of Menheniot.

THE BRACEBRIDGE FAMILY.

Can any correspondent kindly add to the following scanty pedigree of the Bracebridge family? In the Bracebridge pedigree recorded in the Heralds' College the children of Thomas Bracebridge and Alice (Rugeley) his wife are mentioned, but not the descendants of Edward and Dorothy. I am anxious to know when and where their son Rowland was born, whom he married, and when and where his son Rowland was born, and when he married Winifred Scott; also the dates and places of the births and marriages of the children of Rowland and Winifred. Did Edward or any of his descendants leave wills, which would tend to elucidate the pedigree? and where were these various persons buried, and are there any monumental inscriptions extant?—W. G. D. He has a very fine portrait on panel of one of the daughters of John Howson, Bishop of Durham, who is said to have been godmother to one of the Newhouse ladies, of a previous generation to the above. It is supposed to be by Cornelius Janssen, shewing all the characteristics of that painter, and has been very carefully preserved and handed down from generation to generation to the present possessor. It bears the Howson arms, the date 1632, and the age of the original, then 16.

LORIMER, SCOTLAND.

Durand Lorimer of Caen, witness to a charter in favour of the Abbot and Convent of St. Etienne, A.D. 1080.

Goscelinus Loremarius holds lands co. Essex at the time of the Domesday Survey.

William the Lion, 1165–1214, grants lands near Perth to Hugh Lorimer and his heirs for services performed.

Matthew Lorimer sold these lands to William de Len, burgess of Perth, by whom they were gifted to the Abbey of Scone.

John Lorimer, clerk, in 1245 releases in favour of the Abbot of Scone any claim he might have to these lands.

Baldwin Lorimer, c. 1228.

John Lorimer in 1375 sold a house and tenement of land in the Curfew Road, Perth.

Alexander Lorimer in 1494 possessed a tenement in Perth near the Carmelite Monastery, and in 1539 Katherine Lorimer was a nun at Elcho.

The earliest record of arms borne by any one of the name is in Pont's Heraldic MS., 1624, "Gu. a cross baton fitchie, a lyon ramp. arg." This is probably the family of Stephen Lorimer, who inherited half the Temple lands of Crichton in Mid-Lothian from his mother, Sarah Pentland, and his aunt Isabella, who married James Wauchope of Templehouse, s.p. There was another sister, Margaret, wife of Sir Gideon Murray of Elibank, a Lord of Session and Treasurer Depute of Scotland, whose son was created Lord Elibank.

In 1794 John Lorimer, M.D., Inspector of Hospitals and examining Physician to the H. E. I. Co., had a grant of Arg., a laurel branch ppr. between two roses gu. Crest, A horse courant arg. Motto, VIRTUTIS GLORIA MERCES.

From the beginning of the fifteenth century persons of the name are to be found in Forfarshire, probably descended from the Lorimers of Perth.

1423. Duncan Lorimer held lands at Arbroath, and was a burgess of the Burgh.

1482. Robert Lorimer, notary, Arbroath.

1490. Walter Lorimer resigns in favour of John Erskine of Dun the lands of Kyll Croft and Chapel Croft.

1652. William Lorimer of Dundee.

David Kelly, who was baptized at Dundee 30 March, 1721, only son who survived of John Kelly and Jane M'Lachlan of Dundee, went out to India as a boy in the service of the Dutch East India Co., and rose to position and fortune. In his will, made at Cochin 13 April, 1772, he styles himself "senior upper merchant, Secundah and Chief Administrator of the Commandment of Malabar." He died s.p. three years after, and the residue of his property, after paying numerous legacies to adopted children, released slaves, and charities, was inherited by his only surviving sister, Janet Kelly, wife of James Smith, Baldovie. In May, 1778, they purchased part of the estate of Drumgeith, and named it Kellyfield. Mr. Smith was accidentally drowned in the harbour of Dundee in 1796, and his widow died s.p. in 1807, at the age of 91.

James Lorimer of Kellyfield, her nearest relative and adopted son, succeeded to her property. He was born at Broughty Ferry 4 June, 1750 (son of Andrew Lorimer, master of a coasting vessel, who was drowned in the Frith of Tay), and was educated as a land surveyor. Mr. Lorimer was also factor on the estates of Fintry, Douglas, Moncrieff, Rossie, etc.

He married Elizabeth, relict of John Patullo, Ballumbie, daughter of William Webster, Ethiebeaton, by Catherine, daughter of John Patullo, Ballumbie. Mrs. Lorimer was great-granddaughter of William Webster, Ethiebeaton, who married a daughter of Durham of Omachie, co. Forfar. She died in 1796, and Mr. Lorimer 31 Jan. 1810.

James Lorimer of Kellyfield, factor on the Kinnoull estates, resided at Aberdalgie House, Perthshire, and was in the Commission of the Peace for that county. In 1801 he was appointed Rothesay Herald by the late Earl of Kinnoull, Lord Lyon King of Arms, and it is worthy of remark that through his mother he could count as kinsmen Sir Alexander Durham of Largo, who was appointed Lord Lyon at the Restoration, and William Patullo, a Herald in the reign of David II. Mr. Lorimer married in 1815 his cousin-german, Janet Webster, daughter of Robert Webster, an eminent agriculturist of his day, who rented many farms in the Carse of Gowrie, and Margaret Hunter, of the family of the Hunters of Glencarse and Seaside, co. Perth, and sister of James Webster of Balruddery, co. Forfar, and of Major-General Thomas Webster of Balgarvie, co. Fife. She died in 1866, in her 91st year, and he in his 90th year, 20 Dec. 1868.

Margaret, died 1838.

Janet died, 1864.
Isabella, died 1804.
Agnes, died 1805.

All unmarried.

James Lorimer of Kellyfield, born 4 Nov. 1818. Called to the Bar 1845. Lyon Clerk and Keeper of the Records of the Lyon Court, 1848. Professor of Public Law in the University of Edinburgh, 1862. Married 1851 Hannah, elder daughter of John Riddle Stodart, Writer to Her Majesty's Signet, a Magistrate of the City of Edinburgh and in the Commission of the Peace, son of Robert Stodart of Kailzie, co. Peebles, and Ormiston, co. Edinburgh. Kellyfield has been recently sold.

Thomas Webster Lorimer, resident at Mount Rule, Isle of Man, born 2 June, 1820. Married Elizabeth-Ferme, daughter of Henry P. Palmer, M.D., and has issue:—James; Thomas-Hay; Maxwell; Mary-Ferme; Janet-Webster, m. 1875 Colin Campbell, Rhodes, East Lothian; Elizabeth-Hannah, m. 1875 Rev. There is given in Burke's General Armory another coat for Lorimer, Scotland, but it is unauthorized, and appears to be founded on the arms of the English Lorimers.

Lorimers are to be found as owners of land in the county of Edinburgh at the beginning of the 15th century, and in Stirlingshire in the end of the 16th, and early in the century in Banffshire, where John Lorimer, clerk of the Burgh of Cullen in 1673, founded a scholarship, the patronage of which he vested in his heirs, directing them to prefer those nearest in blood to himself. The Northern branch intermarried with Forbes of Towie, Fraser of Findrack, and other good families, and produced a Regent of Marischal College, James Lorimer, 1682.

Dr. James Lorimer was Principal of New College, St. Andrew's, about the same time; and Mr. William Lorimer, who in 1696 was nominated to the Chair of Divinity in that University, made himself notorious by preaching a sermon on "The reverence due to Jesus Christ" before the Chancellor and Judges in Edinburgh, in which he urged the execution, which took place, of James Aikenhead, a foolish youth of eighteen, for blasphemy.

In Dumfriesshire the name is common, and one family held the lands of Holmhead, while another acquired by marriage the great estates of Preston in Haddingtonshire and Fingalton in the county of Renfrew.

Robert Oswald, m. in Oct. 1642 Mary, d. of Robert Hamilton of Newhaven, sister of Sir Thomas Hamilton of Preston and Fingalton, a Colonel, M.P., and Lord of the Articles.

They are spoken of in the register-book in 1580, and might have been found before this date if any earlier records of this place could be found. They were possessed of much land here, particularly that named The Statfolds and Littlefield, which were purchased by John Rawlins, esq., of Lichfield. After his death this mansion, with these and other lands, passed to the late John Houghton, esq., in right of his wife, grand-daughter of the said Mr. Rawlins, who now possesses them.

conveyed to Thomas Bedle. A meadow, formerly part of the common field, called Broad Meadow, which came into the hands of the Latimers and Creswells of this parish; from them to the late Mr. Dolphyn, and to the present Mr. Dolphyn; likewise a piece of the Bull-Moors, afterwards the estate of — Higgins, after of Benjamin Colier, and from him by purchase to Gilbert Walmsley, of Lichfield, esq., and now in his heirs.

"Greisbrook, whence the family had their name, is a manor in Yorkshire,* which, in the reign of King Henry III., was in the great house of Mowbray, of whom the Greisbrooks held their lands. Roger de Greisbrook (t. Henry II.) is mentioned† as holding of the fee of Alice, Countess of Augie, or Ewe, daughter of William de Albiney, Earl of Arundel, by Queen Alice, relict of King Henry I.

"Thomas Greisbrook and Elizabeth his wife had, besides other children, a daughter Margery,‡ born in November, 1580; the same month died Elizabeth his wife; and in July, 1582, their daughter. Richard Greisbrook, son of Robert, was baptized September 20, 1585.

"Rowland Greisbrook and Isabel Yardley were married in April, 1598; they had Thomas, who died young, Robert, and four daughters: Grace, Penelope, Anne, and Elizabeth. Robert had a daughter Susanna born in 1656. Robert Greisbrook,§ gent., and Jemima, daughter of Mr. William Grace, were married on July 8, [sic year omitted] and had issue, 1. William, baptized May 6, 1673; 2. Robert, born 1674, and died in 1681; ‖ 3. John, born in February, 1681; 5. [sic] Robert, and five daughters—1. Elizabeth, born in 1676, and died in 1729; 2. "John Walton, of Bagington, and Margery Greisbrook were married August 28, 1682. Thomas Cramp and Sarah Greisbrook were married January 19, 1721-2. Robert married Elizabeth, daughter of — Grosvenor, of Wolverhampton, or of Codsall, near it, but died without issue in 1727. Jemima, daughter of Mr. Grace, and wife of Robert Greisbrook†† the elder, died in 1724, aged 77.

"In 1655 Robert Greisbrook was witness to a covenant of marriage between Ralph Thickbroom and Margaret Cook, of Little Hay. In 1667 he paid 1*s.* 4*d.* to the quarterly royal aid, and 3*s.* 0*d.* for land of Mr. Floyer.

"Thomas Cramp and Sarah Greisbrook had four children—Greisbrook, and three daughters, Sarah, Jemima, and Ruema, the latter living in 1768 unmarried; the two eldest daughters married and had issue, but both are dead. Greisbrook Cramp was heir to his uncle Robert, is a farmer at Cowerne in Herefordshire, and by — his wife, daughter of — Darlaston of Ilford in Staffordshire, hath two sons. Sarah Greisbrook secondly married John Lea, and had Dorothy, Jane, and Elizabeth."

* Near Rotherham, now usually written Greasbrough; but as lately as 1829 Mr. Wainwright, in his 'History of Strafford and Tickhill,' writes it Greasbrooke. The place is referred to in the post mortem inquest of Gilbert, Earl of Shrewsbury, taken at Nottingham in 1628, and is there written in four different ways, viz. Gresbroke, Greasbrook, Gresebrooke, and Greysbrook. At the Inquisition taken in 15 Edward II. on the death of William de Tynneslowe, the jury found that the deceased held (inter alia) a messuage and two bovates of land in Gresbroke of Roger de Clifford as of the manor of Kymberworth. This William de Tynneslowe, or Tinsley, was the son of Sir Henry de Tinsley, who, according to Gascoigne's 'Account of the Wentworth Family,' was the son of one Adam or Edde, who is found with the additions of de Gresbroke and de Rotherham.

"There was at an early period an Adam de Gresebrok whose possessions came to the Tinsleys, and from them to the Wentworths." ('An Account of Greasbrough,' compiled by the Rev. Edward Goodwin, of Sheffield.)

Adam de Gresebroc and Robert his brother attest (with others) a Shenstone charter of temp. Henry III., quoted in Shaw's 'Staffordshire' under Shenstone.

† The writer has never been able to discover Mr. Sanders's authority for this.

‡ According to the parish register Margery was the daughter of "Robert Gresbroke."

§ "He paid four shillings to the poll-tax for himself, wife, and two children."

‖ Query, was it not Robert Greisbrooke, the father, who died in 1681?

¶ Query? She mar. Thomas Cramp. It must have been another Sarah who died 1699.

 Should be 1728.

†† "Robert Greisbrook the elder died in 1718."

NOTES ON THE RECTORS OF KELSTON.

Abstract of the Will of the Ven. Lawson Hudleston, Archdeacon of Bath, etc.

In the name of the ever blessed Trinity, etc. I Lawson Hudleston of Kelston in the County of Somerset Clerk being at this time, etc. Do make and constitute this my last Will and Testament. In the first place I return my soul, etc. My body I desire may be buried with a modest regard to my Ecclesiastical Station in the Church Porch of Kelston nearest to the going into the Church in a coffin of two inch board all of the heart of oak. My desire is that my dear wife Helena may be laid by me when it pleases God to call her to himself in a coffin of the same materials. I would have a marble of about two foot square placed over the Church door in the inside, both our inscriptions to be made on the same marble, just telling who we were, and where we lye. After all honour and praise return'd to God for those worldly goods he hath prospered and blessed me with I give and bequeath them as follows. I give to my dear wife Helena all my estate in Gloucestershire during her life, and after her life ended I give it to my son John to him and his heirs for ever, provided he hath any heirs male or female lawfully begotten, etc. And in case he dies without issue I give it entire to my son William and his heirs for ever. And in case my son William likewise dies without lawful issue I give it to the heir-at-law of my brother Richard Hudleston. Item, etc. (This clause provides for the devolution of an estate called Morris's or Combs' at Kelston, and of all testator's estate in Jamaica. First to wife Helena, then to son Wm., and then proceeds—) all my personal estate whatsoever I give to my said dear wife Helena, whom I make and constitute the sole Executrix of this my last Will and Test^{t}. And for direction and assistance in the discharge of every thing in this my Will, I appoint my worthy brother-in-law D^{r} Edward Harington of Bath and the Rev^{d} M^{r} Taylor of Clifton near Bristol my executors in trust of which two gentlemen, etc. And in case of any animosity, controversy or even uneasiness (the least of which may God avert) between her and either of my two sons, I humbly begg they the s^{d} my Ex'ors in Trust will incline with all possible favour to the widow's part. I charge my estate in Glocestershire for ever with a pension of twenty shillings per an' to be paid on or before every first day of December to my successor in the Rectory of Kelston for the time being to be by him disposed of in twenty twelve penny loaves of bread to the same number of such poor persons of the Parish of Kelston as he shall think fit every Christmas eve. And in case of neglect of paying the above pension as above is appointed He the s^{d} Rector hath hereby full power given him to make distress on the aforesaid estate. I order ten guineas to be paid to Joseph Chambers of Wistentown within three months after my death, and twenty shillings apiece to each of my servants then living with me.

Witness my hand and seal. (L.S.)

Witnessed by Henry Fothergill—Tho. Perriman—John Popham.

Codicil.

I give to James Crew Jun^{r} and his ex'ors the little garden in the lowest corner of Barrow stile during the term I have therein, viz. during the lives of my sons John and William.

Witness my hand this 29th day of Sep. 1741. (L.S.)

[Proved 5th July, 1743, with a codicil, in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury, by Helena, the relict of the said deceased.]

WENTWORTH.—Godfrey Wentworth, Esq., third son of Sir Michael Wentworth, of Woolley in the county of York, Knt., was baptized at Woolley 27 Oct. 1678. He married at St. Alban's, Wood Street, on the 9th of July, 1700, Anna Maria Clark, of St. Clement Danes. Their marriage license from the Office of the Vicar-General of the Archbishop of Canterbury is as follows:—

"1700, July 8. Godfrey Wentworth of S^t^ Paul's Covent Garden Gent. Bachelor aged about 22 and Anna Maria Clarke of S^t^ Clement Danes, Spinster, aged 21 and upwards daughter of Giles Clarke of Lyon's Inn, Gent. (who signed the marriage allegation) to marry at S^t^ Alban's Wood Street or [blank]."

She died 2nd April, 1710, aged 31, and was buried in her family vault at St. Clement Danes, London. I wish to ascertain the parentage of her father Giles Clark or Clarke above mentioned, and also to find out who the said Giles married and her parentage, also his arms if he bore any, and any particulars about his family.

STEVENS.—In the admission book of St. John's College, Cambridge, of the year 1735 is to be found the following admission:—

"Richardus Stevens
Lincolniensis, filius Thomæ Stevens Aromatarii, natus in oppido Grantham in comitatu Lincolniensis, literis institutus in publica schola de Grantham in Com. præd. sub M^{ro} Bacon, admissus subsizator pro M^{ro} Robinson, Tutore et Fidejupore D^{re} Williams April 17mo Anno ætat. 18vo."

This Richard Stevens was Rector of Bottesford in Leicestershire from 1752 to 1771. He died on the 13th March, 1771, æt. 53, and was buried at Grantham, where there is a monumental inscription to his memory.

His wife was also buried there, and it states on her inscription that she died 18 Nov. 1751, æt. 34. Her name was Jane, but the inscription gives no more particulars about her. I want to find out who she was, and shall be glad of any assistance your correspondents can give me.

They had three daughters, also buried at Grantham,—Georgiana Sibeller Stevens, died 21 April, 1822, æt. 75; Diana Dorothy Dodsworth, who died 20 Oct. 1795, æt. 43; Jane Stevens, who died 9 July, 1834, æt. 88 years.

They also had a daughter Martha, who was the wife of the Rev. Philip Laycock Story, of Kniveton and Lockington, co. Leicester. He died 25 May, 1819.

General Stevens was, I believe, a son of theirs also.

GENEALOGY OF THE FAMILY OF CORNWALL OF BONHARD, IN THE PARISH OF CARRIDEN, CO. LINLITHGOW.*

Cornbell of Ballanoffard

"James Cornwall of Bonhard Bears gules, on a fess argent three Kaes Cornwall sable becked & membred of the first betwixt alse many mollets Or. Above the shield ane helmet befitting his degree mantled gules doubled argent Next is placed on ane Torse for his crest a Kae Cornwall hatching in ye face of a rock proper, The motto in an escroll We big ye see warilie." (Lyon Register, 1672.)

Nisbet says "The first of this name in Scotland is said to have come from Cornwall in England, and to have taken his sirname from that country and the Cornish Kaes in relation thereto."

The name is found in Scotland in the twelfth century, and the oldest armorial ensign borne is a wheatsheaf, evidently allusive to the name, whereas the Cornish choughs cannot be traced farther back than 1527.

Robert de Cornewall is one of the witnesses to a charter of Hugh, Bishop of St. Andrew's, granting the lands of Malar to the Abbot and Canons of Stirling, about A.D. 1180. ('Chartulary of Cambuskenneth.')

The seal of William de Cornale, appended to a charter in the possession of the Dean and Chapter of Durham, has a wheatsheaf, and probably belongs to the first half of the thirteenth century. (Laing's 'Scottish Seals.')

William de Cornal witnessed the homage of Duncan, Earl of Fife, 9 January, 1370, to Robert de Karal, Abbot of Dunfermline, for his lands of Cluny in Fife, held of the Abbey. ('Chartulary of Dunfermline.')

Mr. Richard Cornell, Archdeacon of Dunkeld 1406.

* Compiled by R. R. Stodart, Esq., Lyon Office, Edinburgh.

I. Patrick of Cornewell of Balnehard had a charter, 28 July, 1449, from Alexander of Cokburne, Lord of Langtoun and Baron of Carredyn, for his counsel and assistance given and to be given to the granter of the lands of Balnehard, which the said Patrick formerly held of the granter and his predecessors, to be held in fee and heritage of him and his successors for performing the service due and wont, attendance at the barony courts of Carredyn, etc.

II. John Cornewel of Balnard on the 30 June, 1480, was adjudged by the Lords of Council to pay to John Bissate ten marks of the rents of part of the lands of Balnard formerly belonging to the said John which he had exacted payment of. He married Elizabeth Wardlaw, who was living in 1539, and is then styled "the auld leddy of Ballinhard."

1479–80. Patric Cornale or Cornevale and others are sued by Isabel, Countess of Angus, and James Weir as to the possession of the lands of Whelphill, co. Lanark. (Acta Dominorum Concilii.)

1483. Jonet of Cornewale has a suit with William Somerville as to the lands of Babby (now Bagbie), co. Lanark. (Acta Auditorum.)

Sir John Cornwell, Vicar of Telyne, co. Forfar. ('Antiquities of Aberdeen and Banff.')

III. John of Cornewal of Balnard was killed at Flodden, 1513, and there is a tradition that he personated the King during the battle. He married first Margaret, daughter of Thomas Forrest, Burgess of Linlithgow (their contract is dated 16 June, 1502), and had one daughter, Libra, who married Archibald Hamilton.

John married secondly Margaret Mowbray, a daughter, doubtless, of the powerful Baron of Barnbougal, seven miles east of Bonhard, and had a son,

Peter, and a daughter,

Agnes, who married about 1530 Archibald, second son of Sir William Edmonstone of Duntreath, co. Stirling, and had issue.

1515. Margaret Cornwell divorced her husband Alexander Gourlay, the marriage being pronounced null and void from the first, because at the time it was entered upon and at the present time he had a wife, Gertrude Ogilvy, living beyond seas. (Liber Officialis Sancte Andree.)

1526–44. John Cornuell or Cornwall occurs as a witness. (Acts of Parliament.)

IV. Peter Cornewall of Bonhard was a minor at the time of his father's death, as stated in the Precept of Chancery directing his infeftment in the lands he inherited. His arms, with the date 1527, were cut on a stone of the family house in the burgh of Linlithgow.*

Peter resisted the claims of his half sister Libra to 20 merks worth of the lands of Bonhard in terms of her mother's contract of marriage, but on 6 March, 1538–39, a Decreet of the Lords ordained him to infeft her, or to enter himself in ward in the Castle of Dumbarton.

On the 31 March, 1549, a Crown Charter passed the Seal in his favour confirming the former charter granted in 1449 by Alexander Cockburn.

He married first .... and had a son,

Nicholas.

Second, Katherine Danielstoune or Dennistoun, widow of .... Halkeid, daughter of Dennistoun of Craignes, who was brother of Dennistoun, head of his family.

Sir Robert Danielstoun, Rector of Dysart, co. Fife, 1551–73, was one of the witnesses to the charter in favour of her daughter and stepson in 1553, and was probably her brother.

* The house was pulled down in 1870, but the stone is preserved by having been built into the back wall of the modern building, No. 53 High Street, constructed upon the site. A stone upon which the arms were probably cut appears to have been secured in a recess in the centre of the stone, but it has been removed.

Elene Cornwall, who on 18 June, 1575, gives her consent to a charter granted by John Forrest, Provost of Linlithgow, and representative of that burgh in Parliament, of certain lands near Linlithgow to Patrick Gibb and Elizabeth Sym his spouse, was probably their daughter. Her seal has three Cornish choughs without any other charge. (Colstoun Charters.)

Peter died after February, 1578, and was succeeded by his son—

V. Nicholas Cornwall of Bonhard, who was Provost of the Royal Burgh of Linlithgow 1592, and sat in Parliament as its representative from that year till 1599. He married Agnes Halkheid of Dysart, probably of the family of Halkett of Pitfirrane, co. Fife, daughter of his father's second wife, as is shewn by the contract of marriage, 6 July, 1551, quoted in a charter granted 6 April, 1553, by Mr. George Halkheid, brother of Agnes, of ten oxgates of his lands of Bonyngtoun, co. Linlithgow, in implement of the said contract in favour of the said Nicholas and Agnes in conjunct fee, and the survivor, and the heirs to be gotten between them, whom failing to the nearest heirs whomsoever of the said Nicholas. These lands were held of the Crown for a yearly payment of £9 6*s.* 8*d.* and a Crown Charter of Confirmation passed the following day.

This Mr. George Halkheid or Hakat, Conservator of Scottish Privileges in Flanders, made his will in 1565, and nominates his beloved Margaret Hepburn sole executrix.

On the 27 February, 1578, Nicholas and his wife entered into a contract of excambion with James Hoppringill of Woodhouse and Marion Murray his spouse, whereby the former, with the consent of his father, exchanged his lands of Princadois near Stow, in the co. of Edinburgh, for Hoppringill's lands of Over Dechmont in Linlithgowshire, and thus concentrated the property. A charter followed 1 Mar. and was confirmed by the Crown on the 18th of the same month, the destination being to Nicholas Cornewall fear of Bonhard and Agnes Halket his spouse and the survivor in liferent, and to John his son and heir apparent and his heirs male, whom failing to the heirs male whomsoever of the said Nicholas.

Nicholas married secondly, probably in 1591, Mary, daughter of Sir Archibald Stewart of Castlemilk and Janet Stewart his wife, sister of Walter, first Lord Blantyre. On an old dovecote at Bonhard there is a stone with their initials, N. C. and M. S., the date 1591, and a shield of Cornwall impaling Stewart, the latter so worn as to be indistinguishable. This laird of Bonhard died in 1607, in his 70th year, and is interred in the family burial place at Linlithgow, with this inscription on a stone monument:—

On another stone the motto is SPERANDO SPERAVI.

VI. John Cornwall of Bonhard had a charter, 10 April, 1567, from Alexander Craufurde of an annual rent of 6 merks 6*s.* 8*d.* out of the lands of Blaknes in the shire of Linlithgow, to John Cornuell, first born son of Nicholas Cornuell, fear of Ballinhard and his heirs male whomsoever, to be held from the granter of the Queen in fee and heritage for the yearly payment to the Crown of two pence Scots. To this charter John Cornuell, burgess of Linlithgow, is one of the witnesses. It was confirmed at Holyrood 23 March, 1573.

John, who died before his father, married a daughter of Sir George Mushet of that ilk, otherwise of Burnbank, co. Perth, by Margaret his wife, daughter of .... Seton of Touch, co. Stirling, Heritable Armour Bearer and Squire of the Body to the King (Funeral Escutcheon in the Lyon Office), and had issue by her, who married secondly the Laird of Kettleston, co. Linlithgow.

* It is said that there is a table stone with the arms and motto SPERANDO SPERAVI, but no trace of it has been found in the burial ground.

VII. Walter Cornwall of Bonhard represented the county in Parliament 1625. Was served heir of his father in the Bonington property and the annual rent from Blackness 1607, October 8; on 23 December following to his grandfather, in a house and garden in the burgh of Linlithgow; on 28 April, 1615, to his father in Over Dechmont; and in March, 1620, to his grandfather in part of Bonsyde. He acquired another part of Bonington from Anna, daughter and heir of the late Robert Foulis, and had a Crown charter, 1 Feb. 1616, of these lands, to be held of the Crown by him and his heirs male for the annual payment of £4 14*s.* 1*d.* of feu farm. Another charter in his favour passed the Great Seal 27 July, 1624, of other parts of Bonington. He was infeft 12 May, 1626, in Flass, Flasshill, and a piece of muir annexed, under obligation not to enclose the said muir, but only pasture and cut the whins; the town of Linlithgow's cows to have access to the same by the wester gate.

Walter was alive in 1635, and dead before November, 1643. His wife is stated in the Funeral Escutcheons of his son and of Sir Walter Seton to have been a daughter of Stewart of Blackhall. He had issue—

1. John.
2. James.
3. Alexander, who married Marion Cornwall and had a daughter Christian baptized 28 Jan. 1666, the witnesses being James Cornwall, Sheriff Depute of the county, and Sir Walter Seton.

John Cornwall of Banton, a Commissioner of Supply for the county of Stirling in 1690, was probably son of Alexander.

1. Margaret, mar. about 1630 Alexander Seton of Graden, co. Berwick, of the family of Seton of Touch, and was mother of Sir Walter of Abercorn and Northbank, who was created a baronet 1663.

VIII. John Cornwall of Bonhard was a Colonel of Horse 1643, Member of the Committee of War 1646–49. Married before 18 December, 1633 (when they purchased another part of Bonington), Margaret Houstoun, of the family of Houstoun of that ilk, an ancient race with large possessions in the shires of Renfrew and Linlithgow. They had a Crown Charter of Confirmation of these lands 22 June, 1635, held in feu farm of the King for yearly payment of £2 17*s.* 9¾*d.* The Cornwalls having by successive acquisitions become proprietors of the whole of Bonington, which lies in the parish of Linlithgow, immediately south of Bonhard, a Crown Charter passed in favour of John Cornewall and Lady Margaret Houstoun his spouse and their heirs male, when for the services rendered to the King by John and his late father the lands were erected into one Free Barony, to be called the Barony of Bonytoun, 20 November, 1643.

John died in 1666 or 1667, and was succeeded by his brother—

VIII. James Cornwall of Bonhard, Sheriff Depute of Linlithgowshire, who was a Commissioner of Supply 1667–78–85. In 1669 he sold a large house in Linlithgow for 800 merks, for the use of the Corporation; registered arms in 1672; on the 9 Nov. 1661 he had a disposition in security of the lands of Murkle, Broynach, etc. co. Caithness, from James Murray, younger of Pennyland, holder under a charter of apprising dated 1 January, 1658.

This laird married Katherine, daughter of George Dundas of Duddingstoun in the parish of Abercorn, about four miles east of Bonhard, descended from a younger son of the very considerable family of Dundas of that ilk, whose ancestor Helias filius Huctredi had a charter of Dundas about the middle of the twelfth century, and had—

1. Walter.
2. Katherine, married Walter Stewart of Pardovan in the parish of Linlithgow, who sat in Parliament for the county 1690–1707, was grandson of Sir Archibald Stewart of Blackhall, and died without issue 1719, March 8, aged 52, leaving her a widow.

2. Ann
3. Margaret
4. Christian
5. Jean

were all dead unmarried 1751.

James Cornwall died in 1687, and was buried at Linlithgow 14 December, when a Funeral Escutcheon was prepared shewing sixteen quarters, all no doubt duly displayed on the occasion, but which is unluckily far from accurate.

IX. Walter Cornwall of Bonhard was served heir general of his father 8 July, 1690, was in 1689 a Commissioner of Militia, and a Commissioner of Supply 1685 to 1704. On the 1 March, 1688, he reconveyed to Dame Jean Stewart, relict of Sir James Sinclair of Murkle, all his interest in the Murkle estate. Mr. Cornwall was one of the shareholders in the unfortunate Company of Scotland trading to Africa and the Indies, generally known as the Darien Scheme, the failure of which impoverished so many of the gentry of Scotland. In 1707 we find him petitioning for a personal protection against arrest for debt, and two years later, his shares in the Darien Company having been arrested by a creditor, Captain John Wightman, litigation ensued between him and the other creditors.

1692, 9 Jan. William Bell for alleging double dealing in transacting in conjunction with Bonhard for the town excise for himself when employed to procure it for the town, suspended ab officio et beneficio. (Linlithgow Burgh Records.)

He married Magdalene, daughter of Thomas Drummond of Riccarton, co. Linlithgow, and Elizabeth his wife, daughter of Sir Thomas Nicolson, and by her, who died 25 April, 1723, had—

1. John, baptized 12 May, 1692; died young.
2. Thomas.
1. Elizabeth.
2. Magdalene, baptized 23 July, 1693.
3. Christian, baptized 8 October, 1696; died unmarried.
4. Janet, baptized 24 Nov. 1699.

Walter of Bonhard died in 1711, when the estate fell into the hands of his creditors, although the family lingered on at Bonhard for fifty years longer. Magdalene, Lady Bonhard, was only able to establish her right to the jointure of £100 per annum settled on her by process of law, and obtained a decree against the creditors for that amount from the Lords of Session 9 July, 1712.

Notes.

John Ashwood, named in the certificates of exemption, was probably the John Ashwood sen. who was mentioned in the account of Madeley Park rents. He made a similar deposition to that of Francis Woolfe, as to the expenditure of money there (same papers, V. 45, p. 221), being described as "Bailiff of Madeley." He is also mentioned, in a return to the Commissioners, as taking part of the estate of Mrs. Dorothy Gifford of White Ladies. (V. 105, p. 485.)

The Corporation of Worcester entertained the loyal brothers Penderell in the Guildhall of that city in 1665, in commemoration of their devotion to the Royal cause.

Tradition tells us that the families of Woolfe, Ashwood, and Brooke were allied. Their registers may be found, especially those of the two former, in the same parishes: but all three have now disappeared from Madeley, though portions of the Woolfe and Brooke habitations still remain, and possess some historic interest.

A descendant of Ashwood was probably "Dorothy, only daughter of John Ashwood Esq. of Madeley," who married (14 May, 1795) Sir Henry Hawley, Bart., of Leybourne, and had issue Henry, his successor; Dorothy Elizabeth, wife (1809) of Sir Brooke William Bridges, Bart.; Harriot (d. 1842); Charlotte, wife (1810) of the Rev. Brooke John Bridges. She married 2ndly Thomas Gardiner Bramston, Esq., of Skreens, co. Essex.—R. W.

PARKER.—Can any one kindly add any information to the following pedigree, prior to John Parker, Baron of the Exchequer? I am very anxious to find out his parentage and that of his wife, and the names and marriages of any of his sisters. It has been suggested that he was descended from the Henry Parker of Frith Hall who died in 1541, and of whom mention is made in Morant's 'Essex,' vol. i. pp. 132 and 477; but I should rather be inclined to believe that, considering that he himself represented Rochester in Cromwell's Parliament, and his son, Bishop Parker, from the time that he was ordained held livings in Kent, he was of the family of Parker of Northfleet, co. Kent.—C. E. B. B.

SIR JOHN WEBSTER, BARONET.*

It is remarkable that the name of Sir John Webster, Baronet, is omitted from all lists of Baronets that have been created, and probably the first published notice of him is that by Colonel Chester in his "Westminster Abbey Registers."

Sir John Webster appears to have derived his origin in Norfolk, where the name is common, but there is nothing to lead to the supposition that his ancestors were in a better position than his near relatives, who scarcely aspired to the ranks of the gentry. The reason of Sir John Webster being so little known probably arises from his having spent many years of his life abroad, not possessing any landed property in England, and leaving no successor to his title.

There can be little doubt that Sir John Webster is identical with John Webster, named with others, merchants, against whom a Declaration of the House of Commons was put forth July 6, 1644, as "Incendiaries between the United Provinces and the Kingdom and Parliament of England."

Many references to Sir John Webster are to be found in the Calendar of State Papers. Amongst these it appears that a warrant was made out May 28, 1666, requiring Sir John Webster, residing at Amsterdam, to enter and remain in England. In the January following a pass was issued for him to come to England, and March 5th, 1667, Sir John Webster wrote from the Hague to the King, begging license to remain, being involved in a law suit upon which upwards of £11,000 of his money was depending.

An engraved portrait of Sir John Webster, from a painting by Cor^{s} Jansen, represents him as a handsome elderly man in a dark jacket, over which is thrown a long cloak trimmed with velvet. On the first edition of the engraving, beneath the portrait, appear eight lines of Latin verses, extolling Sir John as a merchant of great virtue. In the second edition of the engraving the verses were removed and gave place to Sir John Webster's coat of arms, and the information that he was "Lord of Wolluenhorst, Cromwick, Linschoterhaar, Part of Mastwick, Stagger Engge, Cattenbrouck, Schaaggen, Dengge, Part of Isellfield, Linschooter Engge.—In Holland and in the Province of Utrecht Lord. Commissary for the Emperor of all Russia and Muskouia. Created a Baronet of England 31 May, 1660, by K^{g} Charles y^{e} Second at Igrauenhaag." The coat of arms as represented in the engraving is Quarterly: 1st, ..., a lion rampant, ..., between three mullets of six points, ...; 2nd, ..., a gateway tower, roofed, ..., on each gable a pennon, ..., on either side a mill rind, ...; 3rd, ..., a chevron . . . ., between three martlets, ...; 4th, per pale; on the dexter, ..., three water bags the handles interlaced in the fess point, ...; on the sinister . . . ., six bendlets . . . . In the centre of the shield is the hand of Ulster, but not on an escutcheon.

Sir John Webster died 1675, and was buried in Westminster Abbey on the 14th April. An abstract of his will is in the College of Arms, and Colonel Chester gives the following details extracted from the will in the Principal Registry, Somerset House. Sir John Webster describes himself in the will, dated 18 Feb^{y}, 1674–5, as of Kirby, co. Norfolk. "The will was proved 16 April, 1675, by his niece Mary Betts, to whom he left his house in Norwich and his estate generally. He mentioned having long before purchased a house in Burrowe (? Burgh), co. Norfolk, in the name of his daughter Mary Webster, which was then occupied by his nephew Henry Gouldsworth, to whom he bequeathed it. The will also mentions his sister in Holland, Mrs. Catherine Lucasz; his cousin Mr. John Webster of London, draper, and his two brothers, all then in Barbadoes; and his cousin Mr. John Webster, and his brother Jacob, both in Cheapside. He appealed to several eminent personages to aid his executrix in obtaining divers and great sums of money due to him from their late and present Majesties."

At the date of the will Sir John Webster appears to have been living in lodgings in Durham Yard. Besides the relations above mentioned, Sir John * Communicated by Captain P. C. G. Webster, Lichfield.

Webster left bequests to other persons, some of his own name, who were probably connections, namely:—To John Webster of Pettit France and his son John; to Henry Webster and his son and daughter; and to the Rev. Richard Webster of Bramerton and his son Richard.

The Rev. Richard Webster, Rector of Bramerton, married (see Blomefield's "Hist. of Norfolk") Jane, daughter of Anthony Sparrow, Bishop of Norwich, and died 1683.

With reference to the Rector of Bramerton, in Nichols's "Literary Anecdotes," Vol. v., is a notice of the Rev. William Webster, D.D., sometime Vicar of Ware and Thundridge, and an indiscriminate writer, who died 1758. Concerning the Doctor's origin is the following: "William Webster, grandson of Dr. Sparrow ('a Bishop of great learning and piety, whose family were Gentlemen generations before he was a Lord'*) was born 1689: and having been admitted a Student of Caius Coll., Cambridge, he took the degree of B.A. 1711, M.A. 1716, and D.D. 1732."

As the Rev. Richard Webster, Rector of Bramerton, died 1683, Doctor Webster could not have been a grandson of Bishop Sparrow, but that he might have been his great grandson is possible. On reference to the Matriculation book of Caius Coll., Cambridge, William Webster is found to have been the son of Richard Webster of Cove, co. Suffolk, Clerk. Since Dr. William Webster was so proud of his connection with the Bishop, it is curious that Nichols should not have had the means of being more correct in the exact degree of relationship, if it existed.

Small marble monument in Kelston Church, on North wall.

Sacred to the Memory
of
Edward Robert Hudleston of H. M. Indian Army, Madras.
Born March 4th 1834.
Died at Sea Aug. 10th 1864
On the Voyage Home.

Be thou faithful, etc.
The Table is erected by his sorrowing Widow
M. H. H.

The Rev. Wm. Hall, D.C.L., was Rector of Kelston, From 1743—1754.

But, strangely enough, his Institution (recent as it is comparatively) cannot be found in the Diocesan Register.* His name however stands recorded in the Parochial List of Rectors, and the correctness of that entry is verified by a clause in the Institution-entry, of his successor, extant at Wells, which reads thus: "Revd Thomas Green .... was instituted 3d Jany 1754 on the death of Wm Hall the last Rector."

Wm. Hall matriculated at Oxford, son of Wm. Hall of Weston, Somt, from Queen's College, 2d Novr 1725. Gen. Fil., aged 17. He took his B.A. degree from the same College 1st July 1720, and his Master's, 23d June 1732. Finally his D.C.L. and B.C.L. both 21st March 1737.

But for the Parochial List of Rectors in the Kelston Register Book, all trace of his Rectoriate would have been lost. His memory has entirely faded from the Parish. Perhaps because his tenure of office was short, and his resting-place was in another church. Dr. Hall was buried in the adjoining Parish of Weston near Bath, and he has a monument erected to his memory in the chancel there. Upon it is stated that "he died on the 26th Novr 1753 aged 46 years and is buried in the chancel." His Burial is entered simply thus in the Weston Registers: "1753 Nov. 30th buried the Revd Dr Wm Hall"—without allusion to his position as Rector of Kelston. The apparently singular circumstance of a Rector not being buried in his own chancel, but in that of his neighbour's church, is accounted for by family and territorial connection. Dr. Hall held landed property at Weston, which was represented by an ancestor of his, Thomas Hall, in 1692, and rated at £8 8s. in that year for the monetary supplies of King William and Queen Mary. "Rate made 28th Feby 1692." In the same Levy, occur the names of John Harington Esq. and Sir Walter Long, holding lands in that parish. It was at the rate of 4s. in the £1, and "payable to their Majesties by Virtue of an Act of Parliament for one year."

The monuments in Weston Church to the Halls are three in number, and mention:

"William Hall Oct. 1649 æt. 53."

"William Hall LL.D." (error for D.C.L.) "Nov. 26th 1753 æt. 46.
Elizabeth his wife Aug. 7th 1744 æt. 37.
Elizabeth their daughter Jany 20th 1734 æt. 5 yrs."

"William Hall Jany 16, 1762
Ann his wife March 27th 1747."

* Dr. Hall's signature cannot be found in the Kelston Registers, although his handwriting may be clearly identified by a corresponding change, in the three Records, of Births, Deaths, and Marriages.

XI. Thomas Cornwall of Bonhard acquired right to the estate by purchase at a judicial sale. Married 15 July, 1721, Mary Drummond, and had a son—

Walter, baptized 5 Sept. 1722 ; died young.

Mr. John Brand, Minister of Borrowstounness, in his Diary in 1723 mentions the death of Lady Bonhard elder, and adds that the family "is nigh extinct ; the young laird and lady frequent a jacobite meeting. I and my family have been oft kindly entertained there, but now this is at an end." This laird by his will, dated at Bonhard 17 March, 1732, appoints his wife sole executrix and universal legatrix, and died soon after. The widow, in recording the will on 4th April following, did so under protest that her acceptance should in "no ways infer a passing from or be prejudiciall to her interest and claim in the third of the defunct's houshold furniture heirship included or of any other ground of credit and provisions conceived in her favours by the Contract of Marriage betwixt the defunct and her, and other grounds whereby she is creditrix to him." The whole property conveyed by this will amounted to £1230 15*s.*, and in the inventory of furniture at Bonhard are "in the Laigh Dineing-room a Clock very old, xxiiij lib. ; Item ane bigg Table and two lesser ones, old, iiij lib. xvj s. ; Item ane Standart, iij s. ; Item Two armed chairs and fifteen other ones all leather, xj lib. viiij s." etc. The confirmation is dated 2 Sep. 1732.

XI. Elizabeth Cornwall of Bonhard married Sir Alexander Dalmahoy, 3rd baronet of Dalmahoy, co. Edinburgh, representer of a family which for several generations held the office of Under Master of the Royal Household in Scotland, and as such bore behind their shield a baton gules powdered with thistles or, ensigned with a crown whereon is set the royal crest. Two of this family swore fealty to Edward I. in 1296, and about 1260 Sir Alexander granted to the monks of Newbotle a right of way through his lands of Dalmahoy.

In 1742 a town house in Linlithgow was sold, and a state of affairs shewed the debts of the Bonhard family to be £81,237, besides Lady Bonhard's jointure, while the estate was only valued at £63,217 19*s.* Bonnytoun was sold to Alexander Glen of Longcroft 1715.

On the 6 March, 1751, Lady Dalmahoy and her only surviving sister, Miss Christian Cornwall, were served heirs portioners and of provision general of their aunts Ann, Margaret, Christian, and Jean Cornwall in certain property left to the latter by their mother, Katherine Dundas, Lady Bonhard.

Lady Dalmahoy died at Bonhard 20 March, 1763, and Sir Alexander died at Blackness 19 Oct. 1773, at a great age. Their only child, Sir Alexander Dalmahoy, baronet, was an officer in the French army, and a Knight of the Order of St. Louis. After his return to Scotland he lived at Carriden, and died unmarried at Appine House in Argyllshire 4 Jan. 1800,—the last descendant in the direct line of the Cornwalls of Bonhard. What remained of the Bonhard estate was acquired by Lady Charlotte Edwin, and has descended to her heir of entail, the Duke of Hamilton.

The cadets of the Cornwall family never were numerous. In the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries a branch was settled at Perth as burgesses, and possessed some property there. Alexander Cornwall, burgess of Lauder, was a Commissioner of Supply for Berwickshire 1655–59, and farmed the excise of that county for £120.

* Compiled by R. R. Stodart, Esq., Lyon Office, Edinburgh.

Archibald, one of the officers of the city of Edinburgh, was 1601, April 27, hanged upon a gibbet at the market cross, with a paper on his forehead setting forth his crime, for twenty-four hours, after which the gibbet was taken down and burnt. The act for which he suffered was that on the 15th of the same month, at a public sale of household furniture, he took a portrait of the King which was to be put up to auction, and was proceeding to exhibit it by nailing it on the same gibbet on which he was himself hanged, but was prevented by the people, who looked on this as a treasonable proceeding. James VI. seems to have taken the same view, as he caused an inquiry to be instituted, and allowed the sentence to be carried out.

On 6 July, 1689, Christopher Cornwall and others were arrested at Edinburgh on information given in an anonymous letter to the Duke of Hamilton that they were engaged in a treasonable plot.

Robert Cornwall, a graduate of the University of Glasgow 1583, was Minister of the parish of Ecclesmachen 1588, was translated to Linlithgow 1597, and died 5 June, 1626. He had a daughter, Janet, and two sons—

1. John, who succeeded him as Minister of Linlithgow, his presentation being dated 16 June. Married Jean Balfour, and had Robert, who was his father's executor; John, baptized 7 March, 1627, died in infancy; John, baptized 21 July, 1628; Christian; Jean; Andrew, baptized 30 April, 1640. Mr. John died in April, 1646.
2. Alexander, Minister of Muiravonside, March, 1627. In March, 1639, he was in "necessitous circumstances," and was accused of attacking James Muir within the burgh of Linlithgow "with ane drawn quhinger," and of intromitting with the Session funds. For this he was suspended in December, 1640, and gave up his living, being also deposed 1641. In 1646 and 1649 he received relief from various Kirk Sessions, and in Sept. 1650 settled at Kettins, co. Forfar, as schoolmaster and precentor, with a salary of £100 Scots. His difficulties were not yet at an end, for soon after he begs a loan of £8 from the Session, representing that he had no means of subsistence, and in May, 1652, was excommunicated for marrying and baptizing irregularly. Mr. Alexander Cornwall, who was alive in May, 1659, married Marian Hamilton, and had Elizabeth, Janet, Alexander, baptized 3 Feb. 1628, and Jean. ('Fasti Ecclesiæ Scoticanæ.')

One member of the English family of Cornewall had a temporary connexion with Scotland. A Crown charter was granted 11 May, 1680, of the lands and barony of Earlstoun and other lands in the Stewartry of Kirkcudbright, forfeited by the Gordon family, to Lieutenant-Colonel Edmond Maine, Major Theophilus Ogilthorpe, and Captain Henry Cornwall, "to gratifie them for their bygone service alswell in time of warr as peace and also to encourage them and all subjects in the like dewtie and loyaltie for the future." Ogilthorpe acquired the shares of the other grantees, and had a charter of the whole in 1686. There are in the registers of the adjacent parishes of Carriden, Linlithgow, and Borrowstounness entries of persons of the name in the humbler ranks of life, but there is only one family which has a claim to the representation of Bonhard.

I. George Cornwall, merchant burgess of Linlithgow, may have been a son of the John Cornwall, also a merchant burgess there, who in 1567 is a witness to Alexander Craufurde's charter in favour of John Cornwall of Bonhard, and John may have been a brother of Nicholas of Bonhard, who was Provost of Linlithgow 1592. A search in the records has not as yet shewn the point of connexion with the main line, but the descendants of George possessed till about 1845 a small landed property close to the town on the west, and the right of burying in the enclosed ground belonging to the Lairds of Bonhard. George was dead 4 Sept. 1652, when his son

II. Nicholas Cornwall was served heir general to him. He was elected Bailie of Linlithgow 1652, Jan. 21, but removed to Bryndie of Grange, in the parish of Borrowstounness, where he possessed land a short distance north-west of Bonhard, and was dead in 1660.

III. James Cornwall of Bryndie of Grange was a minor when he married Eupheme, daughter of the deceased Peter Stevin, skipper in Borrowstounness, and Janet Mackie his wife then surviving. The contract of marriage is in the possession of the family, and is dated at Borrowstounness 20 Jan. 1660; it mentions James as eldest son of his late father, and obliges him to infeft his wife, whose tocher was 600 merks, in a tenement of land at Bryndie of Grange.

IV. William Cornwall, their son, was manager of coal works near Grange belonging to the families of Cornwall of Bonhard and Seton of Abercorn.

V. George Cornwall, his son, was baptized 24 June, 1688. (Family Bible.) Married 2 June, 1719, Elizabeth Higgins, and had a large family born from 1720 to 1742, of whom the only son who left descendants was

VI. Thomas Cornwall, an officer of excise at Borrowstounness, born 23 Sep. 1726. Married 29 July, 1765, Ann Hart, and died 13 August, 1797. His family Bible, with the date 12 March, 1760, is in the possession of his descendants, and contains many entries of births, marriages, and deaths. Mr. and Mrs. Cornwall and all their children were interred in the old family burying ground at Linlithgow. The three eldest were born at Linlithgow, the others at Grangepans, near Borrowstounness, and all died in childhood except James and Mrs. Law.

1. Elizabeth, born 15 Dec. 1767.
2. Agnes, born 28 June, 1769.
3. Elizabeth, born 24 June, 1770.
4. Thomas, born 22 June, 1772.
5. Thomas Hart, born 28 June, 1774.
6. Elizabeth, born 3 Feb. 1776. Married William Law, jeweller in Linlithgow, and died 5 Oct. 1816.
7. James.

VII. James Cornwall, born 30 Dec. 1777, was a Commissioner of Excise for Scotland. He pulled down the old family house near Linlithgow, and built a more commodious one, which he called Bonhard Lodge; but the Edinburgh and Glasgow Railway running through the centre of the property, the house ceased to be a desirable residence, and the property was sold. Commissioner Cornwall married 12 Jan. 1803, Eiizabeth, only child of Andrew Syme, corn merchant, and by her, who died 17 August, 1852, aged 73, had—

1. Margaret, married 11 April, 1828, Alexander Miller of Ashford House, co. Middlesex, Writer to His Majesty's Signet, elder brother of Sir William Miller of Manderston, co. Berwick, M.P., and died 8 August, 1842, leaving issue.
2. Thomas, born 31 May, 1806, a Writer to His Majesty's Signet. died unmarried 2 June, 1833.
3. Ann, married 12 July, 1838, James Ross of Balderston, co. Linlithgow, and had issue.
4. Elizabeth.
5. James.
6. Jean, married 26 August, 1861, John Harvey, Writer, Belvedere Cottage, Lanark, and died 29 April, 1869, without issue.

7. Andrew, Collector of Inland Revenue at Taunton, born 24 May, 1817. Married 21 Dec. 1848, Sarah, daughter of Richard Castle of Bicester, Oxfordshire, and died 12 August, 1868, leaving issue—

Andrew, George, Thomas John, Elizabeth Maria, Mary Sarah.

8. Mary Bryce.
9. Walter Graham, born 19 Nov. 1821.

Commissioner Cornwall died 12 Oct. 1860, and is interred along with his wife and several of their children in the family burial place at Linlithgow.

VII. James Cornwall, born in Leith 13 May, 1813, M.D. and F.R.C.S. Edinburgh. Married 25 Feb. 1845, Euphemia Elizabeth, daughter of William Handyside, Writer to His Majesty's Signet (sister of the Honourable Robert Handyside of Pencloe, co. Ayr, a Senator of the College of Justice with the title of Lord Handyside, who married Helen, daughter of Alexander Bruce of Kennet, co. Clackmannan, aunt of the present Lord Balfour of Burleigh), by Jane his wife, daughter of William Cuninghame of Lainshaw, co. Ayr, and died 18 May, 1872, leaving issue (Mrs. Cornwall died 19 Nov. 1868)—

VIII. James Cornwall, born 2 July, 1850, Superintendent of Travelling Post Offices, Bombay; and a daughter, Jane Cuninghame Cornwall, married 24 February, 1870, Charles Lamont Robertson Glasfurd, Lieutenant-Colonel Bombay Staff Corps, and has issue—

1. Alexander Inglis Robertson Glasfurd.
2. Duncan John Glasfurd.
3. Charles Lamont Robertson Glasfurd.
4. Euphemia Elizabeth Cornwall Glasfurd.

Colonel Glasfurd, who is Deputy Commissioner in the Central Provinces of India, is eldest and only surviving son of the late Major-General John Glasfurd, of the Bengal Army, son and heir of Duncan Glasfurd of Tillicoultry, co. Ciackmannan, only son who left issue of Duncan Glasfurd, Surgeon in Stirling, and Mary Ure his wife, heiress of Shirgarton, co. Stirling, a property held by her family from about 1600. Duncan Glasfurd was only son who left issue of Robert Glasfurd, shipmaster at Borrowstounness, only son who left issue of Alexander Glasfurd, a merchant and shipmaster at Borrowstounness, only son of John Glasfurd, Collector of Customs there, who recorded arms in the Lyon Register 1672. John was son of Andrew Glasfurd, burgess, writer and notary public, who represented the royal burgh of Cupar, co. Fife, in Parliament 1685–86, and was son and heir of Andrew Glasfurd, burgess and writer in Cupar, son and heir of Mr. Patrick Glasfurd of Walltour, notary public, a magistrate of Cupar, whose younger son, Mr. John, then resident at Saumur, obtained a Birthbrief dated 12 June, 1610 (still in the possession of Lieut.-Col. Glasfurd), setting forth his gentle birth, and with his coat of arms painted at the foot. In 1648 John Glasfurd, son of another son of Mr. Patrick, represented Cupar in Parliament.

Braybroke.—I should be glad of information respecting the genealogy of James Braybroke, gentleman of the chamber to Henry VII. He was sent by that King to Naples in 1505, in company with Francis Martyn and John Stile, to visit the young Queen of Naples, and the secret instructions given to him and his companions, with their very naive report, are given in facsimile in Sir H. James's 'National Manuscripts,' part 1, no. lxvi. The whimsical particularity of these instructions is amusing,—e.g. they are to endeavour to get speech of the young Queen fasting, to ascertain whether she has ill breath, etc. James Braybroke enjoyed, as the patent rolls shew, many marks of the favour of the monarch.—E. Gresham Wills.

Will of James Gresham, 1685.

In the name of God. Amen. The twenty-ninth day of January one thousand six hundred eighty-five and in the first yeare of the Raigne of our Soveraigne Lord King James the Second I James Gresham of Haslemere in the county of Surrey Esq^{r} being in perfecte healthe of body and of sound memory and understanding (God's most holy name be praised therefore) and yet considering the frailty of humane nature and the greate uncertainty of our lives doe lay hold of this opportunity to sett myselfe and house in order against the time that it shall please Almighty God to call me out of this wretched Worlde. And herein first I doe declare that I am in perfect charity with all persons whatsoever and doe from my hearte freely and fully forgive all who have done me any Injury or unkindnesse and doe earnestly and humbly begg the like pardon from all such to whom I have anyway been injurious or justly offensive and that I doe nowe live and resolve by God's grace to dye in the Communion of the Holy Catholick Church embraceing all Catholique Truths wheresoever they are to be found and if there be any such as yet unknowne to me being ready in the preparacion of my mind whensoever they shall be conveniently proposed or revealed to me to embrace and practice them alsoe for though errare possum yet Hæreticus vel Schismaticus esse nolo. And I doe further declare and professe myselfe a true and obedient sonne of the Church of England as it is a reformed member of that Holy Catholique Church (not a new or opposite Church to that) and as it stands now by Lawes both Ecclesiasticall and civill established upon its own grounds both in Doctrine and discipline without regard to forraigne Churches as they are called or Doctors wherein they differ or divide themselves from the truly Catholique Church. And I humbly beseech Almighty God to keep me and all members of his Holy Church fro' all factious maintenance or abetting any opinions. Also as our Holy mother the Church of England most excellently in her sacred Cannons made in yere one Thousand six hundred and fourty teacheth me I doe firmely beleeve that the high and sacred order of Kings is of divine right and that our Lord the King is the Supreame power within all his Dominions and the ffountaine from w^{ch} all lawfull power (other than what is purely Spirituall) must derive itsselfe and against w^{ch} to sett up maintaine or avow any coractive power eyther Papall or popular is treasonable against God and the King and that he hath such an inherent Right to Tribute Custom and Supply by the lawes of God nature and Nations for the discharge of his Office in the governing and protecting his subjects that canne by no concessions or Law be released extinguished or alienated from his Crowne or Office. Having thus declared my charity to men my faith to God and my Loyalty to my Lord the King I proceed to dispose of my Selfe and what it hath pleased God to bestowe upon me in manner and forme following. ffirst I com'end my soule into the Handes of my dearest Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ most humbly beseeching him to wash it throughly in his most precious blood w^{ch} was shed to take away the sins of the World and it being thereby fully purged from all the defilem^{ts} it hath contracted in the midst of this naughty world through the Lusts of the flesh or the Wiles of Satan that he will please to pr'ent it pure and unspotted unto his Heavenly ffather. my body I would have to be christianly and decently buried according to such directions as I shall give or leave to my beloved and dear wife Anne Gresham whome I doe hereby make my sole Executrix of this my last Will and Testament or else in want of any such direction according to her discretion. Next in humble acknowledgem^{t} and thankfullnesse unto Almighty God for all the manifold Acts of his mercy and providence extended to me and mine I give and bequeath the sum of Twenty pounds of lawful money of England to be employed in and towards the beautifying and adorning the Quire of the Cathedrall church of St. Paul within the Citty of London to be paid by my Executrix to the Com'issioners w^{ch} are or shall be thereunto uppointed, within two yeres after my decease. Item I give unto my neipse Judith Joyce the daughter and onely remaining issue of my late brother John Gresham Esq dece^{d} the sum of Twenty pounds of like lawfull English money to be paid unto her within two yeares after my decease. Item I give and bequeath unto my daughter Elizabeth Gresham all my bookes of what sort soever whether printed or manuscript (except that it shall be lawful for my Executrix to detaine for her owne use such English books not exceeding the number of Twenty as she shall chuse) to be disposed of and ordered by her according to such direcc'ons as I shall give her or leave her in writing under my owne hande attested by two Witnesses. All the rest of my goods money Rents debts Bonds Securityes whatsoever for money and personall Estate whatsoever (except before excepted) the Legacyes herein and hereby given togeather with all such debts as I nowe doe or at the time of my decease shall owe unto any person or persons being truely paid and satisfied my funeral expenses discharged and five poundes distributed to the poore of the parish where I shall happen to dye or be buried at the discrec'on of my Executrix I doe hereby give and bequeath unto my said most beloved and deare wife Anne Gresham my before named Executrix to be possessed and enjoyed by her dureing her life for her better maintenance and support upon this Trust and confidence that she shall at her death cause the same or soe much thereof as after the performance of this my Will shall then remaine equally and impartially to be divived betweene our two daughters ffines Gresham and Elizabeth Gresham if they shall be then both liveing or else to her of them who shall be then liveing and to such lawfull issue as shall be left by the other who shall be deceased. I mean such issue if they are more than one to have amongst them such share onely of my personall Estate as theire Mother should have had if she had been then liveing. And in case one of them shall happen to be dead before my said Executrix without any lawfull issue Then the whole shall be to the Survivor of our said daughters. But if it shall happen (w^{ch} God avert) that they shall be both dead before my said Executrix and noe issue lawfull be then left by either of them Then my Will is that my said deare Wife and Executrix shall give and bequeath one Moiety or halfe of all that personall Estate of mine w^{ch} should have been divided between our said two daughters or was intended to be given to them or either of them or to any of theire lawfull issue if any such had been then liveing unto my said neipse Judith Joyce in case she be then liveing. But if not then to the Master and Governors of Christ's Hospitall within the Citty of London for the time being to be by them imployed in such Acts of mercy and charity as they shall thinke fitt and judge most conduceing to the Honour of Allmighty God, the other Moiety of my said personall Estate in that case of both our said daughters dying in the life time of my said Executrix without leaveing any lawfull issue behind them I leave wholly to the free disposall of my deare wife and Executrix afores^{d} Provided that I doe not intend that the equality before menc'oned and enjoyned in the distribuc'on of my said personall estate unto my said daughters shall be strictly and precisely observed but onely in such case where they equally deserve it by theire alike dutifull and humble carriage to theire said Mother for if otherwise it happen (whereof theire said mother shall be the sole unaccountable Judge) Then doe I leave my said Executrix at full Liberty to substract out of the said distribuc'on any sume not exceeding a full thirde parte thereof and to bestow it on that daughter which shall really best deserve from her And I doubt not but my most entirely beloved wife and Executrix will faithfully performe this my declared meaning and intent in the disposall and distribuc'on of my personall Estate and the rather because out of my great confidence of her piety and exact Justice to w^{ch} a discrec'on may be necessary but other security I looke upon as needlesse I have left her at soe much Liberty when I could have tyed her up more strictly than would perhaps have suited with some exigents w^{ch} may (though I hope never shall) befall her. And now as to my reall Estate I doe hereby give and devise unto my said deare wife and Executrix Anne Gresham all those my two parts in three parts to be divided of the Mannor Grange or ffarme of Tetney in the county of Lincolne and all those Lands called Parker Thing and Parker Tack togeather with all Tyths of Corn graine and Hay growing issueing or ariseing upon or out of the Grange there called the North Grange and all that great pasture in Tetney afores^{d} com'only called Skirneholme and alsoe all my Cowgates Oxengates Salt-fenn gates Sheepwalkes and Commons and all my lands arrable Meadow and pasture Tenem^{ts} and Hereditam^{ts} with theire and every of theire appurtenances lying and being in the Parish or feilds of Tetney afores^{d}. To have and to hold all and singular the pr'misses to her the said Anne and her Assignes for and during the tearme of her natural Life upon Trust and Confidence that she shall dureing all that time pay and allow the one halfe or Moiety of all the rents issues and profitts w^{ch} shall arise or grow due out of the pr'misses after my death and w^{ch} shall come clearly to hands and use unto our said two daughters Fines and Elizabeth Gresham for theire maintenance dureing the Life of my said Executrix the same Moiety to be equally divided between them. And after the death of my said Executrix and Devisee my will and meaning is that all the pr'misses shall descend and come to my two daughters afores^{d} as my Heyres and to theire Heyres according to the Rules and course of the com'on lawes of this kingdome w^{ch} I looke upon to be justest and wisest Disposer of Inheritances and therefore would not have them interrupted or at all diverted. And I doe hereby renounce and revoake all former wills by me at any time made and in Witnesse that this here written all wth my owne hand is my true and onely last Will and Testam^{t} I have hereto subscribed my name and sett my seale of armes the day and yere above written.

Signed Sealed and published to be the last Will and Testament of the said James Gresham (the word done over the sixth line and the word that over the seaventieth Line being first interlined) in the pr'sence of Margaret More, Will' Joynes, John Tanner, John Smyth. 5th June, 1688.

Memorand' That the Witnesses hereunto did set theire hands hereunto in my pr'sence James Gresham.

A Codicill made this twenty-third day of October one Thousand six Hundred eighty eight to be annexed to the last Will and Testam^{t} of James Gresham of Haslemere Esq^{r}. Whereas the Lady Lucia daughter of Algar the Saxon Earle of Mercia and Sister and heire of Edwin and Morcar Earles of Mercia and Northumberland being his pr'decessors and possessors of those lands in Tetney in the County of Lincolne called or knowne by the name of the North Grange of Tetney and also Ivo Tailesbosch Earl of Anjou her first husband did give and grant the same unto the Monastery of Lowth Parke in the same County and to the Monkes there serving God and to theire Successors for ever before the Councill of Lyons (when it was lawfull for every person to dispose his Tythes to what religious person or house he pleased) And whereas the same Lady Lucia togeather with her second Husband Randall Mechines Earle of Chester did afterwards, about the sixteenth yeare of the Raigne of King Hen. the third give and bequeath the said Tythes in Tetney to support and uphold a Chauntrey by them erected in the Monastery of Spalding in the County of Lincolne and which was by them enjoyed untill the first yeare of King Edward the sixth when by a Parliam^{t} then held and for the reasons therein declared the same was dissolved and the Land and possessions thereof were given unto the said King his Heires and Successors. After w^{ch} the said King 21^{o} May the seventh yeare of his Raigne convey'd them to William Philpott and Thomas Willoughby and theire Heyres and Assignes and they the first day of July 7^{o} Edw. VI. granted them to Edward Greteham Vicar of Tetney and his Heyres from whome they descended and came to Thomas John and Mary Greteham who by ffine leavyed 18 Eliz. conveied the same to Walter Harpham and his Heyres and he by Deed dated 13 Aug^{ti} 19 Elizab. granted the same to Thomas Morison of Cadeby in the same County Esq^{r} and his Heyres from whom by discent and severall meane conveyances the same are now come to and are the sole Inheritance of James Gresham by meanes whereof the Tythes afores^{d} as well those renewing and growing upon the Lord Viscount Castleton's third part of the said Grange as alsoe those renewing and growing upon those two parts thereof at the partic'on of the said Grange made between the said Lord Castleton and James Gresham which were assigned to the said James Gresham and his Heyres. Now the said James Gresham being well satisfied that he being a Lay person can by no meanes hold or enjoy the said Tyths growing or arising upon the Lord Castleton's third parte of the said Grange and withall owning God's sole and sacred right to them for the use and support of his Ministers and lawfull Priests doe hereby give and bequeath unto the pr'sent Vicar or Minister of Tetney and his lawfull Successor for ever, All and every the Tythes of Hay Corne and graine comeing renewing or ariseing upon all and every the groundes feilds and every parte and p'cell thereof w^{ch} as Parte of the North Grange afores^{d} was assigned unto the said Lord Castleton or to William Tomlinson his Trustee therein to have and to hold to the s^{d} Vicar and his Successors for ever, Provided that if the Masse or other vaine or superstitious service of the Church of Roome shall be imposed upon him them or any of them And he and they or any of them shall not be permitted to say and use the offices appointed by the Church of England England (sic orig.) only that then and from thenceforth the said guift and bequest shall for ever cease and determine and the same shall revert and come unto James Gresham his Heires and Assignes for ever to be enjoyed by him or them as in theire former Estate and condic'on the said guift or any thing therein contained to the contrary thereof notwithstanding That soe in the one case there may be noe superstitions imposed upon those who shall officiate therein And on the other that the person who shall be employed in the cure of soules there may not be defrauded of theire dues by any sacrilegious diverting of that his unquestionable due until such time as some pious Parliam^{t} may inspect all those Tyths and porc'ons of Tyths and other purquesites belonging to the late religious houses dissolved and therewith transferred to the Crowne and shall have seperated all those appropriac'ons, those proper and peculiar porc'ons belonging to the Clergy from the other Revenues of the same Houses and shall then fully and wholly render them unto God those things w^{ch} are God's w^{ch} by whatsoever sacrilege or law the same was soe misplaced it was most certainely a Nationall sinne and ought in all reason to be purchased as such and restored to the Church and to God's Ministers there attending upon his service quod faxit Deus. James Gresham.

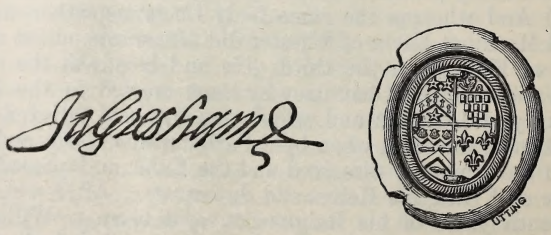
The twenty-third day of October one Thousand six Hundred eighty eight this Codicill was signed sealed and published to be part of the last Will and Testam^{t} of the same James Gresham in the pr'sence of John Layfield, John Tanner, Margaret More who all sett their hands as Witnesses hereunto in the pr'sence of the Testator James Gresham.

Proved in London with the Codicil 17 June 1689 by Anne Gresham the Relict and Executrix.



[The original of this Will is in the P.C.C., and together with the Codicil is written throughout in the Testator's handwriting. His signature occurs five times, and seal twice. Aubrey, under Haslemere (Hist. of Surrey, vol. iv. 28), describes him as a "Lover of Antiquity." In the British Museum is a collection of Surrey pedigrees by him and Le Neve (Add. MSS. 14311).]

NOTES RELATING TO THE SPARKS AND TICKELL FAMILIES.

Will of Luke Sparks, proved 2 June, 1769.

To be buried where my wife or children shall think proper the funeral expence low as decency will admit of the persons appointed to assist my wife as Executors Mr Belingam Mauliverer* of Cateaton Street and Richard Foxall of ——— Merchants all they shall have to do in my wife's life is to see that the securities I leave are good ones and if not thought so by them to call in the cash and place it in the funds afterwards to see a proper distribution according to the will of my wife as I mean to leave the whole in her power (except the legacies following) as she shall think my family deserve To my daughter Sarah Sparks one thousand pounds and my son James the like sum of but at such a time being very young as shall be thought by the Executors to be most proper My daughter Frances Leigh and husband ten pounds each for mourning Her daughter Elizabeth Storey two hundred pounds my daughter Grace† Sparks one shilling every twenty-ninth of February being her birthday My reason for not leaving any thing to my son Robert or daughter Mary‡ is because they have had large sums and are I hope well provided for if not their mother will have it in her power to give equal to their wishes.

Grace, widow of Luke Sparks, made her will 1 Feb. 1781, and described herself of Suffolk Street, in the parish of St. Martin's in the Fields, co. Middlesex. She died 27 February, 1781. Her will and two codicils were proved 29 March, 1781, by one of her Executors, William Atkinson, power being reserved to George Stubbs, the other Executor. Grace Sparks names her two sons Robert and James, and her daughters Sarah Tickell, Grace Smith, Frances wife of Thomas Leigh of Suffolk Street, and Mary wife of Wm. Ashburner.

An Ann Sparks, widow, and Frances Leigh deposed that they knew Testatrix well, etc.

'Gentleman's Magazine,' 1807, page 631. Johnson, an Irish gentleman, author of 'Chrysal, or the Adventures of a Guinea,' came over from Ireland to the Temple to study law. He had been employed in the concerns of a petty German State which gave him a certain countenance amongst public men in the great offices. This connection enabled him to serve many, and a countryman, the respectable Luke Sparks, of Covent Garden Theatre, had a son appointed through his influence to Bombay as a writer (I am speaking of more than fifty years past, when these appointments were not sought after as at present). Mr. Johnson, in the decline of life, went out to India, and I saw him at Bombay comfortably entertained in the house of old Luke Sparks's son, then a Counsellor of that Presidency, in 1782. The author of 'Chrysal' is said shortly after that to have died.—W. P.

Isaac Sparks, an actor in Dublin 1771, had a son Richard Sparks, also an actor, who married in spring of 1772, an actress, Miss Ashmore.

In Burke's 'Landed Gentry,' under Hughes of Ely House, co. Wexford, the marriage of Robert Hughes of Ely House, J.P., on 1 January, 1797, with Anne, second daughter of Captain Frederick Sparks of Curough, co. Wexford, is recorded. Capt. Frederick Sparks had a son a Major in the 51st Regiment who was at Corunna, and another, Samuel Sparks.

1789. 24 August. At Willingdon, near Eastbourne, Richard Tickell, one of the Commissioners of Stamps, married .... daughter of Captain Thomas Ley of East Indiaman Berington of Gower Street, Bedford Square.

1793. April. Richard Tickell, son of celebrated Mr. Tickell, the friend of Addison, and father of Richard Tickell of the Stamp Office, died.

1793. 4 November. At his apartments, Hampton Court Palace, Richard Tickell, one of the Commissioners of Stamps, died. He fell from a parapet wall where he often sat. He left three children by his first wife, née Linley.

Notes.

The appropriate motto adopted was FIDES IN ADVERSIS. (Add. MSS. Brit. Mus. 21017, fo. 68.)

The arms as in the patent are recorded upon a MS. containing 17th Century additions to a copy of the Worcestershire Visitation of 1569 (Harl. MS. 1043), called the arms of "certain ancient Worcestershire Knights," but not amongst these.

After the Restoration Charles II. offered the Woolfe family a pension, as in the case of the Penderells and Yates; but as the family was then in moderately good circumstances the pension was declined. The King then granted the augmentation of the family arms, and presented Francis Woolfe with a service of silver Plate and a Tankard, engraved with the augmented arms and crest. The Salop branch of the family subsequently became so much less prosperous that the Plate, the Tankard, and other household Lares were submitted to public sale at Madeley, about or within a few years of 1775. The Tankard was purchased by Richard Reynolds, the well-known philanthropist, then proprietor of the Coalbrook Dale Ironworks; but it is not known what became of the Plate. Richard Reynolds promised the Tankard to the first of his children who married, and it fell to the lot of his daughter, who became the wife of William Rathbone, Esq., of Green Bank, Liverpool, by whom the latter particulars were communicated to the writer in 1867. The Tankard is inscribed—"Given by King Charles II^nd at the Restoration to F. Wolf of Madely (with the Crest a demi wolf supporting a crown) in whose barn he had been secreted after the defeat of Worcester."—R. W.

NOTES ON THE RECTORS OF KELSTON.

The Rev. Thomas Green

was Rector of Kelston for the long period of forty-four years (a period only exceeded by Thos. Harington), viz. from 3rd January, 1754, to the end of February, 1798. He was a Master of Arts, and, so far as can be ascertained, took that degree at Oxford, for it appears on the books of that University that Thos. Green matriculated from Pembroke Coll. 5th June, 1739, aged 20, son of Isaac Green "Pleb." of Lapworth, co. Warwick; graduated B.A. 11th Feb. 1742–3; M.A. 11th July, 1746; and we believe this graduate to be the future Rector of Kelston. He was presented to the living by Henry Harington, Esq., then Lord of the Manor, but from what introduction to this patron we fail to discover. Not long after his entering upon the living (i.e. 4 Jan. 1759), he married Elizabeth, the widow of Jno. Hudleston, Esq., the eldest son of Archdeacon Hudleston, a previous Rector of Kelston. The issue of this marriage was two sons, Thomas and John.

We find in his declining years that he was assisted in the duties of his parish by his second son, John, serving as his curate. He appears to have previously given a title to Holy Orders to Edward Hawkins, youngest son of Sir Cæsar Hawkins, and father of the well known Provost of Oriel College, Oxford. It may almost surprise the readers of this note (whilst it bears testimony to the vitality of personal tradition) to learn that much of the information about this family of Green has been very recently furnished to the present Rector by a lady who can remember Mr. Green at Kelston, and who, when she was a child, paid him more than one visit at the Rectory, and who has a lively impression still of his kindness and amiability towards children. She states from memory that he was buried at Kelston, before the altar rails; that as to his eldest son, Thomas, though he lived to man's estate, he died unmarried. She well remembers that his second son, John, who was curate to his father till he died, and served the parish of Kelston till Mr. Edward Hawkins succeeded to the Rectory, went afterwards to Bisley, co. Gloster, as curate there in sole charge; that he was subsequently preferred to the living of Norton and Cowley, Wilts; and dying at Hullavington, was brought to Kelston and buried in the same vault with his father.

Strange to say, there are no tablets or memorials of any sort to this family, either in the church or churchyard, and they must look for their written memory in the pages of these notes. The Rector's signature, and that of his son, John, are here given. His ministry in the parish, as his father's representative, seems fully to warrant such a compliment. All their family registers extant at Kelston are also given. Attention is called to the marriage entry of the Rector in particular, because it is rather uncommon for an Incumbent to be married in his own church, and because it shews a link to have existed between the two Rectorial families Hudleston and Green. The lady described in it as "Elizabeth Hudleston, widow," had, according to some, been twice married before,—first to a barrister, Mr. Croome, probably of Pucklechurch, co. Gloster, secondly to Jno. Hudleston, Esq. But my own opinion of the question, supported to some extent by a mem. of the late Dr.

Henry Harington's, of Bath, is that this Elizabeth was the dau'r of a Mr. Croome by Elizabeth Broad (bapt. 1691), daughter of Mr. John Broad of Kelston, by Elizabeth his wife, who was third dau'r of Benjamin Goslett, Esq., and sister of Helena Goslett, married to Jno. Harington, Esq., of Kelston.*

Item I giue and bequeath to my said sister Jane Gresham all my Houshold stuffe whatsoeuer (except my Gunn my wearing Apparell and Cross-bowe) which said excepted Gunn wearing Apparell and Cross-bowe I giue to my brother Leonard Gresham.

And my will and mynd farther is that the said Edward Gresham of New Hall shall alsoe out of the monyes so to be by him raised as aforesaid purchase freehold Lands of Inheritance of the yearely vallue of twenty shillings, and settle the same Lands by due course of Lawe, soe as the yearely Rent of such Lands soe to be purchased and settled by him shall yearely at the Feast Day of the Birth of Our Saviour Christ in every yeare for euer be payd and distributed to and amongst the poore People of Limpsfeild aforesaid for the tyme being by the Church-Wardens of the same Parish successiuely.

Item all the rest and Overplus of the money which shall happen to arise by the Sale of my said Lands Tenements and hereditaments soe to be sold by the said Edward Gresham of New Hall as aforesaid (after my debts Legacies and funerall Expences discharged) I giue vnto and amongst my Brothers and Sisters by Consanguinity to be equally diuided betweene them share and share alike. And farther my will and mynd is that if all or any of my Brothers and sisters shall after reasonable request refuse or wilfully neglect to joyne with the said Edward Gresham of New-Hall in the sale of the said Lands Tenements or hereditamts That then the legacie or legacies and summe or summes of money herein giuen bequeathed or appoynted to be payd vnto him her or them at the end of one yeare next after my decease shall not be payd at any tyme whatsoeuer vnto such of them as shall refuse or wilfully neglect to joyne with the said Edward Gresham of New-Hall in the sale of my said lands Tenements and hereditaments But shall be payd to such of them as shall not refuse or wilfully neglect to joyne in the sale thereof And my will and mynd farther also is that if my Sister in lawe the late wife of my Brother Seyliard Gresham deceased shall not vpon reasonable request giue good and sufficient Securitie to saue harmeless and indemnifyed the Purchasor or Purchasors of my said Lands Tenements and hereditaments and their heires and Assignes from all and euery person or persons lawfully clayming or to clayme any Estate right Title or Interest into or out of my said lands tenements and hereditaments the same or any part thereof That then the Legacies or summes of money herein given to herselfe and her children shall not be payd vnto them or any of them but shall be payd to such of my Brothers and Sisters by Consanguinitie share and share alike as shall not refuse or wilfully neglect to joyne in sale with the said Edward Gresham of New Hall as aforesaid Item I make and ordaine the said Edward Gresham of New Hall sole Executor of this my last Will and Testament earnestly desiring him to see the same well and faithfullie performed according to this my last will and meaning, And for his charges in this behalfe to be expended I giue him the Rents of my said lands vntill hee shall make sale thereof within the tyme to him for that purpose herein lymitted.

Prouided alwaies and my will and meaning is that if the said Edward Gresham of New Hall or his Heires shall not within one yeare next after my decease make sale of my said Lands Tenements and hereditaments in discharge of the Trust reposed in him as aforesaid that then and in such case the Estate hereby deuised to him and his Heires of and into my said Lands Tenements and hereditaments shall cease and be utterly voyd and the fortie poundes hereinbefore bequeathed to him shall not be payd or allowed vnto him or any of the Rents or profits which he shall receaue out of Premises but the same fortie pounds, Rents and profits and every part thereof shall be payd vnto my Brothers and Sisters by Consanguinity share and share alike, And I doe giue and deuise all my said Lands Tenements and hereditaments with nevertheless and vpon Trust and confidence that hee the said William Taylor shall before the end of two yeares next after my decease, bargaine sell convey and assure all my said lands Tenements and hereditaments with the appurtenances vnto any person or persons whatsoeuer and their Heires and assignes for so much money as can be got for the same. And my Will and true meaning is That my said Brother Taylor shall at the end of two yeares next after my decease with the monyes which hee shall raise by the Sale of my said lands Tenements and hereditaments, pay all and every such summe and Summes of money and the Overplus thereof hereinbefore specifyed in such manner and vpon such Conditions and noe otherwise as hee the said Edward Gresham of New Hall ought to haue done at the end of One yeare next after my decease in case hee the said Edward Gresham of New Hall had made Sale of my said lands Tenements and hereditaments within the tyme hereinbefore to him lymitted. Onely my will is that the said fortie pounds hereby giuen to the said Edward Gresham of New Hall shall not be payd to him, but shall be payd to my Brothers and Sisters by Consanguinitie as aforesaid But my will and mynd is, and I doe hereby giue my said Brother Taylor out of the monyes to be raised by his Sale of my said Lands for his paines in this behalfe to be taken the Summe of tenn pounds more together with the Rents which hee shall receaue or make of my said Lands and Tenements vntil he shall make sale thereof within the Tyme herein to him lymitted. And alsoe my will is that my said Brother Taylor shall out of the monyes which he shall raise by Sale of my lands aforesaid purchase freehold Lands of Inheritance of the yearely value of twentie shillings and settle the same lands by due course of Lawe, soe as the yearely Rents of such Lands soe to be purchased and settled by him shall yearely at the feast day of the Birth of Our Saviour Christ in euery year for euer be payd and distributed to and amongst the poore People of Limpsfeild aforesaid for the Tyme being by the Church-wardens of the same parish successiuely. But be it nevertheless remembered that my Will is that if said Edward Gresham of New Hall if hee sell my said Lands or my said brother Taylor if he sell my said lands, shall in the first place pay all my Debts which I shall owe at the tyme of my decease before any of my said legacies out of the monies which shall be made by the sale of my said Lands. And alsoe shall paye more out thereof these Legacies followinge to whome I giue and bequeath the same (that is to say) to John Holmden esq^{r} and his Ladie fiue pounds apeece to his sonn and Daughter fiue pounds apeece to William Haward Esq^{r} fortie shillings and to my Cousin Elizabeth Cooper fortie shillings before the Overplus be diuided according as is hereinbefore-mentioned.

And whereas I have herein giuen to my Sister Jane Gresham fourscore and tenn poundes as aforesaid Nowe I doe hereby declare and explane my meaning therein that fourscore pounds thereof is in Allowance to her by an Agreement made between vs that if I dyed before her, that then shee should haue for her Title or pretended Title to the said Lands Tenements or hereditaments which was giuen or deuised to her by my Sister Mary Gresham deceased the Summe of fourscore pounds.

Will of George Sikes,† Nov. 1696, of the Parish of S. Andrew's, Holborn.

I George Sikes in good health blessed be the Lord and now after many signall deliverances from death oft perils by Sea and perils by Land perils amongst my own countrymen and perils amongst strangers and sick bed and now in the eightieth year of my life in this mortall world and body, do on my decease declare this to be my last will and testament. As to the disposall of my worldly goods I do bequeath all that I have to my dear sister Jane Gattyward, desireing and enjoining her at her decease, if not disabled by more Losses yet, and in case her and my joint debts in Esquire Tanner's hands be fully recovered before her decease, to leave fifty pounds of mine to the two children of my dear niece to be equally divided between them I mean the children of my niece Madame Dorcas West besides what she thinks meet to bequeath to them and that also at her decease she leave ten pounds a piece of what I bequeath to her to the three youngest daughters of my deceased Brother Gobart Sikes Sarah Rebeccah and Dorcas besides what else she thinks meet of her own accord to bequeath to them at her decease. I do hereby reverse any former will by me made which considering the manifold Losses befallen me and my said Sister of late years would not be reasonable for me to perform. This therefore I leave and declare to be my last will and testament written with my own hand and subscribed by me—George Sikes. In the presence of James Chevallier—Eliz Chevallier.

Mr. P. was son of Thomas Pilkington, of Belton, gent., by Marie his wife, dau'r of the Rev. Barnabas Smith, Rector of North Witham, co. Lincoln, and his wife Hannah, the widow of Sir Isaac Newton. Named in her father's will. S.P.

1. Jane Palmer, dau'r and coheiress. Marr. to (Tnomas) Drury, Esquire, of Nottingham. 𝔈

2. Dorothy Palmer, dau'r and coheiress (several years younger than her sister). Marr. at Packington 3 Aug. 1747, to Thomas Kirkland, M.D., of Ashby-de-la-Zouch. = KIRKLAND OF ASHBY.

NOTES TO THE BATE PEDIGREE.

𝔄 "1598. Sep. Antonius Bate, olim mercator apud Turka in Tripoli qui quide' vir fuit pius, integer, et honestus omnib. deniq. amari dignus obijt morte pvæ-cestriæ Maij 15." (St. Alkmund's Register. See 'The Reliquary,' vol. x. p. 198, and vol. xi. p. 114. See also 'Reliquary,' vol. ii. pp. 185, 186.)

𝔅 "A.D. 1604. Robert Bate, of Little Chester, co. Derby, gent. covenants with Edward Turvile of Thurleston, Esq^r that Nathaniel Bate, son and heir of the said Robert, should take to wife Jane, daughter of said Edward. The said Robert settles upon said Nathaniel and Jane and the heirs of their two bodies all his Lands and Tenements within the Manor of West Broughton, co. Derby, which said Robert had lately purchased of Edward Blunt, Esq^r; also some houses in Derby, and other lands about Derby. The said Edward Turvile gives with Jane his daughter, as her portion, the sum of £580. Dat. 1° Jac. I." (Nichols' Hist. Leicestersh. iv. 996.)

𝔠 "1632. 19 March. Whereas Katherine y^e wyfe of Nathanael Bate, of Little Chester, within y^e parish of S^t Alkmund's, Derby, being great with child and (by reason of her health) infirm and weak, and therefore not able to feed upon fish meats without apparent damage (as I am credibly informed) I doe therefore by these presents permitt (so farr forth as by the statutes of the kingdom I may) unto y^e said Katherine Bate to provide for herself, and to feed upon such flesh meates, as by the said statute are licenced, in this case during all y^e time of her sicknesse and noe longer. In Witnesse whereof I have hereunto set my hand. H. COKE, Minister and Preacher of the word of GOD in the Parish of S^t Alkmund's aforesaid. Test. Thomas Nash. (St. Alkmund's Register.)

𝔇 "To Nathaniel Bate, gentleman—

"Kind Sir, you once did send me (to your cost)
Where a loath'd life usurping Richard lost:
So may I lose mine own, when once I prove
To you ingrate, or BATE you aught in love.
For sith the Patron minds the Poet's art,
Well may you claim the tribute of my heart;
Who wish you Muse's industry repaid
With high respect, and mine her waiting maid."

Bancroft's 'Epigrams and Epitaphs,' 1639-40. (Nichols' Leicest. iii. *640.)

𝔈 This is probably John Bate of Dronfield, co. Derby, who issued a token in 1666. Extracts from the Dronfield Parish Registers relating to him will be found in the 'Reliquary,' vol. v. p. 201.

𝔉 Stephen Flamstead, who died 1687, was the son of William F. of Little Hallam, co. Derby. He married firstly Mary, dau'r of John Spateman of Derby, ironmonger, and by her was father of the celebrated John Flamsteed, the first Astronomer Royal, an account of whom, edited by Francis Baily, Esq., was printed by order of the Lords of the Admiralty in 1835. Mrs. Flamstead died 7 Sept. 1649, and Mr. Stephen F. married for his second wife Elizabeth, dau'r of Nathaniel Bate, as appears by the Bate pedigree entered 5 Aug. 1662, and by the parish register at West Hallam. (See 'Reliquary,' vol. i. 51, vol. xiv. 149-159, vol. xv. 34-38, and vol. xvi. 189-190.)

𝔊 To William Stephenson, Esq., of Drypool House, Hull, I am indebted for the following notices of the Drury family:—

"1643. Alderman Drury and 14 other principal inhabitants of Nottingham, for being opposed to the removal of the town's cannon to the castle, were arrested by Colonel Hutchinson, the Governor, and sent prisoners to Derby under an escort of Colonel Ireton. 1645, William Drury the elder, Alderman of Nottingham, bought Vault Hall for £103; the street where this hall stood has long been called Drury Hill. 1647, William Drewry, Mayor. 1705, William Drewry, one of the Sheriffs of Nottingham. 1707, William Drewry, Mayor. 1733, William Drewry, grandson of the Alderman, sold Vault Hall to Mr. Gawthorne for £500."

In the 'Reliquary,' vol. xi., and in Glover's Hist. Derbyshire, vol. ii. pt. i. p. 367, are pedigrees of Lowe of Denby, and from them it appears that William Drury, Alderman of Nottingham, married in 1717 Anne, dau'r of John Lowe of Denby, Esq., J.P. for co. Derby. Their only son and heir, William Drury, marr. in 1748 Mary, dau'r of Thomas Hunt of Nottingham (she survived her husband and died at Nottingham 19 Sept. 1791), and had with other issue William Drury Lowe of Locks Park, Esq., J.P. for co. Derby, who died 1827. Mr. Drury took the name and arms of Lowe on succeeding to the estates of that family.

NOTES TO KIRKLAND PEDIGREE.

A John Kirkland was Churchwarden of Ashbourne 1698.

B Paul Kirkland by will (1714) gave all his lands in Wyaston (subject to the yearly payment of 20*s.* and 5*s.* to the Minister and Parish Clerk of Edlaston) upon trust, as to one moiety of the rents and profits for the poor of Edlaston and Wyaston, and the other moiety thereof to be distributed half yearly, or otherwise, to the poor of Yieldersley and Painter's Lane, in the parish of Ashbourne, at the discretion of the Trustees, etc. (Mosse's 'Hist. of Ashbourne Church.')

C "August y^e^ 3^d^ 1747. M^r^ Tho^s^ Kirkland and M^rs^ Dorothy Palmer both of Ashby de la Zouch were married w^th^ Licence by M^r^ Peter Cowper, Vicar of Ashby." (Packington Par. Reg.)

D Dr. Kirkland was a very voluminous writer. Among his works are the following:—'Treatise on Gangrenes,' 1754; 'Essay on the Methods of suppressing Hæmorrage,' 1763; 'Essay on the Cure of Diseases caused by Fevers,' 1767, 'A Reply to Mr. Maxwell's Answer to Mr. Kirkland's Essay on Fevers,' 1769; 'Observations upon Mr. Pott's Remarks on Fractures,' 1770; 'Appendix to the Preceding,' 1771; 'Treatise on Childbed Fevers,' 1774; 'Animadversions on a Late Treatise on the Kink-Cough,' 1774; 'Thoughts on Amputation,' 1780; 'Enquiry into the Present State of Medical Surgery,' 2 vols.—Vol. I., 1783; Vol. II. (dedicated to Francis, Earl of Huntingdon), 1786; 'Commentary on Apoplectic and Paralytic Affections,' 1794; 'Observations on the Use of the Sponge after Amputation' ('Medical Observations and Enquiries,' vol. ii.); 'Observations on the Use and Abuse of Mercury in the Case of Syphilis' ('London Medical Journal,' vol. vii.): 'An Essay on the Inseparability of the Different Branches of Medicine, etc.' (dedicated to Francis, Earl of Huntingdon); 'An Account of a Distemper among Horned Cattle at Caulk in Derbyshire in 1783.'

Dr. Kirkland is one of the principal characters in a novel entitled 'Ferrers, A Romance of the Reign of George the Second,' by Mr. Charles Ollier. (Three volumes, 8vo, London, Richard Bentley; no date.) This romance is founded upon the unfortunate murder of John Johnson by Lawrence, Earl Ferrers. A full account of the trial was printed in 1760.

E For notices of the Dalby family, see Nichols' 'Hist. Leicest.' iii., pp. 774, 782, 854, 1089, and iv., part 2, 453.

F Author of 'A Defence of Infant Baptism, etc.,' in reply to the Rev. Mr. Wakefield, 1781, printed at Warrington by William Eyres; 'The Practice of Extempore Preaching recommended, etc., '1794, printed at Warrington by Wm. Eyres; 'The Minister's Enquiry into the State of His People, etc.,' 1798, printed by W. Eyres; and a Volume of Sermons published after his death, 1805, printed at Warrington by J. Haddock.

G Authoress of 'Miscellaneous Poems,' dedicated to Lady Charlotte Rawdon, 1802, printed at Derby; 'Elegies on the Deaths of Several of Her Valuable Friends, etc.,' 1805, printed at Burton upon Trent.

H Author of 'A History of Southport,' 'A Chronological List of Trades,' 'Report upon Cholera,' 'Lissa,' 'Translations from Virgil,' 'Poems,' etc.

I Our uncle Frank Kirkland sold Kirkland House (not far from Sudbury Park, Staffordshire), and an estate at Deveridge, during the lifetime of his father; this took place within my recollection. The Kirklands I believe lived at Kirkland House before they removed to Ashbourne; it was standing thirty years ago, now probably vanished (1868). (Information of the late Miss Jane Chapman, daughter of T. Fowler Chapman and his wife, Jane Kirkland.)

K Author of 'An Appendix to an Inquiry into the Present State of Medical Surgery, by the late Thomas Kirkland, M.D.' Dedicated to Francis, Earl of Moira. 1813. London, pp. 144.

L Sold his estate in Peckleton, 53 acres 2 roods, to Mr. Boultby of Tooley in 1808.

M The Smith arms, impaling Arg. a balista or catapult azure, thereon a stone or, are upon old plate now in the possession of Mrs. Kirkland, Ashby.

NOTES ON THE RECTORS OF KELSTON.

The Rev. Edward Hawkins, M.A., Rector of Kelston from 1798 to 1806, was the youngest son of Sir Cæsar Hawkins, first Bart. (1778) by Sarah, only daughter of John Cox, gent., of London. Born in 1753, he was educated at Westminster School and Cambridge University. After being Curate for a short time at Kelston, between 1776 and 1778, he was presented to the Vicarage of Bisley, co. Glo'ster, by Lord Thurlow, a friend of Sir Cæsar's. Whilst Vicar there he was married to Margaret, daughter of the Rev. Tho. Howes, of Morning Thorpe, co. Norfolk, and had six children borne to him. In 1800 he went to reside at the Manor House, Chew Magna, which he rented of Mr. Harford, Lord of the Manor there, whilst Kelston Rectory house and its premises were under repairs and enlargement. During the period of his residence at Chew his family was increased by the birth of three more children (all being sons), and on his return to reside at Kelston another son, Robert, was born Sept. 23rd, 1805, and baptized Jan. 19, 1806. Sad to relate, the period between this last infant's birth and baptism represents the time of the Rector, his father's, mortal sickness and death! Mr. Hawkins did not survive to see his youngest son baptized, nor enjoy the living he had improved so much, but died 5th January, 1806, aged 53.

The widow, thus suddenly and sadly bereaved—left with nine children to sustain and direct in life, of whom six were sons—thus touchingly expresses her confidence in a heavenly guardianship over her children, now deprived of their earthly protector, upon her husband's memorial tablet:—"Leave thy fatherless children, I will preserve them alive; and let thy widows trust in me." Jer. xlix. 11.

Her pious faith has been fully answered, for of all those sons who survived to man's estate, every one has prospered, and attained to marked distinction in their several professions.

The first, Edward, after an eminent career at school and college, came at last to preside over Oriel College, Oxford, as Provost for many years, and has only recently laid aside (through weight of years) that distinguished position.

The second son, Francis, was well known, when in practice in London, as a clever physician and a kind-hearted friend of the afflicted in sickness, was M.D. to the Queen's Household, Registrar of the Royal College of Physicians, London, and is still surviving.

The third son, Cæsar Henry, became Serjeant Surgeon to the Queen, and his name is so well known that it seems almost needless to say more than that his reputation as a surgeon has been pre-eminent.

Two sons died early in life, and the youngest, Robert, took Holy Orders, is Rector of Lamberhurst, Kent, and Domestic Chaplain to the Marquis of Camden.

The principal Visitations of Shropshire commence the pedigree of Barker with Randulph de Coverall, who in the reign of Edward II. married Margaret, d. of Peter Pigot of Willaston, and then, passing over the intermediate generations (which have been supplied from the Court Rolls of the Manors of Worfield and Claverley by the industry of Mr. Joseph Morris), proceed with William Barker alias Coverall, who married the heiress of John Goulston of Goulston. The explanation of this change of name seems to be as follows:—The Manor of Calverhall or Coverall is in the parish of Adderley, and in the time of Edward II. formed part of the possessions of Bartholomew de Badlesmere, upon whose attainder and execution the under-tenants of the manor would share in his disgrace and fall. William de Calverhall seems to have fled southwards, and reappeared at Hallon in Worfield, under the name of William le Barker,—a name either derived from dealings in oak bark, or from some unknown relationship with one already bearing the name. For this surname occurs in the Close Roll of 12 Henry III. (1227), and also as a tenant in Stanton Lacy in 1272. The name Calverhall, after having been dropped by the family for more than 200 years, appears to have been reassumed as an alias upon their resuming connection with the north of the county, where, besides land in Goulston, they became possessed of estates at Wolverton, Coleshurst, etc., upon which the elder branches settled, while the younger, according to the custom of the manor, continued to hold Aston in Claverley.

BRISBANE OF BRISBANE.—"In 1657, Elizabeth Brisbane married her cousin, James Shaw, eldest son of James Shaw of Balligellie, by Elizabeth, daughter of John Brisbane. By the contract of marriage, the estate of Brisbane was to be settled on the heirs male of this union, whilst James Shaw himself was to assume the surname and arms of Brisbane." From this marriage the late General Sir Thomas Brisbane was descended. ('History of Ayr and Wigton,' James Paterson.) Can any of your readers tell me if there are any descendants of this marriage now living to whom I could apply for information respecting the family?

Fixby, near Huddersfield. W. GRAHAM BERRY.

Will of Robert Graisbrook of Shenstone, 1728.

In the name of God Amen. I Robert Graisbrook of Shenston, in the County of Stafford, being of perfect mind and memory, but weak in body, do make this my last Will and Testament in manner and forme following. First I give and bequeath my soul into the hands of Almighty God that gave it mee, and my debts to be paid, and my body to be decently brought home at the charge of my Executors hereafter mentioned. Impr'is I give and bequeath to Sarah, my now wife, the sum of seven pounds ten shillings yearly during her naturall life. Itm I give and [bequeath] to Graisbrooke, the son of Thomas and Sarah Cramp, my house and p'misses thereunto belonging lying and being in Shenston, paying thirty shillings yearly out of it to the schoolmaster of Shenston for the schooling of four poore children within Shenston to be payd yearly for ever.* And my wife to be payd yearly out of the estate at Shenston. Itm I give to William, the son of William Smith and Elizab. his wife, the sum of one hundred pounds. Itm I give to John, the son of William Smith and Elizab. his wife the sum of one hundred pounds. Item I give to Josiah the son of William Smith and Eliz. his wife the sum of one hundred pounds. Item I give to my sister Jemima Winterton's two sons and one daughter the sum of Three hundred pounds, each one hundred pounds. Itm I give to the three daughters Three hundred pounds equally divided betwixt them (the daughters of Thomas Cramp† aforesayd). These legacys to be payd when each child comes to age, and then to be payd by my Executors hereafter mentioned and they to be payd foure pounds p^{r} ann. till they come to age by my Executor. Itm I give to Joseph Smart and Mary his wife, and to Francis and John the sum of Ten shillings a piece, and to Joseph the sum of Five pounds, Francis, Joseph, and John being the sons of Jos. Smart. Itm I give to Joseph Collins, of Sutton, Twenty shillings. Itm I nominate and appoynt Thomas Cramp to be my sole Executor for the true performance of this my last Will and Testament, renounceing and revokeing all others. In witness I put my hand and seale the 20 July, 1728.

Robert Graisbrooke. (L. S.)

Memorandum, if any loss should happen in payment of my money to my executor, then each of my sister's children to bear an equal share of that loss. Joseph Smart, his wife, and Francis and John to be paid in one yeare after my decease.

Proved at Lichfield. With the will are filed two affidavits, as follows:—Affidavit of Charles Savage, of Shenstone, schoolmaster. Was sent for by Robert Greisbrooke, gent., to make his will, and did so, and the said will was properly executed in his presence.

Affidavit of George Smart, of Shenstone, weaver and tow dresser, that he knew Robert Greisbrooke, the testator, and being at the house of Joseph Smart, where the said Robert Greisbrooke, the deceased in this cause, lived, or had a room to lodge in, was called up to the said Mr. Robert Greisbrooke's room by Charles Savage, this deponent's fellow witness, to be a witness to the said will;

* "The following gift is fairly preserved on a mural table in Shenstone Church:—'M^{r} Robert Greisbrooke, of Shenstone, left 30^{s} to a schoolmaster at Shenstone for the schooling of four poor children of Shenstone, to be issuing out in the same village; given by will to his nephew Greisbrooke Cramp, to be paid yearly for ever. This was set up by Thomas Barfoot and J. Jackson.'" (Shaw's 'Staffordshire.') found the said Robert "on the bed with his cloaths on," but when this deponent entered the room he immediately arose and duly signed, sealed, and executed his will.

† The will of Thomas Cramp, of Longdon, co. Stafford, gent., is dated Sep. 20, 1728, and was proved in London March 10th following. He mentions his wife Sarah, his son Greysbrook Cramp, and his three daughters, Sarah, Jemima, and Quima. Witnesses Rich^{d} Wotton, Tho. Hately, Edw^{d} Gerry.

* So in Joseph Morris's MSS., but in the MSS. of George Morris the wife of this John Barker is called Elizabeth Sandford. In the Visitations she is omitted altogether. But it seems more than probable that the two Barkers here named, father and son, were one person. The will of Edward Burton, printed with this pedigree, and worthy of perusal for its own sake, alludes to five out of the seven daughters given to him in the Visitations. Two of these, Mary and Dorothy, married Barkers; Joan married Thomas Corbet; Ellen married Ralph Banaster; Ann married a Bostock, while there is no mention of a daughter Joyce. Now as Alice Leigh died in 1603 at a very advanced age, she could not be great-granddaughter of William Barker, who died in 1590. If she died at the age of seventy, she must have been born as early as 1533, and it is just possible she might be grandchild of William Barker, who could not have been born many years before the close of the 15th century.

* Will of Whitmore.—William Whitmore of Apley, son of Richard Whitmore of Aston and Frances his wife, who afterwards married William Barker of Aston, died in London, August 8th, 1593, having signed his will two days before. Among its bequests are the following: "I doe give and bequeathe unto John Barker, Francis Barker and William Barker my half-bretheren twenty marks apeece." He bequeathed also £2000 to each of his six daughters. One of the witnesses to the will is Walter Pritchett.

From this it appears that John, Francis and William Barker were all living in 1593. No mention is made of either Richard or Randulph, as in the MSS. and Visitations.

John Cæsar Hawkins, Esq. Born Dec. 20, 1805, ob. vitâ pat. Jan., 1845. = Louisa, youngest d. of Thos. Bourke Ricketts, Esq., of Combe, co. Hereford.

Rev. Sir John Cæsar Hawkins, of Oriel College, Oxon, M.A. Formerly Rector of St. Alban's, Herts, who succeeded to the Baronetcy, 1861, and is living 1877.

Mr. Hawkins, after being educated at Westminster School, and Trinity College, Cambridge, entered Holy Orders, probably in the Diocese of London, by taking the Curacy of Hillingdon, co. Middlesex. In the year which followed his appointment at Kelston, his marriage took place (1807) with Anna Augusta, only daughter of Sir James Cockburn, sixth Bart., of Langton, by his second wife, and sister of Dr. William Cockburn, Dean of York. This alliance led, as of course, to an intimacy with Dr. Cockburn; who, being desirous of an occasional change of residence to the West of England, gave Mr. Hawkins, his brother-in-law, valuable preferment in the Diocese and Cathedral-Church of York, whilst he himself received presentation to the Rectory of Kelston, from Joseph Neeld, Esq., M.P., of Grittleton, Wilts, who had recently purchased the Manor and Advowson of Kelston, from Sir John Cæsar Hawkins. The ex-Rector of Kelston became Vicar of Stillingfleet, co. York, Canon Residentiary and Prebendary of York Cathedral, and died in the enjoyment of his preferment, at York, in April, 1857, and is buried at Topcliffe, where his son, the Rev. Henry Annesley Hawkins, is still Vicar (1877). It is due to his memory to add, that the recollection of his kindly, genial disposition, and of the ready access to himself, which he always accorded to the poor of Kelston, still lingers there among the few of his contemporaries who survive him in 1877. He is specially remembered for the great pains he bestowed on the choir and music of the church.

I should be much obliged to any correspondent who would give me the early part of the pedigree of this family of Lewin of Amble, previous to the Robert Lewin with which the above commences, as I am anxious to know how the assertion that the family is descended from Llewellyn is supported.

Also I should be glad to have the missing dates supplied, and information touching the various families with which the Lewins intermarried. I find that Burke in his 'Complete Armory' gives the arms here attributed to the Rutherfords of Hunthill to the Lords Rutherford, and the addition of three passion nails to the Hunthill family. How were these two families connected? We have in the family a mourning ring of Robert, Lord Rutherford, who died in 1720, given to F. Rutherford. Who was this F. Rutherford, and how were the two families connected?

I particularly wish to know if there are any descendants of Thomas, the eldest son of Thomas Lewin and Anne Radcliffe. Who was the wife of this Thomas Lewin?

Information as to the family of Routh would also be very acceptable. The pedigree states that Anne Radcliffe was nearly allied to James, Earl of Derwentwater. I should like to know how they were connected.

WROXHAM REGISTERS.—The advertisement which I copy from 'The Norwich Mercury' of Saturday, August 17, 1776, will shew how difficult it often is to prove pedigrees by the entries iu Parish Registers.—REGINALD STEWART BODDINGTON.

"Whereas in night between 5th and 6th of this month the Parish Church of Wroxham was forcibly entered and the chest in Chancel broken open from whence the surplice was taken and torn in pieces and two books out of which were torn and carried away several leaves containing the Register of Christenings and Burialls within the said Parish from the year 1732 to the present time. The Minister and Churchwardens and Inhabitants of the said Parish offer a Reward of Twenty Five Guineas to any person who will give information whereby the person or persons or any one of them concerned as above may be convicted thereof which Reward of Twenty Five Guineas I hereby promise to pay on conviction.—Daniel Collyer,* Vicar."

* I seek for information of all families who intermarried with that of Boddington as here given. I particularly desire to ascertain parentage of the above William Boddington, born at Brinklow, co. Warwick, in 1580, and who is said to have possessed a good estate at Brinklow which he had to sell to pay gambling and other debts. Who was Henry Neale who acted as guardian to the sons of George Boddington, and who administered his estate with will annexed 19 Oct. 1705?—and of what family was Charles Parker, of Tamworth, co. Warwick, who was uncle to Daniel Boddington (son of the above named George B.), and proved his will 13 May, 1725? I ask for parentage of Frances, wife of Wm. Boddington and sister of Rebecca, who married Lovelace Hercy, of Cruchfield House, Maidenhead. Was John Stephenson brother-in-law of Ann, wife of James Boddington, M.P. for St. Michael's, Cornwall? The John Stephenson whose family I wish to ascertain had a brother William Stephenson, of City of London, Distiller. John Stephenson had with his wife, the widow of Thomas Holford, who he married (see Vol. I., p. 428) 19 December, 1741, £25,000. The wife of John Stephenson, elected M.P. for St. Michael's, May 1754, died 3 March, 1767. A sister of the Member for St. Michael's died 13 February, 1774. I desire to connect Bicknell Coney with the family of Walpole St. Peter, co. Norfolk; one Edwin Coney was High Sheriff of co. Norfolk in 1734, and left a son Carlos Coney. Of what family was Wm. Bicknell, great-grandfather of Bicknell Coney? Wm. Bicknell had a son William; has he any descendants now living?—REGINALD STEWART BODDINGTON.

[Note.—Sir Cæsar Hawkins purchased the Kelston Manor of the Haringtons in the middle of the eighteenth century. This ancient family having by that time succumbed to the usual fate of landowners, with heavy local obligations and wide-spread issue—first, mortgages ; then, entire sale. An ancestor, like "the John Harington," who died in 1700, having had four wives and twenty-one children, led on the Somerset Haringtons rapidly to such vicissitude of fortune.

Soon after his purchase from the Haringtons, Sir Cæsar built, under the guidance of Jno. Wood the elder, an able Bath Architect in 1760, a handsome residence, charmingly placed over a bend of the river Avon as it winds between Bath and Bristol, and now easily recognizable from the Great Western and Midland Railway Lines as you travel westward.

It is deeply to be regretted, however, that no memento either in paint or pencil was made of the old Harington Mansion before it was razed. It was a work of the famous Italian Architect James Barozzi of Vignola, and is reported to have been the largest family mansion in the county. But it has been utterly demolished, and the site can barely be recognized at this day, in a field adjoining the Church, toward the East.]

Dr. Wm. Cockburn, Dean of York and Rector of Kelston from 1832 to 1858, was instituted to the Rectory on the presentation of Joseph Neeld, Esq., M.P., of Grittleton House, co. Wilts, on the 3rd of January, 1832. Born in 1774, he was the third son of Sir James Cockburn (M.P. for Peebles 1762) by his second marriage (1769) with Augusta Anne, daughter of the Rev. Francis Ayscough, D.D., Dean of Bristol, and niece of Geo. Lord Lyttleton; and was younger brother of Admiral Sir Geo. Cockburn, Bart., G.C.B. He was educated at St. John's College, Cambridge, and became a Fellow of that Society. He graduated B.A. 1795, twelfth wrangler; M.A. 1798; D.D. 1823. He was "Christian Advocate" of the Univ. Cam.

1803. Appointed Dean of York 1822, and Rector of Kelston 1832. But his publications in after life were not numerous or important; they consisted of occasional sermons, letters on topics of local interest, and a correspondence with Dr. Buckland. His dealing with the Cathedral patronage gave much offence. He succeeded his brother in the baronetcy 1853; and on his own decease in April, 1858, the title passed to the present distinguished Lord Chief Justice of England, Sir Alexander Cockburn, 10th Bart. Sir William, the Dean of York, was twice married, firstly in 1805 to Elizabeth, 2nd dau. of Sir Robert Peel, and sister of the eminent Statesman (who died in 1826), and had issue three sons, all of whom died vitâ patris; secondly to Emma, only daughter of Lieut.-Col. Peirce, 15th Regt., of Hatley St. George, Cambridgeshire, without issue. She survived the Dean, and afterwards married the Rev. Thos. Whale, and died at his Rectory of Dalton, N. Devon, 24th Aug. 1876.

Dr. Cockburn is buried at Kelston, to the South of the Tower, with monumental tablet as follows in the Church :—

The Very Rev^{d} Sir W^{m} Cockburn Bart:
Dean of York
And for many years Rector of this Parish.
He died April 30th 1858 aged 84 years
Also in Memory of his three sons
James Peel Cockburn, Robert Drayton Cockburn, and George Cockburn whose remains are deposited in the same Vault.

DAUID WATKINS: |

The Registers of St. Edmond the King, Lombard Street, do not begin till 1670, the above are therefore, probably, the only records of this family existing.

(The following are on a loose piece of paper, placed in the same spot with the other family memoranda. They are apparently all in the same handwriting as these, but it seems scarcely likely that the persons referred to were children of Sir D. Watkins by a former wife. Perhaps his will, if it can be found, would throw some light on the subject.)

* "Of Wigginshill," in the transcripts of these Registers at Lichfield.

† The parish of Oldswinford comprises the town of Stourbridge, and the hamlets of Lye, Wollescote, Wollaston, and Amblecote. A portion of the parish is in the county of Stafford. "Am.," attached to several of the entries, signifies that the person to whom the entry refers was of the Amblecote or Staffordshire part of the parish.

‡ Mr. Lower in his Patronymica Britannica states that the surname Glazebrook is "a recent corruption of Grazebrook." The latter he correctly derives from Gresbrooke, co. York. That the corruption is not very recent these Register extracts prove; but the substitution here of an l for an r is quite gratuitous on the part of the several persons who made the entries; and indeed is a very common error in the neighbourhood at the present day. Mr. Lower, however, is not strictly correct, for the surname Glazebrook, Glasebrook, etc., originated from the place so called near Warrington in Lancashire, where there was a family bearing the local name at least as early as the fourteenth century.

THE EARLDOM OF EWE.—Can any of your readers assist me in explaining, or rather cutting a difficult knot in a peerage case? Sir William Bourchier, who married the Princess Anne Plantagenet, granddaughter of Edward III., and who greatly distinguished himself at the battle of Agincourt, A.D. 1415, was called to the House of Peers in 1419 by the title of Earl of Ewe, either because the French Count of that name was taken prisoner at Agincourt, or else because one of his wife's ancestors of the family of de Bohun had married Maude, daughter of an Earl of Ewe, in 1253. Henry, the eldest son of that marriage, was summoned to Parliament in 1425 as the second Earl of Ewe, but never subsequently under that title. In 1446 he was created Viscount Bourchier, and in 1461 Earl of Essex. He married Isabel, sister of Richard, Duke of York, and aunt of Edward IV., and had by her no less than seven sons. His eldest son, Henry, who became second Earl Essex and third Earl of Ewe, died in 1539 s.p.m., as it is said all his brothers did likewise. But if so, how did it happen that the descendants of the first Earl of Ewe never assumed their ancestor's title? His second son became Cardinal Bourchier, Archbishop of Canterbury, and as celibacy was enforced on the clergy in those days, he of course had no family. But the third son, William, who became in right of his wife Lord Fitzwarine, a barony of the time of Edward I., created in 1295, left many descendants. The head of that branch of the family, John Bourchier, Lord Fitzwarine, was created Earl of Bath in 1536, three years before his cousin, the last Earl of Ewe and Essex, died. The Earldom of Bath continued in his family until 1654, when that Earldom is supposed to have become extinct. But why did not any of the Earls of Bath between 1539 and 1654 bear the older title, as they justly might have done, of Earls of Ewe, just as in our day the Earl of Talbot took the older title of Shrewsbury, and is now known to the world as the Earl of Shrewsbury and Talbot? If any of your readers can enlighten me on this point it will oblige—BOURCHIER WREY SAVILE, Rector of Shillingford, Exeter.

POTTER OF ARDVIEW.

ROBERT POTTER of Ardview, co. Down, Esq., the last male representative of the family of Potter of Killinchy, co. Down, was the third son of Thomas Potter, Esq., J.P., of Ardview, by his wife Dorothea Josepha, widow of James Potter of Mount Potter, co. Down, and only daughter of William Shaw, Esq., of Ballytweedy, co. Antrim. He was born 28th March 1792, and succeeded to the Ardview estate on the death of his father in 1841. He was in the Commission of the peace for the co. Down, and an officer in the yeomanry. In 1844 he married Sarah Jane Marmion, daughter of Henry Marmion, Esq., of Lisburn, co. Antrim, by whom he had issue, Thomas Henry Marmion, and Margaret Eliza Higginson Hamilton, who both died young. On the death of his cousin Henry William Shaw of Ballytweedy in 1867, Mr. Potter became a co-representative of the family of Shaw or Schaw of Ballytweedy, co. Antrim (a junior branch of the ancient Scottish family of Schaw of Sauchie and Greenock, now represented by Earl Cathcart and Sir Michael Robert Shaw-Stewart, Bart.), and in consequence was entitled to quarter the arms of that family with his paternal coat. He died 23rd March 1876, and was buried at Killinchy.

Affixed to a Rock near Filey Brig.

CHARLES PAGET Esq. of Ruddington Grange, Notts. J.P.
Formerly M.P. for Nottingham, and of ELLEN his wife, who were swept off Filey Rocks by a wave of extraordinary volume and drowned, on the 13th of October, 1873.

At the time of the fatal occurrence they were standing on the rocks near the second cave, where they had been in safety for more than a quarter of an hour. The spot in question is rarely covered at high tide, and at the time it only wanted an hour and a half to low water.

This slab is placed here by the members of the family, to warn all persons against the danger of venturing on the rocks during a heavy ground swell.

The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Paget were never recovered.

WILLIAM THOMAS WALDY, OF HOWDEN COURT.

William Thomas Waldy, Esq., of Howden Court, co. Devon, J.P., born 29 Jan. 1833. Married 1st Emily, dau'r of W. Bradshaw, Esq., of Homerton, Middlesex, by whom (who died 1870) he has—

1st. Lionel St. Clair, b. 20 April, 1863.
2nd. Cecil Reginald Vavasour, b. 14 Feb. 1870.
1st. Gertrude Emily Isabella.
2nd. Edith Helena Beatrice.
3rd. Evelyn Maud Jervis.

He married secondly Ada Juliana Marguerite Amelia, only dau'r of Arthur Montague, Esq., and granddau'r of Sir George Denys, Bart., of Easton Neston, co. Northampton.

Mr. Waldy, who is a Magistrate of the co. of Devon and of the Borough of Tiverton, formerly Capt. in the 43rd Regiment, is the fifth son of the late Rev. Richard Waldy, M.A., of Haughton le Skerne and Longnewton, co. Durham, Prebendary of Salisbury (descended from the Waldies of Kelso and Henderside Park, co. Roxburghe, 1572), by Isabella, dau'r of Rev. Wm. Greenwood, B.D., of Greenwodes Leigh, Yorks (by Grace his wife, only dau'r of J. Smith, Esq., of Great Fenton, co. Stafford, and his wife Elizabeth, dau'r of John Jervis of Darlaston, Esq., 1st cousin of John, Earl St. Vincent).

Mauleverer of Allerton, and Newsome Fane.—Is the exact connection of these families known? A Newsome, circ. 1700, married a niece of Sir Thomas M. Was this niece a dau'r of William, Henry, Judith, or Mary M.?

Myttons of Halston and Yorks.—When did the Yorkshire Mittons branch from Salop Myttons? Is there a pedigree of the Rev. Roger Mitton, born circ. 1670, Vicar of Skipton in Craven?

Glenton of Boroughbridge.—Is there a pedigree of Matthias G., born circ. 1730?

Petrie of Perth.—Is there a pedigree of Samuel P., born 1680? By the bearings this is a branch of the Glenalvon Petries.

The British Museum MSS. do not answer these queries.

Worrall Wills.

Richard Worrall, of Stourton, in the parish of Kinver, co. Stafford, gent. Dated 29 Jan^{y} 1753. Proved by the Rev. John Worrall, sole executor, at Lichfield 10 May 1762. Gives the lands in Stourton, which he lately purchased from his brother-in-law Francis Spilsbury, to his brother John Worrall, clerk. Four hundred pounds to his sister Mary Worrall, and ten guineas each to his brother Thomas Worrall,* and to Sarah Grazebrook daughter of his said brother Thomas. Attested, inter alias, by Tho^{s} Hodgetts and sealed with—on a chevron 3 crescents—the arms of Hodgetts.

"Mr. Richard Worrall jun^{r}." was buried at Kinver Jan. 30, 1762.

John Worrall, of Stourton, in the parish of Kinfare, co. Stafford, clerk. Dated 16 Nov. 1762. Proved at Lichfield 30 April 1766. Leaves legacies to his brother Thomas Worrall and to "M^{rs} Sarah Grazebrook, wife of M^{r} Michael Grazebrook," real estate and residue of personal estate to his sister Mary Worrall. Appoints his said sister Mary, and the Rev. Paul White, of Kinfare, executrix and executor. Sealed with per chevron, 3 elephants' heads erased. Crest: An elephant's head. (Arms of Sanders?)

The Testator was of Pembroke Coll. Oxford, B.A. 1724. "Richard son of the Rev. M^{r} John Worrall and Susanna his wife" was buried at Kinver 19 Dec. 1764. "M^{rs} Susannah Worrall" was buried there Oct. 22, 1765; and "the Rev. M^{r} John Worrall" was buried Jan. 20, 1766.

Mary Worrall, of Stourton in the parish of Kinfare, co. Stafford, spinster. Dated 25 April 1767. Proved at Lichfield 9 June 1767. Gives the interest of £400 "now on mortgage of M^{r} John Worrall's estate in Kinfare" to her niece Sarah Grazebrook for life; at her death the principal to be divided among her grand-nieces Mary, Elizabeth, Sarah, and Susanna, daughters of the said Sarah Grazebrook. Five pounds to her "cousins" Margery and Elizabeth Hart. To her grand-nephew Thomas Worrall Grazebrook a silver tankard, to his brother Michael Grazebrook a silver cup, and to her grand-niece Mary Grazebrook two silver salts. Sundry legacies to servants, and £30 to the Rev. Paul White to be distributed in bread to the poor of Kinfare in manner therein mentioned. Her niece Sarah Grazebrook to be sole executrix. Attested by Thomas Worrall and John Worrall, and proved by Sarah Grazebrook, widow.

"M^{rs} Mary Worrall" was buried at Kinver May 5, 1767.

Richard Worrall of Stourton, gent. Dated 23 Dec^{r} 1771 and proved at Lichfield 30 May 1772. Gives all his real and personal estate to his eldest son and heir Thomas Worrall, and appoints him sole executor.

"M^{r} Richard Worrall of Stourton" was buried at Kinver Jan. 3, 1772. He was a cousin of Richard, John, Mary, etc.

Thomas Worrall, of Stourton, gent. Dated 17 Nov. 1797, proved at Lichfield 1 July 1805. Mentions his wife Mary Worrall and his kinsman Joseph Hancox of Kinfare. Subject to an annuity to his said wife, he leaves all his real property to his brother John Worrall for life; and after his death to testator's

* "M^{r} Thomas Worrall" was buried at Kniver Feb. 28, 1766, and "Mary wife of M^{r} Thomas Worrall" on Ap. 24, 1741. The marriage settlement of Thomas Worrall "eldest son of Richard Worrall gent.," with Mary d. of James and Theodosia Hart of Wolverley, co. Worcester, is dated Sept. 1720. He had with her an estate in Wolverley. "Anne dau. of Thomas and Mary Worrall," was bapt. at Wolverley, Aug. 29, 1721, and buried at Kinver May 8, 1729; and Sarah d. of the same (afterwards wife of Michael Grazebrook) was bapt. (also at Wolverley) Dec. 15, 1722.

kinsman Thomas Worrall Grazebrook, of Audnam, in the parish of Kingswinford, absolutely for ever. Appoints the said Joseph Hancox sole executor. Witnessed inter alias by Joseph Robins [of Stourbridge, Solicitor] with whose arms* the Will is sealed. In a Codicil dated 1 June 1801 he mentions that his brother John is "since deceased," and gives his personalty to his kinsman Joseph Hancox and to Sarah wife of Henry Matthews, rector of Wishaw, co. Warwick, sister of the said Joseph Hancox.

N.B.—The Worrall wills at Lichfield are very numerous. The earliest (that of Humfrey Worrall) is dated 1551. The name also occurs very frequently in the Kinver Registers, the first entry being the marriage on June 1, 1562, of Humfrey Bate to Joan Warroll.

Blackburne Pedigree.

ADDITIONS AND CORRECTIONS.

(New Series, Vol. II., pp. 77 et seq.)

John Blackburne, whose will was proved 24th Jan. 1625, died 9th Nov. 1624. His wife's name was Margaret, and she died 30th June, 1625. (Rich'd Register.)

Elizabeth Blackburne, 1st w. of Robt. Blackburne of Marrick Abbey, was a daughter of . . . . Messenger of Fountains Abbey.

Ann Blackburne, 2nd w. of same Robert, was a Miss Gosling.

Elizabeth Copperthwaite, née Blackburne, could not be the same as Elizabeth Blackburne who administered to her "Brother Robert" of Thisleton, because her marriage had taken place and her name become Copperthwaite so early as 1669, when Giles Blackburne made his will, therefore all but the name Elizabeth should be erased.

Timothy Blackburne (whose seal is figured) died May 27th, 1700, ætat. 65.

Katherine Blackburne, wife of Timothy Blackburne of Grinton, was daughter of Roger Colvill of Fremington, near Richmond, by Ann Norton, one of the Nortons of Clowbeck on St. Nicholas. This Ann Colvill (née Norton) administered to her husband Roger's will 10th June, 1665. He was a Solicitor, and is mentioned frequently in Mrs. Thornton's Memoir, published by the Surtees Society 1873, Vol. 62, notably in pages 139, 146, and 279, as also in the Editor's notes. And it is recorded in page 92 of the Memoir, that upon the occasion of Elizabeth Thornton's baptism at Hipswell, 1665, Mrs. Blackburne stood proxy to the child for "Mrs. Thornton's mother, who was then sick." This Mrs. Blackburne was doubtless Katherine, daughter of Roger Colvill, who was cousin to Mrs. Thornton by marriage connection through the Nortons. Mrs. Thornton herself was Alice, daughter of Lord Deputy Wandesforde temp. Chas. I., whose sister Ann Wandesforde married Mauger Norton.

James Pepper, (husband of Anne Blackburne, the sister of Timothy), was of the same stock from which descended Pepper Arden, Lord Alvanley.

Giles Blackburne of Marrick, qui ob. 1669, married a daughter of the Slingers of Dumrow Hall, Bolland, co. York. They had a son Giles bapt. Nov. 1662, but he died an infant, and their next son John became heir.

* Per pale sa. and arg., 2 flaunches and 3 fleurs-de-lis in fesse all counterchanged. Crest: A flenr-de-lis between 2 dolphins.

John Blackburne, who married Frances, dau'r of Col. Francis Malham in 1683, had issue besides his sons John and Malham five daughters,—Frances, Anne, Jane, Mary, and Elizabeth. Of these, Frances married Jno. Newton of Twiselton ; Anne married Anthony Devis of London, and died there (the letter in which he proposed marriage is still extant!); and Elizabeth is believed to have married .... Threlfy, resident in the neighbourhood of Preston, co. Lanc. As to Jane and Mary, nothing seems known.

Timothy Blackburne, s. of Timothy, qui ob. vitâ patris, was bap. 25 Dec. 1662. (F. Mem.)

Francis Blackburne, Mayor of Richmond 1706. Lies buried in Ripon Minster, with M.I. there.

Caleb Readshaw. For further notice of this family vide Pedigree of Morley of Beamsley.

Hannah Hotham, daughter of Thomas Hotham of York, married her first husband, Joshua Elsworth, at the Church of St. Crux, York, 1st Jan. 1737–8. She was baptized at St. Margaret's, York, 21st March, 1713–14. (This from evidences kindly furnished by the Rev. C. Best Norcliffe.)

Hannah Elsworth, daughter of Joshua and Hannah, married the Rev. Theophilus Lindsey Sept. 29, 1760, without issue. She had a brother, John Elsworth, some of whose books are in the library of the writer of these notes. He is believed to have died unmarried.

Rev. Francis Blackburne, Rector of Croscombe, co. Somerset, married Jane, dau'r of George (not Tristram) Hogg; and Mr. Hogg resided at Lyttleburn House, Bishopdale.

The Rev. William Frend of London was an eminent Mathematician and Actuary. Born at Canterbury, he went to Christ's Coll. Cambridge; came out 1780 Second Wrangler, Priest being Senior; became Fellow and Tutor of Jesus Coll., afterwards Vicar of Madingley. Subsequently renounced the doctrines of the Church of England for Unitarianism. Was author of a treatise called 'Peace and Union,' as to which and for further details vide Report of State Trials.

William Blackburne, who married as his first wife Sarah Shaw of Saddleworth, married secondly the widow of .... Macaulay of Massachusetts, U.S.A., with issue.

The eldest daughter of his first marriage was named Elizabeth, and not Emily, as given in the pedigree. She married Mr. Buckley Bent of Saddleworth, with issue.

The second daughter of the same Wm. Blackburne was named Sarah Anne, not Mary Anne. She died unmarried about 1830–5.

H. Tyrwhitt Frend. After this name dele Q.C.

Francis Blackburne, son of Wm., U.S.A., is erroneously stated to have been killed in the American Civil War. He was living in New York 1875, married, with numerous issue, but is since dead.

Francis Blackburne, Vicar of Cannock, had a second Christian name—Theophilus. He married Miss Freeman, of Summerleaze, Wells, 1842. She died at Ellesmere 4th April, 1875.

George and Christopher Blackburne both married and left issue, therefore erase "s.p." after their names.

Caroline Blackburne, daughter of the Rector of Croscombe, Somerset, married Jno. Boydell, Esq. (not Bray), and is resident at Rosset Hall, Wrexham.

FAMILY REGISTERS IN A BIBLE, PSALM AND PRAYER BOOK, 1633.*

Isaac Wiggon & Anne Read was married the 6th Day of July 1660 Mary Read was gooing of her (nyne)‡ fowere years of agge then."

Isaac Wiggon was apparently Churchwarden, by the following note:—

"A note made of time that John Greene and Isaac Wiggon did begine to gather the Collection for the poore of Marsham that was uppon the fourth day of Aprill 1647: the 3 monthes 27 day of June uppon the 22 day of August ended 5 monthes."

The following note of a trespass was apparently made by Isaac Wiggon:—

"A note made of the time that Goody Hall did say shee see John Geillys come into my ground and that was uppon the 17 day of August 1648."

"Tho. Burrows the son of Robert Burrows baptized Aprill 29, 1661.
Jerimiah the son of Robert Burrowes bapt. i January 1664.
John son of Robert Burrowes baptzed ii March 1669.
Margarett the daugh. of Robt. Burrowes i Decemb. 1672.
Samuell the son of Robt. Burrows ii March 1674."

* Communicated by W. M. F. Petrie, Esq.
† A second l has been here inserted in 1653 or 1654.

The Burrowes family also lived near Norwich by the following note:—

"September the 28, 1671:
A note made of the time that our dread Souerrayne Lord Kinge Charles the secound & Quenne Katthe . . . .
came theire progrease from London to Norwich."

Possibly Ann Wiggon married Robert Burrows at only 16, on the occasion of her father, Isaac Wiggon's, second marriage in July, 1660; the dates agree to this supposition, and otherwise it is not plain how the Bible should leave the Wiggon family at such a point. Burrows's dau. not being Ann is no proof, as none of his sons are Robert, the father's name.

Richardson of Hull, etc. Edward Richardson was Mayor of Hull 1616, and Christopher Richardson was Mayor of Hull for the second time in 1678, the year in which Andrew Marvel, Member for Hull, died in London, not of poison as often stated, but of ague which was unskilfully treated. Christopher is commonly stated to have been son of Edward, but I imagine he was his nephew, and son of another Christopher who died in 1634, at West Lilling in the parish of Sherriff Hutton, nine miles N.E. of York, who left a small piece of land to his son George. I presume that George died before 1670, and that Christopher the Mayor, who was a native of West Lilling, succeeded to this land called Netherflatt, because in that year he gave the rent of it for ever to provide a dole of bread for the poor of the parish of Sherriff Hutton. Now there was another Christopher Richardson four or five years younger than his namesake the Mayor, who I presume to have been his cousin, and probably Edward the Mayor in 1616 was the father of the younger cousin. This last named Christopher matriculated at Trin. Coll. Cambridge in 1633, and Andrew Marvel was at the same College a year or two later. I presume Christopher was episcopally ordained, but I have no account of him until I find him placed in the rectory of Kirkheaton by Huddersfield (1653), vacated by Richard Sykes, who refused to take the Solemn League and Covenant. C. R. was silenced and had to leave the incumbency a year or more before the ejection in 1662. (Some account is given of him in Palmer's 'Nonconformist Memorial.' He is frequently named in Hunter's 'Life of Oliver Heywood.') I wish to ascertain his place of birth and parentage, and the surname of his first wife, whose Christian name was Elizabeth. I have stated my belief that Edward was his father, and I should have named that I have sufficient ground for assuming that the Rector of Kirkheaton was related to the family at Sherriff Hutton. I note that Edward Richardson, gentleman, of Ripon in 1649, applied for and obtained a grant of a coat of arms and a crest, and I think it likely that this Edward Richardson is identical with the Rev. Edward Richardson, D.D., who was ejected from Ripon in 1662, and then went to Leyden in Holland, and was the author of 'Anglia Belgica.' Can any one give more particulars, and say if there is any connection between the Hull and Ripon families?—J. Richardson.

Since writing you to make inquiry respecting the above I have, by causing the Register to be searched at Hull, found the following amongst the burials, which I send for what they may be worth (search made between 1618 and 1631; both inclusive):—

1623. Nov. 2. Henrie, second son of Thomas Richardson.
1627. Richard, son of Jonathan Richardson.
Isabell, daughter of William Richardson.
1628. Ann, wife of Ralph Richardson.
Jane Richardson, widow.
1629. John, the son of Edward Richardson.
1631. Edward Richardson, alderman.
1632. July 9. Judith Richardson, widow.
